Foreword

“It has been a constant challenge, and a welcome one at that, to combine the expansive universe of Assassin’s Creed with an exciting and engaging moment in time. This adventure is one travelled by the entire history of the brand, and one we still explore today. Assassin’s Creed Syndicate emerged from that core desire and has become the story of two bickering siblings seizing their moment-in-time amidst the Industrial Revolution.

As this is Quebec Studio’s first attempt at a large-scale Assassin’s Creed title, we are fortunate enough to be able to break out of the mold and find our own take on the brand. Assassin’s Creed Syndicate’s London, our London, features fast-paced mobility in train and carriage travel as well as in the Assassin’s own toolset: the Rope Launcher. Our London is a sort of schizophrenic character partial to both fantastic lives lived by the wealthy and dreadful suffering amongst the poor. Our London is colourful in even the darkest places, from the city’s skyline to its most eccentric characters, whether they be communists, writers, or royalty. We want to share our London with you.

Allow us, then, to extend our hand to you and invite you to join us on this exploration of Assassin’s Creed London in 1868. With this guide in hand, may you have as much fun inside the inventive, vast ecosystem of London, as we had bringing it to life.”

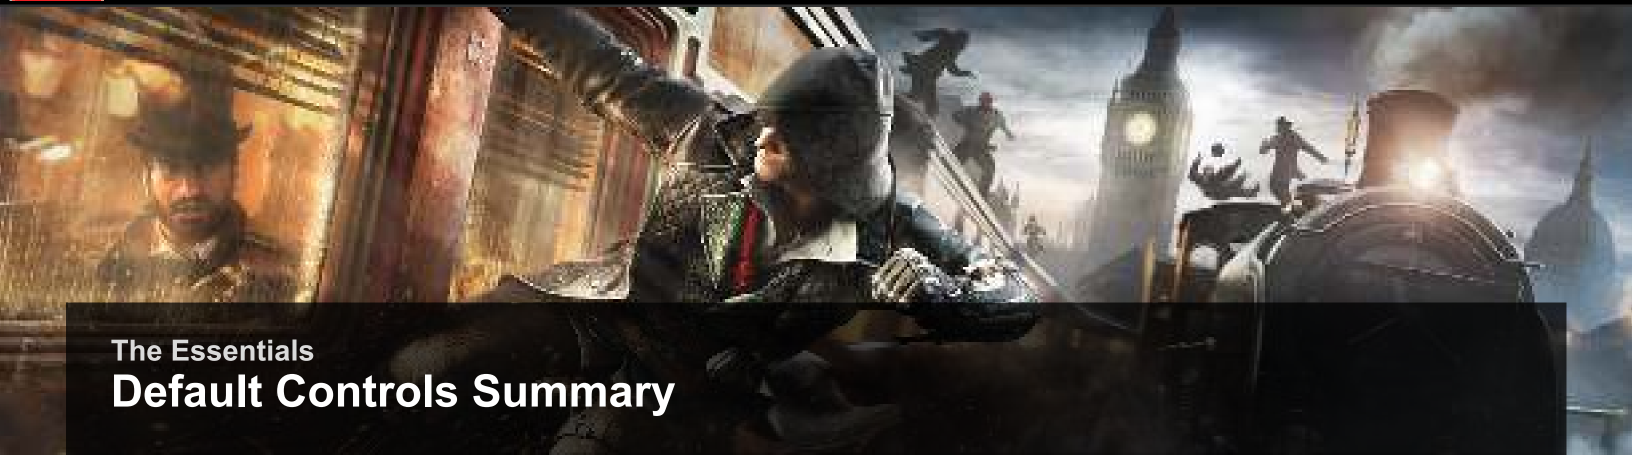
The Essentials

Introduction

London, 1868. The Industrial Revolution is in full swing. It is a time of incredible innovation and progress. Manufacturing has been revolutionized, with more goods being created, faster and better than ever before. Medicine has been transformed—saving countless lives—and scientific experimentation flourishes. It is also a time of rampant economic growth and the ascendance of capitalism. But this progress comes at a price, paid entirely by the working class. Crime, poverty, and exploitation are the hallmarks of their existence. And this is exactly how Crawford Starrick, Grandmaster of the British Rite, has organized things. Wealth, knowledge, and power are to be accumulated by the Order to ensure the maintenance of an EMPIRE—one that now extends across the globe. Should things continue according to plan, all the world will be united beneath the Templar banner. If it costs some their happiness and freedom along the way, well, so be it. Progress requires sacrifice.



The Essentials

Gameplay

Movement

Walking

Use Left Stick to walk. Note that you can only blend in in with the crowd when idle or walking, not when in Stealth Mode.

Free Running

To Free Run, hold R2 / RT and navigate using Left Stick. While Free Running is the fastest way to get around, it also draws the most attention.

Stealth Mode

Toggle Stealth Mode with ✕ / Ⓐ. Your footsteps become much more quiet and you crouch, making it harder for enemies to detect you. Your movement speed is drastically slowed, and free running immediately causes you to leave Stealth Mode. While in Stealth Mode you automatically snap to corner covers.

Pass Over

Hold R2 / RT when running toward low objects to pass over them without breaking momentum.

Pass Under

Hold R2 / RT when running towards a low gap to slide through it without breaking momentum.

Descend

Leap of Faith

Perform a Leap of Faith from a high point by holding R2+ ○ / RT+ Ⓑ and using Left Stick to aim toward a haystack below.

Fast Slide

Slide down steep slopes more rapidly by holding R2+ ○ / RT+ Ⓑ.

Swimming

Swim in any direction using Left Stick. Swim faster by holding R2 / RT.

Lifts

Climbing

Climbing is essential for an assassin, as high ground always grants you the advantage in surveillance and combat.

Climb Up

Hold R2+ ✕ / RT+ Ⓐ when free running toward a vertical surface to start climbing up.

Climb Down

Hold R2+ ○ / RT+ Ⓑ while climbing to climb down quickly.

Climb Across

Use Left Stick to climb in any direction across a vertical surface.

Drop

Hold ○ / Ⓑ to drop straight down while climbing or hanging.

Window Entry

When climbing adjacent to a window, press L1 / LB to enter it.

Wall Eject

While climbing, hold R2 / RT and press ✕ / Ⓐ without touching Left Stick to perform a 180° wall eject. You can use this to move upward between two facades, or reach objects directly behind you. You can also perform a small variation of the wall eject with R2+ ○ / RT+ Ⓑ.

The Essentials

Vehicles and Driving

Carriages line the streets in London. Different styles of carriages have varying levels of Speed, Handling, and Damage Resistance. Keep in mind that this is London, so driving should be done on the left side of the street.

Driving

Although the carriages have different stats, they all are controlled with the same basic controls:

- Press ○ / B to enter or hijack a vehicle. If there are two people in the vehicle, and the passenger is not a civilian, they may try to shove you out. To avoid this issue, jump to the top of the vehicle and assassinate both the driver and passenger.
- To Accelerate, press and hold R2 / RT; to slow down and stop or reverse, use L2 / LT.
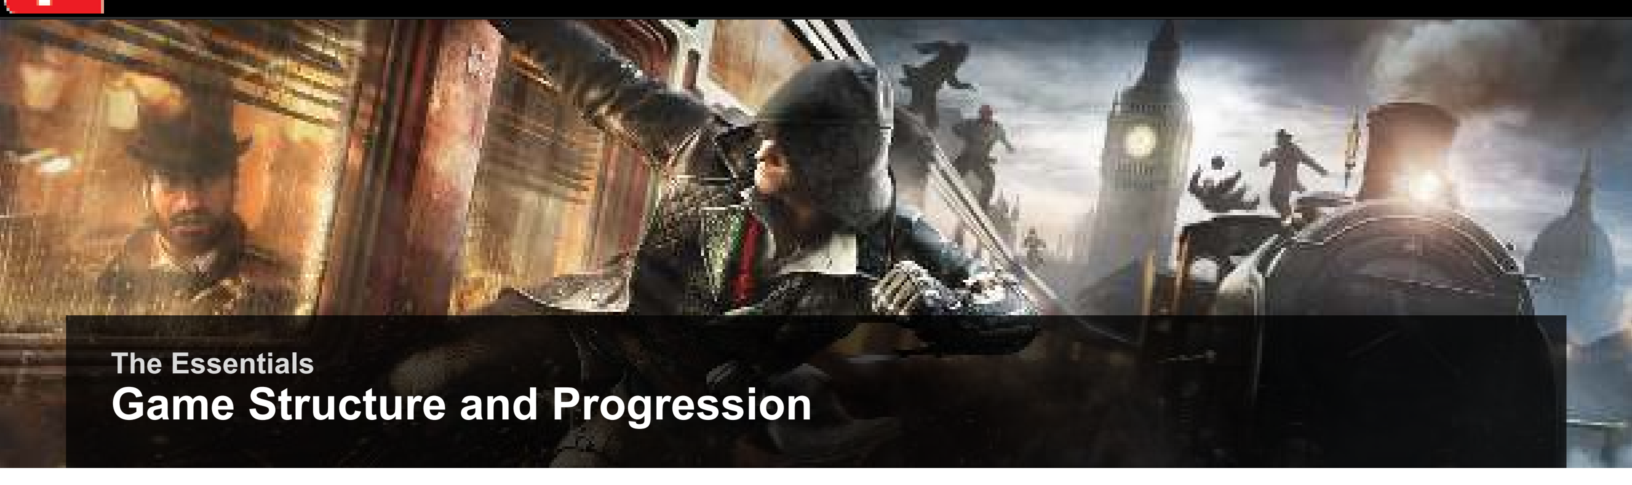
- Use Left Stick to control the direction of the carriage.
- Press ✕ / A to give your carriage a temporary speed boost. This action is infinitely repeatable, but the effect does not stack.
- Ram other carriages by pressing □ / X and pushing Left Stick in the direction you would like to ram. If you are in a smaller vehicle you may want to try to outmaneuver the enemy carriages instead of ramming them as chances are your vehicle will get destroyed very quickly.
- To climb onto the roof, press L1 / LB. The Carriage continues to be led down the road by the horse until you switch back into the driver’s seat by pressing ○ / B, or jump off to the ground or onto another carriage.

Vehicles

Each Carriage has different stats. Larger carriages are faster and have more durability, but lack handling. Smaller carriages are able to maneuver through tight gaps and around corners. However, they are not as durable or fast as the bigger carriages.

Size	Picture	Name	Acceleration	Handling	Resistance
Small		Hansom	5	5	1
Medium		Landau	4	4	2
Medium		Growler	4	5	3
Large		Cargo	3	3	3
Large		Fire Truck	4	1	5
Large		Omnibus	2	2	4
Large		Police	4	2	4



The Essentials

Game Structure and Progression

Progressing in Assassin’s Creed Syndicate isn’t just limited to the story. There are a wide array of different activities that advance your levels as well as change the world around you.

Viewpoints and Maps

Press Touchpad / Back Button to access the Map.

The Map is an excellent tool to plan activities and explore your surroundings. To unfog the map, reach a Viewpoint and synchronize. While in the map, the different icons show you the available activities in London. Use Left Stick to select an icon and view detailed information and the available interactions.

Story Memories

Story Memories take you through the lives of twin Assassins Jacob and Evie Frye as they build a gang of Rooks to take down the Blighters, overthrow the Templars, and save the people of London.

Story memories appear as a Gold Icon on your map.

Conquest Activities

In each borough, there are four Conquest Activities that must be completed in order to unlock the final Gang War activity to conquer that borough. Some Conquest Activities are only unlocked after speaking to Associates, so remember to seek them out via their Icons on the map.

The first four Conquest Activities in the Borough can be completed in any order.

	Child Liberation
	Children are being worked under squalid conditions in factories all across London. Infiltrate the factories to free them and bring the factory owners to justice.
	Templar Hunt
	Track down Templars of note and assassinate them in signature style to send a message.
	Bounty Hunt
	Take a Templar captive then shove them into a carriage and deliver them (alive if possible) to Abberline at the drop off point.
	Gang Stronghold
	Infiltrate a Blighter Gang Stronghold and clean it out so that the Rooks can move in.
	Gang War
	Once all Conquest Activities are complete, confront the remaining Blighters in an all-out gang war. Kill their leader to claim the Borough for the Rooks.

Income Activities

Income Activities are a way to gain money and resources to buy new Gang Upgrades and Craft Gear Upgrades. The type of Income Activities vary from Borough to Borough. Some Income Activities are only Unlocked after speaking to Associates.

	Fight Club
	Fight Club gives you hand to hand combat in a closed arena. Fight your way through the rounds of ever increasing difficulty to claim the highest rewards.
	Street Racing
	Battle it out on the streets of London, racing carriages against rivals for money.
	Cargo Hijack
	Raid the Blighter vehicle convoys for money and resources.
	Cargo Escort
	Escort a vehicle convoy to a safe location, fighting off Blighters along the way.
	Train Robbery
	Board the enemy train and then leap from carriage to carriage, stealing valuable cargo and fighting Blighters.
	Boat Raids
	Board the Blighter boats, steal the manifest from the boat master, and mark valuable cargo for the Rooks.
	Smuggler’s Boat
	Sabotage boats full of Blighter cargo to disrupt their operations.

Michael Reuge’s Vault

Music boxes are hidden throughout London. Be observant and follow the clues in the Secrets of London section of the Progression Log that lead to each box. They can be used in a secret vault located underneath a dig site in the City of London borough.

Collecting all of the music boxes grants access to the Precursor armor.

Crowd Events

These short events can happen anywhere, at any time, around the city. You will be asked to chase and tackle thieves, chase and kill criminals, or protect and help civilians. Completing these tasks grants you cash rewards.

The Essentials

Collectibles

Collectibles are different items found throughout the city, which grant the player small amounts of XP and, in some cases, schematics as well. For a full walkthrough of the locations and amounts of all the Collectibles consult the Collectible section.

Helix Credits

Players can purchase various items, which grant various bonuses, with Helix Credits. This in-game currency can be earned through finding Collectibles, such as Beer Bottles, Historical Poster Ads, Letters from the Front, and Helix Glitches. Helix Credits can also be earned by finding collectibles which will appear randomly in the world at various times. You can even share these locations with your friends! If you just want your Helix Credits right now, you can also purchase them with real-world currency.

The Essentials

On screen Display

The On screen display or HUD (Heads Up Display) provides the player with all the information they need to survive on the harsh streets of London.

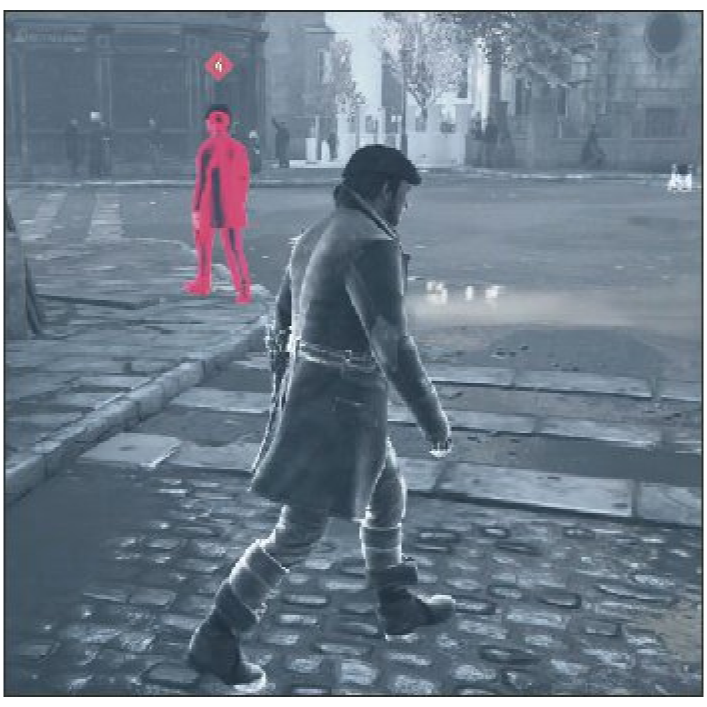
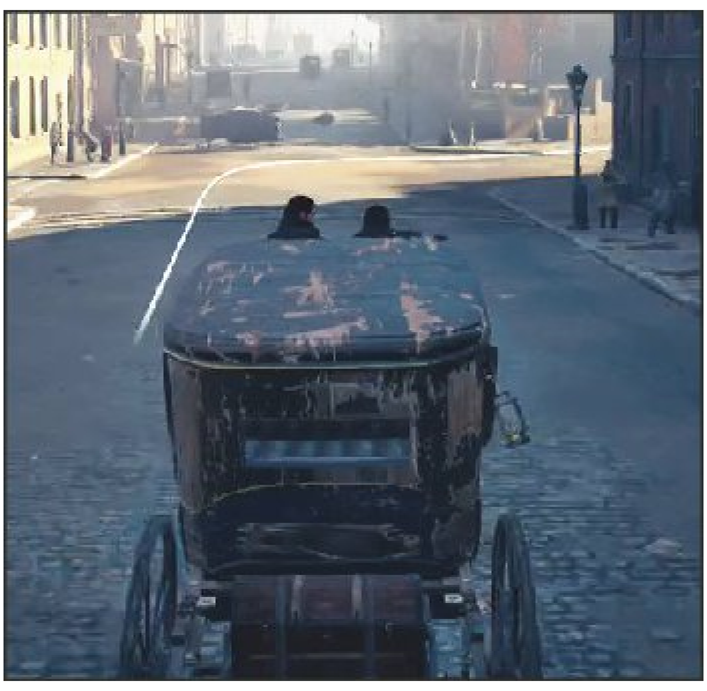
Marked Enemies

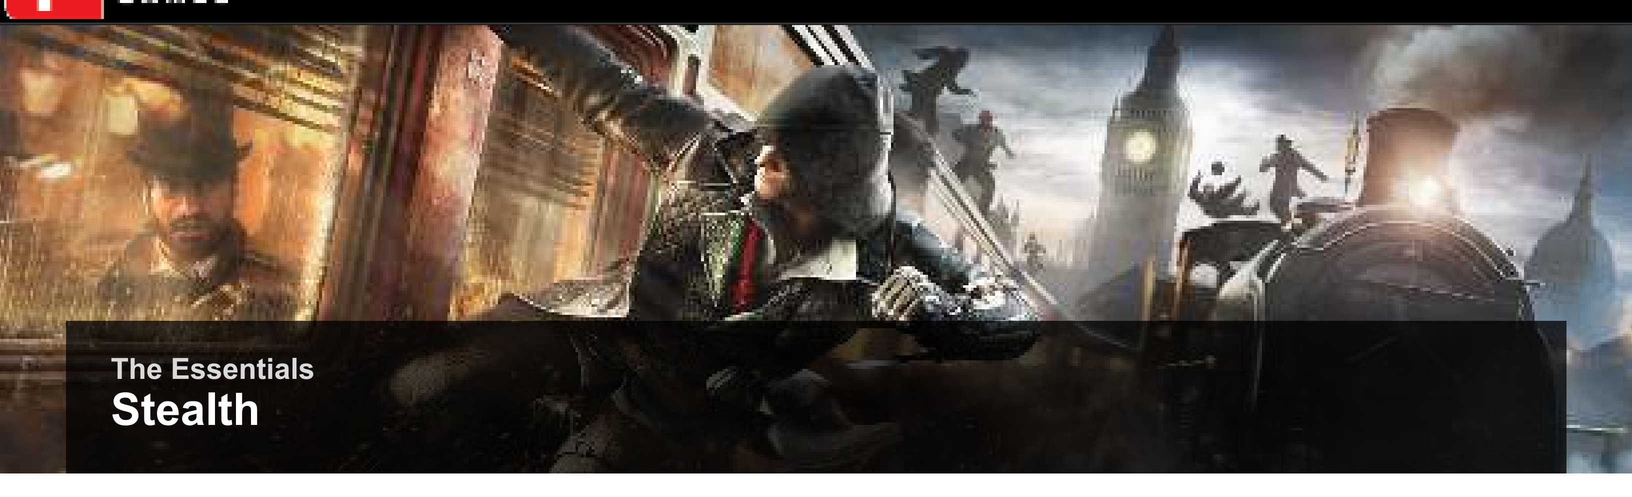
To Mark an enemy, Activate Eagle Vision and move the camera so that the enemy is in the center of the screen for a short time. Once you mark an enemy, their level and faction is displayed above their head, even when not in Eagle Vision.



GPS

When driving a vehicle, the GPS appears as a line on both the Mini-Map and on the road, showing the fastest route to your destination. It is only visible if you have set a marker on the map, or if your current objective requires you to travel to a destination.



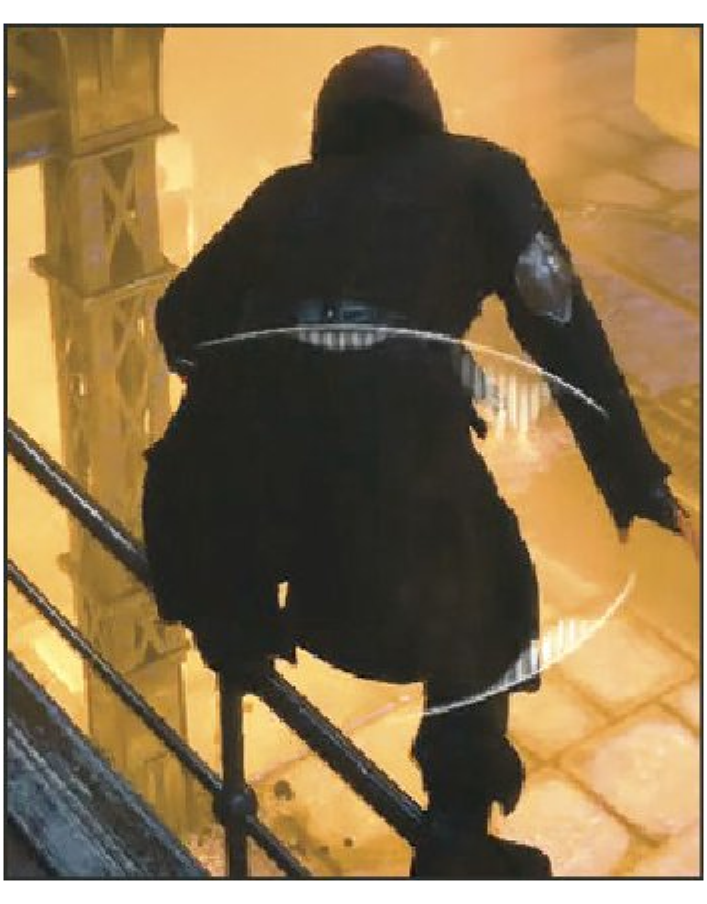


The Essentials

Stealth

The key to being a good assassin is maintaining stealth. Staying stealthy isn't as easy as it sounds, as there are a ton of factors that play into your ability to remain unseen. Stealth Mode can be toggled on or off by pressing Ⓧ / Ⓐ .

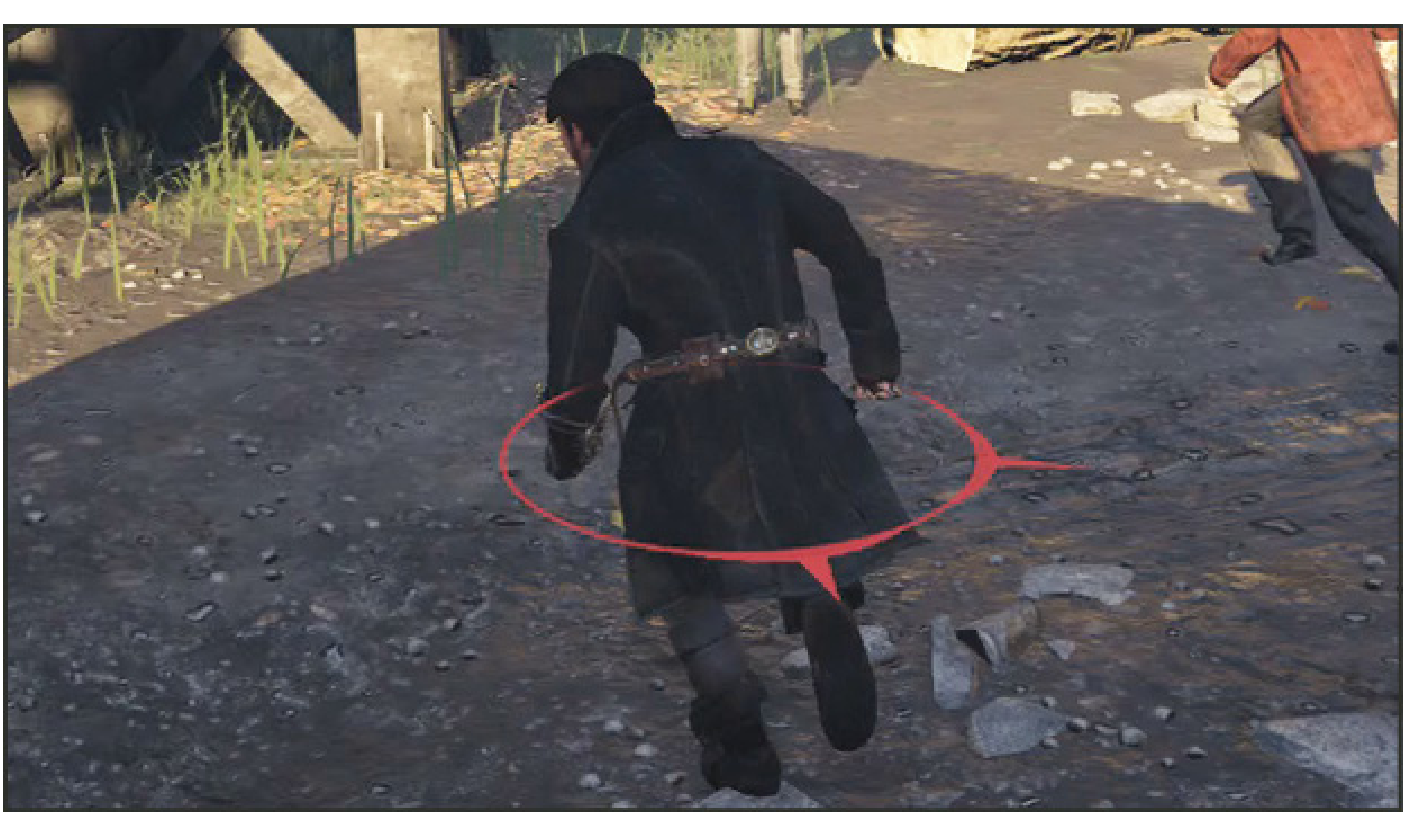
Stealth Ring



The Stealth Ring appears if you are in stealth mode and anonymous. It shows the direction of nearby enemies and if they are above or below you.

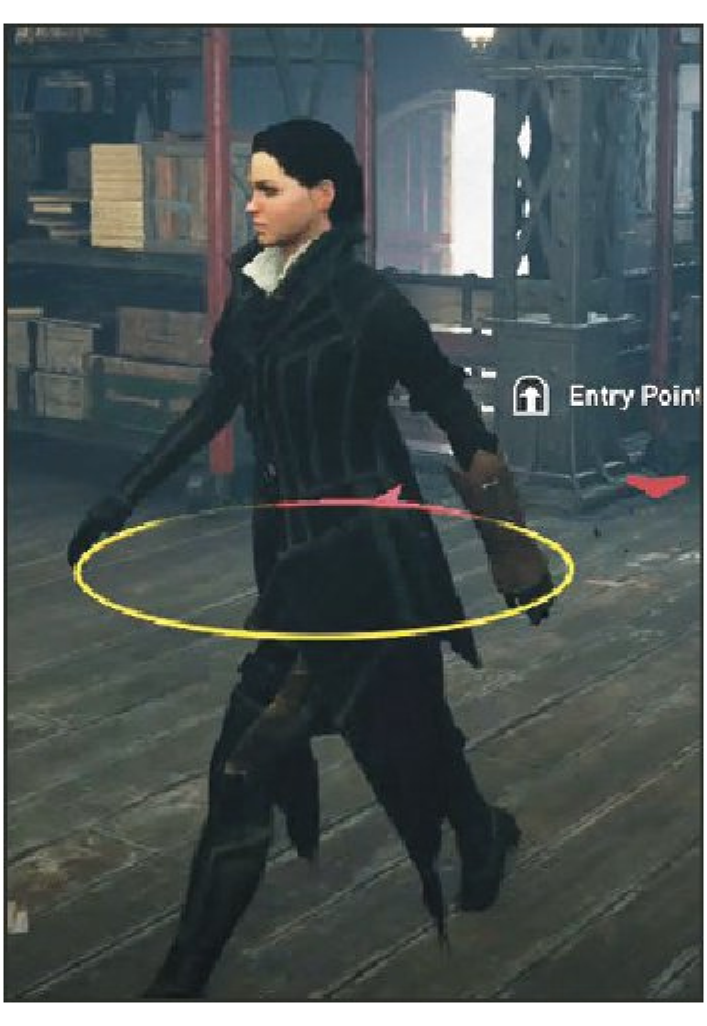
Threat Ring

The Threat Ring becomes visible when enemies detect you. Each enemy is represented by an arrow on the Threat Ring and the color of the arrow shows the alertness level of the enemy, from white, to yellow, to red.



Detection

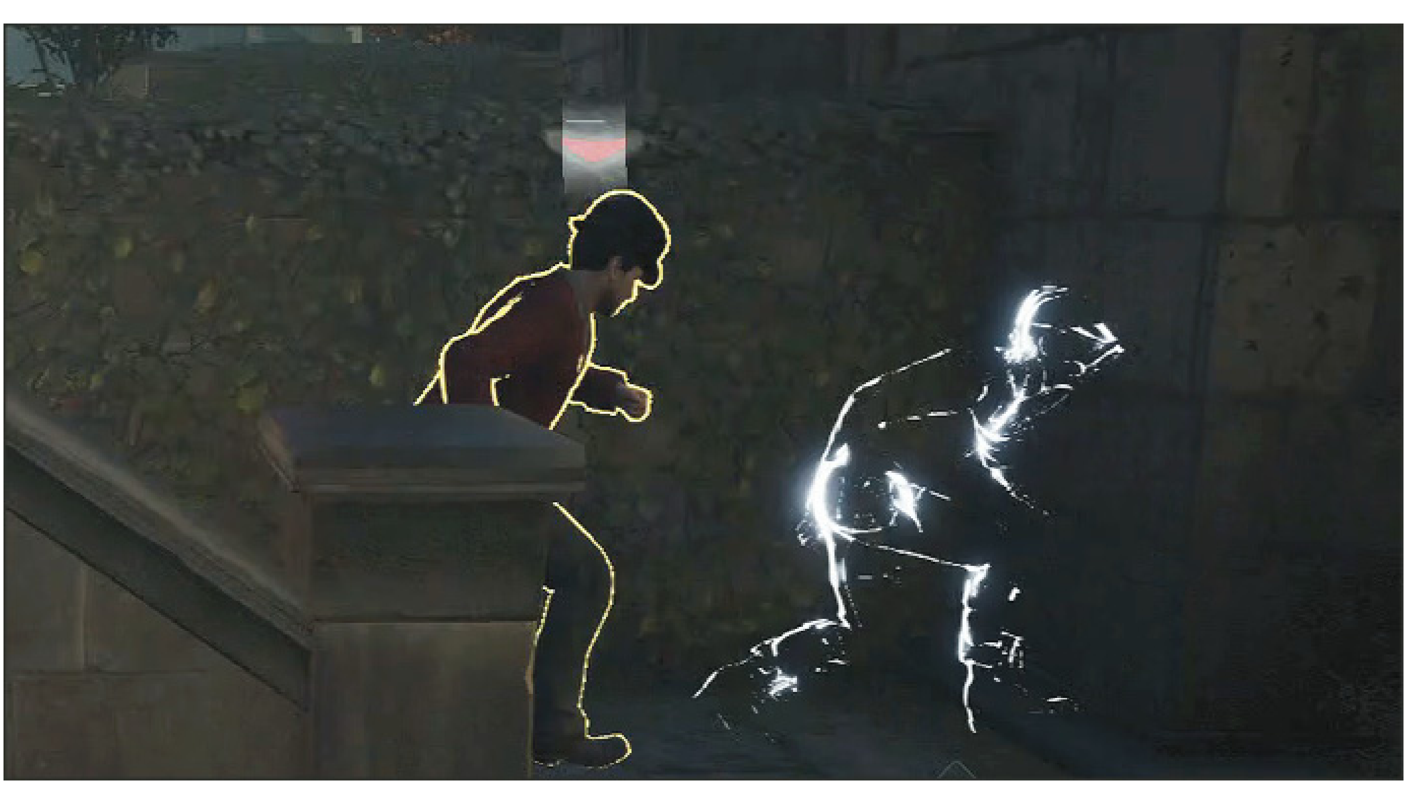
If you are in the line of sight of an alerted foe, they spot you. Enemies, such as Templars and Blighters, always notice you, even if they weren't in an alert state. A detection icon appears above an enemy's head to let you know that they can see you. The longer you are in sight, the more it begins to fill, moving from gray, to yellow, to red, signaling their level of aggression. While the grey gauge fills, they pose no threat. When it fills with yellow, enemies are more suspicious and physically investigate the target. Once the gauge is filled with red, the enemy comes after you, looking for a fight. Protectors, such as police and royal guards, only acquire you as a target if you perform an illegal action.



In Restricted Areas (displayed on the Mini-Map as red), enemies spot you much more quickly. The closer the enemy is, the faster the detection meter builds. Avoid contact with the enemy by breaking the line of sight before the detection meter fills all the way with red. In Restricted Areas, the gauge starts already filled with yellow, so you don't have a lot of leeway before the enemies move to attack. Use stealth mode to evade enemy detection. When their gauge is fully red, they attack.

Last Known Position

Once the Detection icon fills completely with yellow, enemies investigate your last known position. If you move, and interrupt their line of sight, you leave behind a last known position ghost, and enemies move to investigate it. However, if you are already in conflict with an enemy, breaking line of sight may not solve your problem. The enemies search more aggressively, and aren't always fooled by your last known position.

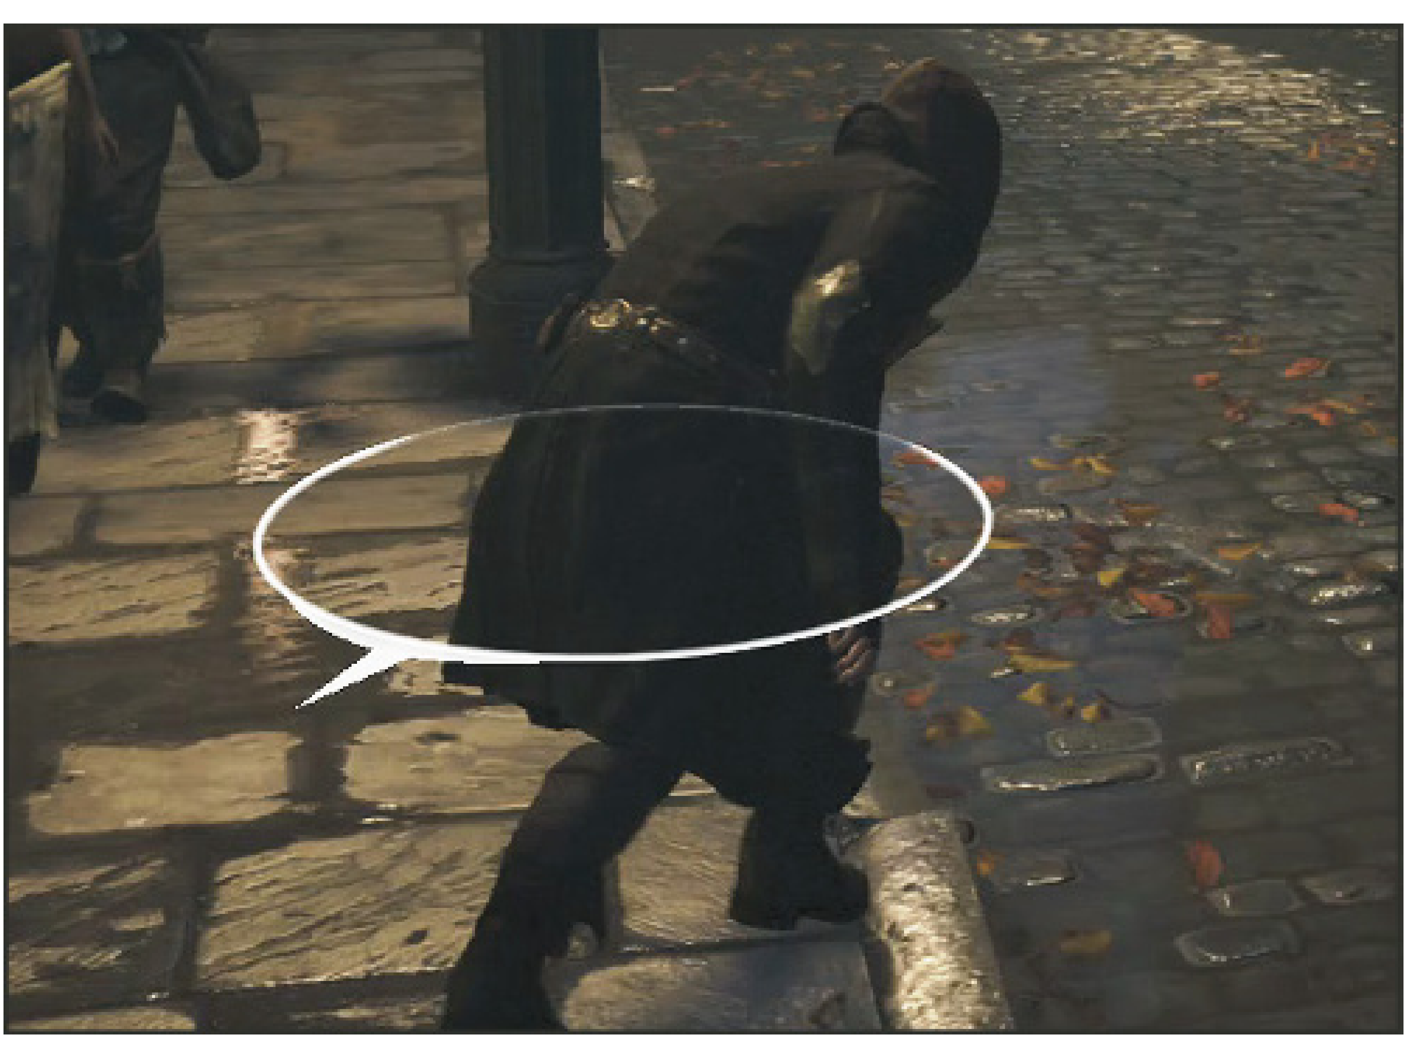


Enemy Awareness

When you near an enemy, they cycle through a few levels of awareness, shifting from unaware, to suspicious, and then to combat.

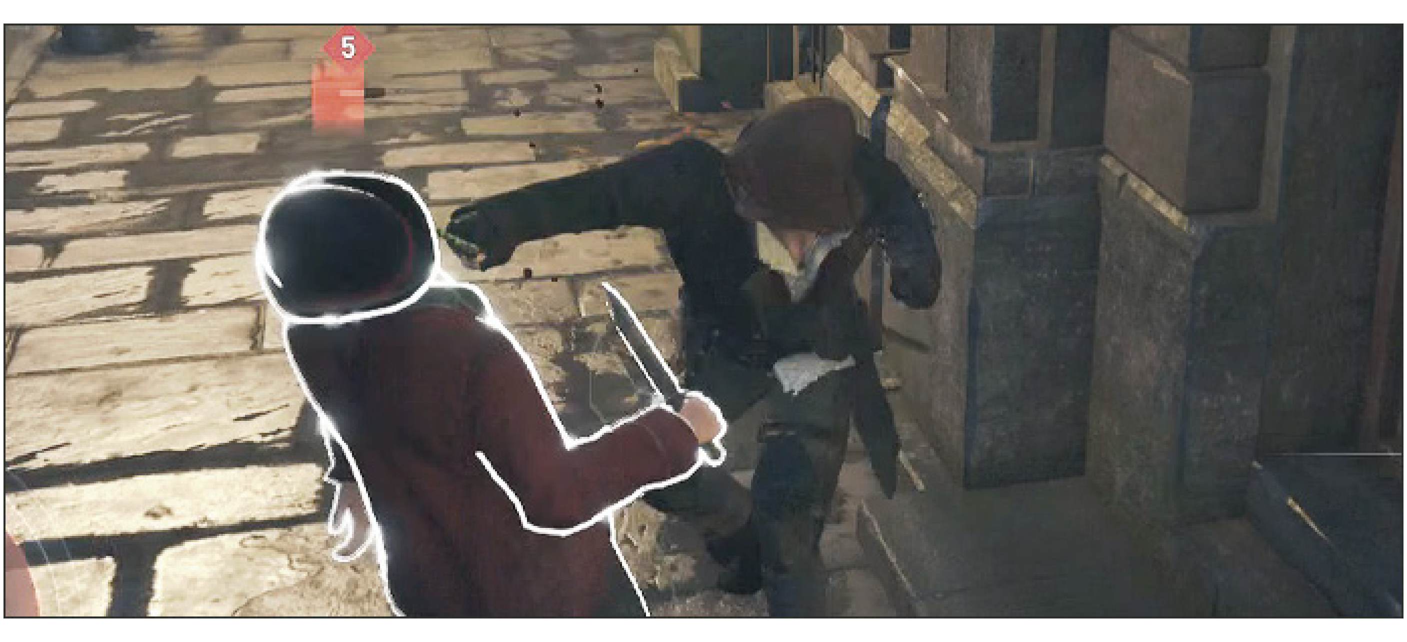
Suspicious State

As described under Detection, enemies become aware of you when you are in their line of sight. The longer you remain, the more aggressive they become. Enemies are not the only ones who can become suspicious of you. Protectors, such as police and royal guards, become suspicious when they see you perform any violent actions, such as shoving through civilians or wielding a weapon.



Conflict

If enemies are in conflict with you, the Mini-Map turns red until the conflict is resolved. Enemies chasing you have red icons over their heads.



Protector Investigations

When Protectors (for example, the London Police), represented by blue icons on your Mini-Map, perceive something suspicious without knowing the source, they investigate. While this is true of all enemies, Protectors are only interested in you if you seem suspicious. When Protectors investigate a dead body, they blame suspicious people close to their investigation area. Use this knowledge to create a diversion or throw a dead body near some enemies, disappear, and let the Protectors do the rest.

Vanishing

Being able to vanish is one of the most important skills in the game. Vanishing helps you avoid higher level enemies, as well as unnecessary fights in the streets.

Breaking the Line of Sight

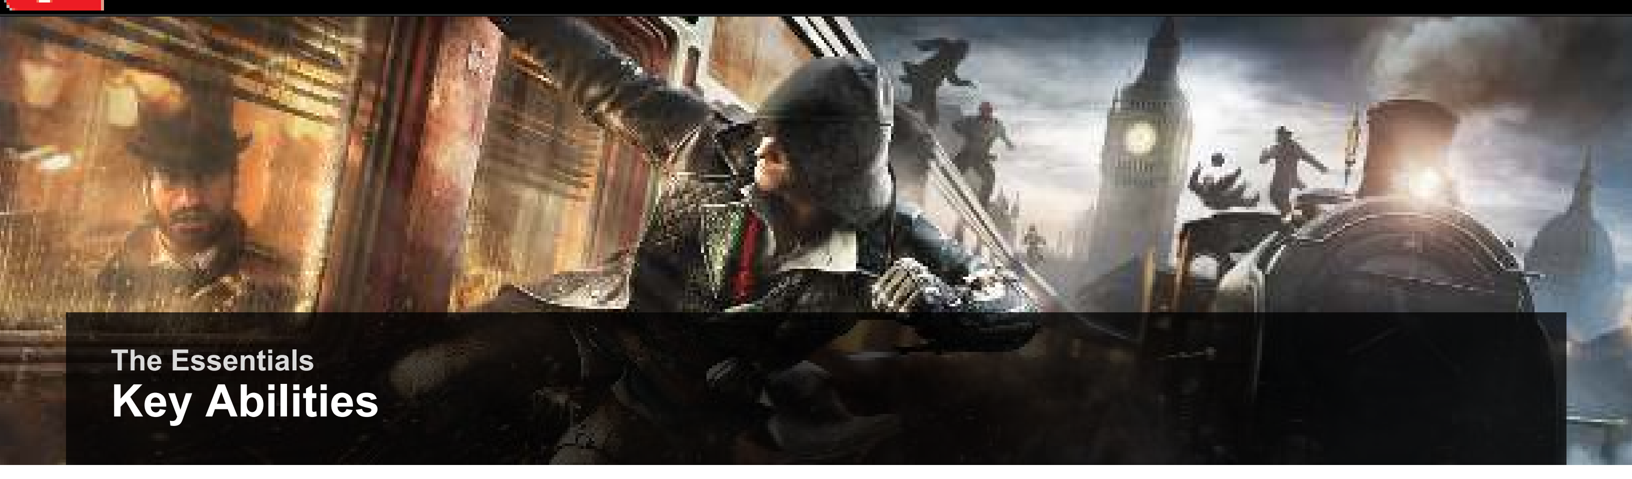
To escape from conflict and vanish, you must break line of sight with all of your opponents. To do this, escape using alleys, enter a window, use the Rope Launcher to quickly reach a rooftop, or even use a smoke bomb. Once the Line of Sight is broken, the Last Known Position silhouette appears. That means it's time to hide.

Hiding from Enemies

Once the Line of Sight is broken, enemies begin searching for you. Make sure you remain hidden until the search is over. You can keep moving to stay out of their line of sight, take cover behind a wall or behind a hiding door, etc., blend into the crowd, or even ascend to the rooftops. When the search is over, the Mini-Map returns to its usual color, and you have vanished successfully.

After Conflict

When you've successfully vanished, enemies return to their previous routine. However, they remember you and are suspicious of you in the future, which allows them to detect you more quickly.



The Essentials

Key Abilities

Eagle Vision

Eagle Vision is an Assassin's sixth sense. It allows you to spot enemies, allies, and hidden objects. Eagle Vision can be improved in the skill menu by purchasing the Eagle Vision II and III skills.

Press L3 / Left Stick in to toggle Eagle Vision on or off. It remains on until you deactivate it or perform certain actions such as pressing R2 / RT.

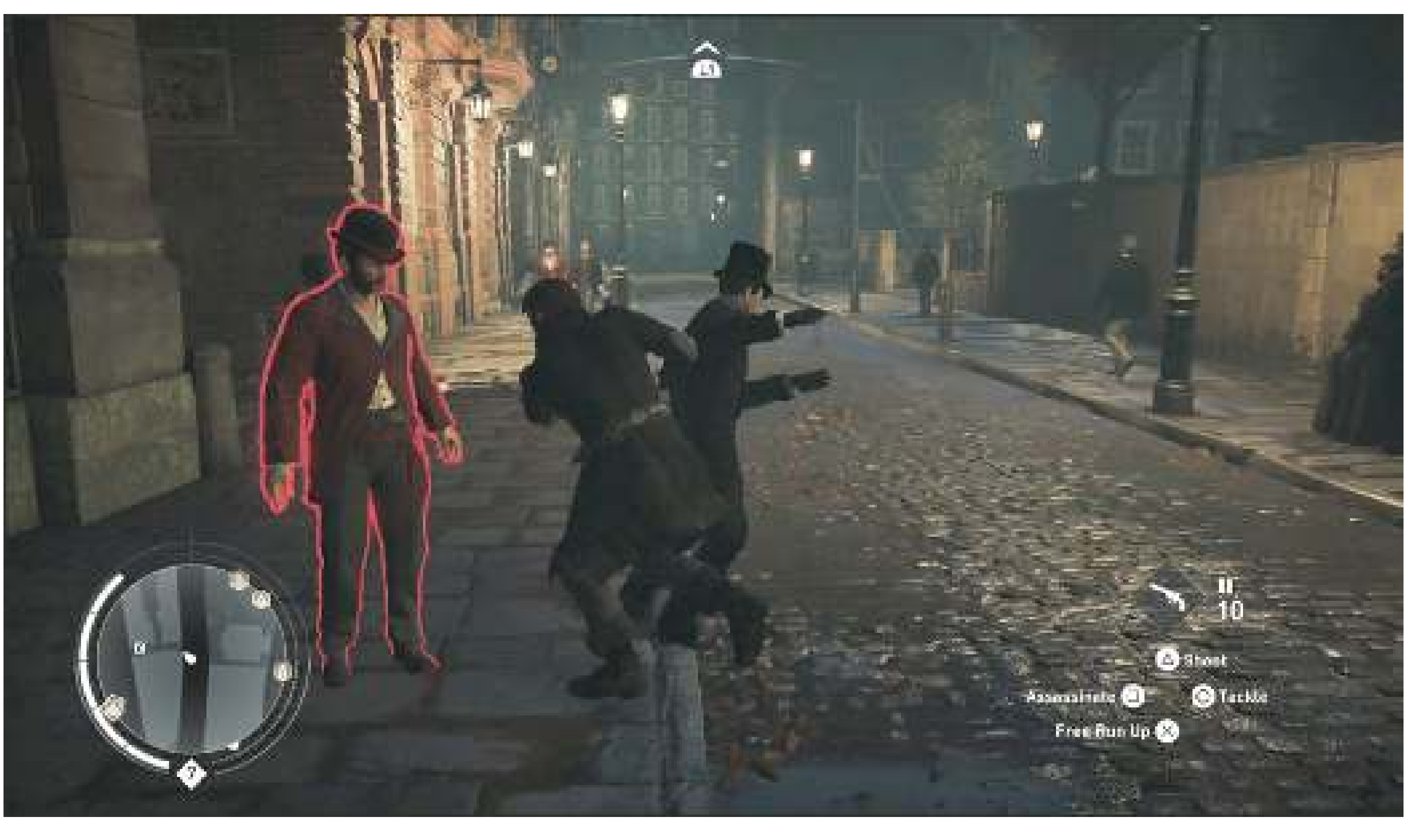
While using Eagle Vision, different elements are highlighted in the world and on your Mini-Map:

- Memory Objectives are highlighted in Gold.
- Hiding places and useful objects (Explosives, Alarm Bells, etc.) are highlighted in white.
- Enemies are highlighted and appear on the Mini-Map as red.
- Police are highlighted and appear on the Mini-Map as blue.

Allies are highlighted and appear on the Mini-Map as green.

Assassinations

Assassinations kill enemies in a single strike. Different types of assassinations offer advantages and disadvantages. For example, while an Air Assassination may be quick, it is easily noticed by the enemies. For example, it takes the assassin a moment to get up, after performing an Air Assassination. This could potentially allow other enemies to get close.



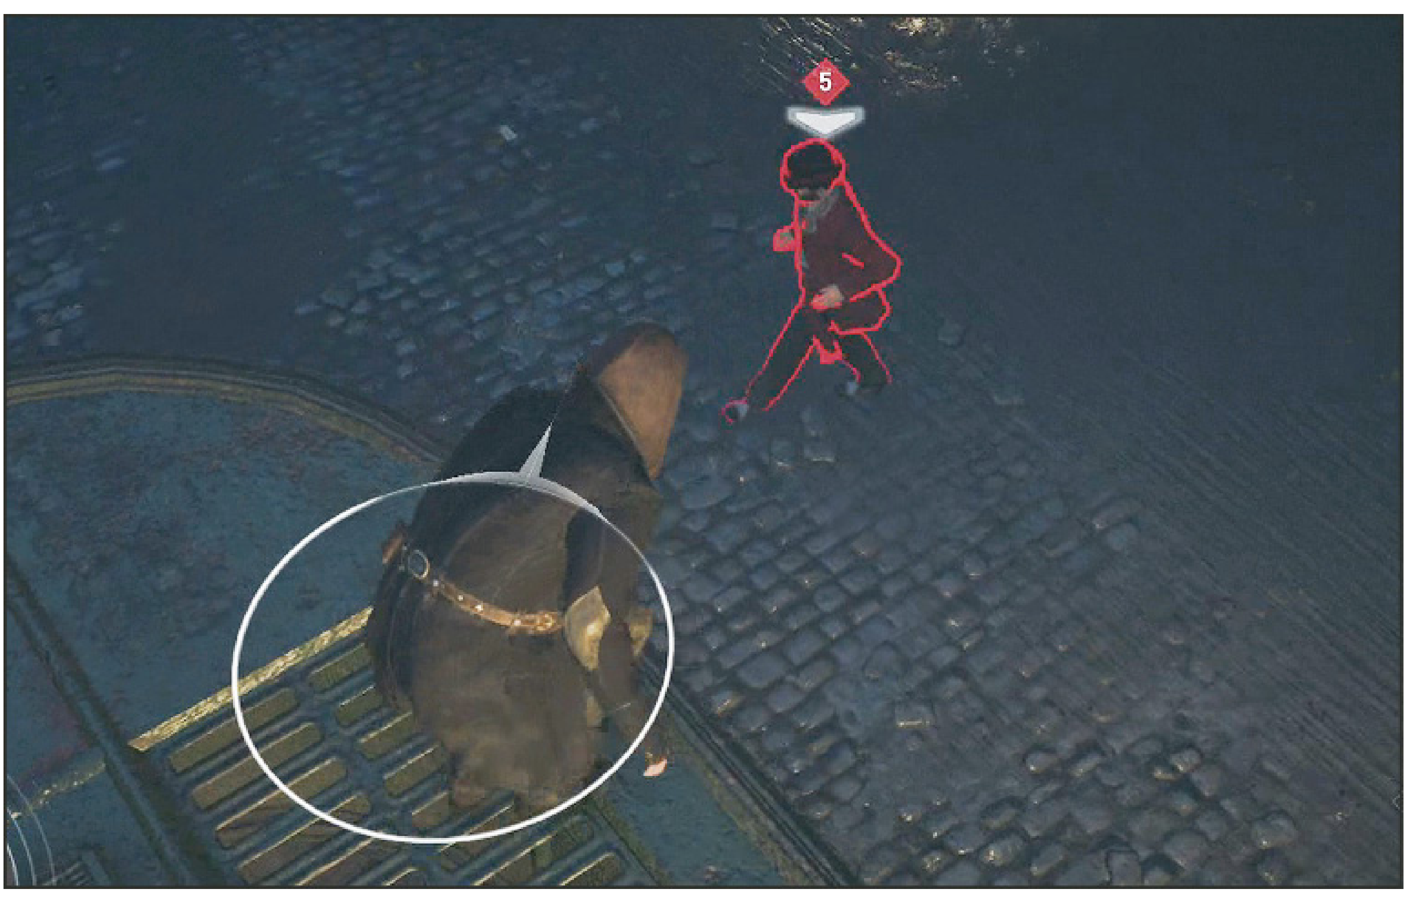
A target can only be assassinated when they are highlighted in red and the assassination button is shown in the Puppeteer.

Low Profile Assassination

While anonymous, press □ / ✕ to assassinate an enemy from up close. Low profile assassinations are silent and create no commotion as long as you remain unseen while assassinating your target. The dead body, however, does attract some attention.

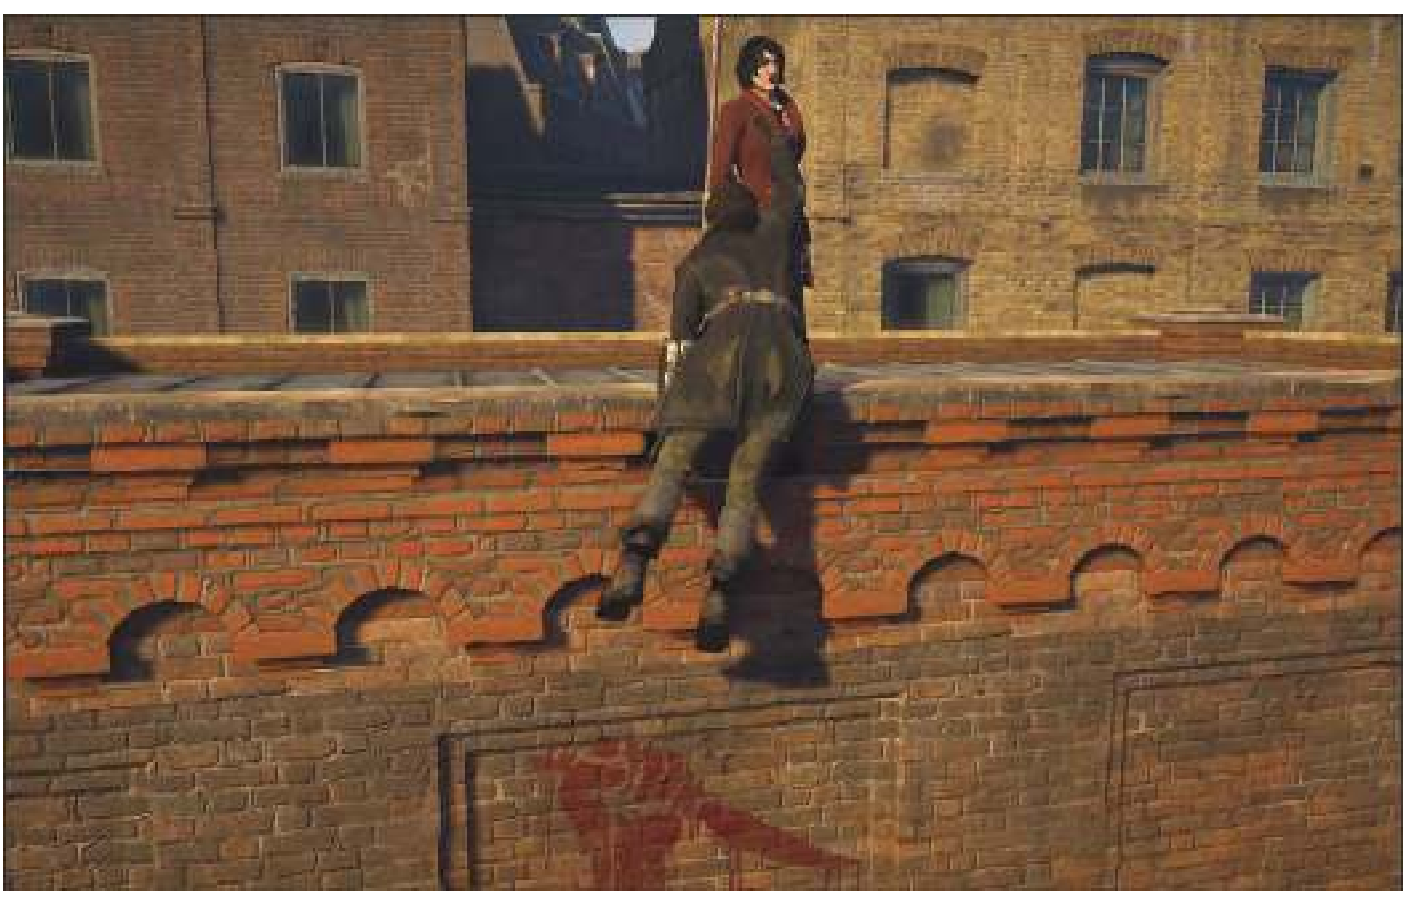
High Profile Assassination

You can assassinate while in High Profile mode (while running holding R2 / RT), but doing so creates noise and causes a commotion around your target.



Air Assassination

When positioned above a target, press □ / ✕ to assassinate them from above. This causes you to leap off of your perch, landing on top of the target. This creates a lot of commotion, as well as penalizing you with a slow recovery from the attack.



Ledge and Cover Assassinations

When hanging from a ledge, a window, or while hidden, press □ / ✕ to assassinate the target. This pulls them out of the window or over the ledge, leaving them on the ground below.

Double Assassinations

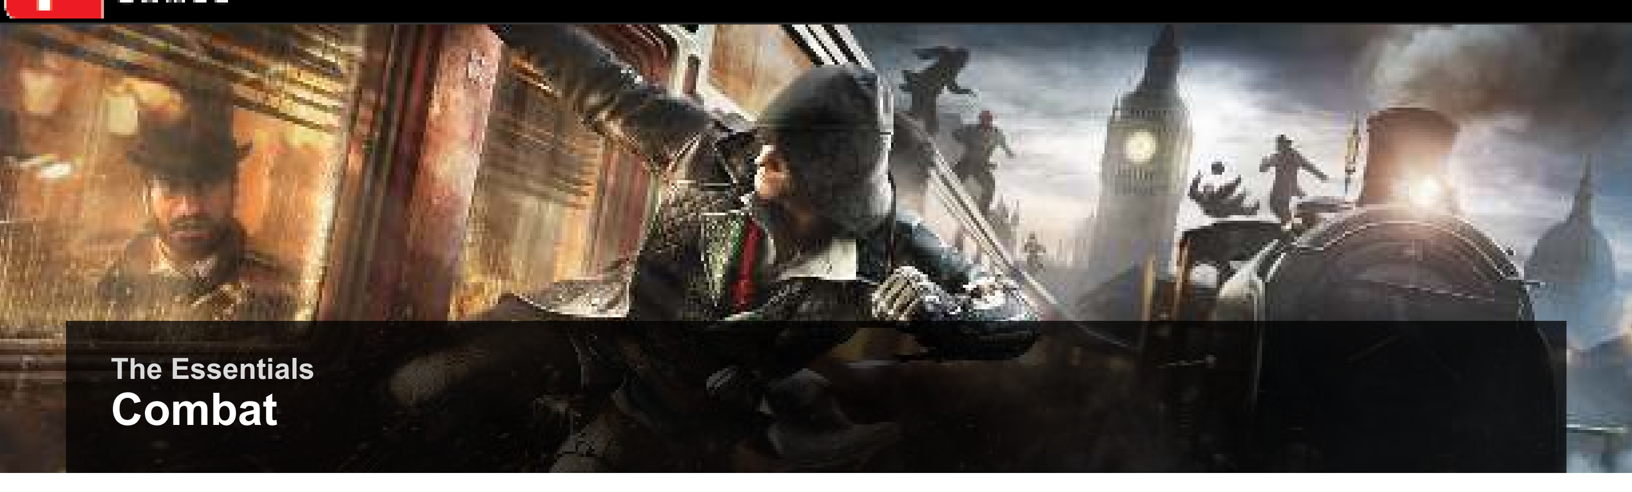
Double Assassinations are unlocked in the Skill Menu. When two enemies are close to one another and both are highlighted red, you can perform a Double Assassination. Double Assassinations are available for Low Profile, High Profile, and Air Assassinations.

Rope Launcher

Whenever the Rope Launcher icon appears overhead, press L1 / LB to fire the launcher and travel quickly upwards. If the Rope Launcher target appears on an adjacent building in front of you, press L1 / LB to zipline across.

While ziplining, control your speed using the Left Stick. You can position yourself over enemies then press □ / ✕ to drop down for Air Assassinations. This is incredibly useful for taking out enemy sentries who are guarding Chests or other restricted areas.

Hold R2 / RT when you reach the end of the zipline to transition into free running without losing momentum.



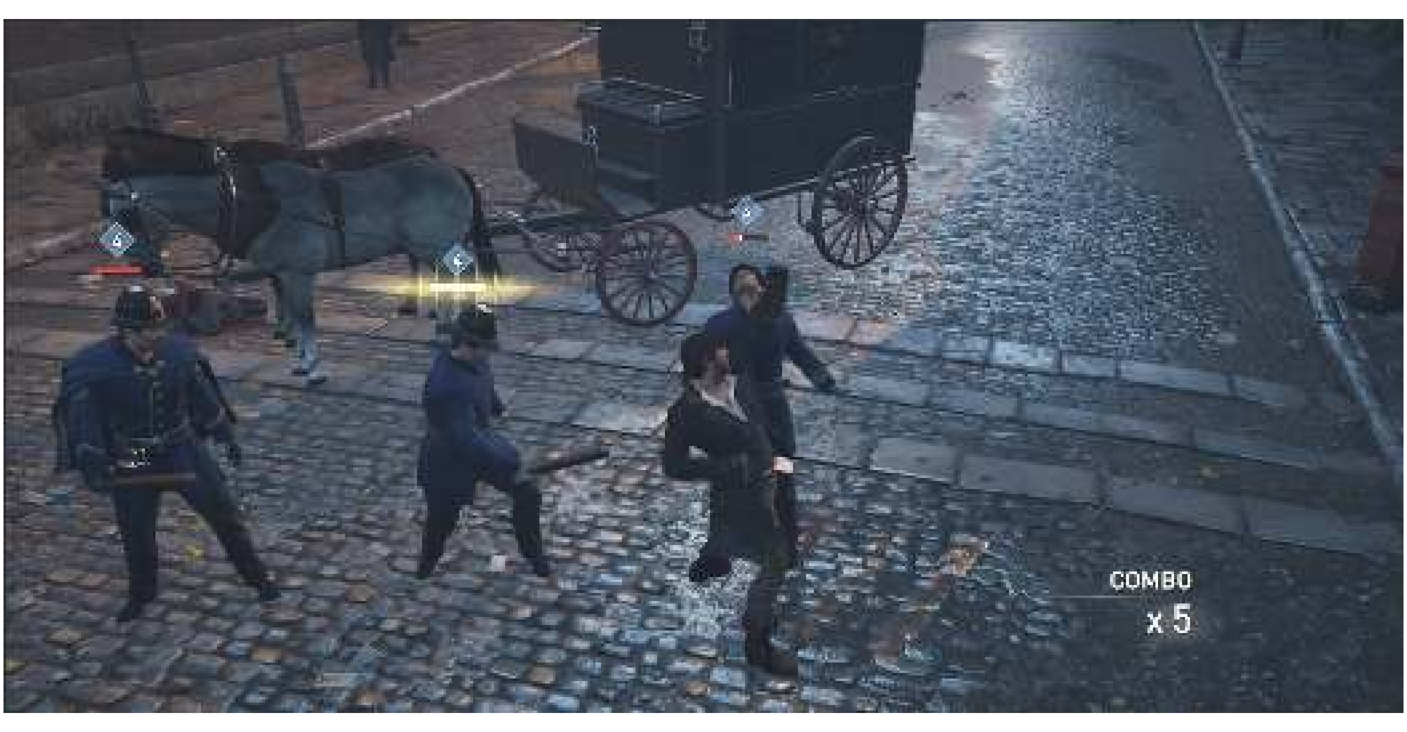
The Essentials

Combat

For most Assassins open combat is the last resort. However, sometimes combat is the best or only course of action!

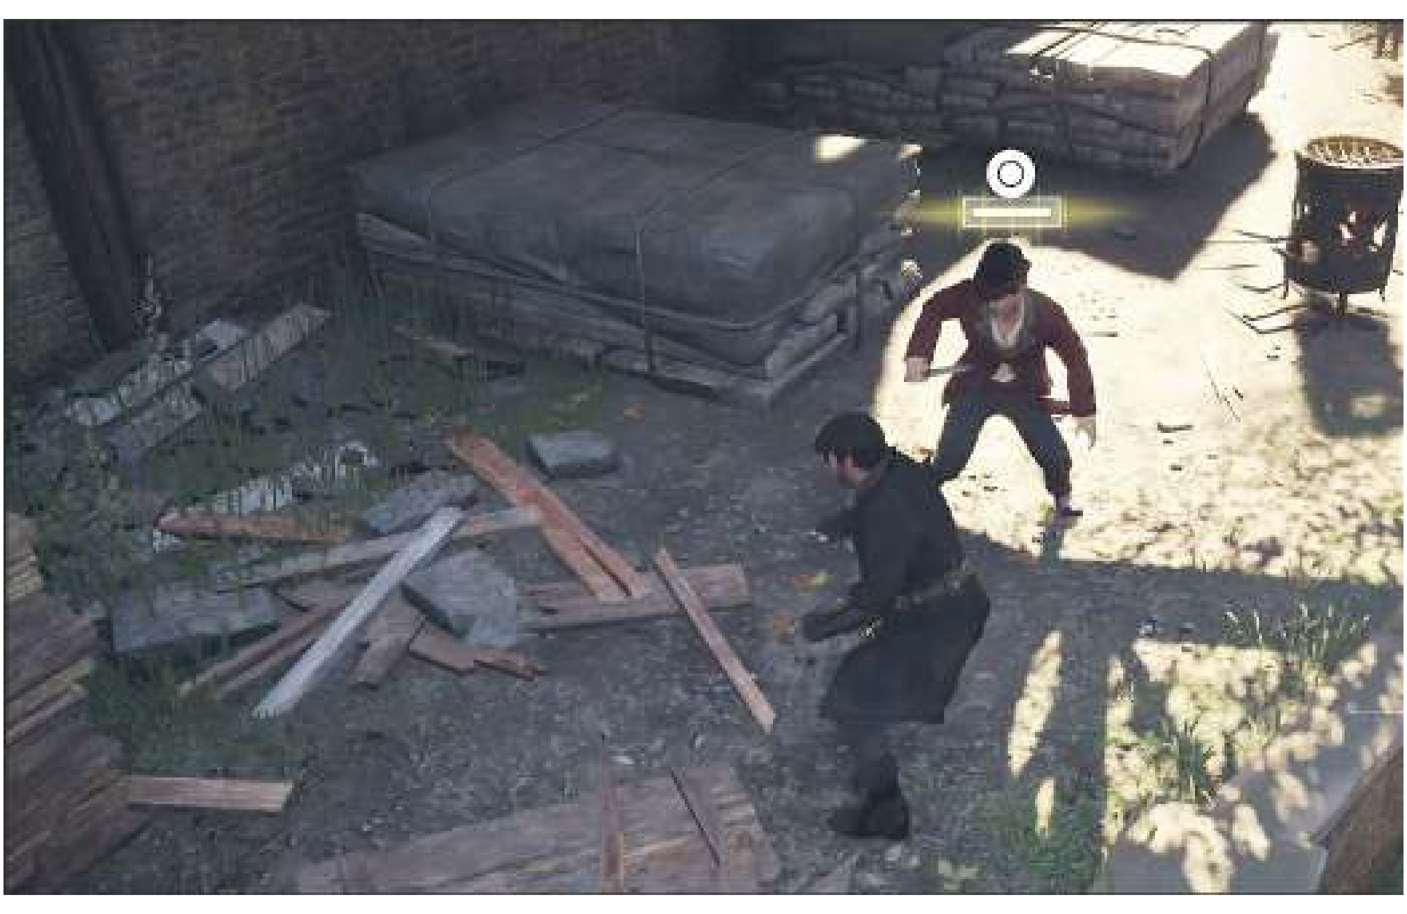
Attacking

Press □ / X to attack, and then continually press □ / X to perform combos.



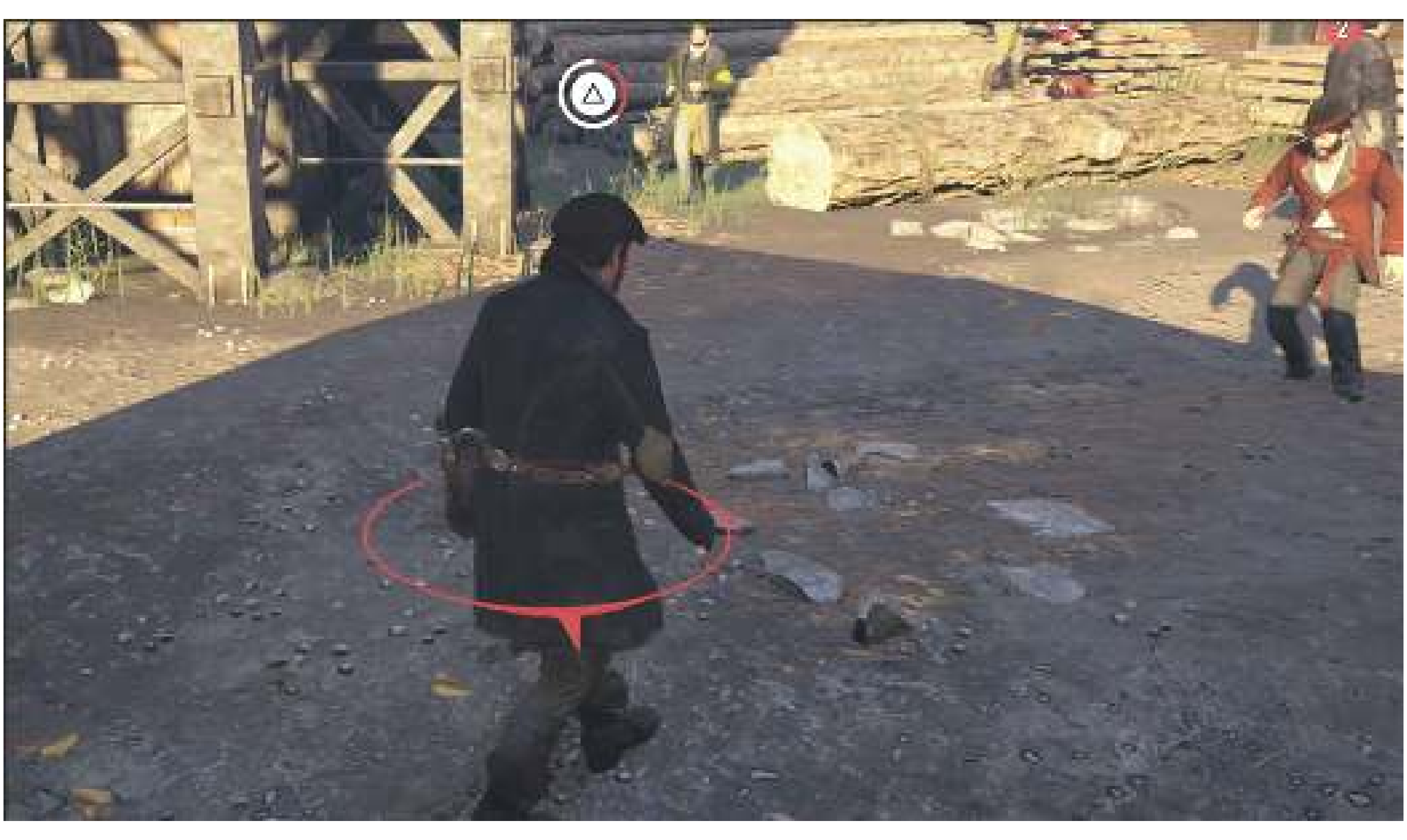
Counter Attacks

When you see an enemy's health bar light up, press ○ / B to counter incoming melee attacks.



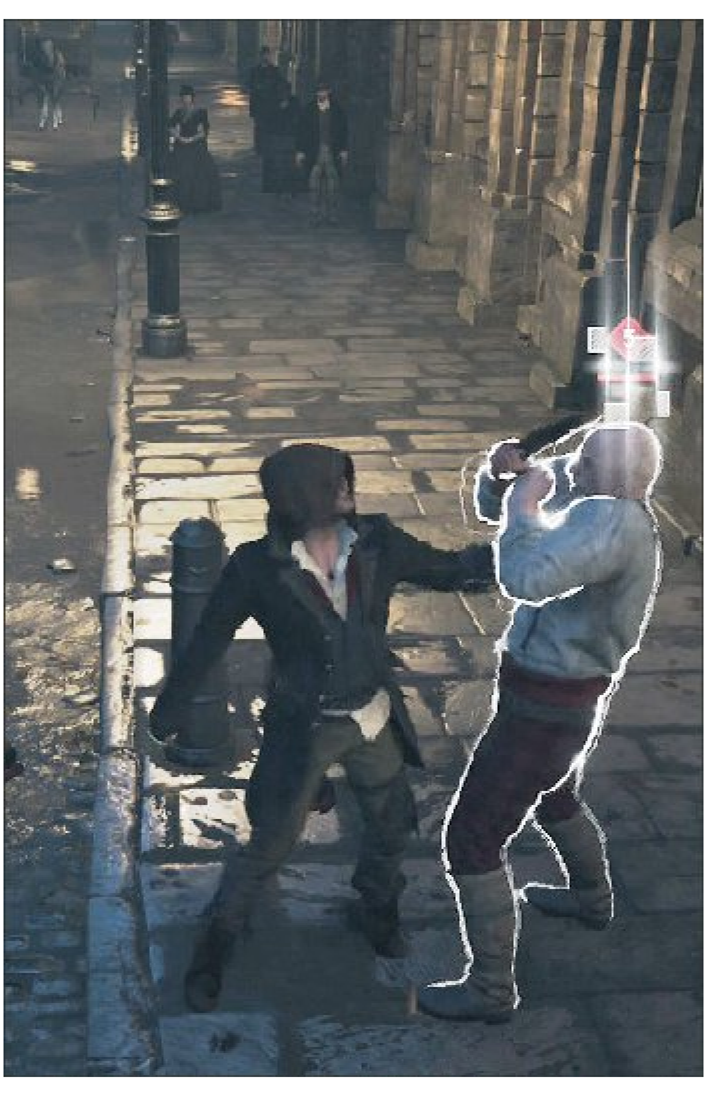
Counter Shot

Press △ / Y to shoot enemies before they shoot you! Counter Shots can be performed when the △ / Y appears above the player. If you have no ammunition, a dodge is performed instead.



Break Defense

Press ✕ / A to break the defense of an enemy in a blocking or counter stance, making them vulnerable to melee attacks.



Stun

Press ✕ / A to stun an enemy and daze them for several seconds.

Quick Shot

Press △ / Y with a throwing knife or gun equipped to perform a quick shot. Quick Shots can be used during combat or as a way to initiate combat. If you are planning to open combat with a quick shot, it is a much better option to aim your weapon for a critical hit instead.

Comboing

Practicing combos makes you much better at fighting multiple enemies. The key to maintaining your combo meter is managing enemy attacks and using the right type of counter.

Tool Combo

During combat, press △ / Y to use a tool (such as throwing knives or a pistol) in combat without breaking your combo. This is useful for quickly lowering an enemy's health, or attacking multiple enemies at once.

Combo Breaker

Failing to counter an enemy's first attack may open you up to being hit by a combo. Press ○ / B at the right time to deflect each attack in the combo. The enemy's health bar flashes at each opportunity.

Unstoppable Combos

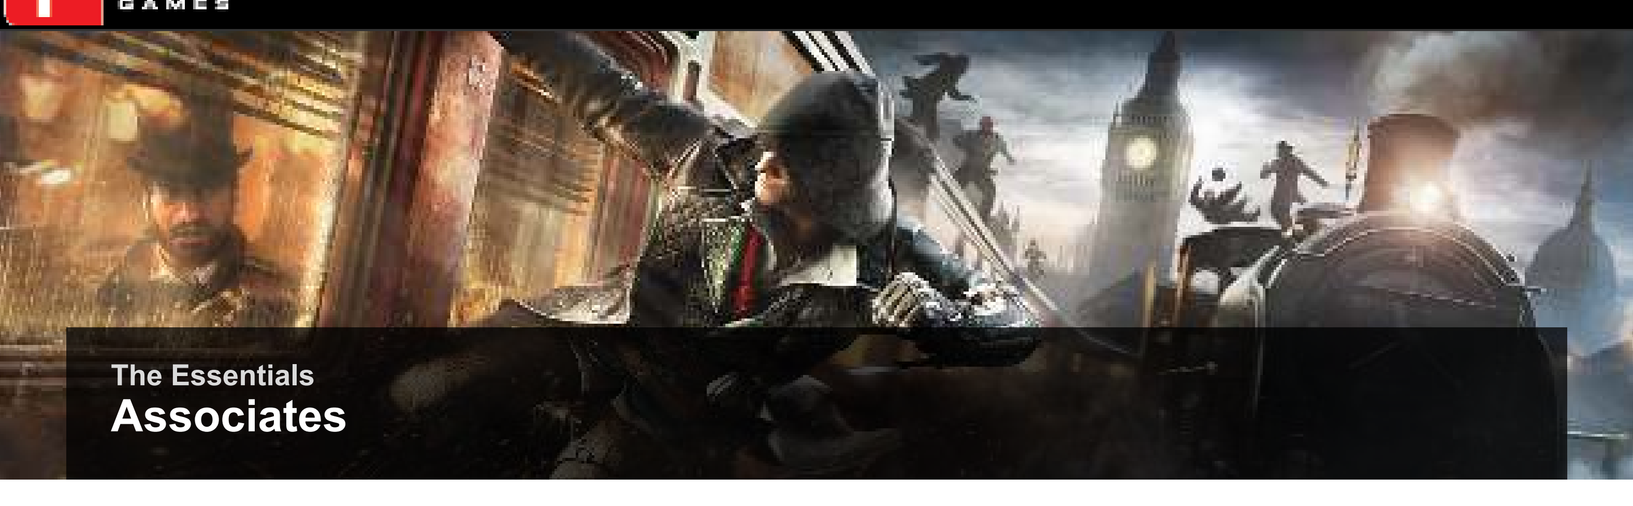
Some unique enemies can perform unstoppable combos. Press ○ / B at the right time to deflect each attack in the combo. If you succeed in deflecting every attack, you strike them back.

Target Switching Bonus

Attacking a different target in a combo results in a 25% increase in damage for the first attack on that target. Because of this, switching between targets is often a good strategy to not only prevent them from attacking, but also get them all to the near death state where you can perform a multi-kill.

Multi-Kill

Once an enemy is near death, marked by a flashing health bar and struggling to stand, press □ / X to finish them. If there are multiple enemies near death in close proximity, you automatically perform a multi-kill, granting you bonus XP.



Associates

Associates are your friends in London. Completing different Conquest and Income Activities grants influence to the related Associate, leveling them to unlock different crafting plans for items and tool upgrades as well as some Rare Materials.

O Clara O'Dea

Although Clara may be young, her rough upbringing has turned her into a courageous and charismatic business woman. Clara provides for the orphans in the streets, giving her the ability to have little eyes and ears everywhere.

Influence with Clara O'Dea is gained by completing Child Liberation activities. Each Activity grants 750 Influence, with a total of 12 to complete.

Level	Influence	Reward
1	750	Thief Belt
2	2250	Patchwork Cloak
3	3750	Bomb Pouch II Crafting Plan
4	6000	Hallucinogenic Dart Pouch II Crafting Plan
5	9000	Legendary Assassin Gauntlet

A Frederick Abberline

Frederick Abberline was a great Police Official for five years before meeting up with Jacob and Evie Frye. Always striving to be fair and just, Frederick found that the law was often anything but. Although he chose to join forces with the two Assassins, Frederick will spend the rest of his life questioning whether or not his decision was just, or if it was simply another form of corruption.

Gain Influence with Frederick by completing Bounty Hunt activities. There are a total of 18 Bounty Hunts, each granting 560 Influence.

Level	Influence	Reward
1	1000	(54 Bore) 1856 Revolver
2	3000	Gunslinger Coat
3	5000	Steel Knuckles
4	7000	Model 3 Revolver
5	10000	Self-Loading Pistol Model 1868

N Ned Wynert

Ned Wynert may not be who many think he is. Born Henrietta Marty Wynn, he was raised in American "polite society" and was expected to play the part under strict social constraints. Out of these constraints, Ned Wynert was born. Sneaking out of the house and assuming his identity as Ned Wynert, he found his home among petty thieves and darker influences, making a stronghold for himself in Southwark. The only thing stopping Ned from taking over the rest of London is the Blighters.

Influence with Ned Wynert is achieved by 20 Carriage and Train Raids. The Carriage Raids grant 500 Influence and the Train Raids grant 250.

Level	Influence	Reward
1	1000	Fire Opal
2	3000	Golden Obsidian
3	6000	Black Diamond
4	10000	Serrated Death Kukri
5	15000	The Mars Firearm

T Robert Topping

Accidently wandering down an alley and getting lost, Robert Topping sought refuge in a small crate for the night. Upon waking up, he found himself with his new family in the circus where he learned a vast amount of skills, or so the story goes. Eventually Robert returned to London under the employment of his uncle and now he is the bookie for underground prize-fighting and street racing rings.

Influence with Robert Topping is gained from Street Racing and Fight Club Income Activities. There are 12 Races to complete, adding 250 influence each, and seven Fight Clubs, granting 1000 influence each.

Level	Influence	Reward
1	1000	Exotic Cane-Sword
2	3000	Jade Dragon Cane-Sword
3	5000	Light and Dark Cane-Sword
4	7000	Flame Dragon Cane-Sword
5	10000	World's Greatest Cane-Sword

G Henry Green

Although we know him as Henry Green, his actual name is Jayadeep Mir. Henry is the name he chose to mask his identity while on his mission in London. Unlike most Assassins, Henry strays away from violence, focusing on books and learning about everything, and everyone, around him.

Influence with Henry Green is achieved by completing Gang Strongholds and Templar Hunts. Each of the 12 Gang Strongholds grants 750 Influence, while the 18 Templar Hunts grant 350 Influence each.

Level	Influence	Reward
1	1000	Ruby Kukri
2	3000	Master Ruby Kukri

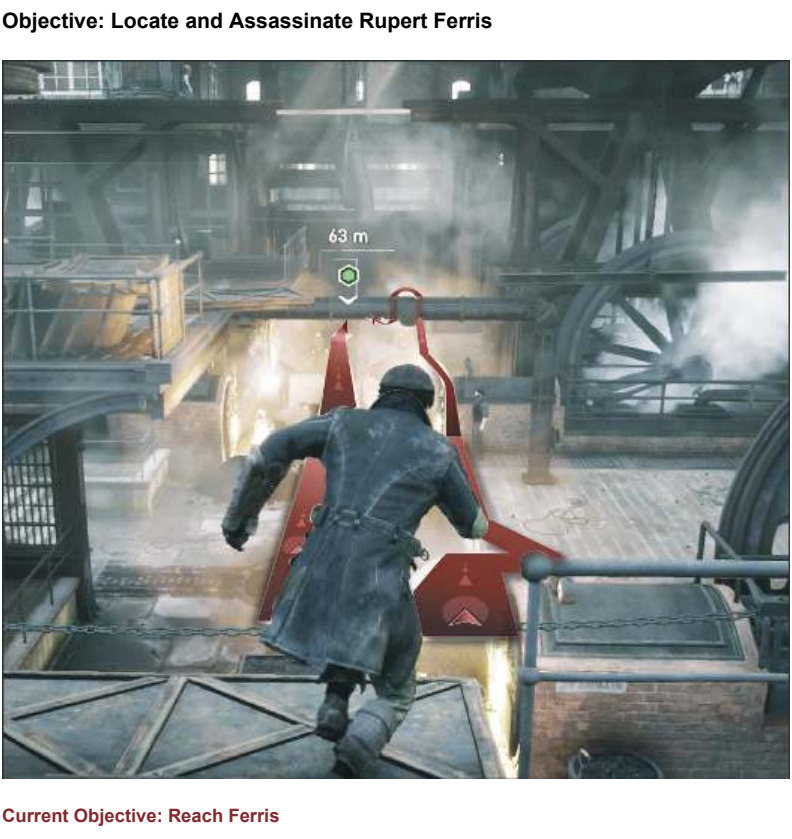
Objective: Locate and Assassinate Rupert Ferris



Current Objective: Reach Ferris

Location: Ferris Ironworks, Croydon—1868

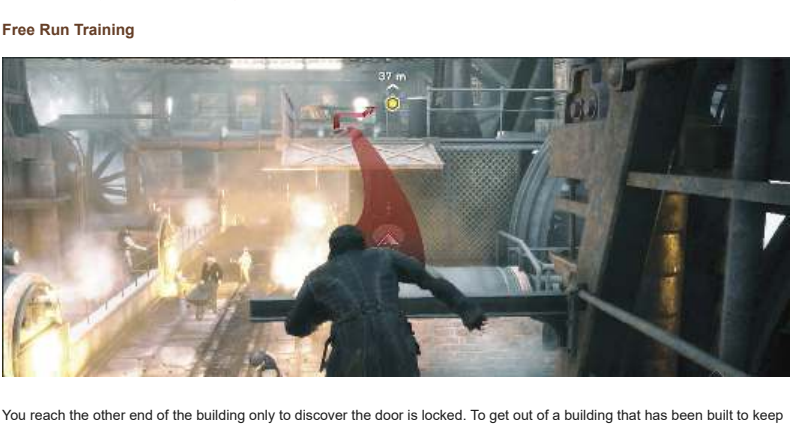
Map View Availability

The overhead map menu is an extremely useful tool when coordinating an assassination…unfortunately, it's also a feature that is not available until you reach London.

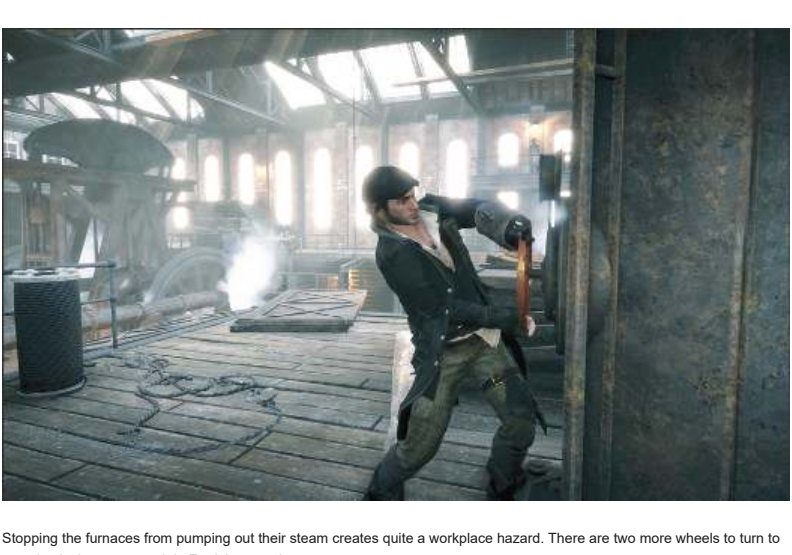
Playing as Assassin Jacob Frye, you begin this memory standing in the smoldering Ferris Ironworks building while standing on the edge of a second-story walkway (1). The environmental challenges in this room are there to help familiarize you with Free Running (Hold R2 / RT). It allows you to climb and leap across what are seemingly humanly impossible jumps. Basically, it's the button that makes you a parkour superstar. Run through the middle of the ironworks building, through the hopeless child laborers—or try leaping furnaces and running on railings—to reach the exit marked with a small, green hexagon.

Current Objective: Sabotage the Machines

Free Run Training



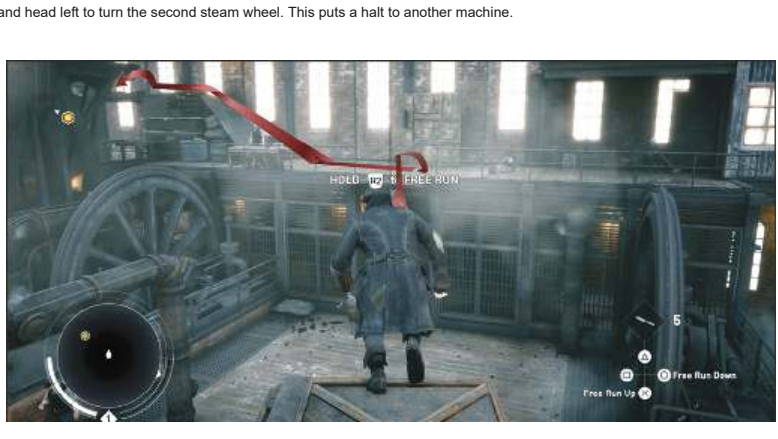
You reach the other end of the building only to discover the door is locked. To get out of a building that has been built to keep energetic children from escaping, one must think on their feet. An "accidental" environmental hazard comes to mind. Turn back the way you came and run up along the ramp on the right. Leap to the metal beam and then leap to the hanging metal panel. Jump from the metal grate to the pipe, and then to the next catwalk. Approach the steam pipe wheel and press ○ / B to sabotage the machine.

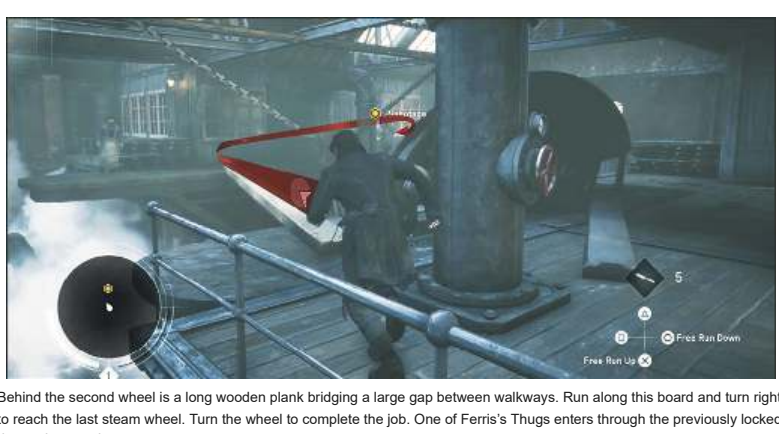


Stopping the furnaces from pumping out their steam creates quite a workplace hazard. There are two more wheels to turn to completely throw a wrench in Ferris's operation.

Turn to the left and run across the metal panel. Jump to the hanging girder. Make sure that you are not holding the Free Run Up button while crossing the girder or you'll latch onto and climb up the suspension chain. This tries to stop you from developing a habit of holding the Free Run Up button all the time, especially when it's not needed.

Leap to the ledge on the second level and turn left to run up another ramp; leapfrog off a pipe to grasp onto a railing. Pull up and head left to turn the second steam wheel. This puts a halt to another machine.

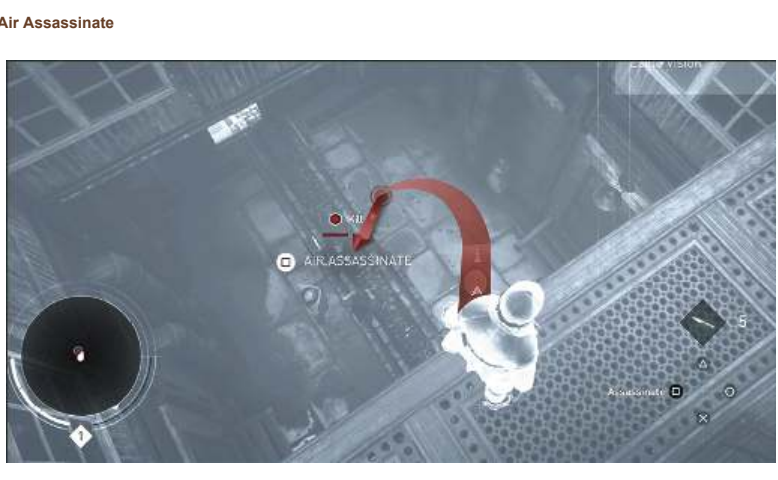


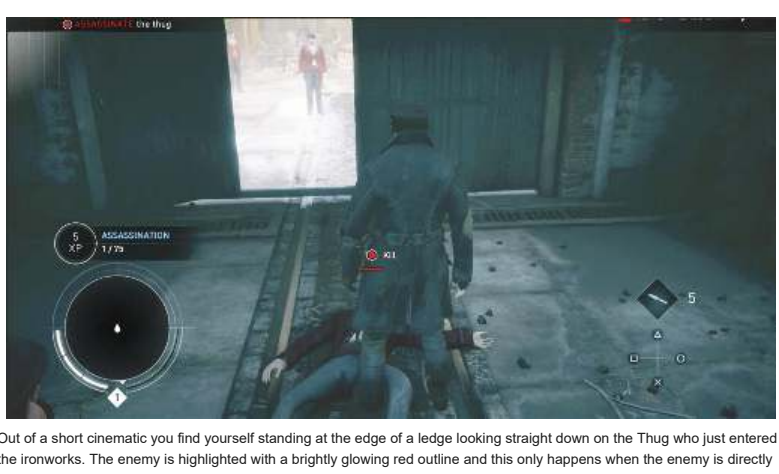


Behind the second wheel is a long wooden plank bridging a large gap between walkways. Run along this board and turn right to reach the last steam wheel. Turn the wheel to complete the job. One of Ferris's Thugs enters through the previously locked door to inspect the emergency.

Current Objective: Assassinate the Thug

Air Assassinate





Out of a short cinematic you find yourself standing at the edge of a ledge looking straight down on the Thug who just entered the ironworks. The enemy is highlighted with a brightly glowing red outline and this only happens when the enemy is directly below you and within attacking distance. Use Eagle Vision (L3) to quickly identify enemies and the immediate threat. This particular Thug is a person of higher interest (like a leader) and is glowing yellow. A lesser threat (such as a common enemy) glows red.

Now turn off Eagle Vision (L3). Notice the target glows even brighter in normal view, which is considerably darker than the mystical world of Eagle Vision. This target lock is very important. So make sure you see a target lock and not just a red glowing enemy. If you attempt an air assault without it, you'll miss your attack, land in his or her view, and more often than not, blow your cover. This comes at a high price this early in the game—you may possibly get the snot beat out you for a mistake like that.

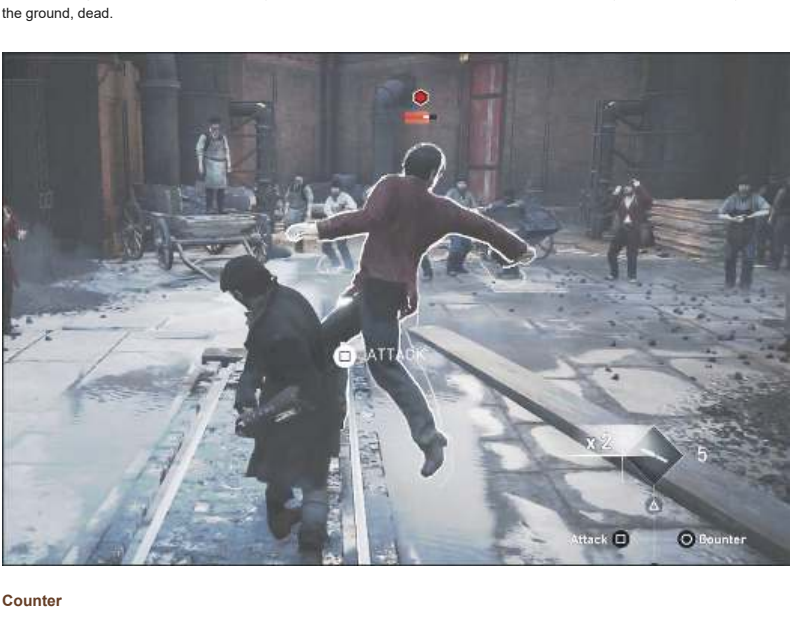
Press □ / ✕ to execute the Air Assassination. It's an instant kill (retractable wrist-knife to the throat) that warrants no attention unless you are within eyeshot of another enemy. After the kill, you walk into the courtyard (2) in a very short cinematic. Here you face a few more challengers and more basic training.

Current Objective: Kill the Thugs

Attack

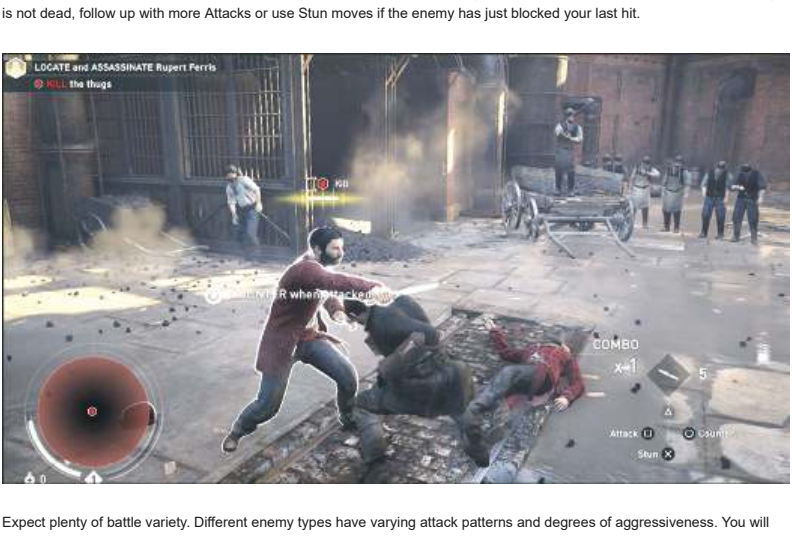
The first Thug pulls a knife and draws back. This is an opening. Attack the vulnerable enemy with □ / ✕.

Keep pressing the attack button repeatedly to achieve combos. Continue an attack until the enemy blocks or until they are on the ground, dead.

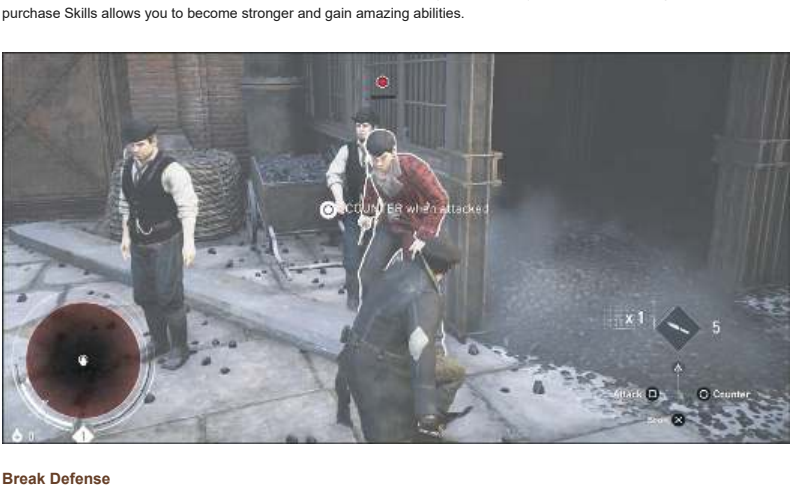


Counter

The second Thug is designed to teach you about the Counter attack. The Counter ○ / B starts with a dodge and if you continue to press the Counter button you come back at the enemy with a Counter attack. Soon after, if the enemy is not dead, follow up with more Attacks or use Stun moves if the enemy has just blocked your last hit.



Expect plenty of battle variety. Different enemy types have varying attack patterns and degrees of aggressiveness. You will have mastered combat only when you have become familiar with each enemy's attack pattern and have learned how to effectively react to each move. Defeating the enemy in close combat gets easier as you level up. Spending Skill Points to purchase Skills allows you to become stronger and gain amazing abilities.



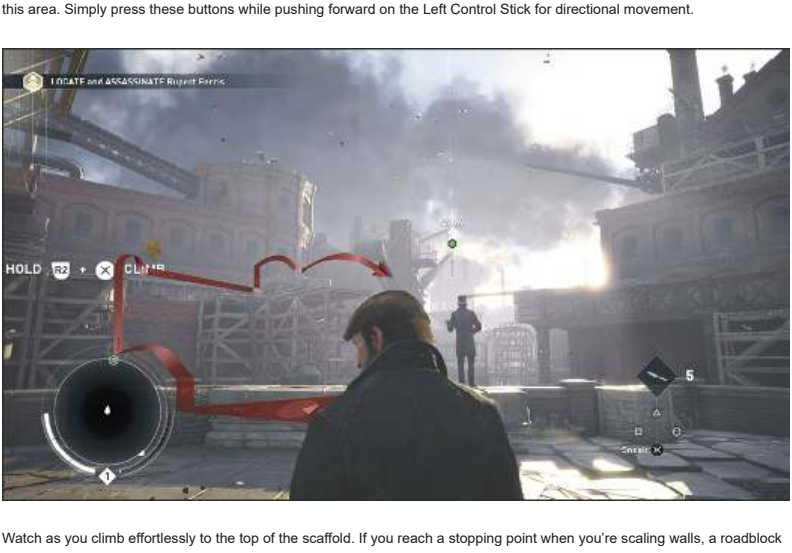
Break Defense

The last enemy in the yard is designed to teach you how to break a defense. No matter how hard or how many times you hit an enemy that is defending (arms up over their face) you cannot land a hit. You must start your attack with a defense breaking move; press ✕ / A to break the enemy's defense. As soon as you break through the block, follow up with attacks. Repeat as necessary. After defeating the three Thugs, open the very large doors (3) to the south.

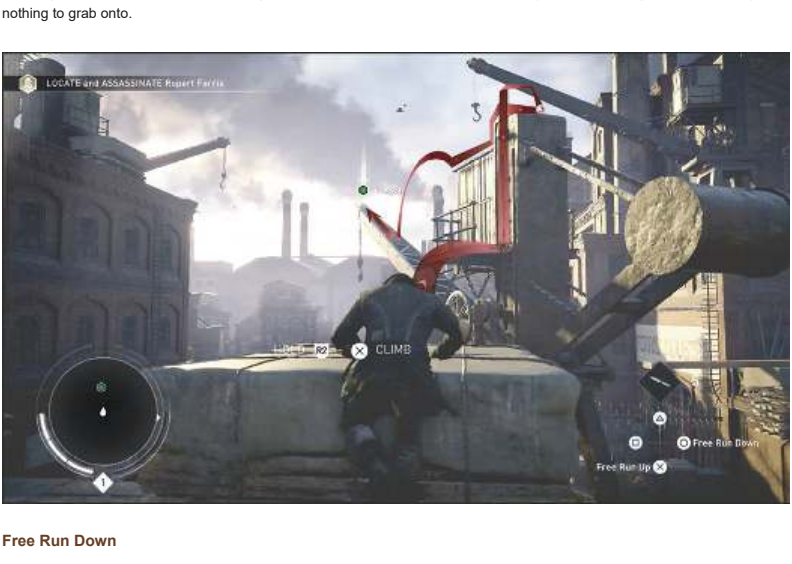
Location: Rail Yard

Free Run Up

The doors open to a smoggy-afternoon-in-London landscape. There's a man giving a speech from a ledge in front of you and a large crane (4) in front of him. Reaching the top of that crane is your current goal. This is Free Run Up training. Press and hold the ✕ / A button while holding R2 / RT to Free Run Up climbable surfaces such as the scaffolding in this area. Simply press these buttons while pushing forward on the Left Control Stick for directional movement.

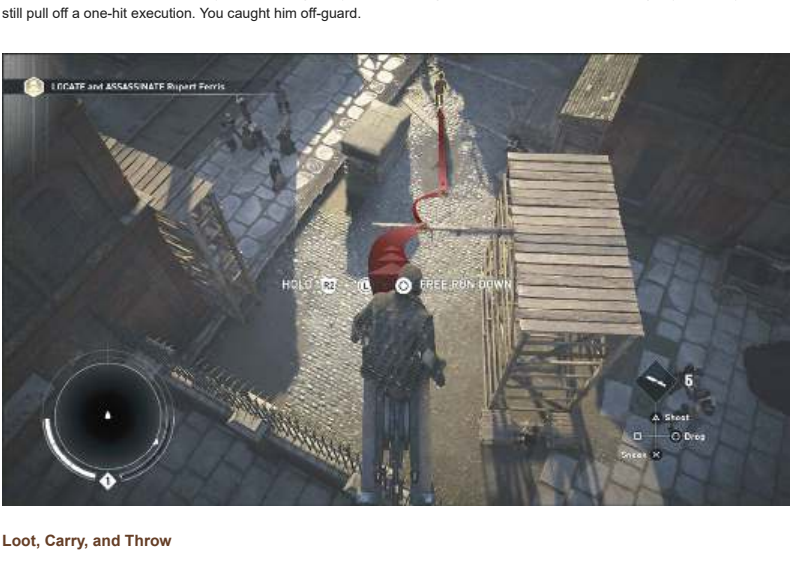


Watch as you climb effortlessly to the top of the scaffold. If you reach a stopping point when you're scaling walls, a roadblock that prevents direct upward movement, then look for areas to the left or right that you can latch onto to proceed upwards. Move right or left to continue around. Large blank areas on a surface or barriers stop your upward progression. There's just nothing to grab onto.



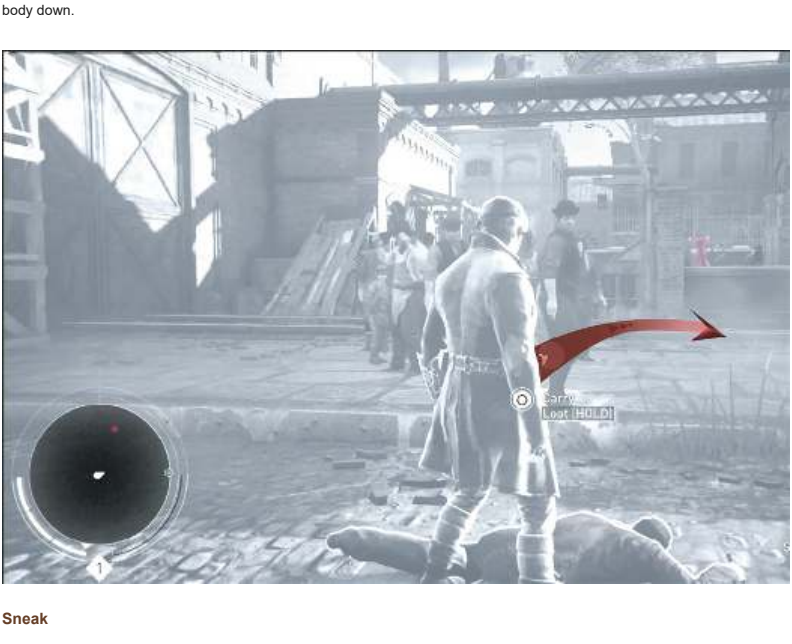
Free Run Down

Once you have reached the end of the crane (marked with a green hexagon in a halo beam) look for the scaffold platform (5) with an extended wooden plank below you. Press forward, hold R2 / RT + ○ / B for Free Run Down to leap from the end of the crane and catch and swing from the wooden plank below. You land very close to the Thug, so rush him and attack him before he realizes you are a danger. If your stealth ring remains white while he is looking at you, then you can still pull off a one-hit execution. You caught him off-guard.



Loot, Carry, and Throw

When the "Loot [HOLD]" message appears while standing over the body of a defeated or unconscious enemy, press and hold the ○ / B button. If the enemy has something on his or her body that can be removed, then this loot message appears and you can steal items and money. Do this with every kill if possible. There is an obtainable Skill that allows you to loot automatically during a stealthy kill. If you need to hide a body from other enemies, you can carry a body and throw it. Simply stand over the victim and tap the ○ / B button. Press □ / ✕ to toss the body down.



Sneak

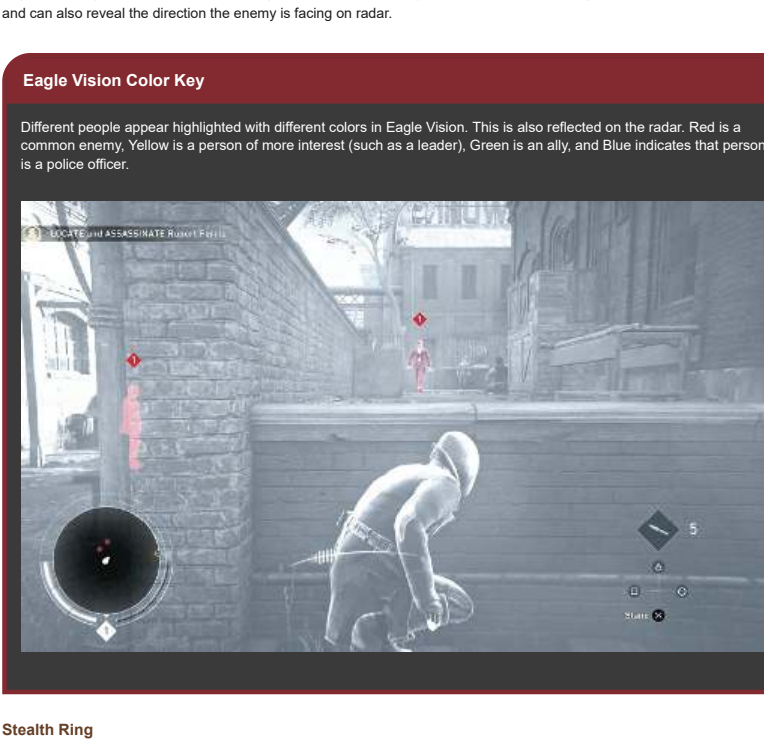
You can remain anonymous while standing upright only if you move slowly and use crowds and objects for partial cover. However, sneaking allows you to get closer to the enemy by crouching over and stealthily reaching cover closer to the enemy. Press the ✕ / A button to crouch down and enter Sneak mode. You can increase your stealth stat (making you quieter) by purchasing particular Skills. See our Essentials section for more information on stealth, detection icons, enemy behavior, last know position, blending, and using cover.

Eagle Vision

Stand still or walk slowly and press L3 to engage Eagle Vision. Eagle Vision cannot be used while running. Look to your left to spot two enemies (7) in the area. Observe the nearby Thugs until they glow red in this view. The numbers above their heads indicate their level. When the number pops up above their head you can also be assured that they will be marked permanently on the radar. Once on radar, enemy movements can be studied. This is another valuable tool that can also be upgraded using Skill Points. Advanced Eagle Vision options allow you to mark enemies through walls, floors, and rooftops and can also reveal the direction the enemy is facing on radar.

Eagle Vision Color Key

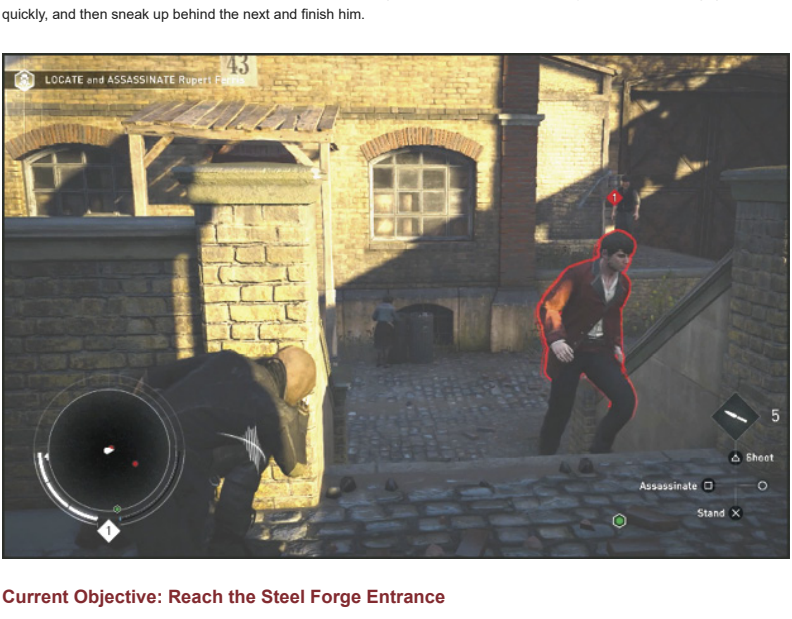
Different people appear highlighted with different colors in Eagle Vision. This is also reflected on the radar. Red is a common enemy, Yellow is a person of more interest (such as a leader), Green is an ally, and Blue indicates that person is a police officer.



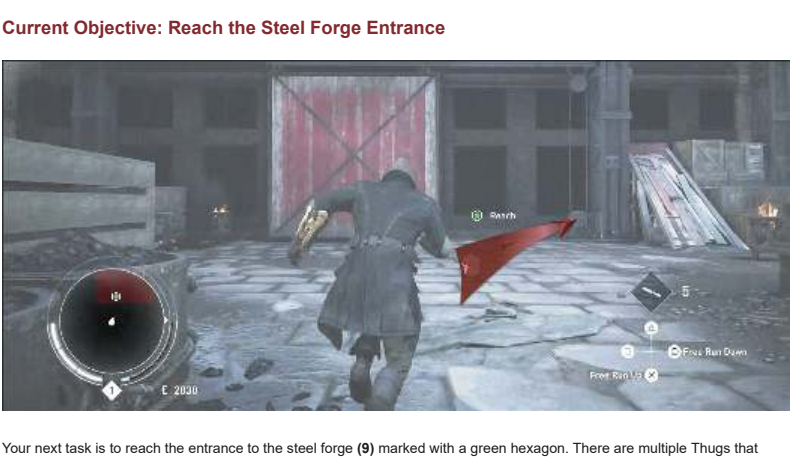
Stealth Ring

Climb up to the top of the building (7) on your left while remaining out of the enemies' view. Walk along the rooftop and drop down to the connecting pipe suspended over the two enemies' patrol route. Notice the Stealth Ring surrounding Jacob. Whenever you are in danger of attracting potential aggressors' attention, or while engaged in combat, a circular Stealth Ring surrounds your body. The Stealth Ring displays the positions of actual or aspiring combatants. The direction icons (they look like digital audio level graphs) on the Stealth Ring reveal the locations of every assailant that you need to assassinate or avoid. Notice that if an enemy is below you that the direction icons appear below the Stealth Ring. If the enemy is above you the icons appear above the Stealth Ring. Likewise, if you are on the same plane as the enemy, the direction icons appear above and below the Stealth Ring.

To defeat these enemies (8), wait to Air Assassinate one Thug while the other is turned away. Execute one Thug, get to cover quickly, and then sneak up behind the next and finish him.



Current Objective: Reach the Steel Forge Entrance



Your next task is to reach the entrance to the steel forge (9) marked with a green hexagon. There are multiple Thugs that patrol the grounds and you should use this opportunity to practice combat, stealth attacks, and crowd blending. Take full advantage of the rooftops. High ground is the best location for scouting and marking enemies with Eagle Vision. Move about the area and attempt to stealthily remove each enemy, loot them, and move on to the next until you reach the large door to the steel forge.

Stealth

Turn the wheel to open the doors to the steel forge. Just through the doors is an enemy (A) with his back to you. In front of him is the immense steel forge. This structure is large and offers a host of different route options to stealthily reduce the enemy. Make the nearest Thug your first victim by sneaking up behind him and silently executing him (Attack) or throw a knife directly at his head. Knife headshots kill lower level enemies with one hit. Higher level enemies can withstand a knife attack to the head. To compensate for this weakness, there are knife damage upgrades available through Crafting Upgrades.

Stealth makes you harder to detect and allows you to move faster. If you choose to take out enemies from a distance then use the throwing knife. From behind cover press and hold L2 / LT to aim and then press R2 / RT to throw the knife (or whatever throwing object you have selected). The knife focus-locks in on the victim and then auto-tracks the target as he or she moves. The enemy is highlighted using the same highlight style used to signify an Air Assassination lock-on.

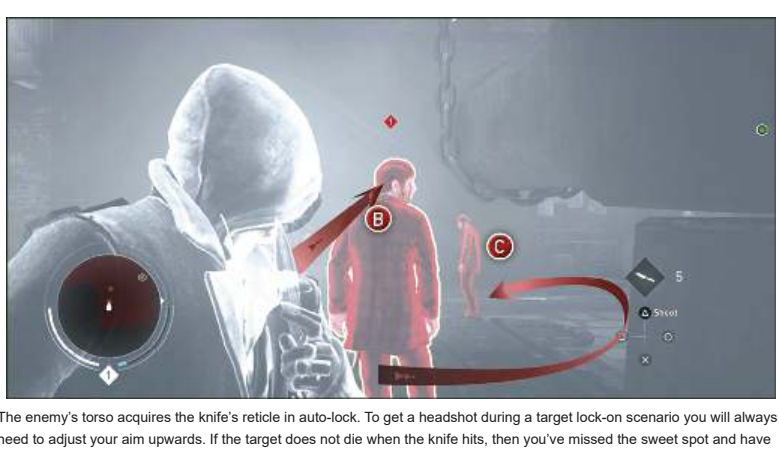
Shoot
Stand



The enemy's torso acquires the knife's reticle in auto-lock. To get a headshot during a target lock-on scenario you will always need to adjust your aim upwards. If the target does not die when the knife hits, then you've missed the sweet spot and have to throw multiple knives to do the same job. It's best to only throw the knife when the target is somewhat still. If the enemy is patrolling, wait until they stop to have a look around. Sometimes it's best to miss a knife throw completely, causing the target to look to the sound of the knife striking a nearby object. This makes them stop moving and look around, creating a better headshot opportunity.

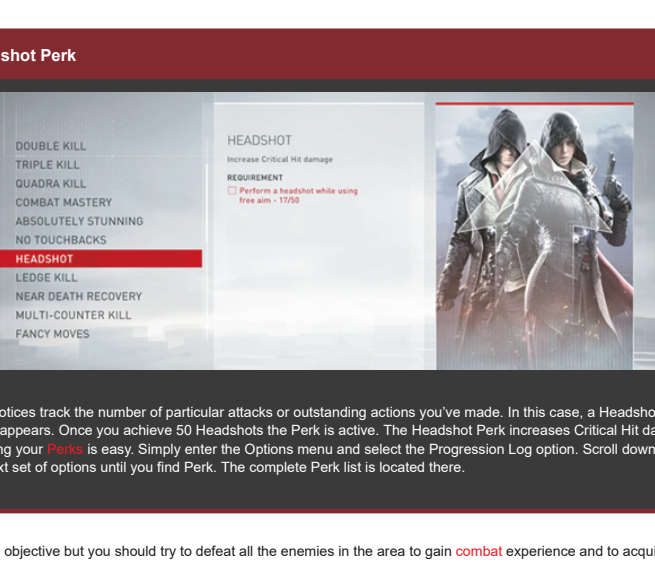
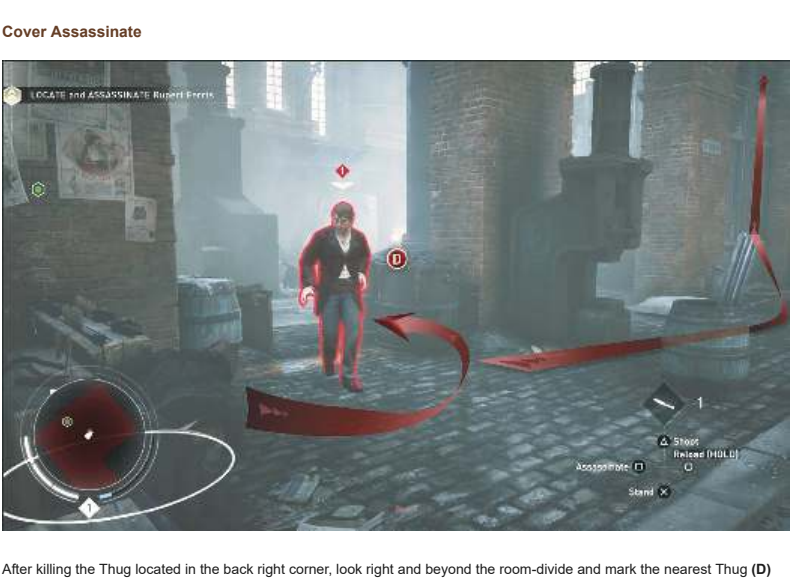
Headshot Perk



Perk notices track the number of particular attacks or outstanding actions you've made. In this case, a Headshot Perk notice appears. Once you achieve 50 Headshots the Perk is active. The Headshot Perk increases Critical Hit damage. Tracking your Perks is easy. Simply enter the Options menu and select the Progression Log option. Scroll down through the next set of options until you find Perk. The complete Perk list is located there.

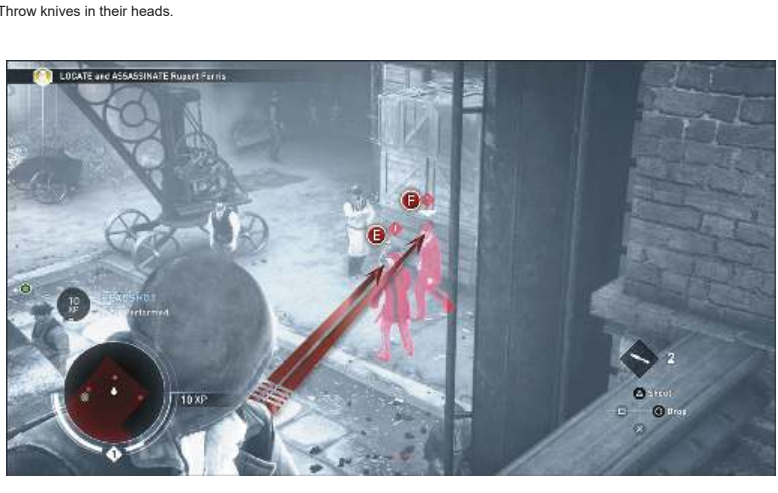
It's not an objective but you should try to defeat all the enemies in the area to gain combat experience and to acquire items from the bodies left behind. Use Eagle Vision as soon as possible. Mark the enemies in the area. The first section of the Steel Forge is divided into two equal size sides. The side you enter has three enemies almost in a straight line from the entrance to the back wall. All three can be killed with a thrown knife, or they can be silently executed (by sneaking up behind them and sticking a knife in their side using the Attack option). The first two Thugs (A & B) face the back wall. The third (C) faces the left but can easily be snuck up on from the right side of the room. Avoid being spotted by the Thugs on the right side of the room divide while doing this. If you don't want to risk being seen, simply throw a knife in the third Thug's head.

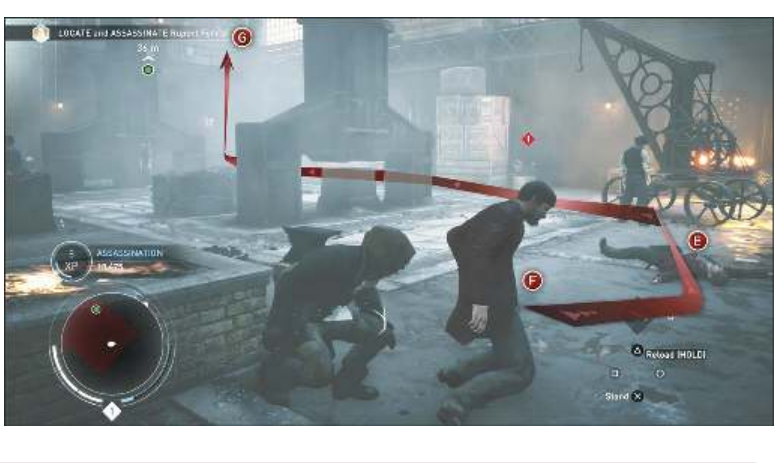
Cover Assassinate



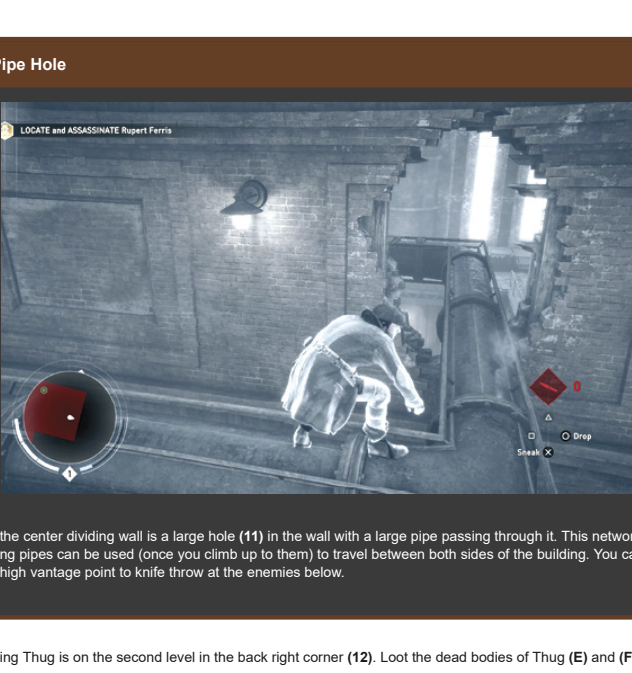
After killing the Thug located in the back right corner, look right and beyond the room-divide and mark the nearest Thug (D) on the radar using Eagle Vision. Sneak up behind the workbench to the left of the rightmost opening in the dividing wall. While covered, whistle toward the enemy by pressing D-Pad Down. Sound waves emanate from his head if he's in range and hears you. You have his attention. He approaches your hiding location. Stay crouched and pressed up against the workbench. When the enemy glows with a highlighted red outline (when he enters your attack range), press the Attack button to silently execute the enemy. If you wait too long, the enemy spots you and your cover is blown.

After killing the fourth Thug, head right while remaining on the left side of the divide. Scale the center of the dividing wall to perch on top of a high opening (10). From here you can spot two patrolling Thugs (E & F). They often stop near each other. Throw knives in their heads.



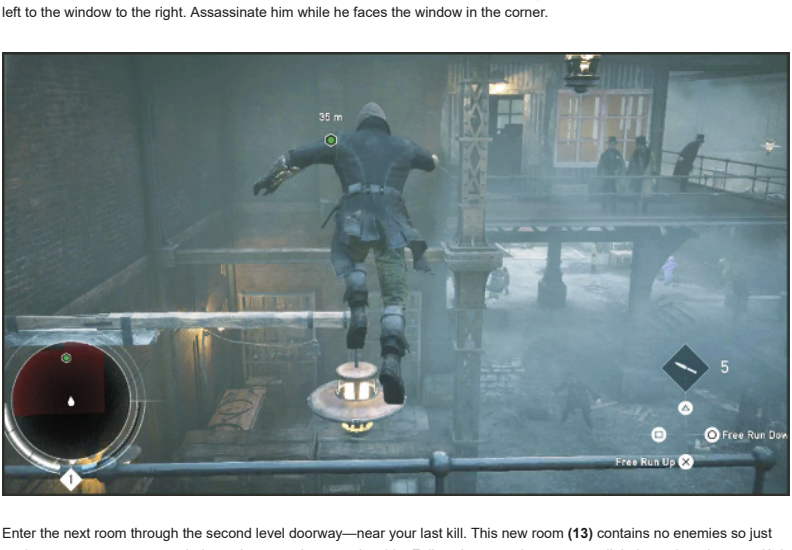


High Pipe Hole

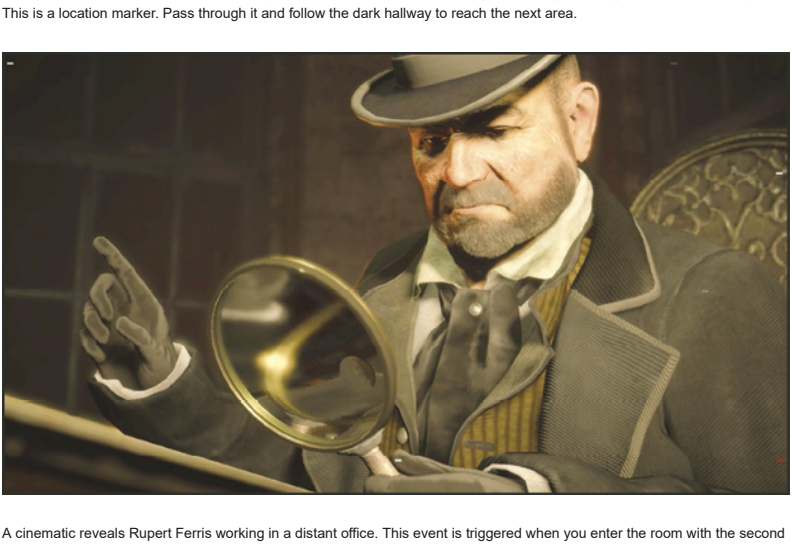


High on the center dividing wall is a large hole (11) in the wall with a large pipe passing through it. This network of connecting pipes can be used (once you climb up to them) to travel between both sides of the building. You can also use this high vantage point to knife throw at the enemies below.

The remaining Thug is on the second level in the back right corner (12). Loot the dead bodies of Thug (E) and (F). Cross the floor staying close to the right side in case the guard on the upper walkway looks your way (you can duck under the walkway to avoid detection). Climb up the wall in the back corner and come up behind the Thug (G) that patrols from the room to the left to the window to the right. Assassinate him while he faces the window in the corner.



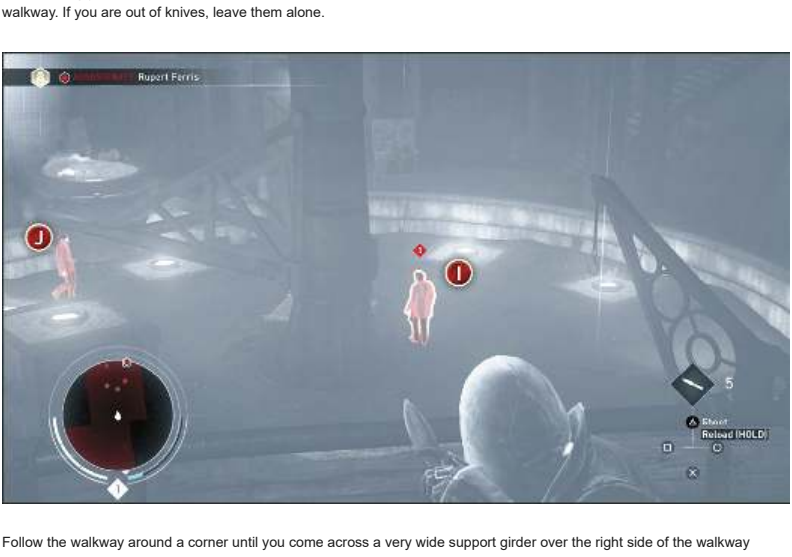
Enter the next room through the second level doorway—near your last kill. This new room (13) contains no enemies so just work your way across to reach the stairway on the opposite side. Follow the green hexagon to a light beam in a doorway (14). This is a location marker. Pass through it and follow the dark hallway to reach the next area.



A cinematic reveals Rupert Ferris working in a distant office. This event is triggered when you enter the room with the second doorway marker (15). Crouch into Sneak mode and cover behind the wood paneled rail on the right side of the stairwell entrance to your right.

Whistle to get the attention of the nearest Thug (H) at the bottom of the stairs. Wait for him to enter your striking radius as he ascends the stairs. Silently take him out and loot him as the second ground level Thug (I) walks away.

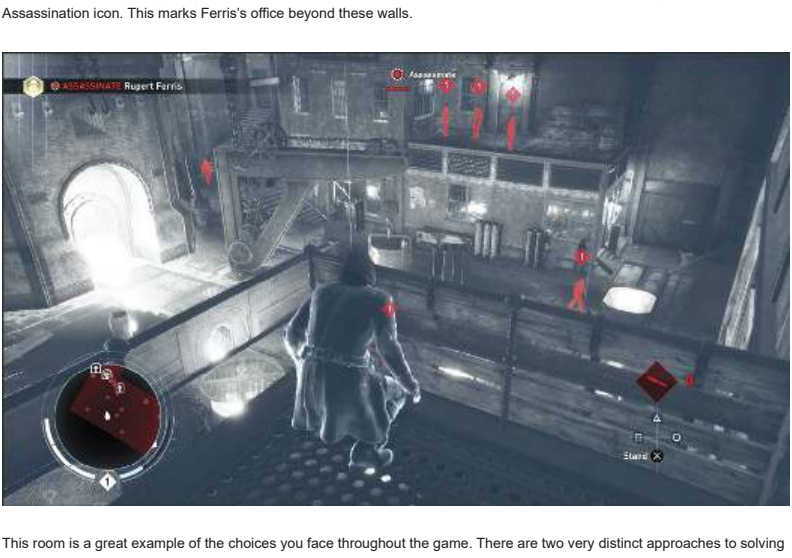
Sneak up to the rail overlooking the large ironworks chamber. With Eagle Vision you can mark two Thugs below. One is the second Thug you saw earlier (I) and the third (J) is closer to the far exit. Throw Knives at their heads from this second level walkway. If you are out of knives, leave them alone.



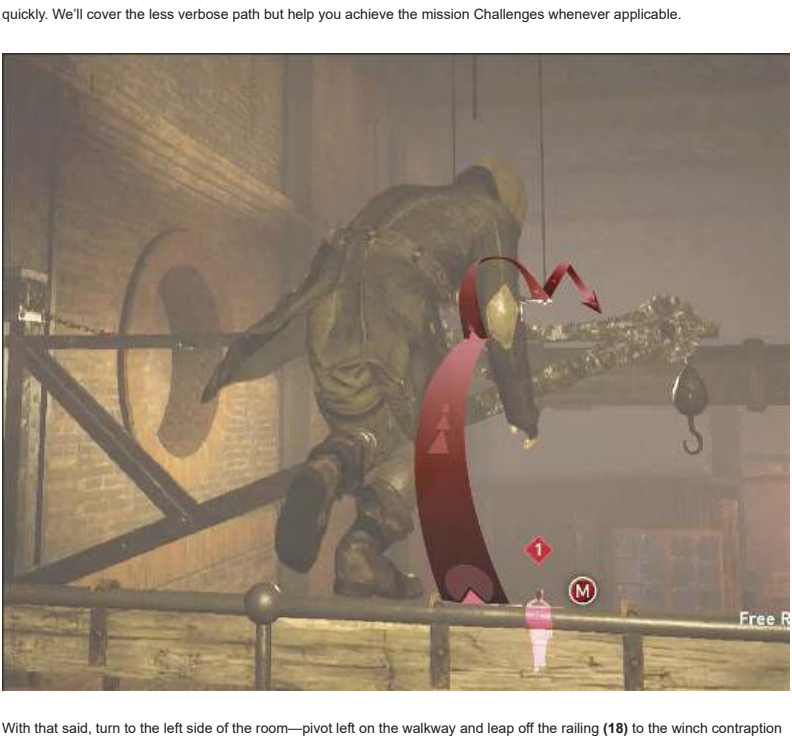
Follow the walkway around a corner until you come across a very wide support girder over the right side of the walkway railing. Climb this girder (16) to the top framework. Use Eagle Vision to spot the next target.

From your high perch in the room you can see the Assassination icon (Rupert's location in the next chamber over) and two more Thugs. You can take the Thug (K) on the right out with a throwing knife. Follow the left catwalk to another beam that leads to that walkway with the exit on the left. Through this doorway is the next Thug (L). Fortunately, he stands with his back to you as you enter (17).

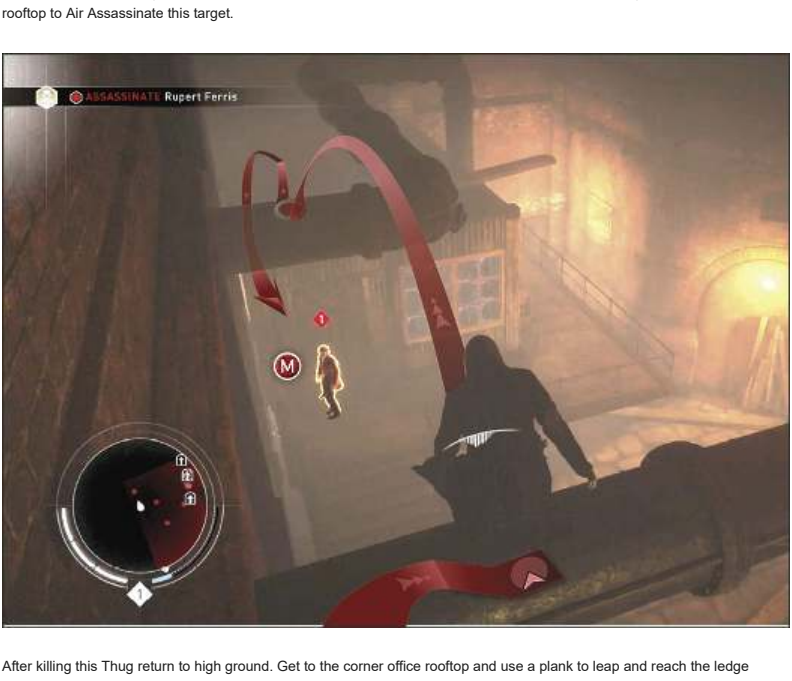
Sneak up behind the Thug and terminate him. When you exit the small room he was in you find yourself in a large chamber that looks very similar to the last. With Eagle Vision you can spot a cluster of three Thugs on a second level walkway on the right side of the room. Remain crouched behind the railing while remaining patient as more enemies enter your sights. You should spot four patrolling Thugs on the lower floor. Just to the left of the cluster of second level enemies you can see the Assassination icon. This marks Ferris's office beyond these walls.



This room is a great example of the choices you face throughout the game. There are two very distinct approaches to solving most of these Challenges: killing everyone or just moving creatively out of watchful eyes to get to your main target more quickly. We'll cover the less verbose path but help you achieve the mission Challenges whenever applicable.



With that said, turn to the left side of the room—pivot left on the walkway and leap off the railing (18) to the winch contraption on the wall and again off the top of a suspended light fixture and next to the top of a large pipe. From this pipe you can either throw a knife at the Thug (M) below or continue to the next pipe and use either the last pipe or the edge of the little office rooftop to Air Assassinate this target.



After killing this Thug return to high ground. Get to the corner office rooftop and use a plank to leap and reach the ledge around the large furnace. Stop on the furnace ledge and look around. You see the cluster of three Thugs on the ledge to the right and Thugs left alive on the ground floor. Here you can see three Entry Points indicated by Entry Point icons, all of which are located as far away from each other as possible. The most direct route to Ferris is through the middle top Entry Point. Use the next plank to leap to the side of the wall across the gap. This wall has a large banner painted on it: Starrick & Co. The middle Entry Point (19) is accessible from this rooftop.

ASSASSINATE Rupert Ferris

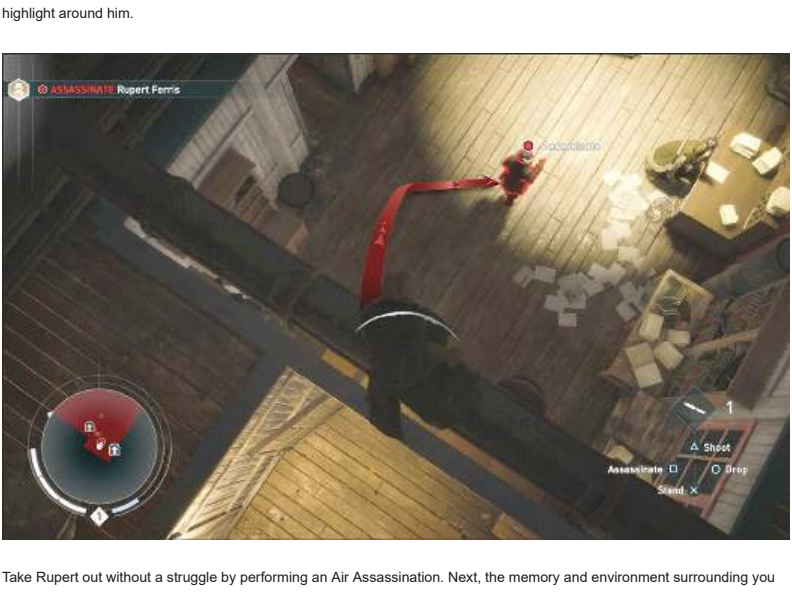
Free Run Down
Free Run Up

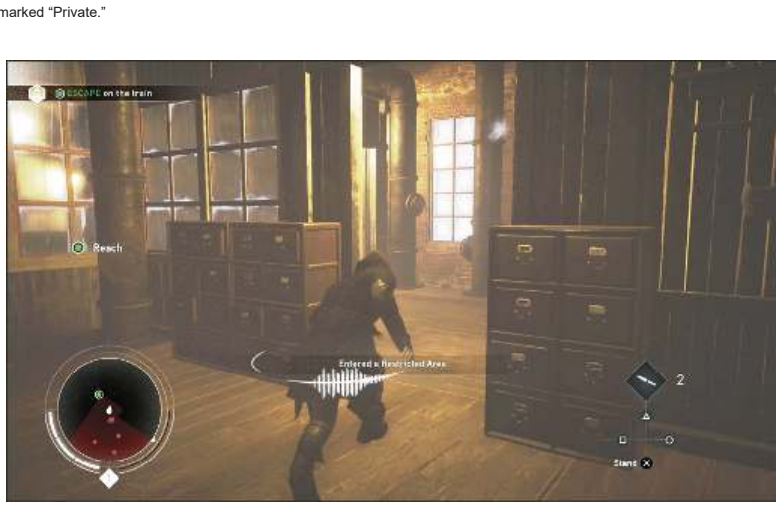
Rupert Ferris stands directly below your feet (provided you have passed through the Entry Point). Below the doorway is a large drop. Don't go down. Go over. Jump to the pipe across from the entryway. Turn your body completely around while perched on the pipe. Look down and you see Rupert Ferris standing just feet away with an Air Assassination red lock-on highlight around him.

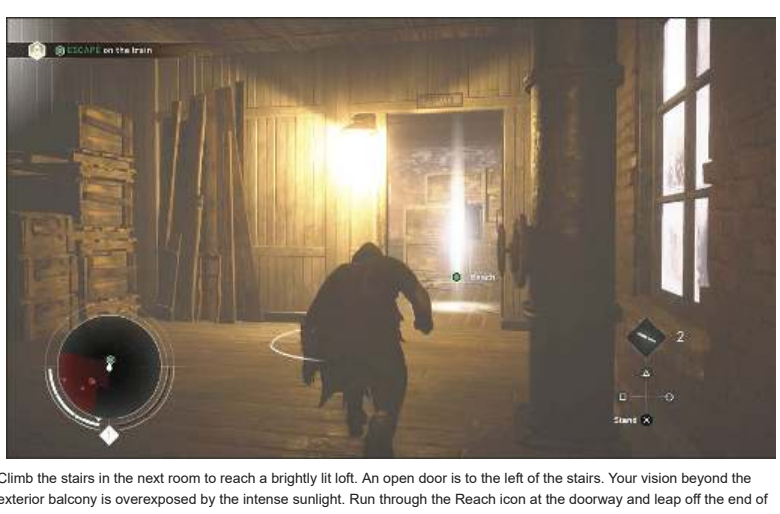


Take Rupert out without a struggle by performing an Air Assassination. Next, the memory and environment surrounding you fades to white and reveals the Animus white room. This is the transitional train station that connects your world with the world of virtual memories. Rupert is a bit upset you pulled him out of that memory and vocally expresses it while Jacob kneels at his dying side.

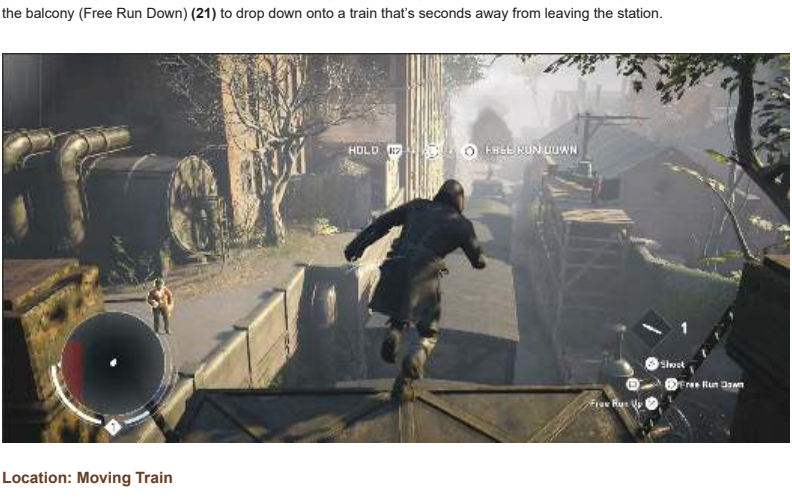
Current Objective: Escape On The Train

When the memory kicks back in you find yourself beside Rupert's dead body. So you need to flee the scene. You must escape the ironworks to complete the memory. Pivot around in the room until you face the green Reach icon. Pass through the doorway (20) nearest the Reach icon. Pass through another room and you'll spot the target marker in the next room marked "Private."



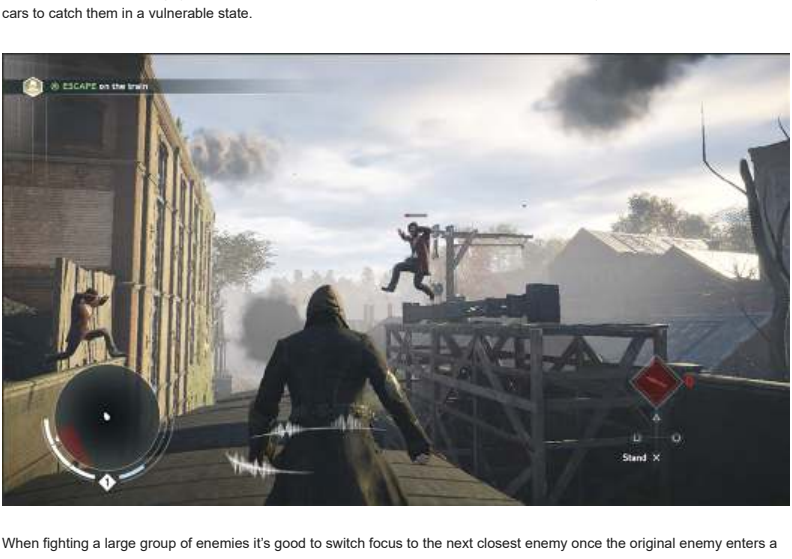


Climb the stairs in the next room to reach a brightly lit loft. An open door is to the left of the stairs. Your vision beyond the exterior balcony is overexposed by the intense sunlight. Run through the Reach icon at the doorway and leap off the end of the balcony (Free Run Down) (21) to drop down onto a train that's seconds away from leaving the station.

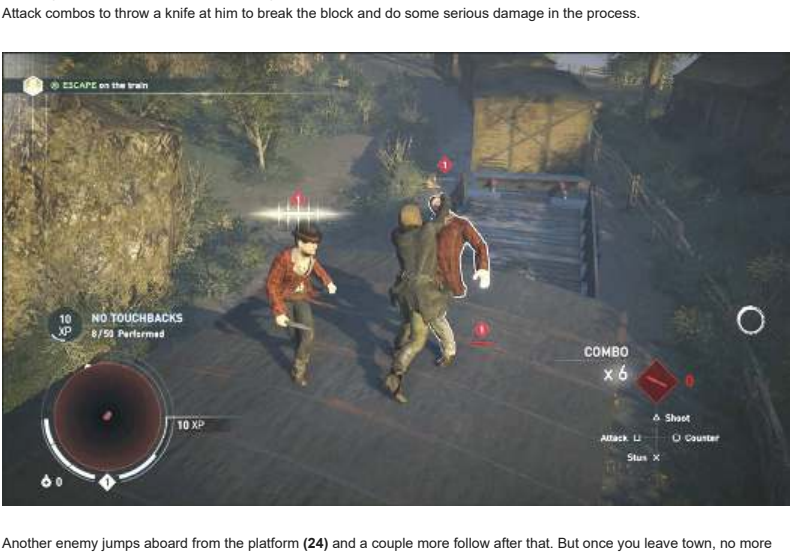


Location: Moving Train

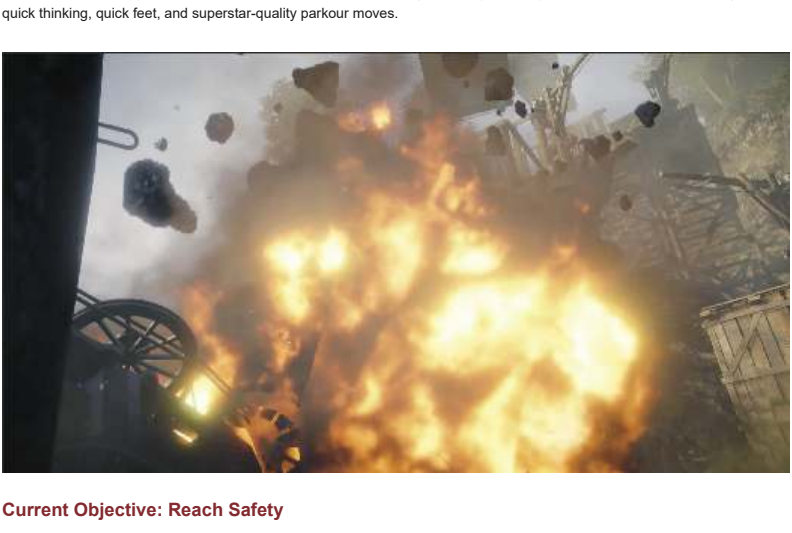
Remain on the car you drop down on and defeat the two Thugs that jump on from the platforms (21) beside the train. Your cover is blown so you have to result to hand-to-hand combat. Defeat the first two Thugs and, when the train passes under the first tunnel, two more Thugs jump aboard from a side platform (23). Rush to attack them as they climb up between the train cars to catch them in a vulnerable state.



When fighting a large group of enemies it's good to switch focus to the next closest enemy once the original enemy enters a blocking stance. The second enemy's attacks are more likely to land when your current enemy is blocking. So instead of Stunning a blocker, move onto the next target and come back to the blocker later. You can also take a quick break between Attack combos to throw a knife at him to break the block and do some serious damage in the process.



Another enemy jumps aboard from the platform (24) and a couple more follow after that. But once you leave town, no more jump aboard. Once you defeat all of the Thugs, a cinematic begins. Thugs in a horse-drawn wagon activate the railroad switch (25) and send you and the train on course for a broken bridge. Jacob just barely escapes the train wreck using some quick thinking, quick feet, and superstar-quality parkour moves.



Current Objective: Reach Safety

Location: Train Wreck Site

When control returns to you we find Jacob gripping the edge of the rails above a 30-foot drop (26). Press down on the Left Control Stick to drop from grip point to grip point. Alternatively you could also press the ○ / B button to Drop from point to point. When you reach the bottom of the track section you discover the drop is too big for a Left Control Stick drop. So you must use the Drop button to release your grip from the rails.

Objective: Assassinate David Brewster and Recover His Piece of Eden

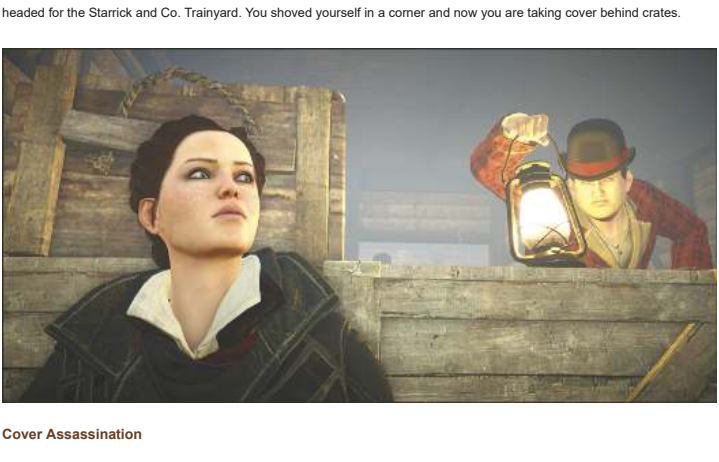
Current Objective: Detach Locomotive

Location: Starrick and Co., Corydon, Moving Train

Map View Availability

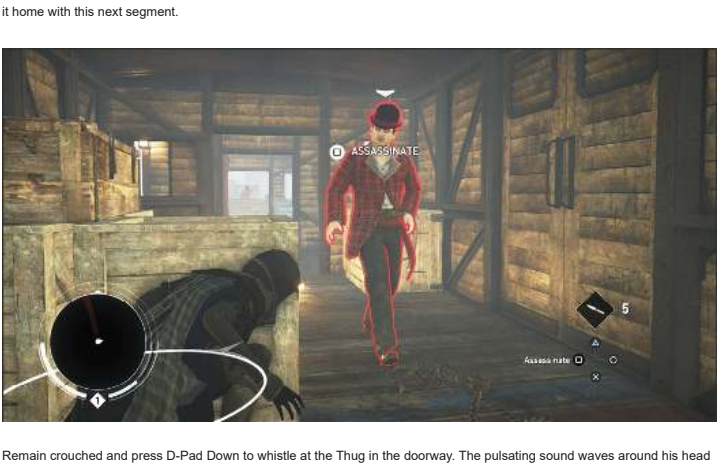
The overhead map feature is not available until you reach London. You're getting closer.

Now we switch focus to Jacob's twin sister and fellow assassin, Evie Frye. You begin this memory as a stowaway on a train headed for the Starrick and Co. Trainyard. You shoved yourself in a corner and now you are taking cover behind crates.

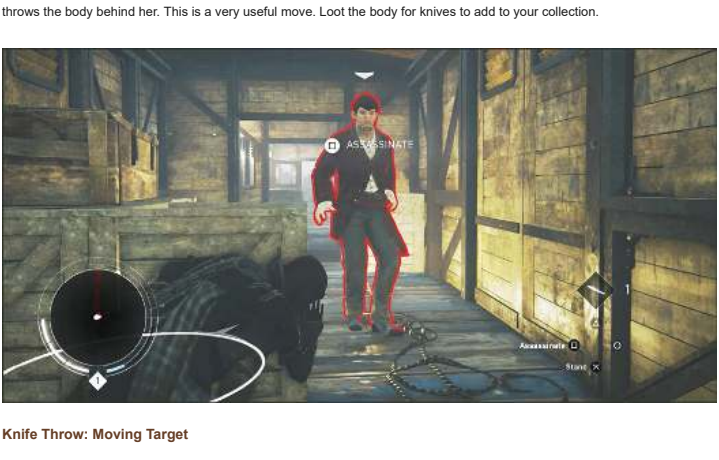


Cover Assassination

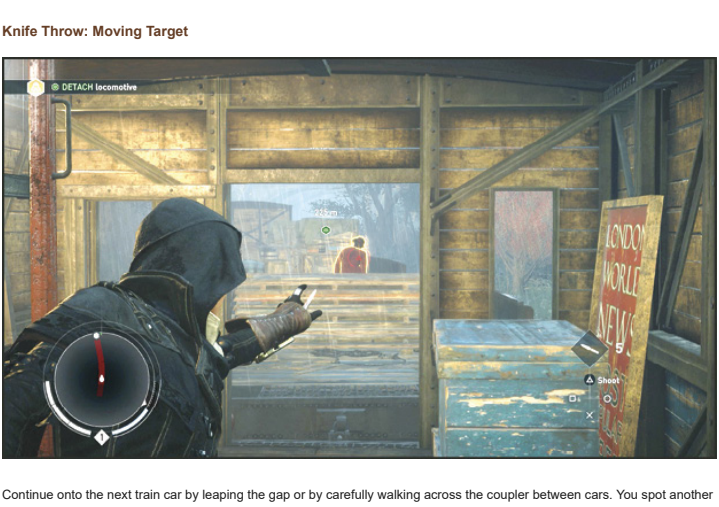
Your first task is to eliminate the immediate threat, which is the Thug who's booting passengers without tickets off the train. Although you had an opportunity to perform the Cover Assassination in the previous sequence, the game really wants to drive it home with this next segment.



Remain crouched and press D-Pad Down to whistle at the Thug in the doorway. The pulsating sound waves around his head indicate that he did, in fact, hear you. He turns and walks toward you. When the Thug is highlighted red, press the Assassinate button to silently take him out while behind cover. If there were nearby enemies here and they did not look directly at you, you would remain undetected at the end of this move. Evie slips back behind cover automatically as she throws the body behind her. This is a very useful move. Loot the body for knives to add to your collection.

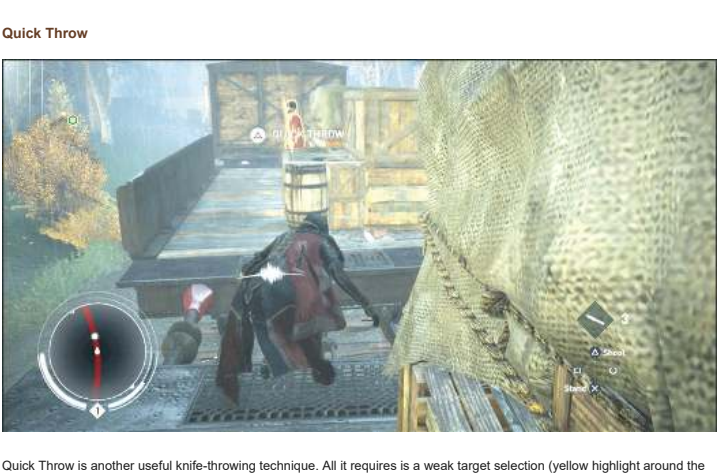


Knife Throw: Moving Target

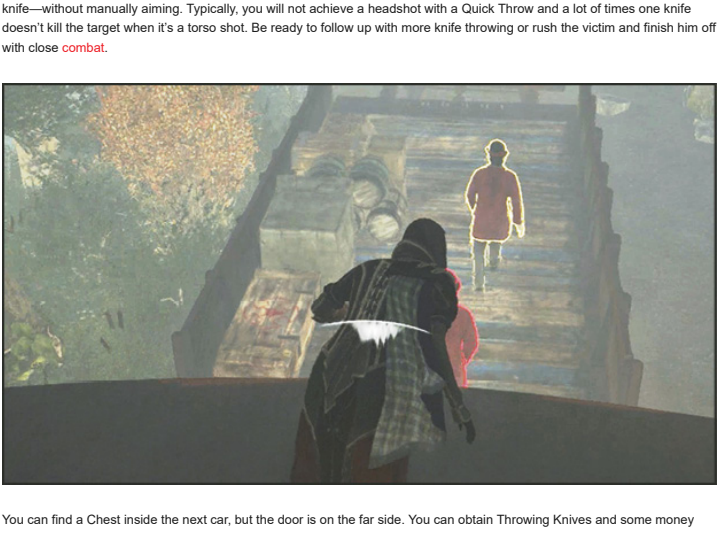


Continue onto the next train car by leaping the gap or by carefully walking across the coupler between cars. You spot another Thug on the next car while peering through the exit. He's standing behind pallets with his back to you. The game suggests you throw a knife at this enemy. Accurately throwing knives on a moving train is not the easiest thing to do. The trick is to aim ahead of the target and let the slipping pull your target into your crosshairs. Or, simply put, aim carefully.

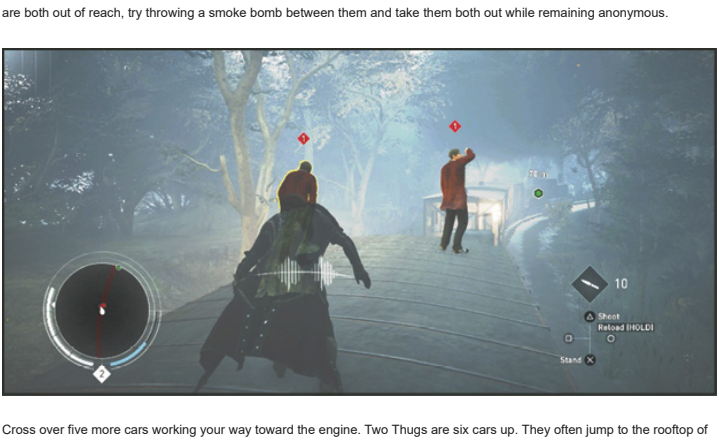
Quick Throw



Quick Throw is another useful knife-throwing technique. All it requires is a weak target selection (yellow highlight around the enemy), and, of course, a throwing knife in your inventory. Press the Quick Throw button △ / Y to throw the knife—without manually aiming. Typically, you will not achieve a headshot with a Quick Throw and a lot of times one knife doesn't kill the target when it's a torso shot. Be ready to follow up with more knife throwing or rush the victim and finish him off with close combat.

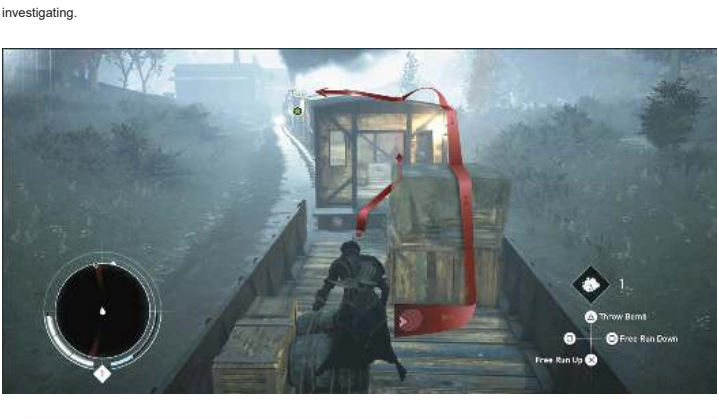


You can find a Chest inside the next car, but the door is on the far side. You can obtain Throwing Knives and some money inside (see our Chests tip on the next page). Run across the train until you reach the flatbed car with two Thugs with their backs to you. Air Assassinate the closest enemy and then sneak up behind the second Thug and silently take him out. If they are both out of reach, try throwing a smoke bomb between them and take them both out while remaining anonymous.



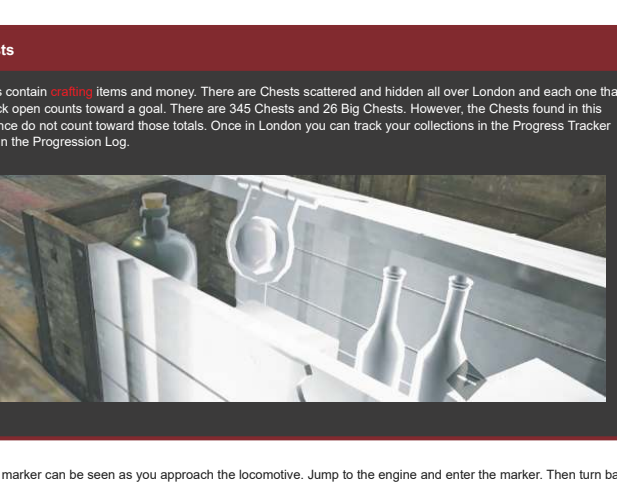
Cross over five more cars working your way toward the engine. Two Thugs are six cars up. They often jump to the rooftop of the passenger car and remain facing the engine with their backs to you. Run and quickly pull yourself up to the rooftop. Since they are so close to each other, choose to kill the enemy that is closer to you first. That way there's a chance the second enemy won't see you as you silently take out his buddy. Strike the second as quickly as you can out of the assassination animation.

A Thug is relaxing inside a car two railcars ahead, nodding off and leaning on the wall. Sneak into this car, hugging the right wall. Cover behind the wall and whistle for him to trap him into a Cover Assassination. Or, you can just skip over the rooftop of this car and continue with the objective: detaching the locomotive. However, there is a Chest in this car that is worth investigating.

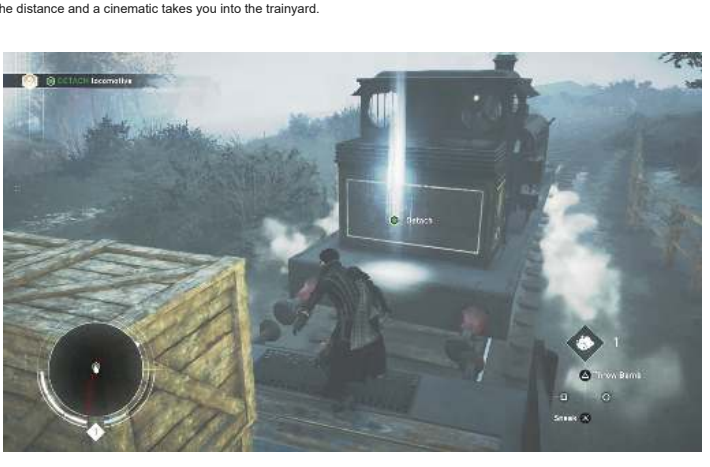


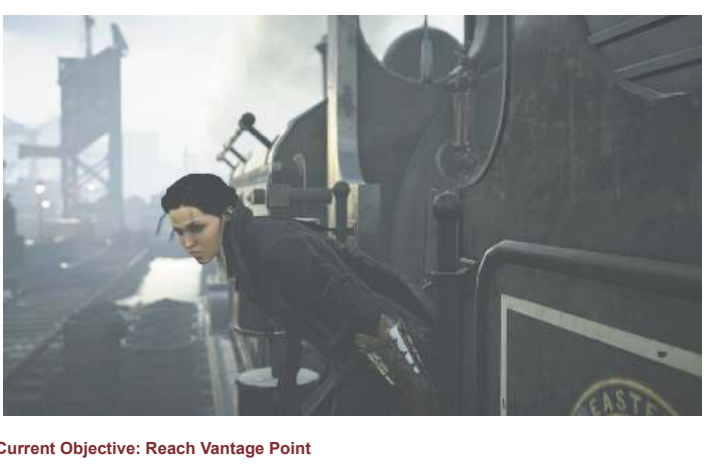
Chests

Chests contain crafting items and money. There are Chests scattered and hidden all over London and each one that you kick open counts toward a goal. There are 345 Chests and 26 Big Chests. However, the Chests found in this sequence do not count toward those totals. Once in London you can track your collections in the Progress Tracker found in the Progression Log.



A Detach marker can be seen as you approach the locomotive. Jump to the engine and enter the marker. Then turn back towards the coupler between the locomotive and the first car. Press ○ / B to start detaching the coupler. Evie prepares to punch. Press □ / X repeatedly to break the coupler. When successful, the cars are left in the distance and a cinematic takes you into the trainyard.

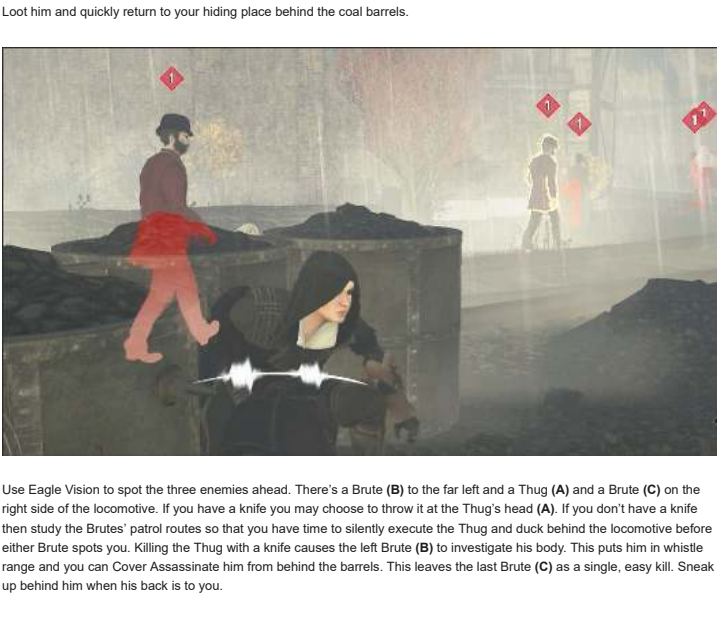




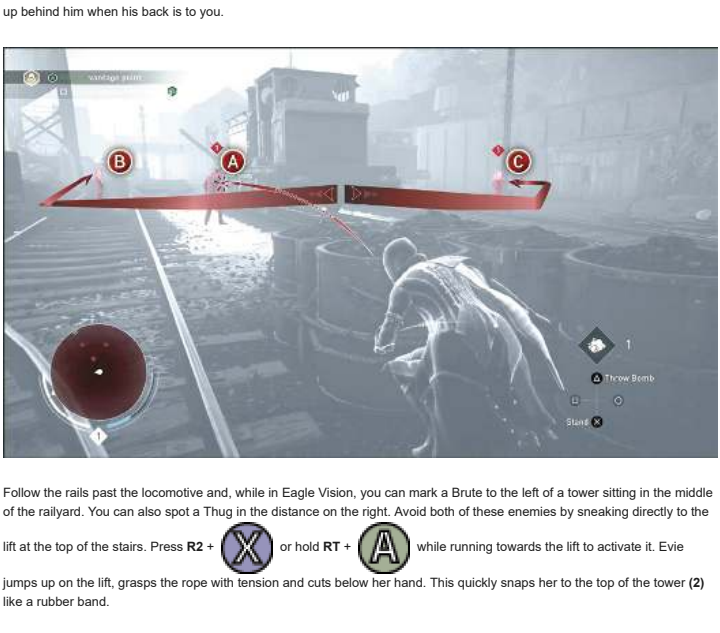
Current Objective: Reach Vantage Point

Location: Starrick and Co. Trainyard

When you disembark in the railyard, Evie automatically takes cover behind a group of coal barrels (1) as four Thugs and a Brute walk by. The group is exiting the railyard completely. If you need knives, follow the last Thug and silently execute him. Loot him and quickly return to your hiding place behind the coal barrels.

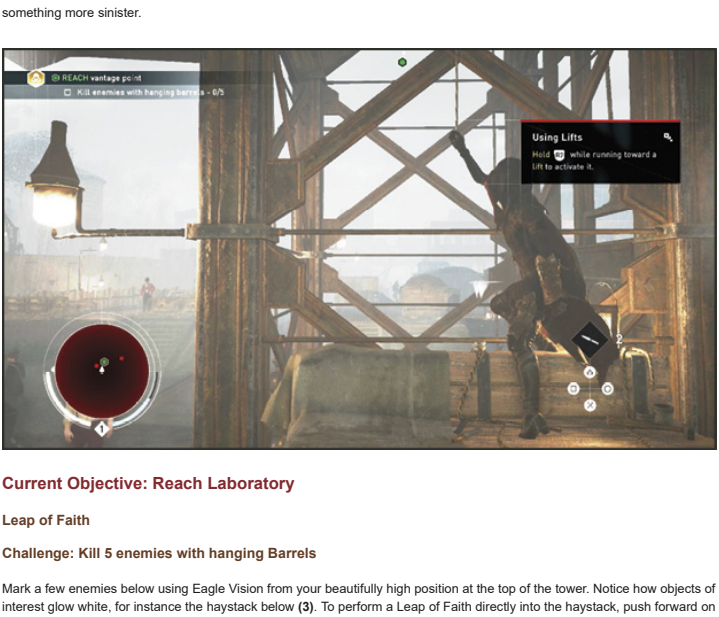


Use Eagle Vision to spot the three enemies ahead. There's a Brute (B) to the far left and a Thug (A) and a Brute (C) on the right side of the locomotive. If you have a knife you may choose to throw it at the Thug's head (A). If you don't have a knife then study the Brutes' patrol routes so that you have time to silently execute the Thug and duck behind the locomotive before either Brute spots you. Killing the Thug with a knife causes the left Brute (B) to investigate his body. This puts him in whistle range and you can Cover Assassinate him from behind the barrels. This leaves the last Brute (C) as a single, easy kill. Sneak up behind him when his back is to you.



Follow the rails past the locomotive and, while in Eagle Vision, you can mark a Brute to the left of a tower sitting in the middle of the railyard. You can also spot a Thug in the distance on the right. Avoid both of these enemies by sneaking directly to the lift at the top of the stairs. Press R2 + X or hold RT + A while running towards the lift to activate it. Evie jumps up on the lift, grasps the rope with tension and cuts below her hand. This quickly snaps her to the top of the tower (2) like a rubber band.

Once on top of the tower, climb to the end of the extended arm and enter the Reach marker. In a cinematic we see Lucy Thorne threatening scientist, David Brewster—your target. She expects results from his invention sooner than expected. Such is life. After the conversation, a passerby is kidnapped and sent to Brewster's lab for interrogation and possibly something more sinister.

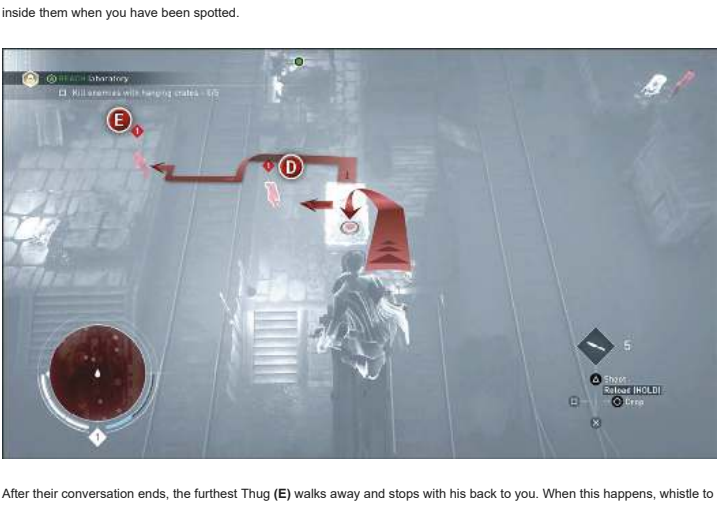


Current Objective: Reach Laboratory

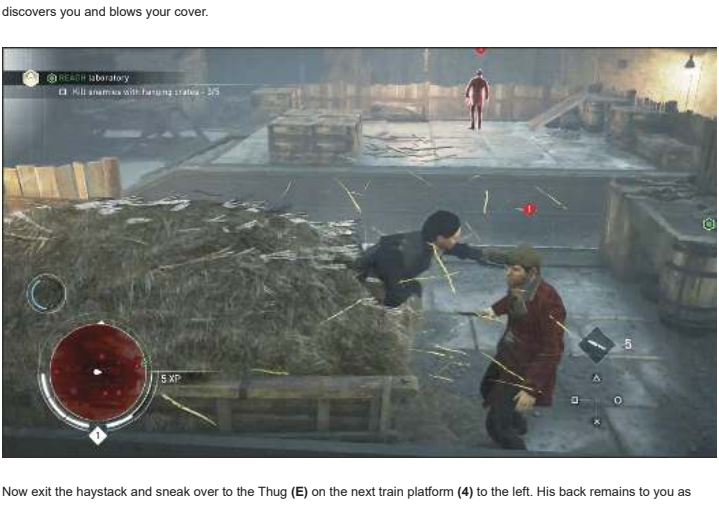
Leap of Faith

Challenge: Kill 5 enemies with hanging Barrels

Mark a few enemies below using Eagle Vision from your beautifully high position at the top of the tower. Notice how objects of interest glow white, for instance the haystack below (3). To perform a Leap of Faith directly into the haystack, push forward on the Left Control Stick and Hold R2 + ○ / RT + B. The sounding thud of your body hitting the hay does not alert the enemy no matter how close to the hay they are. Haystacks become instantaneous cover but you cannot remain inside them when you have been spotted.



After their conversation ends, the furthest Thug (E) walks away and stops with his back to you. When this happens, whistle to attract the attention of the next Thug (D). When the Thug approaches the haystack, press the Assassinate button to stab him and pull him in with you. This is executed all in one smooth motion. The enemy has to be close enough that he is highlighted target red before a successful haystack attack. Don't wait too long to grab the enemy. If he inspects the area long enough he discovers you and blows your cover.

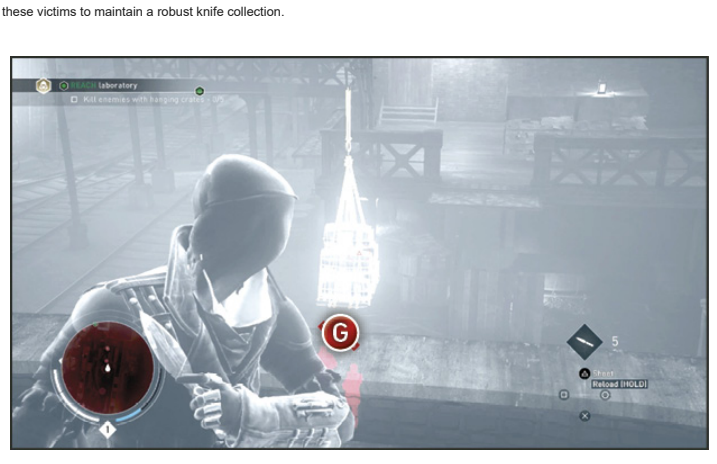


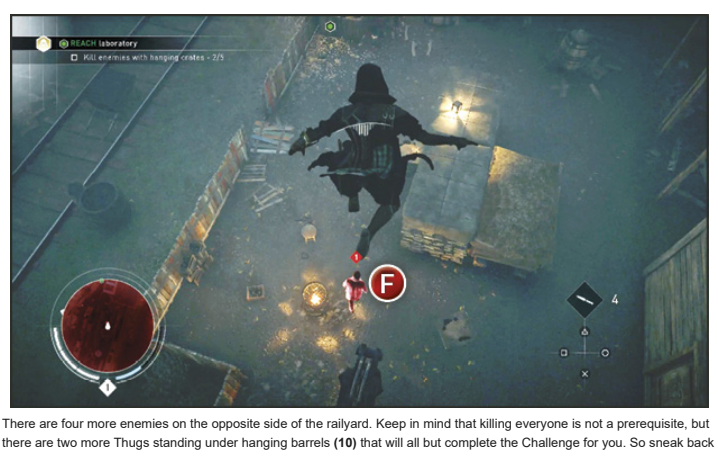
Now exit the haystack and sneak over to the Thug (E) on the next train platform (4) to the left. His back remains to you as long as you make no noise. Silently execute him and loot his corpse.

Killing 2 Thugs with Barrels

Activate Eagle Vision and mark the enemies (F & G) on the far right side of the trainyard. One of the Challenges in this memory is to kill five enemies with hanging barrels. To secure two of these specialized kills, head back across the previous platform, passing the haystack and continue to the backside of the Croydon Station building (5). Climb to the rooftop and look over the far edge and down on the three Thugs below. The closest Thug (F) should be dealt with after you drop the barrels (6) on the other two (G) near the next building. Notice the barrels highlight yellow. While holding a throwing knife, take aim at the hanging barrels above their heads. The reticle turns red when you are assured a target lock on the barrels. Throw the knife and watch the barrels fall, killing the two unfortunate Thugs below.

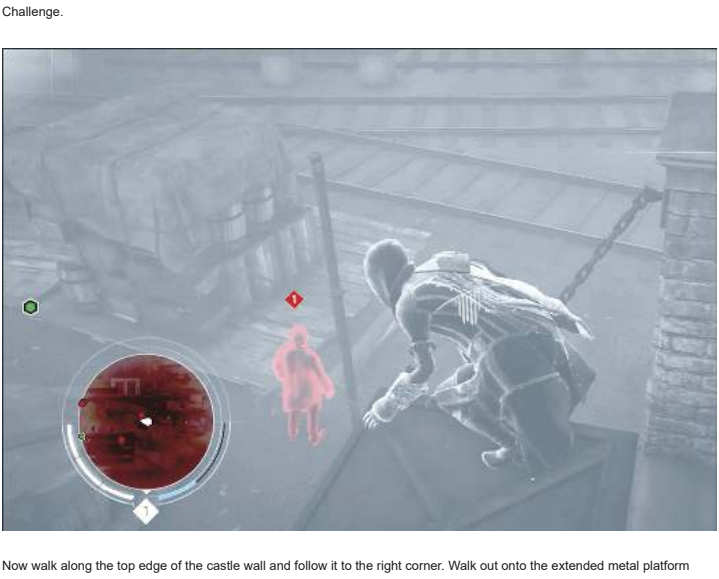
Before the remaining Thug (F) gets too curious about the fate of his comrades, run off the edge of the rooftop and along the pulley arm just below the rooftop. This allows you to get close enough above the Thug to obtain an Air Assassination lock-on. If you waited too long to attack this Thug then use the haystack below to perform a whistling haystack attack. Loot all three of these victims to maintain a robust knife collection.





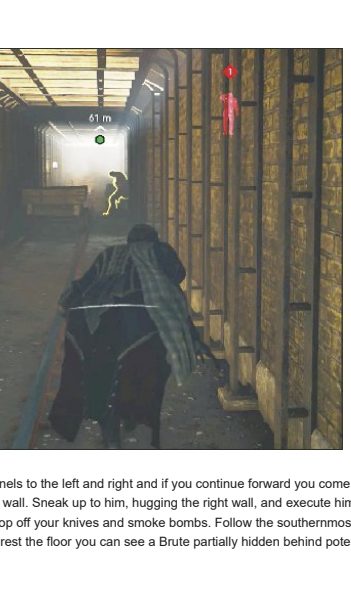
There are four more enemies on the opposite side of the railyard. Keep in mind that killing everyone is not a prerequisite, but there are two more Thugs standing under hanging barrels (10) that will all but complete the Challenge for you. So sneak back to the other side again and climb the castle-looking wall (7), avoiding the Thug (H) on the ground.

Walk along the wall, but only move when the Thug on the left (I) starts walking further left (8). With his back to you, sneak quickly to catch him before he turns around. Eliminate him and then double back toward the castle wall. Take cover behind the far left corner (9) of the wall. Get a good view of the two Thugs below the hanging barrels (J). Throw a knife at the barrels before one of the guards walks away. If you've killed all four with barrels then you only need one more to satisfy the Challenge.



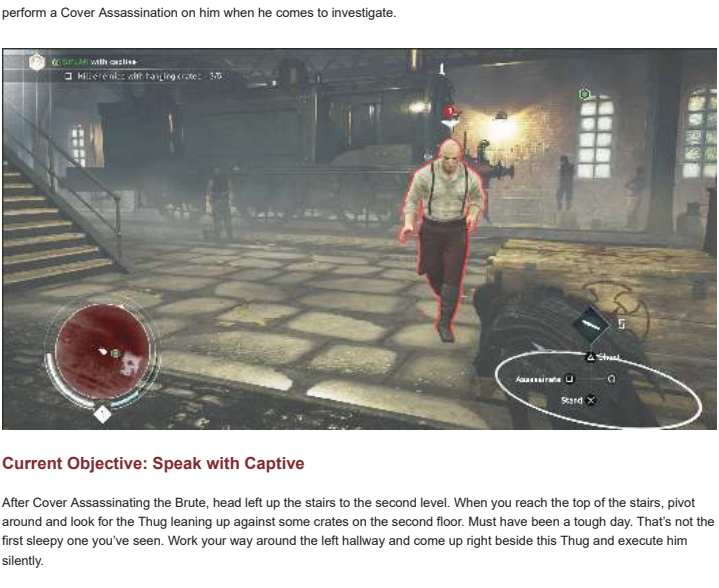
Now walk along the top edge of the castle wall and follow it to the right corner. Walk out onto the extended metal platform (that looks like a drawbridge) and from the edge you can perform an Air Assassination on the Thug (H) below.

Return to the last hanging-barrel-kill-zone and you spot a Brute guarding the station entrance (11). Your next objective is inside that building. He's facing your direction. The easiest way past this guy is to travel through the tunnel (12) that runs under the train cars on the left.



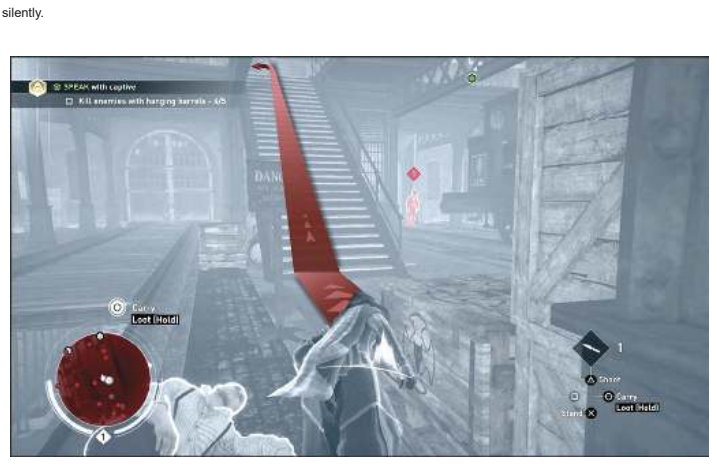
The tunnel splits into alternate tunnels to the left and right and if you continue forward you come across a sleeping Thug. He's leaning up against the right tunnel wall. Sneak up to him, hugging the right wall, and execute him. At the end of his tunnel and to the left you can find a chest to top off your knives and smoke bombs. Follow the southernmost tunnel to the ascending stairs. Sneak slowly. Just as you crest the floor you can see a Brute partially hidden behind potential cover to your left (13).

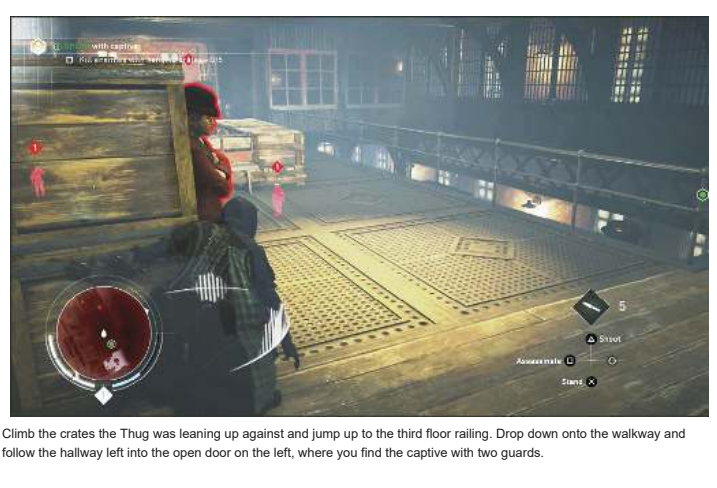
Once the Brute is looking the other direction, exit the stairs slowly and hide behind the crates. Whistle for the Brute and perform a Cover Assassination on him when he comes to investigate.



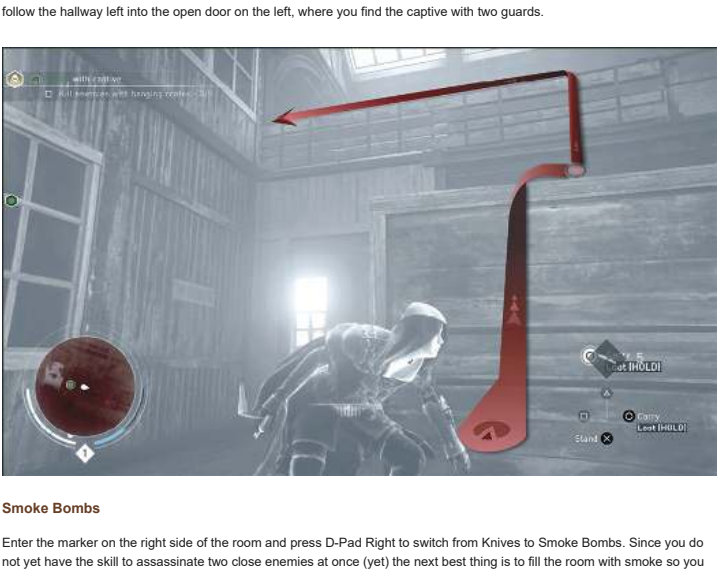
Current Objective: Speak with Captive

After Cover Assassinating the Brute, head left up the stairs to the second level. When you reach the top of the stairs, pivot around and look for the Thug leaning up against some crates on the second floor. Must have been a tough day. That's not the first sleepy one you've seen. Work your way around the left hallway and come up right beside this Thug and execute him silently.



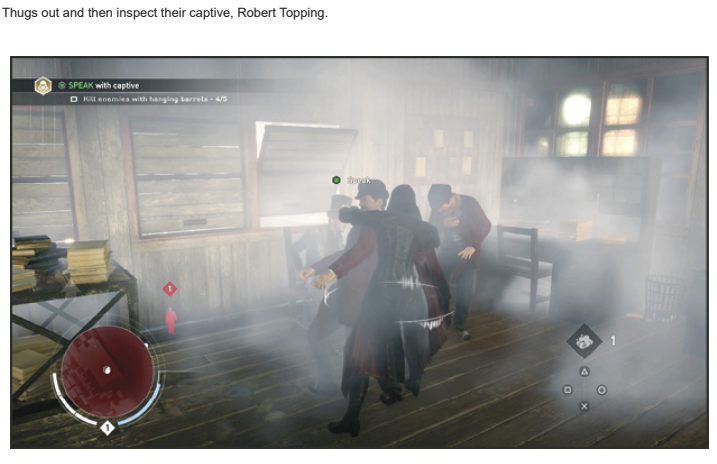


Climb the crates the Thug was leaning up against and jump up to the third floor railing. Drop down onto the walkway and follow the hallway left into the open door on the left, where you find the captive with two guards.



Smoke Bombs

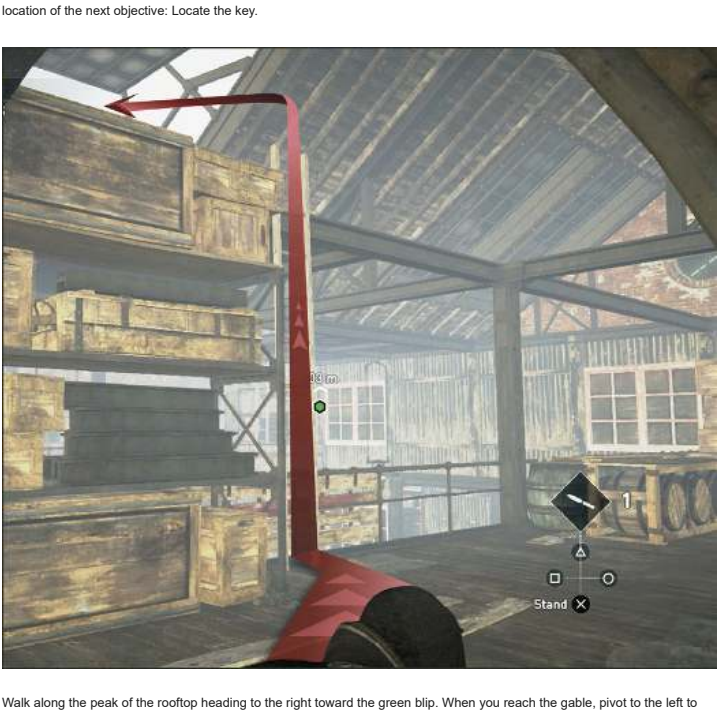
Enter the marker on the right side of the room and press D-Pad Right to switch from Knives to Smoke Bombs. Since you do not yet have the skill to assassinate two close enemies at once (yet) the next best thing is to fill the room with smoke so you can assassinate them both without being discovered. To throw the Smoke Bomb, press and hold R2 / RT button and aim with the Right Control Stick. Enemies have difficulty seeing you through the smoke so their defense is down. Take these two Thugs out and then inspect their captive, Robert Topping.



Press the ○ / B button when prompted. Robert reveals the location of the secret lab and asks you to untie him. Evie tells this carny to get himself out of the bind since he managed to get himself into it...but he mysteriously vanishes the moment you turn your back. Robert Topping later becomes an associate in London.

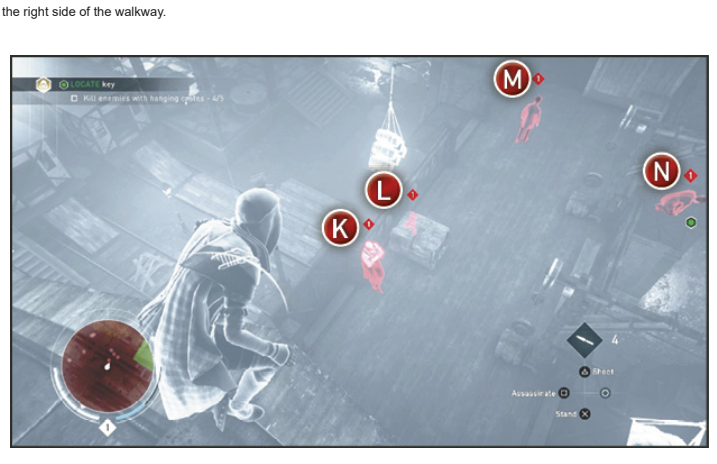
Current Objective: Locate Key

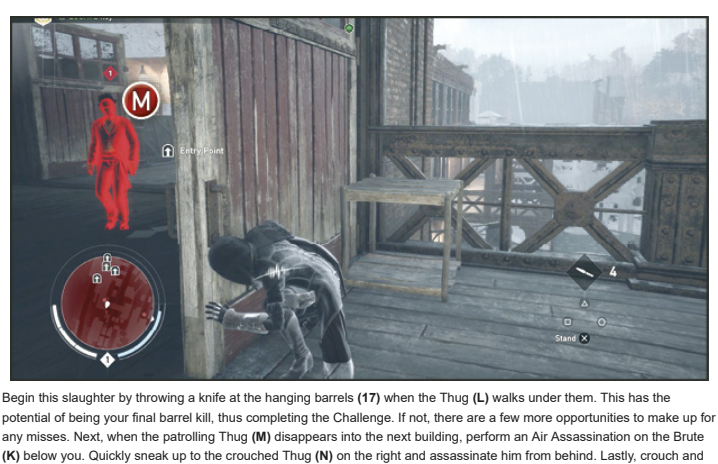
Exit the room through the opposite door. Turn left in the hallway and find the ladder to a loft. Climb the ladder to the loft and exit (14) the building through the open skylight. Once you are out on the rooftop, you can spot the green blip marking the location of the next objective: Locate the key.



Walk along the peak of the rooftop heading to the right toward the green blip. When you reach the gable, pivot to the left to see a lower flat rooftop and then another building beside that one. In Eagle Vision, enemies in view around that building begin to mark. Drop down off your rooftop, cross the flattop building and clamber to the peak of the next building's rooftop (15).

Activate Eagle Vision and mark the enemies below. There's a Brute (K) below you. On the ground level is a Thug (L) walking towards some hanging barrels. There's another Thug (M) on the same walkway (16) as the Brute. This Thug patrols the interior of the next building and this walkway. The last Thug (N) you can mark crouches on the edge of a platform jutting off the right side of the walkway.

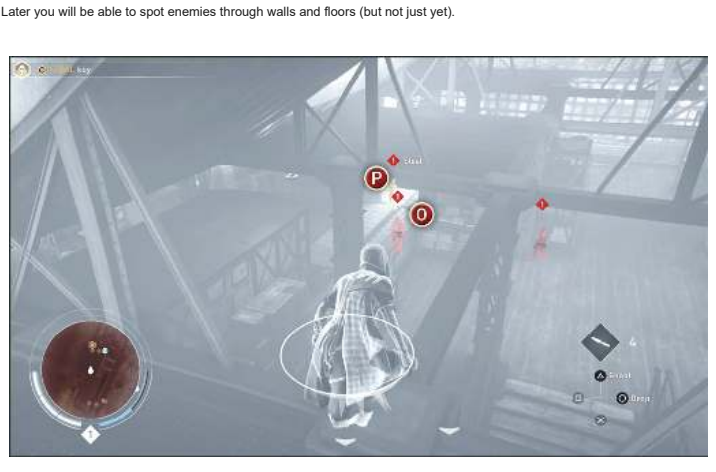


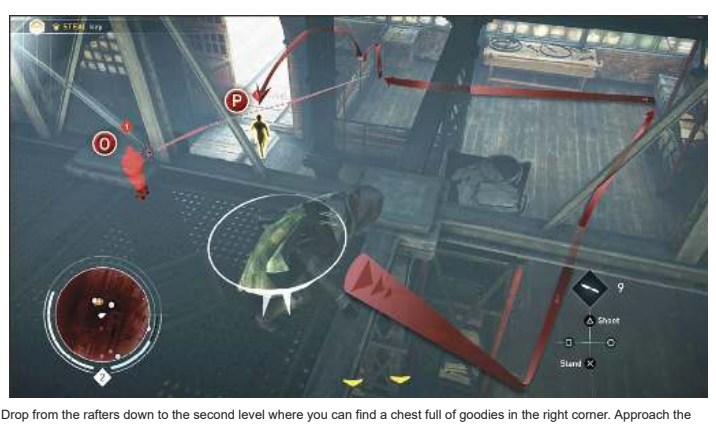


Begin this slaughter by throwing a knife at the hanging barrels (17) when the Thug (L) walks under them. This has the potential of being your final barrel kill, thus completing the Challenge. If not, there are a few more opportunities to make up for any misses. Next, when the patrolling Thug (M) disappears into the next building, perform an Air Assassination on the Brute (K) below you. Quickly sneak up to the crouched Thug (N) on the right and assassinate him from behind. Lastly, crouch and cover beside the open door of the next building and whistle for the patrolling Thug (M). When he comes to investigate, Cover Assassinate him.

After defeating the enemies in the area, hop up to the top of the rooftop (18) that the patrolling guard was under (there is a Chest worth opening on the first floor of this building if you want to divert your course). Leap across the winches to reach the next building to the right. Get to the opposite side of the rooftop peak and enter through an open skylight (19).

Walk along the rafters while looking downward with Eagle Vision activated. You are looking for an enemy that is highlighted yellow and marked with a Steal icon. This key holder (P) and a Brute (O) walk toward the doorway below. To mark them you may need to walk across the beams heading to the right from the skylight platform and look around the platform obstructions. Later you will be able to spot enemies through walls and floors (but not just yet).





Drop from the rafters down to the second level where you can find a chest full of goodies in the right corner. Approach the chest and kick it open using the ○ / B button. Inside are money, knives and smoke bombs.

Stand up next to the railing overlooking the Brute (O) and throw a knife into his head or let him keep walking behind the train if you don't have a knife. Make sure the Thug that is difficult to see directly under your platform has walked away to the left. Then, hop up on the rail and perform an Air Assassination on the key holder (P) and then quickly loot his body for the key. Exit the building through the large open door (20) to avoid being detected by other enemies inside.

Playing nice

It is not necessary to assassinate the key holder to get the key. If you want to avoid more bloodshed, sneak up behind him, hold ○ / B, and take the key without his ever knowing.

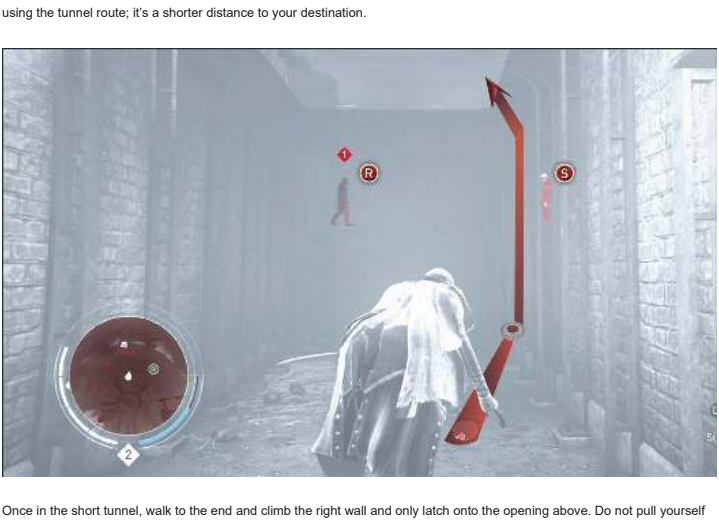
Current Objective: Locate Secret Lab Entrance

Climb up the door (20) and the side of the building to reach the rooftop again. Once on top you see the green blip of the next objective in the distance, some 150 meters away. Run past the skylight (19) and stop at the far end of the rooftop. Below is a parked train (21). Jump down into the train car and hop toward the front of the locomotive.

Standing on the train's large smokestack, look to the line of trees ahead (22). You can leap to the nearest branch and continue through the trees by hopping through the V-split at the top of their trunks.

From the last tree, jump to the rooftop of the shelter (23) and then continue jumping through the next couple of trees and finally to a metal water pipe (24) where you can perform an Air Assassination on a Brute below (Q).

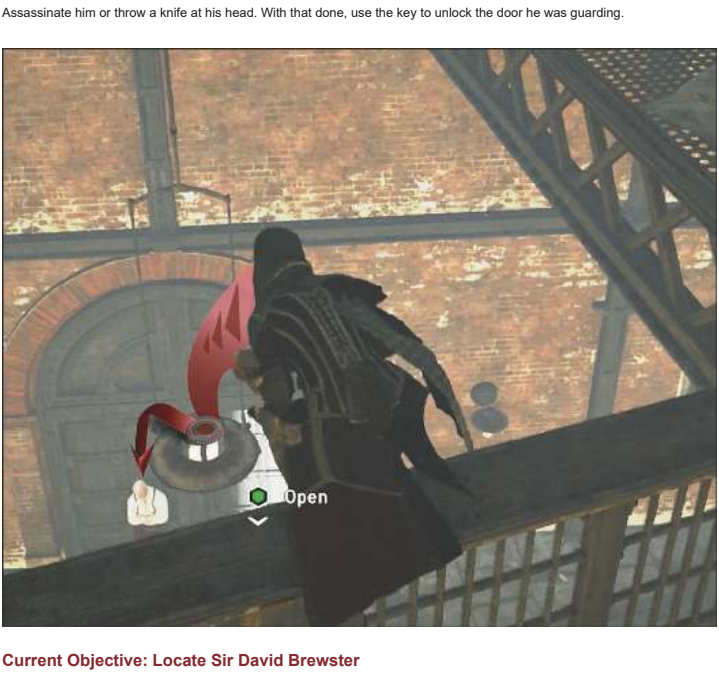
Climb up on the nearest train (25) and have a look around. You could enter the train station through the guarded entrance, but alternatively the open window (26) above is an option, as is the short tunnel (27) in front of the train. We will guide you using the tunnel route; it's a shorter distance to your destination.



Once in the short tunnel, walk to the end and climb the right wall and only latch onto the opening above. Do not pull yourself up into the room above yet. Activate Eagle Vision and find the two guards nearby. There's a Brute (R) that patrols from the left wall to where the Thug (S) stands at the right wall.

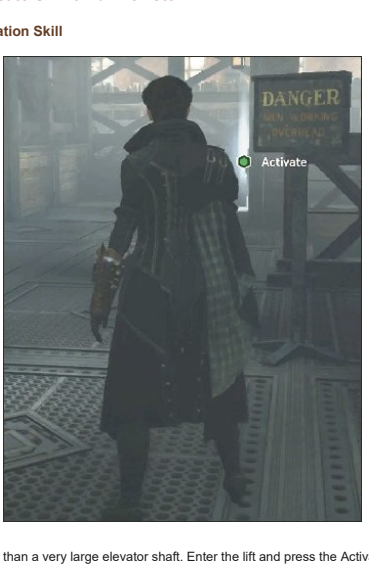
When neither guard is looking, pull up into the room and take immediate cover behind the shelf on the right. From here you can throw a knife at the Thug's (S) head. Next you can either whistle for the Brute as he inspects that body and then Cover Assassinate him or you can just throw a knife at his head.

Enter the rafters above using any route you desire as long as you keep your cover. The Brute guarding the door can see through some of the grated walls near him so don't get too close. You can jump to the platform above him and either Air Assassinate him or throw a knife at his head. With that done, use the key to unlock the door he was guarding.



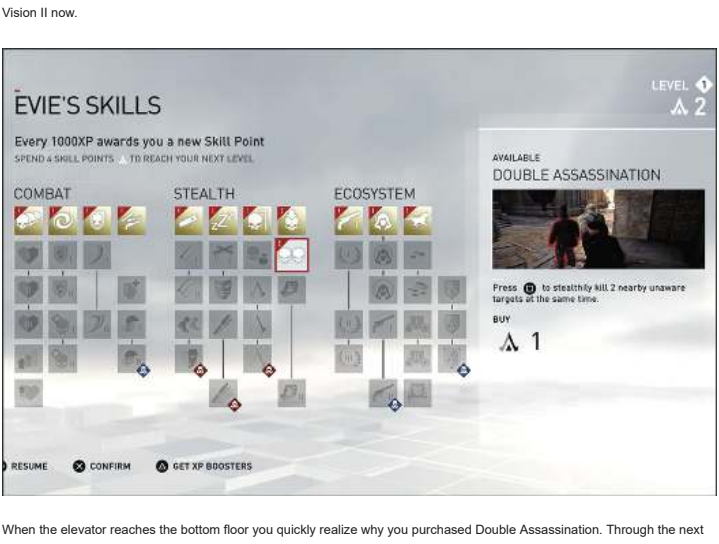
Current Objective: Locate Sir David Brewster

Acquire Double Assassination Skill



The next room is nothing more than a very large elevator shaft. Enter the lift and press the Activate button on the lift lever to reach the lower level. This completes the current objective. Now you must locate Sir David Brewster. A message appears at the top of the screen: You Have Earned 3 Skill Points. Next, a Skill Upgrade tutorial screen appears. It goes on to explain that you gain XP from Memories, Skilled Assassinations, and London Activities. Each 1,000 XP earned gives both Jacob and Evie a single Skill Point to spend on new Skills. So the twins share Skill Points. Keep that in mind when you are upgrading one—the other is waiting.

The Skills menu opens. Purchase the Double Assassination skill. We also suggest you purchase Loot Takedown and Eagle Vision II now.



Press to stealthily kill 2 nearby unaware targets at the same time.

When the elevator reaches the bottom floor you quickly realize why you purchased Double Assassination. Through the next passageway stand two unaware Thugs with their backs to you. They stand side-by-side and as you sneak up to them you now acquire a double lock-on—both enemies glow with a red highlighted outline. When this lock-on is achieved, press the □ / X button once and watch as Evie skillfully executes both Thugs.

Sequence Three

Somewhere That's Green

Location: Train Station Outside London

After Jacob assassinates Rupert Ferris and Evie takes out David Brewster, the sibling assassins rendezvous at a nearby train station to share their accomplishments. While quite proud of their achievements, George Westhouse—their punctual comrade—focuses on the mission failures: the lab explosion and the train derailment. Jacob asks George if the Templars in London are the next target. George suggests patience, as the Templars are well rooted in London and have been for the past 100 years. George recommends letting the Council guide their next move. The twins follow their hearts and together agree to take on London alone. They hop on the next train for London.

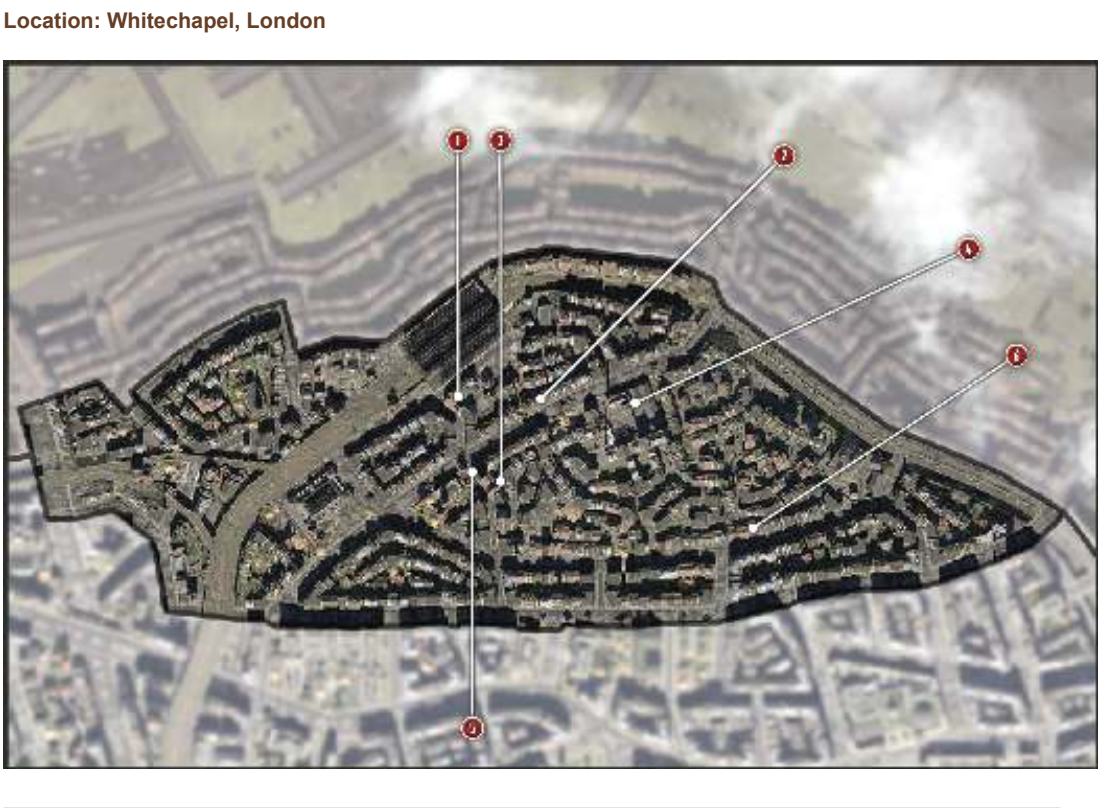
Location: (Current Day) Abstergo Historical Research Office

Shaun and Rebecca infiltrate the Abstergo Historical Research facility and ambush a Templar, Isabelle Ardant, after her videoconference with Alvaro Gramatica. Shaun and Rebecca overhear them talking about their plans to search for the artifact (a Piece of Eden). The agents themselves are ambushed but escape using a smoke bomb and a nearby window. Bishop orders the synchronization of Jacob and Evie's memories to help find something that puts them ahead of the enemy's search for the Piece of Eden.

Location: Whitechapel, London



Map View Availability

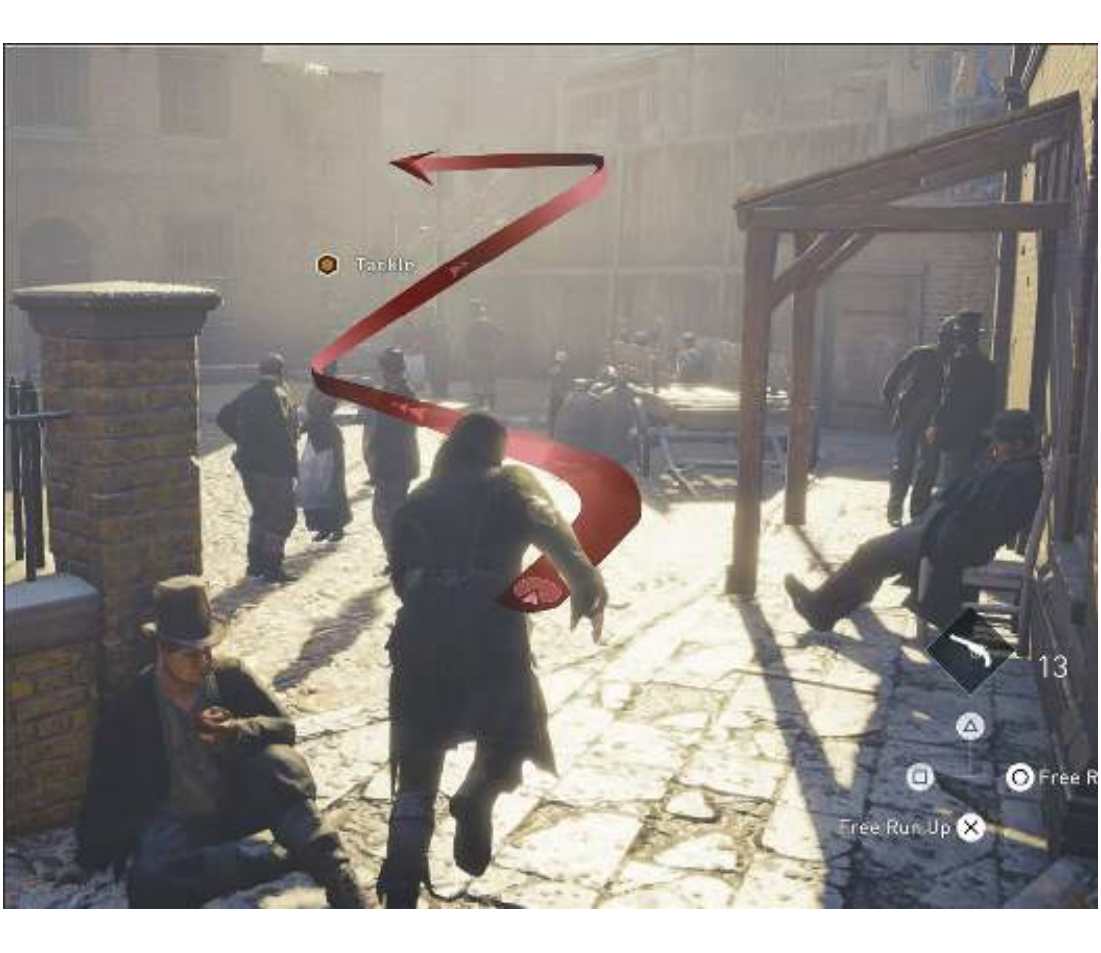
The overhead map feature is now available, press the touch pad button to access the world map. For more information on map features and using the map, see the Essentials section of this guide.

Evie and Jacob arrive in London in the East End district of Whitechapel. Jacob's heart begins to pump faster as he takes in the bustling city. Evie, on task as usual, gets right to the mission: finding Henry Green (the Assassin watching over London) and formulating a plan of attack against the Templars.

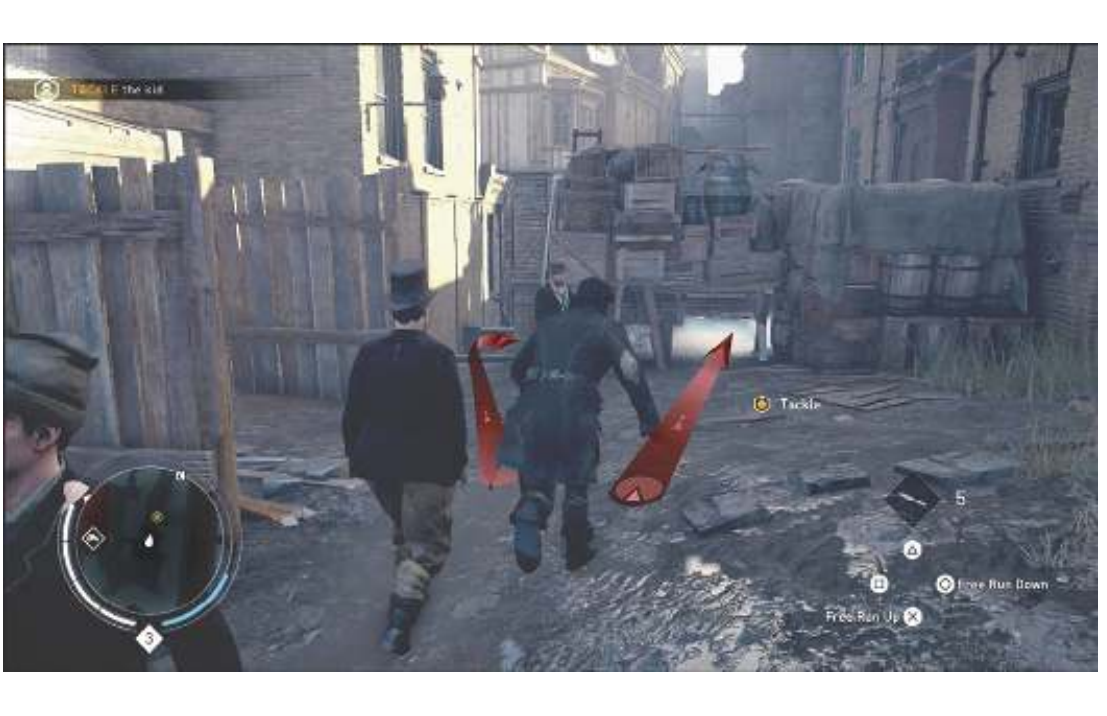
A little boy bumps into Jacob (1), pickpockets him, and runs off. Jacob, visibly upset, takes off after the little street urchin with Evie close behind.

Current Objective: Chase the Thief

The little thief is marked by an orange blip on the screen and Mini-Map. Begin the chase by running into the narrow alley across the street from the Whitechapel Station. This opens to a cul-de-sac where you can see the boy running up some stairs in the distance. Stay close to the target.



Turn left at the top of the stairs and continue to follow the yellow blip if you do not actually see the boy. At the end of the muddy street is a route choice. You can either slide under the hole in the pile of junk or run around the junk using the stairs to the left. We suggest running around the junk.

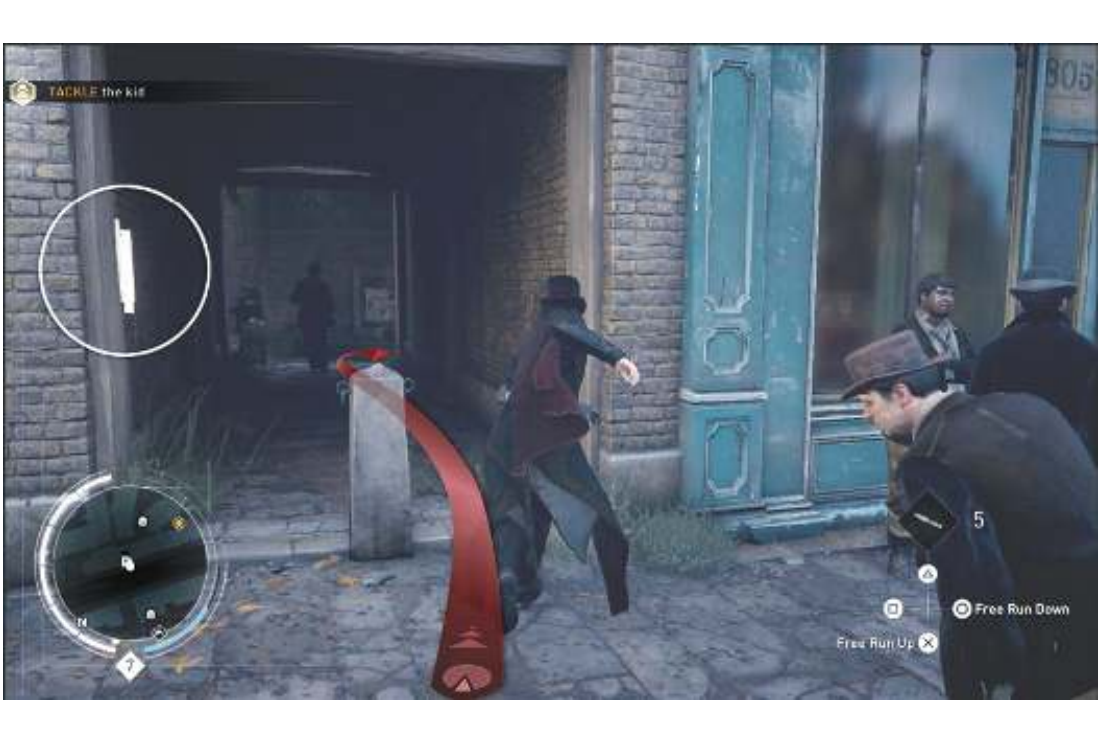


If you slide under then you have to immediately turn to the right, scale a gate and run down the stairs. You risk grabbing onto wall objects that could slow you down. If you take the stairs, turn right and round the corner. Continue up the next set of stairs to reach another paved street (2).

If you don't see the thief when you reach the brick road and can see his yellow blip moving in front of the storefronts across the street, don't be tempted to follow the dot, instead run into the narrow alleyway directly across the street.

Illustrations

Notice the glowing paper stuck on the left wall at the entrance of the alleyway. This is a collectible Memory Item. There are varying amounts of collectible types in each district. This is one of five Illustrations hidden in Whitechapel. Take it now and continue after the boy by running to the right as you exit the alley.

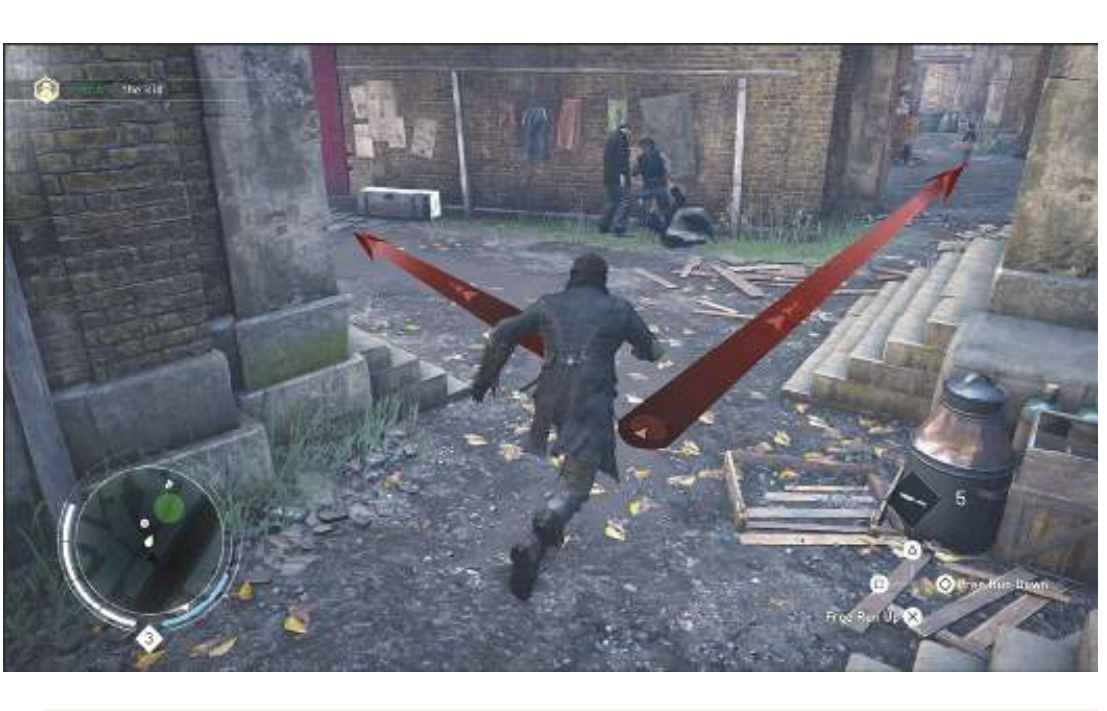


Collecting Historical poster ads

There are 50 hidden illustrations and each district has their own collection tracker. See Progress Tracker/Miscellaneous to study your collection progress. See the Collectibles section in this guide for help finding all the hidden items.

Current Objective: Locate the Kid

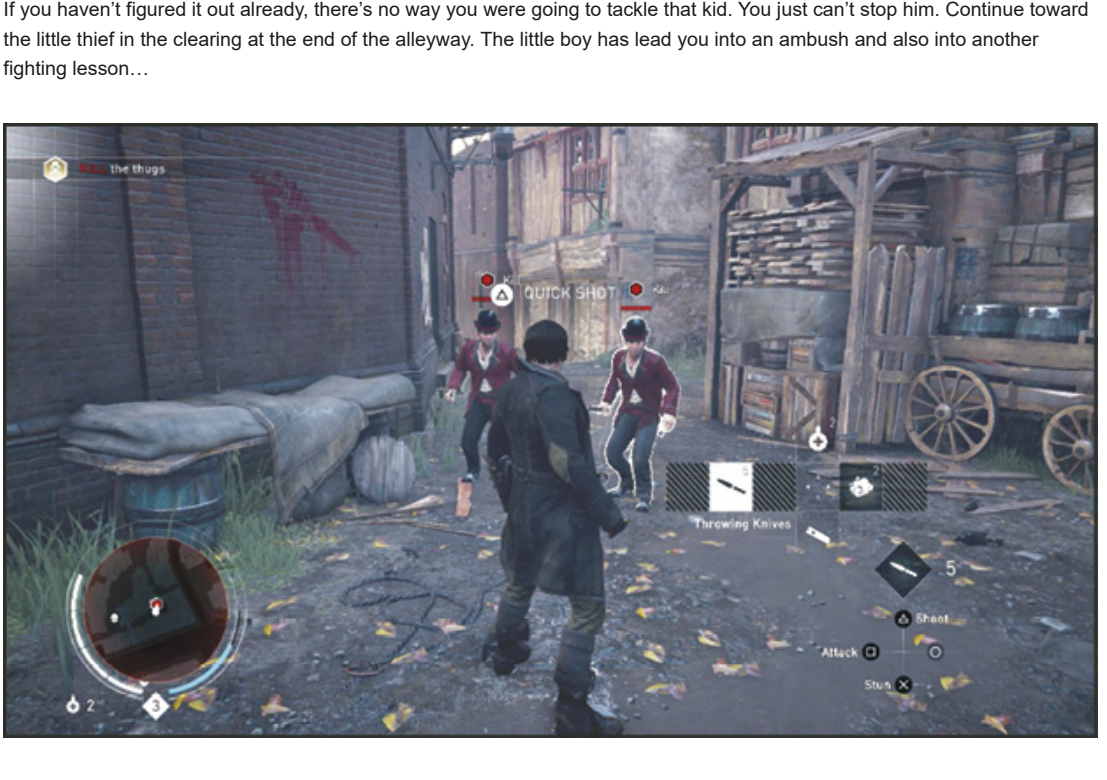
After taking a right out of the alley, you can sprint forward through the next alley where you see the kid (3) waiting for you or you can make a quick detour to the left and kick open your first collectible Chest.



Chests

There are 345 hidden Chests and each district tracks their own Chests. This Chest you found is a small Chest. It contains money and crafting items. There are also 24 Big Chests. See Progress Tracker/Miscellaneous to see your collection progress. See Collectibles in our guide for help finding all the hidden items.

If you haven't figured it out already, there's no way you were going to tackle that kid. You just can't stop him. Continue toward the little thief in the clearing at the end of the alleyway. The little boy has lead you into an ambush and also into another fighting lesson…



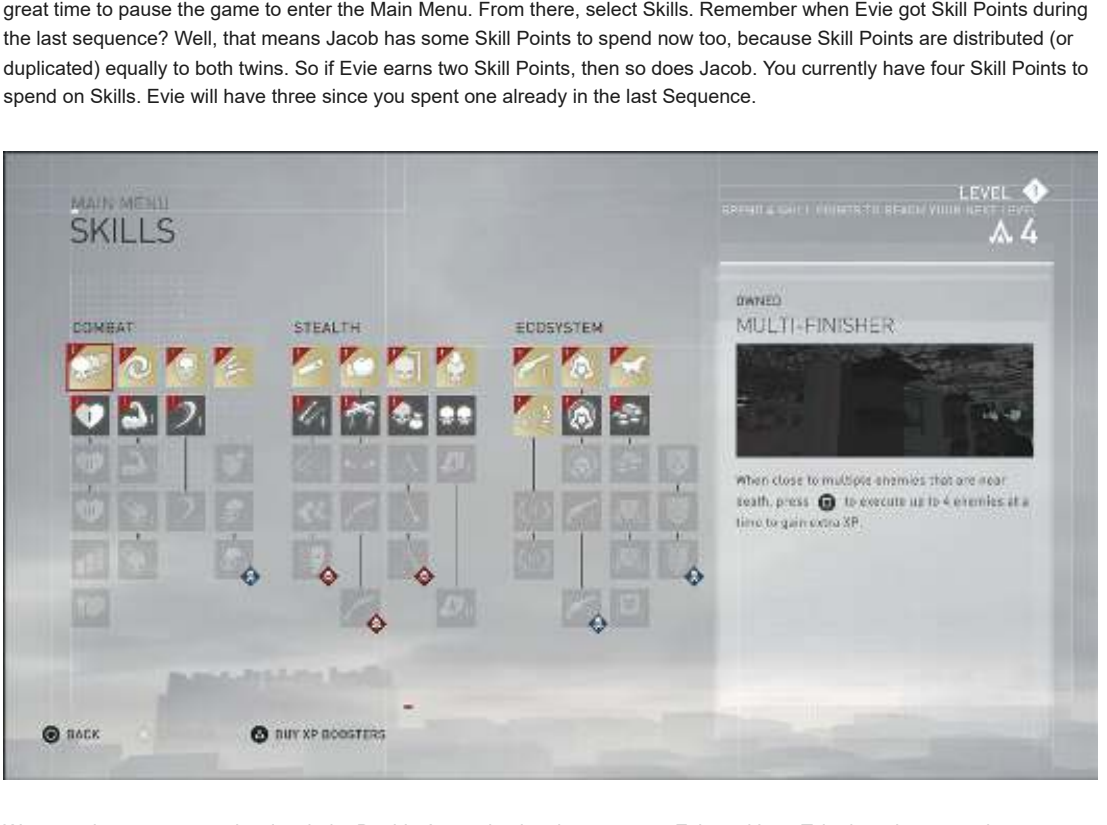
Current Objective: Kill the Thugs

Multi-Kill Finishers

The little pickpocket takes off into the distance as two Thugs (3) approach you with knives in their hands and killing in their eyes. You can perform a couple of Quickshots with △ / Y to weaken them very quickly. These two Thugs have a really low pain threshold and become critical with just a few attacks. When both enemies are swaying and lingering toward death you are prompted to press the □ / X button to "Finish" them. When two enemies are in a critical state and in close proximity together, an automatic finishing move is performed and afterward, two bodies lie on ground. You can execute up to four near-death enemies in a group. The more victims in the Multi-Kill Finisher the more XP you earn per kill.

Skills

After defeating the two Thugs in the ambush, Evie appears through a nearby alley. Before you follow her, now would be a great time to pause the game to enter the Main Menu. From there, select Skills. Remember when Evie got Skill Points during the last sequence? Well, that means Jacob has some Skill Points to spend now too, because Skill Points are distributed (or duplicated) equally to both twins. So if Evie earns two Skill Points, then so does Jacob. You currently have four Skill Points to spend on Skills. Evie will have three since you spent one already in the last Sequence.



We strongly suggest you give Jacob the Double Assassination that you gave Evie and Loot Takedown is extremely convenient. Eagle Vision II and Health Boost I would be our next two recommendations. You reach Level 2 after purchasing four Skills.

EAGLE VISION II
ACQUIRED

Skill Points and Skill Purchasing

For more information on Skill Points, Skills, and a Skill purchasing strategy, see our Skills and Leveling section of this guide.

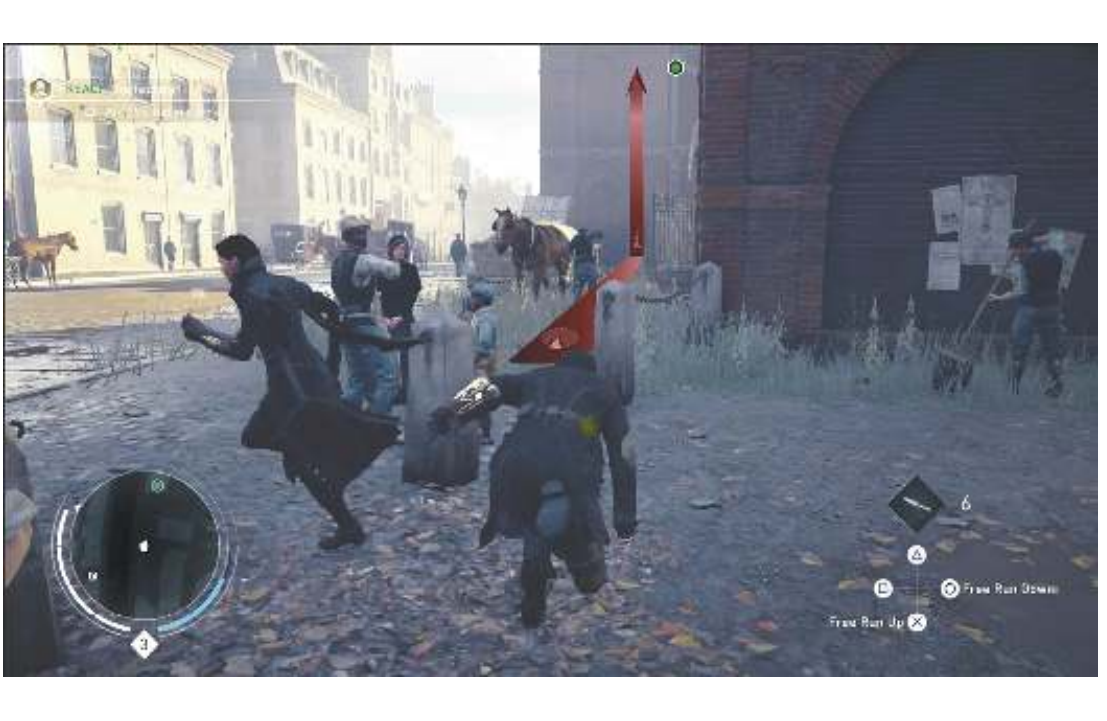
Current Objective: Follow Evie

When you meet up with Evie at the alleyway she quickly picks up the pace and turns her walk into a trot and from a trot into a full speed run. She's acting like your little sister again and wants to race you to the next destination (4).

Current Objective: Reach the Factory

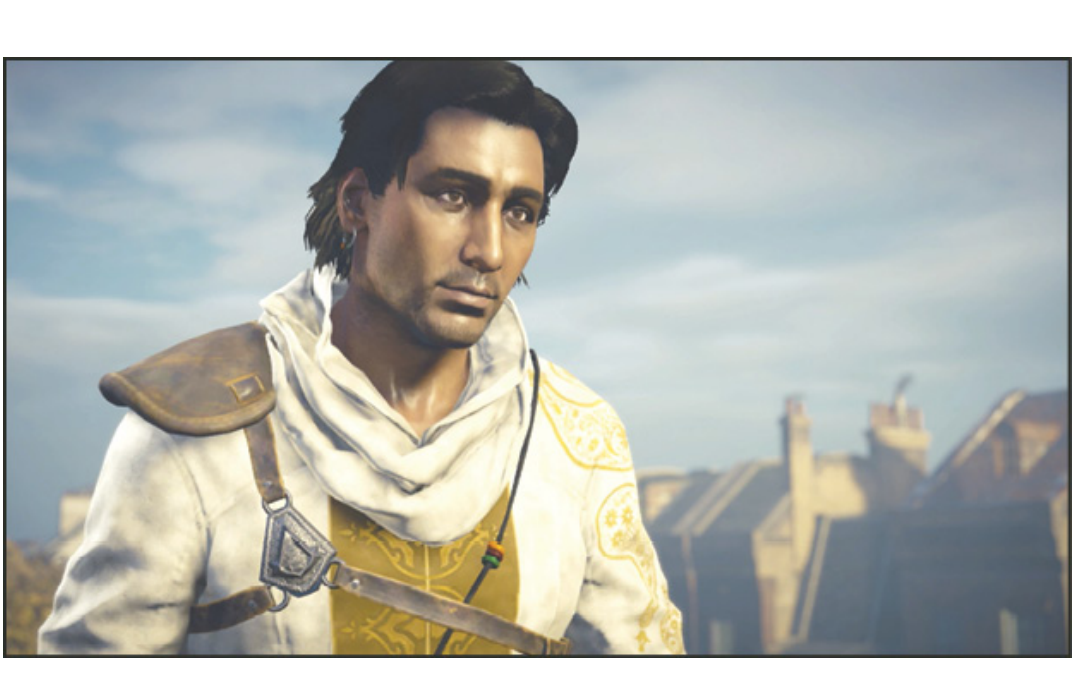
Challenge: Arrive Before Evie

Chase after Evie through the alleyway, avoiding crowds the best you can. In the clearing veer left with her and try to pass her in the park. She'll veer left again around a pylon; you should run between them and head straight for the green marker which you can now see at the top of the factory ahead.



Scale the factory building and enter the green marker (4) on the rooftop before Evie and you successfully pass the Challenge. While on the rooftop the twins meet Henry Green, the young Assassin trying to keep the peace in London.

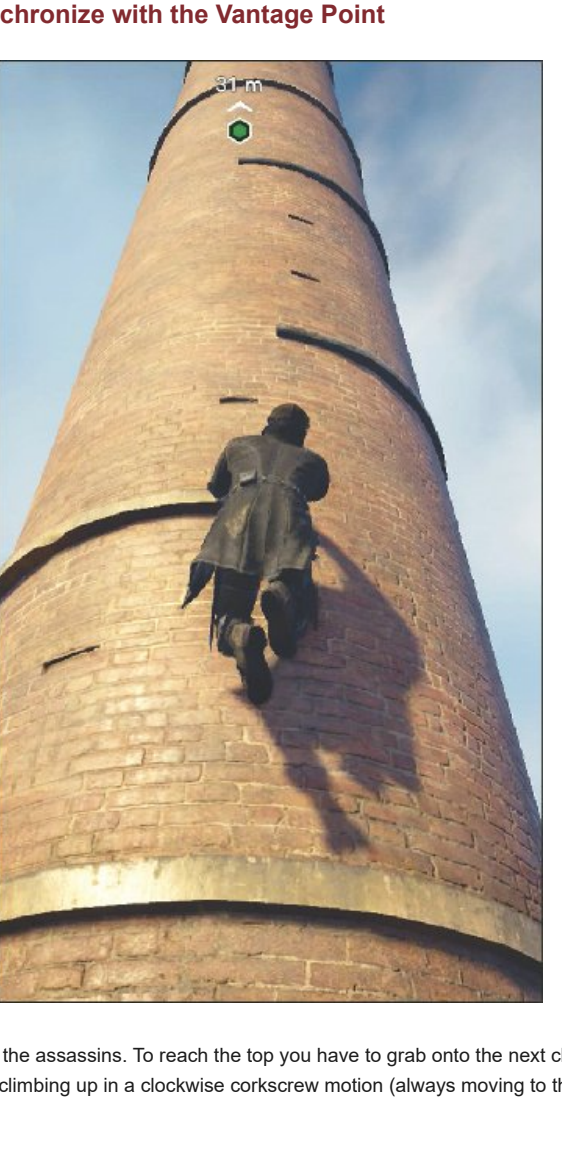
Henry immediately recognizes the Frye twins from a description that had been given to him. He introduces himself and expresses his condolences for the passing of their father. Jacob asks Henry about Crawford Starrick. Henry, under the impression that the Council sent the twins to help him with the Templars in London explains that London must be freed and that Starrick sits at the helm of the most sophisticated Templar infrastructure ever built.



Jacob gets the idea to rally the civilian gangs to their side and goes as far as quickly naming the faction, The Rooks. Jacob asks Evie if she has a better idea and she suggests finding the Piece of Eden (and at this moment this becomes Evie's quest, while Jacob rolls with his mob rules strategy).

Henry exclaims that he will show you the lay of the land and points to the large factory chimney….

Current Objective: Synchronize with the Vantage Point



Climb the large chimney beside the assassins. To reach the top you have to grab onto the next closest indented brick or sliver of ledge. Ultimately you end up climbing up in a clockwise corkscrew motion (always moving to the right on your way up).

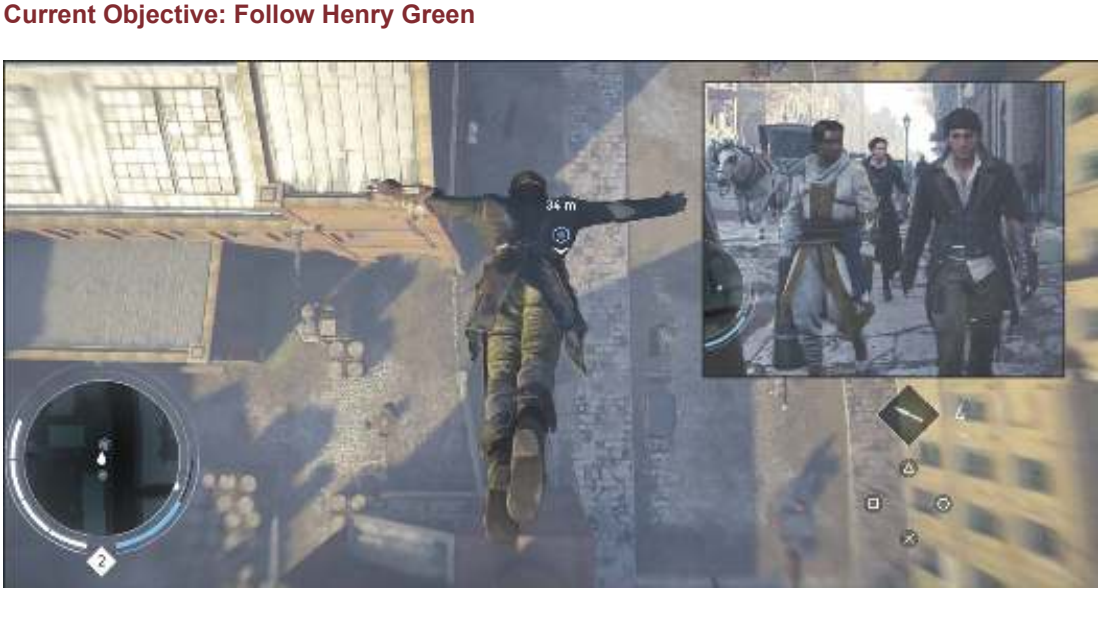
Viewpoint Synchronization

Once on top, walk across the plank to the end and press the ○ / B button to synchronize. When you arrive in a district, the entire map is fogged red so no details can be seen. Conquest Activities must be completed to clear this fog. To mark the map with points of interest (and items if you have purchased treasure maps) you must synchronize from a high Viewpoint. There are a few Viewpoints in each district that must be reached, such as the chimney you're standing on now. These areas are marked with a .

After synchronization, Henry describes the chaos in Whitechapel is a result of Starrick's influence. Evie promises to help restore London and Henry invites the twins to his shop to discuss the plan.

with the vantage point
Synchronize

Current Objective: Follow Henry Green



Henry performs a Leap of Faith off the end of the chimney. Climb out to end of the chimney plank and do the same, landing in the haystack below. Walk beside Henry (blue blip on the Mini-Map) and listen to him as he talks about Rexford Kaylock, one of Starrick's gang leaders particularly interested in Henry's arcane research into one of the precursor artifacts (Pieces of Eden). After the conversation, Henry begins to run. Keep up with him.

When you reach the next corner (5) you literally run into Charles Dickens spilling his latest work all over the sidewalk. Evie helps him gather his papers. The author scuttles off into the pub. Henry says he knows everything in this city and to keep that connection in your back pocket.

Kaylock's gang sees the commotion with Charles Dickens and spots Henry. He hands each twin a revolver and points you to his carriage. He wants you to throw them off his trail and instructs you to meet him at the curio shop.

Current Objective: Destroy the Thugs' Carriage

Carriage Driving

Typically you press ○ / B to enter a carriage to drive or to hijack it from another driver, but you regain control of Jacob while he is behind the reins. Press the R2 button to accelerate. Press ✕ / A to whip the horse for a speed boost. Whip it as much as you please, you won't kill it or wear the horse out. Steer with the Left Control Stick and when a carriage is beside you (and you've gained some speed) press □ / X to ram and damage another carriage.

The Thugs' Carriage

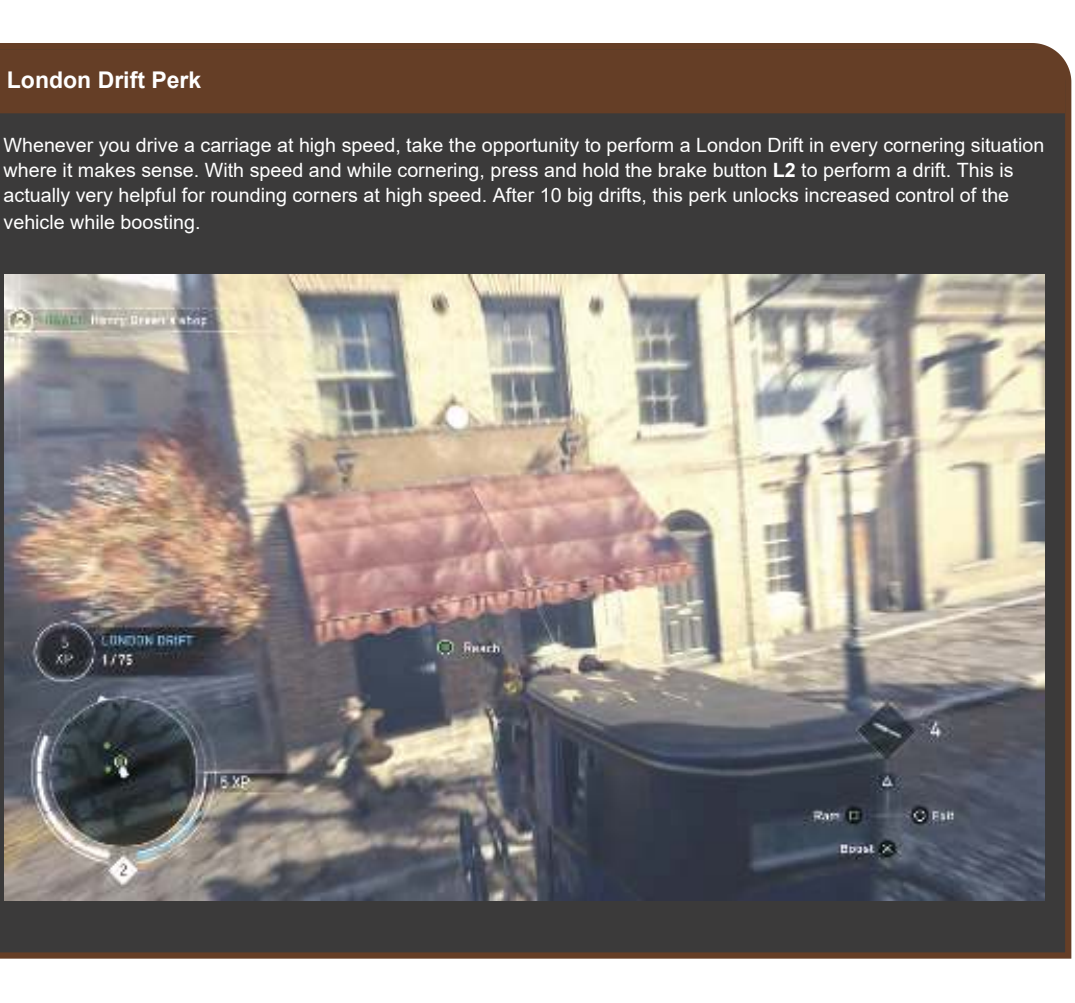
There are two enemy-driven carriages after you. They appear as red blips on the Mini-Map. To complete the Challenge you need to use speed and the ram feature until both are destroyed. When you can flip the enemy carriage over you have taken them out. When you have lost the enemy and have become anonymous (no enemies have seen you), the objective updates.

Current Objective: Reach Henry Green's Shop

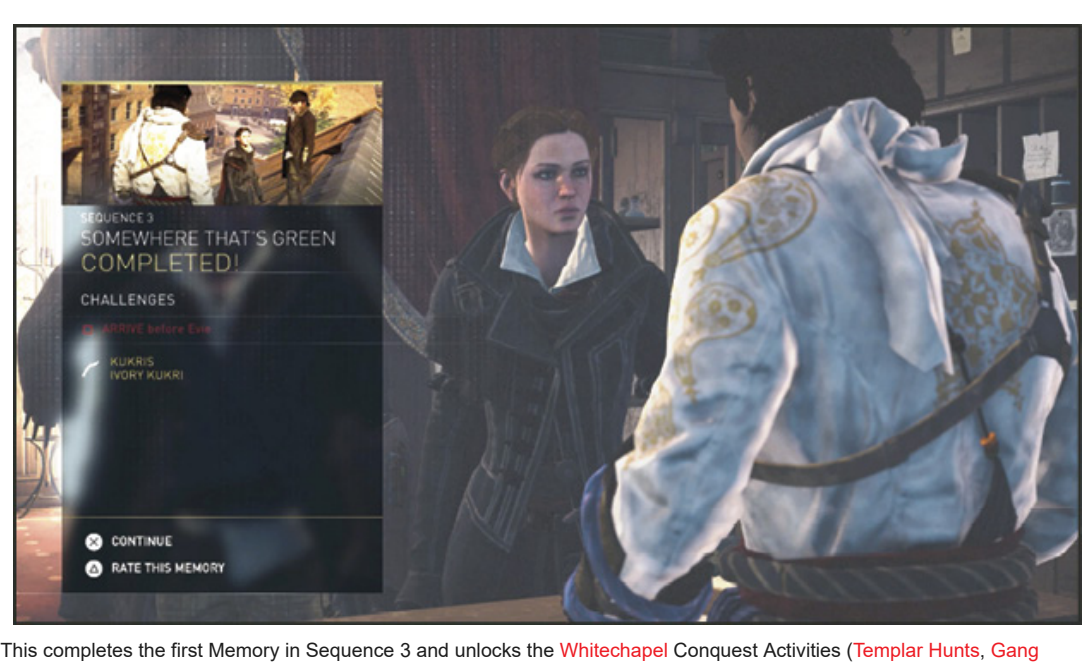
After you destroy the carriages a route marker appears on the Mini-Map and a thin guideline appears on the actual road ahead of you. These markers aid you in finding your way around town. You can select points of interest on the map to create these route markers to help you quickly navigate to your destination.

London Drift Perk

Whenever you drive a carriage at high speed, take the opportunity to perform a London Drift in every cornering situation where it makes sense. With speed and while cornering, press and hold the brake button L2 to perform a drift. This is actually very helpful for rounding corners at high speed. After 10 big drifts, this perk unlocks increased control of the vehicle while boosting.



Enter Henry's Curio Shop and step into the marker to complete the objective. Henry lays out a few portraits on the desk in front of you. He explains that the people in the pictures are helpful contacts across the city. After the twins argue a bit about strategy, Henry pushes a sketch of Sgt. Abberline's face towards the twins. Henry goes on to explain that they need the police to turn a blind eye to your activities and that Abberline is a master of disguise. Then you will need urchins. "Children make for excellent spies," he says. He shows a picture of Clara O'Dea. Finally, he pushes a picture of one of Starrick's gang bosses, Rexford Kaylock, toward the twins and implies this should be your next Templar target.



This completes the first Memory in Sequence 3 and unlocks the Whitechapel Conquest Activities (Templar Hunts, Gang Strongholds, Child Liberation, and Bounty Hunt). Walk to the next memory down the street or jump in a carriage and drive toward the hexagon with the "A" on the map.

The London Map

Press the Touch Pad button to access the London Map. An icon legend is available by pressing the L3 button. Conquest Activities are marked on the map. Once you complete those activities the red fog of war is lifted from that borough indicating that the Templars are no longer in control of that area. Once you have completed all the Conquest Activities (Templar Hunt, Gang Stronghold, Child Liberation, and Bounty Hunt) the Templar Crime Boss challenge is unlocked. Defeat the crime boss to conquer the borough.

Objective: Reach High Ground

Location: Whitechapel Back Alley

Which Frye twin you are controlling determines which twin you meet up with in the Whitechapel back alley (1). Once the twins are together again, press ⓧ / Ⓐ to accept this Memory. When the memory starts, neither Jacob nor Evie can find the police officer they were to meet at this location. Suddenly a hunched-over old lady approaches the twins and offers her assistance. Jacob snatches the bonnet off her head to reveal the master of disguise, the bumbling Sergeant Frederick Abberline.

Abberline lays out the rules of their "partnership." He tells the Frye twins that he will provide the names of criminal gang members and that they will bring them to him…quietly.

Kidnapping

While undetected behind an enemy, press ○ / Ⓑ to Kidnap them. Move slowly with the Left Control Stick near enemies to shrink your detection radius. Moving faster with R2 makes you easier for enemies to detect.

Press ○ / Ⓑ to shove a kidnapped captive into an enclosed carriage.

When control returns to you, Abberline (re-disguised) tells you to stay within the bounds of the law, for his sake. This means you should not kill the target (don't worry about the other enemies, they'll get what's coming to them). So this means you need to work stealthily. You could rush in and risk getting beaten to death or chasing the target all over town, or you can choose to do it quietly and much more quickly. We usually take this approach.

Abberline adds, "…attempt to make them talk, then bring them to my carriage." He makes it sound like he's waiting nearby, but he is far away from the crime scene. You have the option to throw the victim into a nearby carriage and there are usually plenty of options around every corner. Look for the most inconspicuous route to a nearby carriage. This means you do not have to risk walking a kidnapped victim through a guarded exit. Then you must deliver the "package" to Abberline's carriage—usually a few blocks away—to remain inconspicuous.

You must reach high ground. Follow the green blip to the rooftops. Climb up to the top of the nearby stair ledge and then jump and cling to the side of the building to the left. Get to the rooftop by grabbing onto grip points and continue to the right across the rooftops to find Dalton and his thugs.

Always look high and in many directions before you move closer to the scene of most activity. Next, look all around you including under your feet. Once you have all the enemies marked on your map, the next step is to study their movements. Find an area where you can start taking out single targets one at a time. If there's no opening create one with a knife headshot. This is the process. Stick to it and you will ace every challenge presented, even those beyond your skill level. If you can get one hit kills on everybody, it doesn't matter how high their level is; you will come out victorious.

When you have Homer Dalton's arm behind his back (kidnapped) notice the faster you walk him in the desired direction the larger the detection radius becomes. If an enemy or police officer enters that radius you are discovered and your victim escapes. The slower you walk the smaller the detection radius becomes. So walk slowly when you need to walk past a nearby enemy. Look to the short alleyway behind Thug (C) to find a nearby carriage, marked as a yellow blip on the Mini-Map. When you reach the carriage (3), direct the kidnapped victim toward the passenger door. You'll receive a Shove In prompt. Press ○ / Ⓑ to shove Dalton into the carriage. Current Objective: Tackle the Thief

Location: Streets of Whitechapel

Approach the "O" hexagon icon (1) on the map in Whitechapel to meet up with whichever twin you are not controlling at the moment. Once there, Jacob and Evie walk together through the busy street when out of nowhere the same little pickpocket you chased earlier bumps into Jacob again.

Jacob recognizes the boy and chases after the little thief. Follow the yellow blip displayed on the Mini-Map and on screen. He only runs a very short distance until you stumble onto a group of children playing in an alley corner.

The children stop playing to stare down the intruders. Clara O'Dea steps forward, stands up straight, and dons a serious expression. She seems more mature than most children her age. Clara greets the two of you and welcomes you to Babylon Alley. She explains that it is here that the children make it their business to know the streets and provide kids the opportunity to control their own destinies.

Evie expresses that Henry Green thought they might be able to help one another. Clara agrees but adds that, in exchange for her services, they save the children suffering in several local factories—factories powered almost entirely by child labor. In return, Clara offers intelligence.

Current Objective: Reach the Warehouse

When control returns to you (2) head for the factory (3) only a few buildings away from where you start. Activate Eagle Vision as you approach so you don't get noticed before you even enter the attack planning stage. Hop up to the top of the brick wall and then clamber to the rooftop of the factory.

Scope out this floor and the one below with Eagle Vision. Locate the next children in the opposite corner on the lower floor. There is a Thug standing with his back to them. Walk up to the closest ledge on your side and, if you are out of knives, toss a Smoke Bomb on his floor. Quickly jump over and assassinate him (this keeps your cover as long as you find cover when the fog clears).

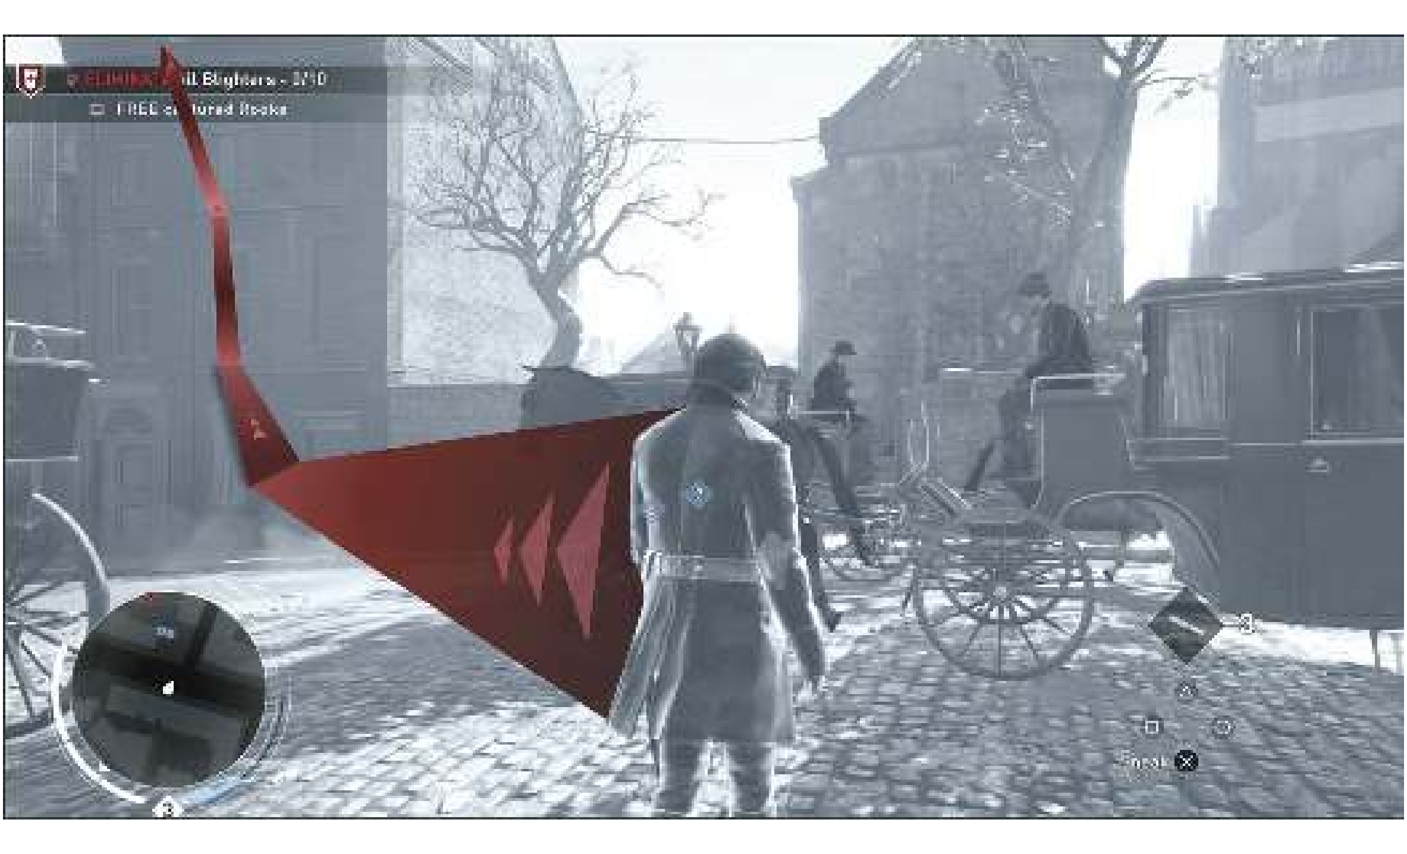
- Freeing Captives

Objective: Eliminate all Blighters

Challenge: Free and protect captured clinkers

Location: Northeast Whitechapel



Spitalfields acts as the headquarters to Kaylock's division of London's most notorious gang, the Blighters. You must defeat all 10 enemies in the area and free the two captured Clinkers (green-dressed gang members that become Rooks).

Approach the castle icon on the map to locate the Gang Stronghold. When you get close to the location, activate Eagle Vision and begin scanning the area (1) to find the nearest threat and then to start marking enemies. The first thing you see when approaching this area from the northwest corner is two policeman and some kind of enemy in-between the buildings.

Archetypes

Below is an explanation of every enemy archetype. You encounter most of these on every high-level intrusion.

Soldiers (Thug): The most common enemy. Uses melee and simple attack combos.

Brutes: Powerful, but predictable, melee fighters.

Watchers: Whistle when they see you, use ranged weapons, strong and try to remain at shooting distance from you.

Enforcers: Throw Flash Bombs to blind you and position themselves strategically, depending on the enemy group size.

Lookouts: Quick, but have low combat skills. When alerted, they run to fetch reinforcements.

Jump onto the next rooftop (nearest the captive Clinker) and head to the right (west) side of the rooftop and Air Assassinate the Watcher (C) below when she walks under the eaves of your rooftop.

Also notice the captured Clinker is appearing as a white highlight right now. He's on his knees and guarded by a Soldier (B) in a central courtyard.

If you dispatch this Soldier (D) too close to the opening to the east then you spot a Soldier (E) near a haystack. He sees the dead body and investigates if this is done in his view. Either take cover behind the last corner and whistle for him or climb to the rooftop and Air Assassinate him (E) while he stands over the body (D). Location: Whitechapel Train Station

You exit a carriage after a mediator settles Kaylock's terms. You find your stop is at the Whitechapel Train Station. This is a war over Kaylock's train hideout. Next thing you know you and seven Rooks line up and face down seven Blighters in formation across the yard (2). The best way to get this party started is by lobbing a smoke bomb right between warring gangs.

Objective: Eliminate 10 Blighters

You find yourself in the train hideout that you just won in your first Gang War. A lady sits on a bench in the train's study. This is Agnes Macbean. She is a Scottish woman who quickly becomes your best friend after you hire her to be your assistant.

Henry enters the car with an armful of books. He's pleased with your new hideout. Jacob is overly focused on the broken grappling hook. Henry offers help getting it fixed.

Take the train or a carriage to reach Lambeth, the borough in the southeast corner of London. Before starting this memory we suggest Synchronizing with the nearby Viewpoint (1). Bounty Hunt
Templar Hunt

Location: Lambeth; Alexander Graham Bell's House

Henry, Jacob, and Evie find Alexander Graham Bell in his study intercepting Starrick's Morris Code transmissions, but he's frustrated, as all they are talking about is Soothing Syrup. Introductions are made and Jacob asks if he can fix the broken Rope Gun. As he fixes the contraption, he mentions that it would be great for fitting his fuses on top of Big Ben. Alex has been installing a new telegraph line for the Free Press Association to combat Starrick's Telegraph Company.

Evie volunteers to help Bell with his fuses—thus claiming the first use out of the Rope Launcher, now "gun-less" and attached to the Assassin's gauntlet.

Objective: Drive Bell's Carriage

Alex waits in an open carriage outside his house. Follow the green blip on the Mini-Map to find Alex. Enter the carriage and drive Alex to Big Ben

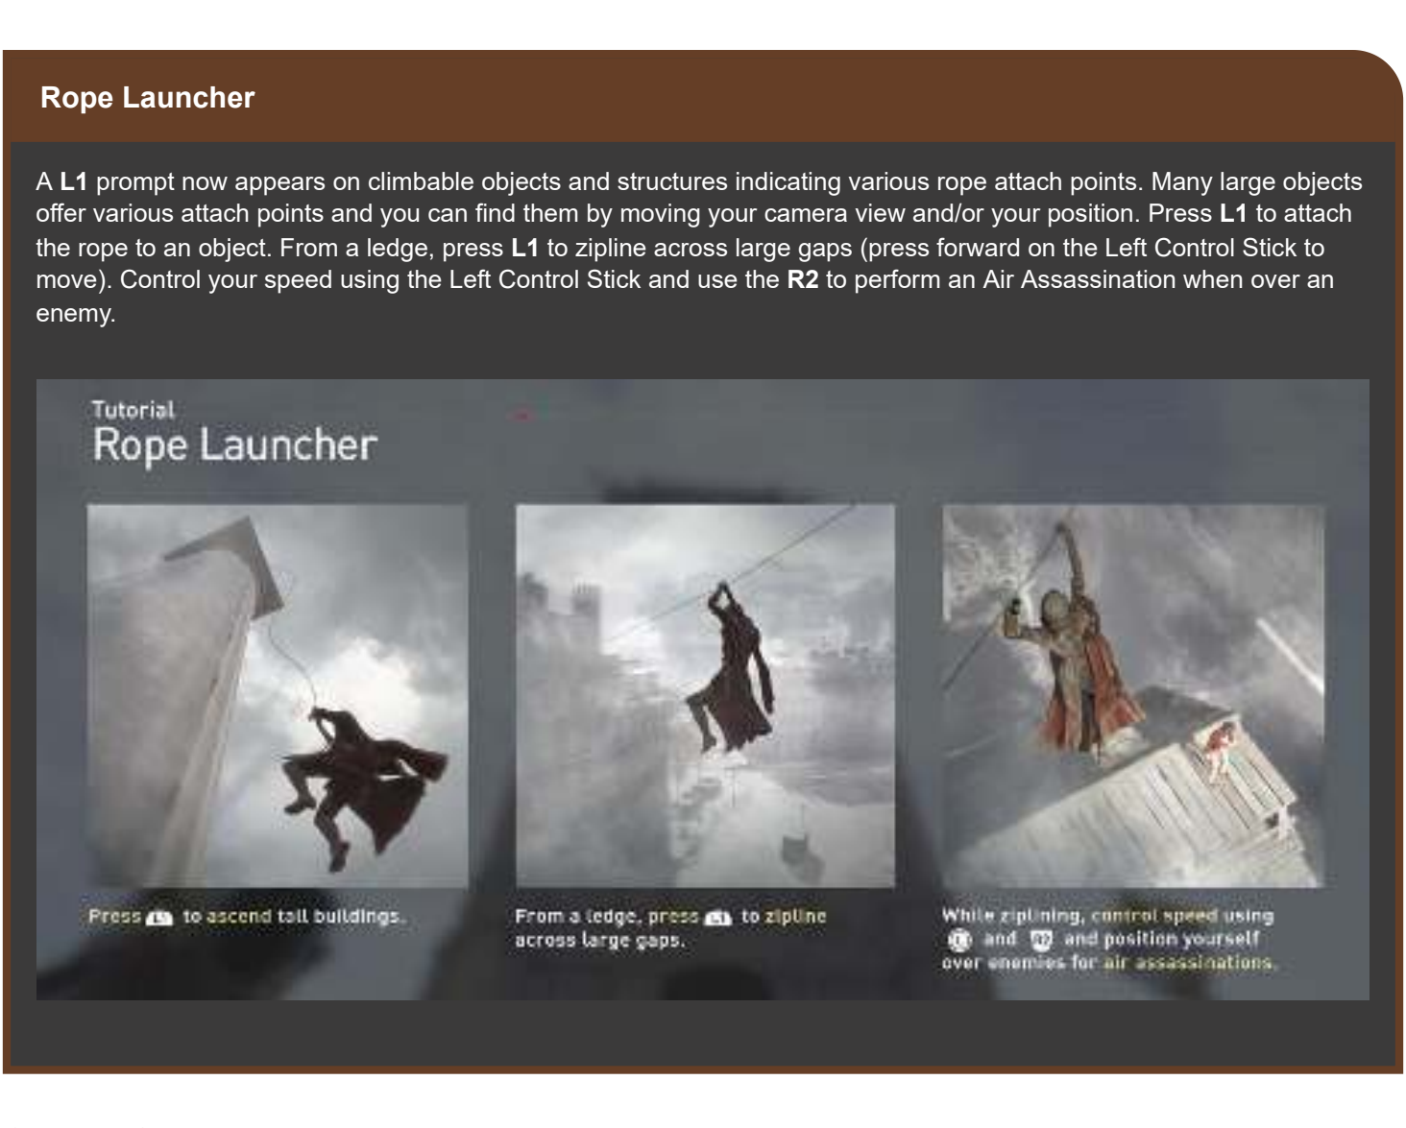
Objective: Reach Big Ben

While following the route marker to Big Ben, Alex talks about his inventions and during the ride, Evie helps him name one of his biggest. Stop in the marker near Big Ben (3) in Westminster.

REACH Big Ben

Rope Launcher

A L1 prompt now appears on climbable objects and structures indicating various rope attach points. Many large objects offer various attach points and you can find them by moving your camera view and/or your position. Press L1 to attach the rope to an object. From a ledge, press L1 to zipline across large gaps (press forward on the Left Control Stick to move). Control your speed using the Left Control Stick and use the R2 to perform an Air Assassination when over an enemy.



Press L1 to ascend tall buildings.

From a ledge, press L1 to zipline across large gaps.

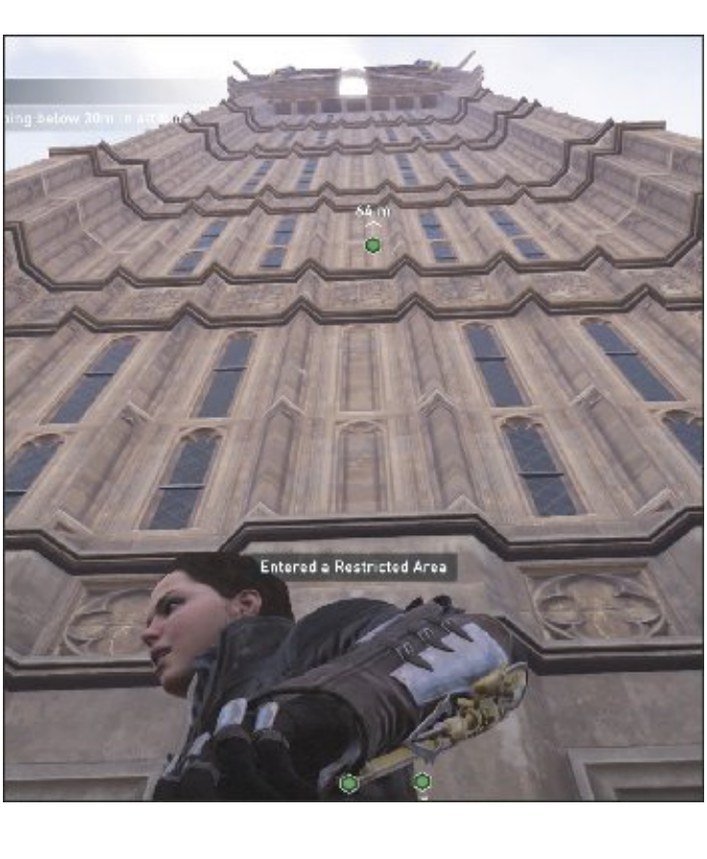
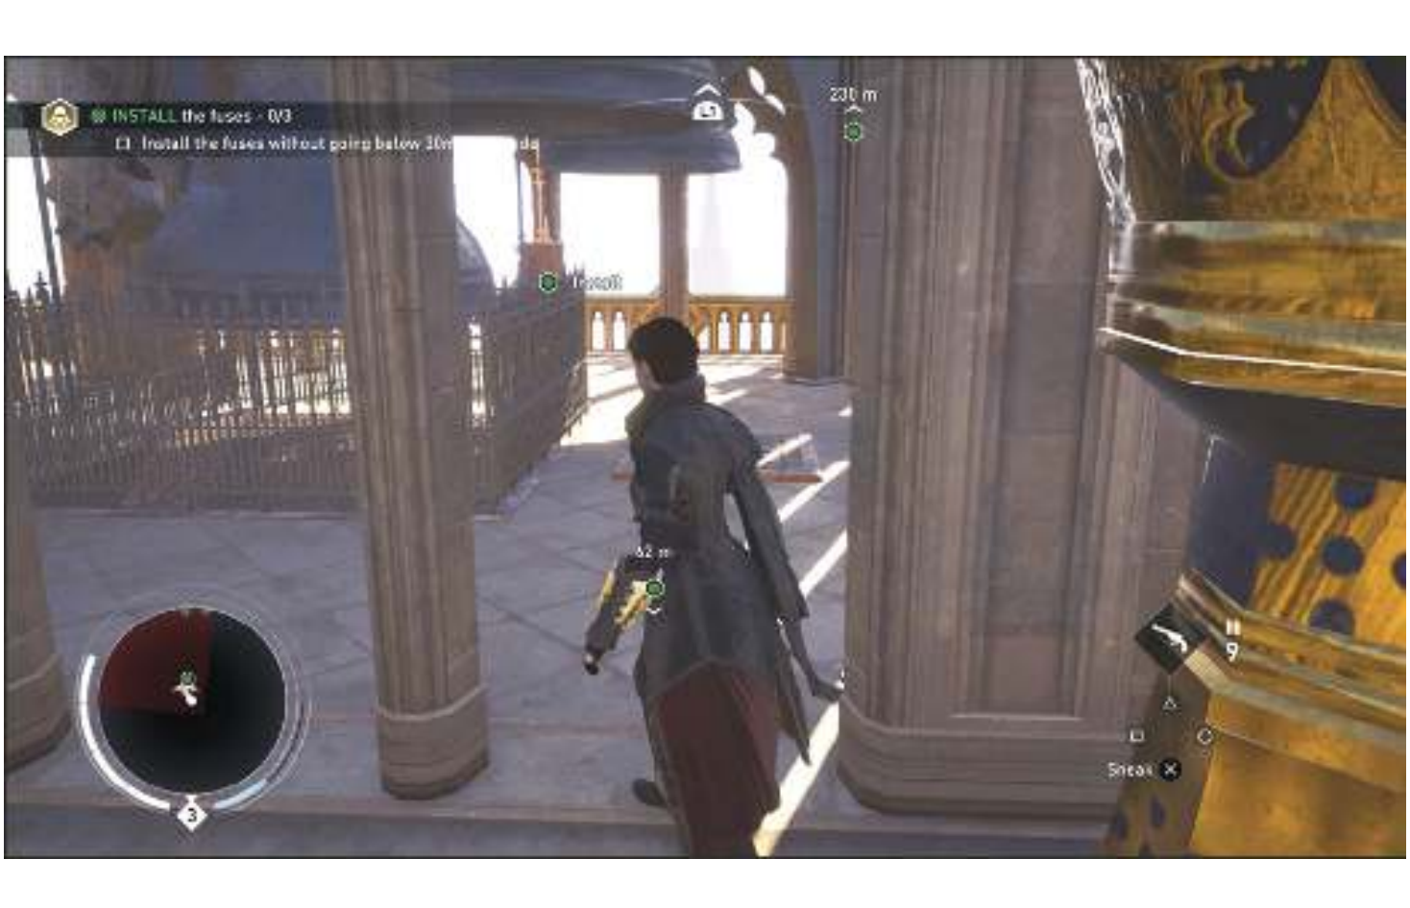
Current Objective: Install 3 Fuses

Challenge: Install the fuses without going below 30m in altitude

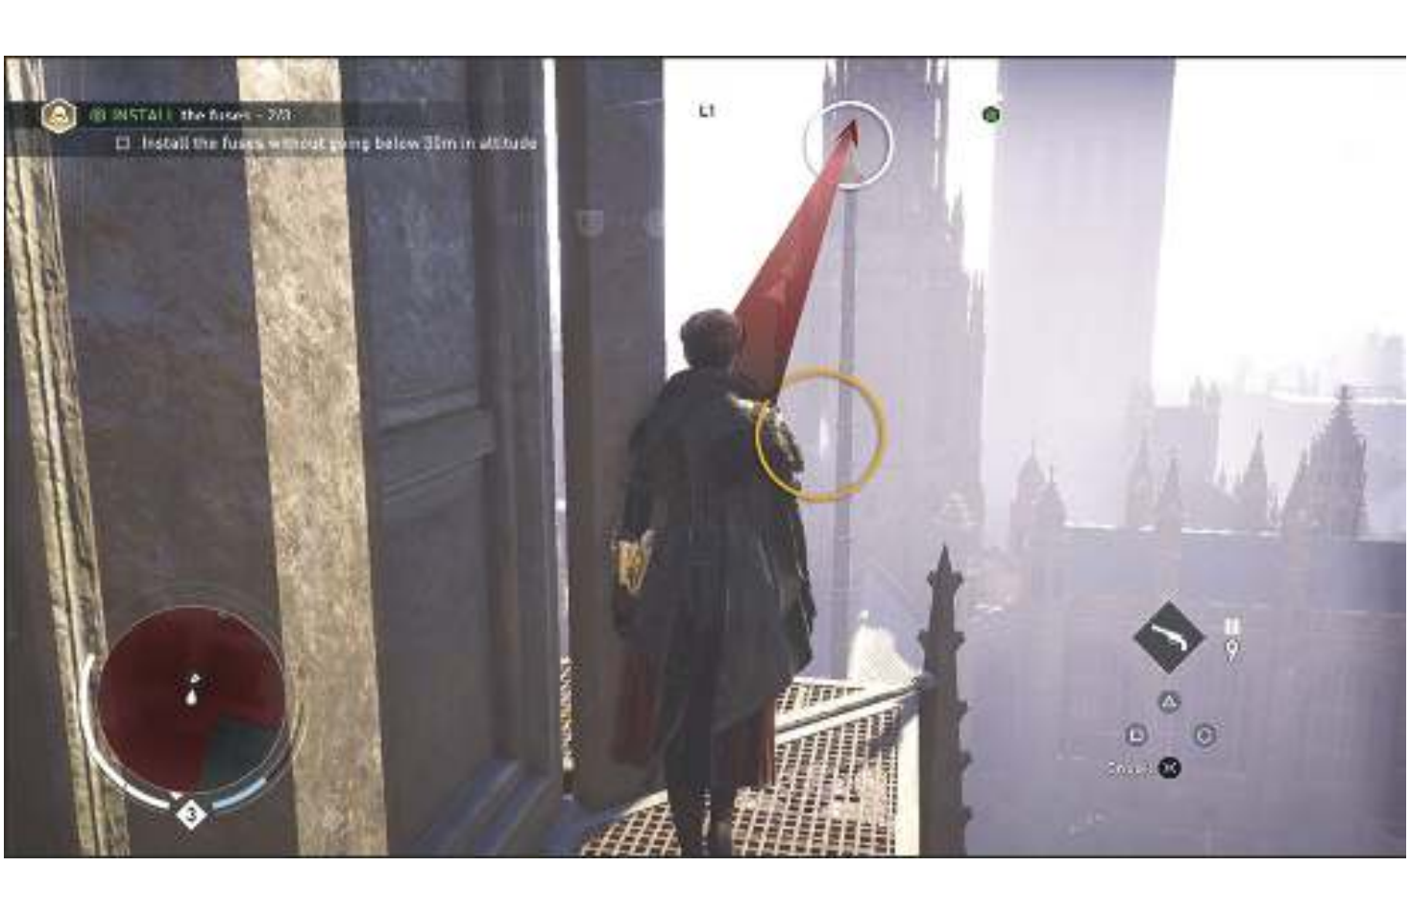


Exit the carriage and hop over the metal gate around Big Ben. Look up from the base of the large clock tower and move around until you acquire the L1 Rope Launcher prompt. This gets you all the way up to the bell tower platform above the clock. Climb up the windows to reach the bell where the first fuse box is found.

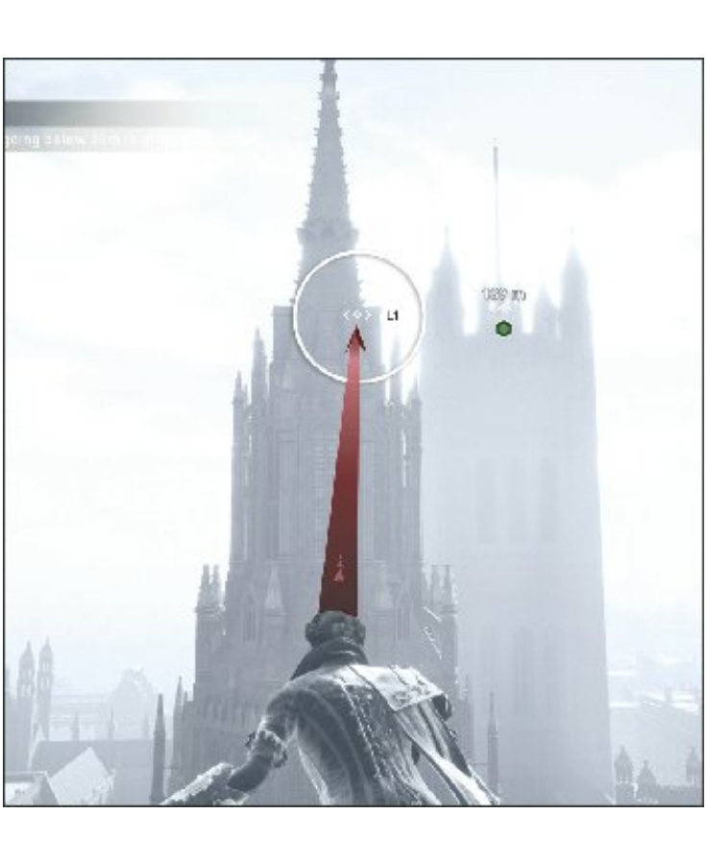


Walk up to the fuse box and press ◯ / B to install the first fuse. Climb to the top of Big Ben to synchronize with the area and then climb back down to the bell tower platform. Climb onto the outer ledge facing south. To complete the altitude Challenge you need to attach the Rope Launcher to very high targets. Acquire the Rope Launch lock-on to one of the top tiers above the green blip on the next tower (4).

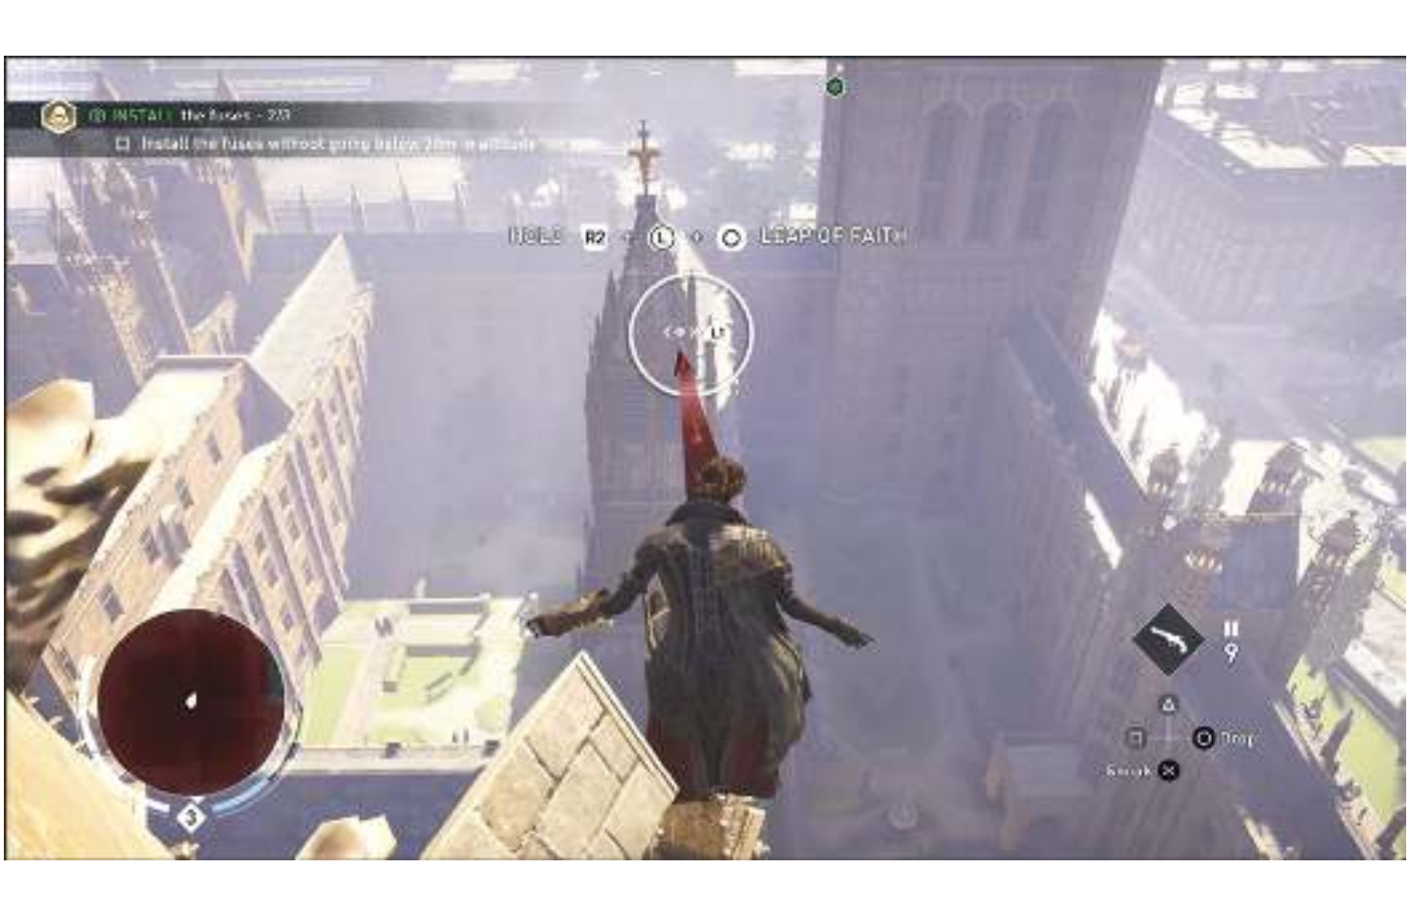
Once on the tower, drop down to the lower platform where you can interact with the second fuse box. Walk to the southern edge of the tower platform and try to acquire a Rope Launcher lock-on to the top of the tall spire. Between the second fuse tower and this spire is a hidden Helix Glitch, which you zipline through if you acquire the high lock-on.



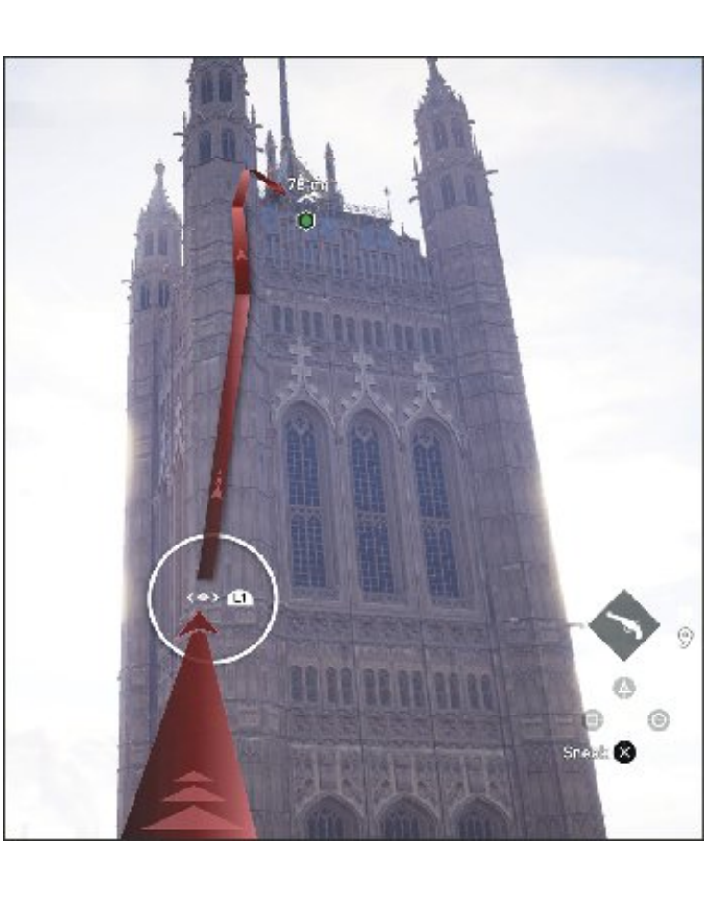
From the tip of the spire, acquire a Rope Launch lock-on on the next building to the south. Get a high lock-on and sail to this building now.



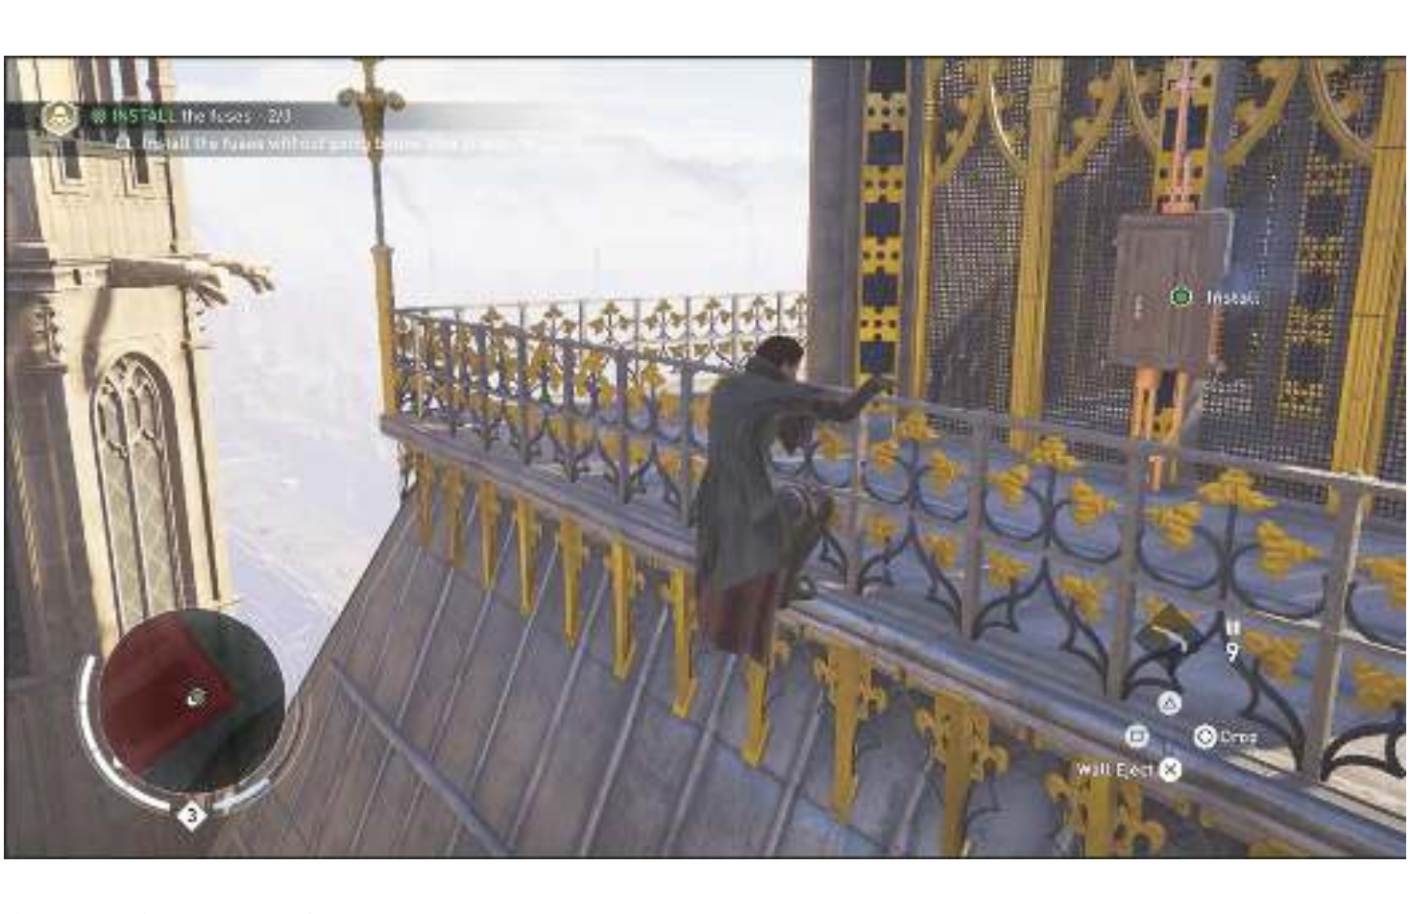
Now walk out onto the south edge of this tower and stand on a small gable. Notice you cannot acquire a Rope Launcher lock-on while hanging onto an object; you must have your feet on a platform or the ground to use the Rope Launcher. Now acquire a high lock-on on the tip of the tower below you to the south.



From the tip of the south tower, drop down to a lower ledge and then try to acquire a Rope Launcher lock-on to the large corner tower (5) where the final fuse box is located. You'll be able to achieve a lock-on just below the highest big windows. Rope Launch and then climb the tower to reach the rooftop platform.



Install the final fuse using the route suggested and you pass the 30m altitude Challenge. Return the way you came to find Bell. You no longer have to remain above 30 meters.

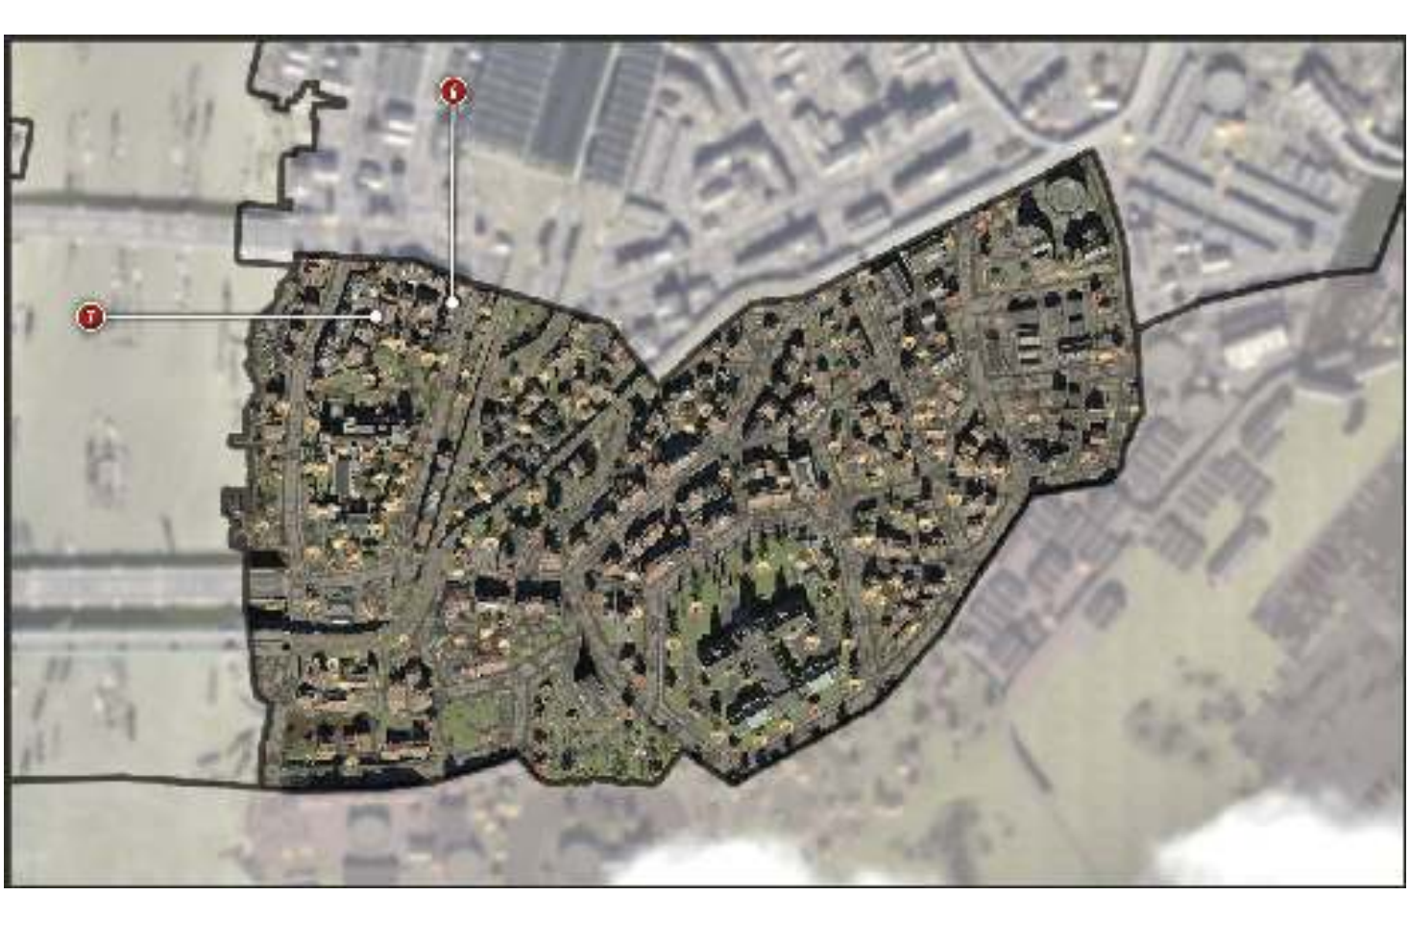


Current Objective: Speak to Bell

Zipline back to Big Ben and then head to the street level to speak to Alexander Graham Bell who is waiting for you in the carriage (3). He thanks you for your help now that he can continue the new line. Before he leaves he demonstrates a smoke bomb upgrade he's been toying with. This will give you a smoke bomb radius upgrade but first you need some metal components for crafting the bomb upgrade.

Current Objective: Loot 200 metal components

Challenge: Air Assassinate a guard from a zipline



Take a nearby carriage to the general location of the two metal component crate locations (6 & 7). This is near Bell's home. At location (6), get to the rooftops and mark enemies with Eagle Vision.

You spot four enemies and a Chest below. A Watcher (A) stands in one place with a keen eye on the crate. A Soldier (B) and a Brute (C) have a long patrol route moving from the Chest to the next house to the west. The fourth enemy is a Soldier (D) who also stands still while watching the Chest just below the rooftop in the picture.

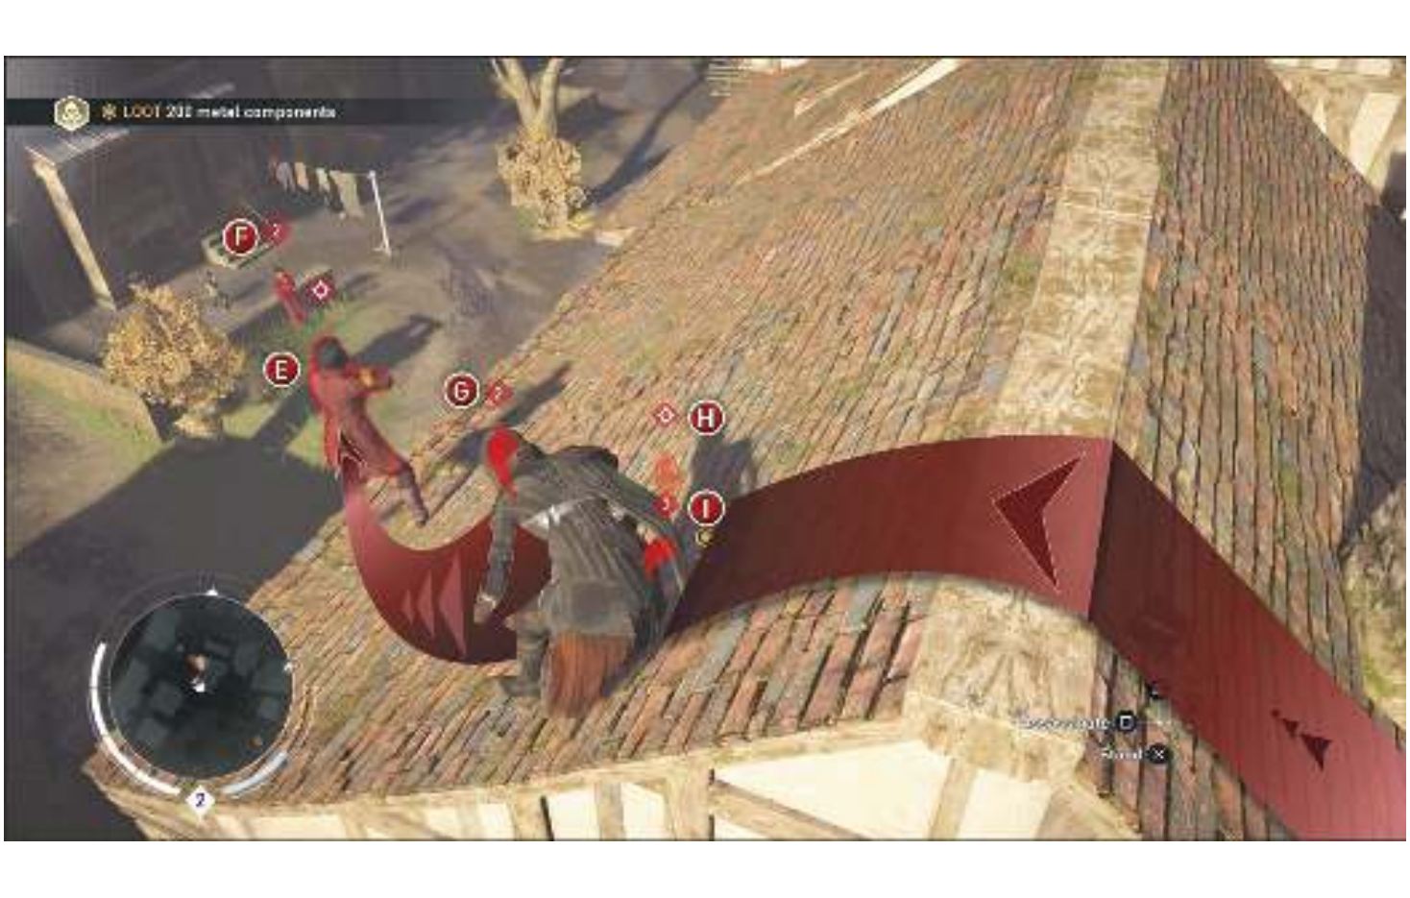
Use the Rope Launcher to attach to one of the wooden ledges above the Chest jutting from the side of the building. Zipline across the rope and stop when above the Soldier (D) who is now inspecting the bodies of the fallen near the Chest. Don't worry about the Watcher (A) seeing you when you drop down and Air Assassinate the Soldier; the Watcher is slow and tries to shoot you. By that time you have rushed and killed her with a couple good combo attacks. You could also use a Smoke Bomb before you attack to make an easier battle. Loot the bodies and then open the Chest to collect 100 metal components.

Turn west and head for the yellow blip marking the location of the second Chest (7). If you need knives, buy them from the street vendor (Shop) near the second Chest location. Activate Eagle Vision as you approach the Chest area. Find the Watcher (E) on the rooftop, identified by the crosshairs icon over this enemy's head. Climb up to the rooftop on the opposite end of the Watcher and then come up behind her in her patrol route and quietly assassinate her.



Get to the end of the rooftop facing the courtyard with the enemy Blighters and the Chest. There's one more Watcher (H), two Soldiers (F) and (I) and a Brute (G). The Brute and the Watcher move on a short patrol back and forth across the brick path below. Walk up to the edge of the rooftop and throw knives at the heads of the Brute (G) and the Soldier (I) when they stand near each other.

Now use the Rope Launcher to anchor to the rooftop above the Chest across the courtyard. Perform an Air Assassination on the Soldier (F) and then run up behind the Watcher (H) while her back is turned. Open the Chest.

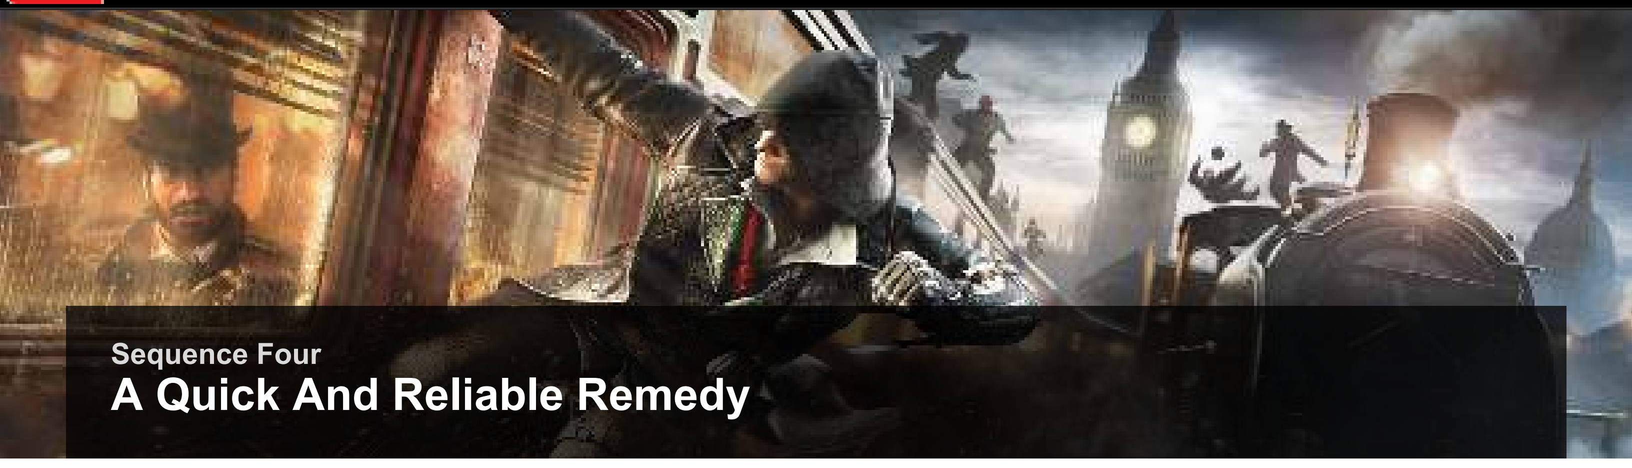
He reminds the two of you to call on him whenever you need him again as the twins hustle out of the workshop.



Sequence Four

A Quick And Reliable Remedy

Location: Train Hideout

You begin this Sequence in the train hideout. Evie is already back to work and Henry is beside her. Their attention is brought to some commotion from the other side of the train car. A mysterious fellow in black is talking to Agnes. Ned Wynert introduces himself and offers assistance on anything relating to the finest transit system in the world.

Evie and Jacob discuss plans, and they both have their own agendas. Evie wants to continue to hunt for Pieces of Eden while Jacob wants more assassination targets. Henry appeases both of them by reassuring Evie that finding the precursor artifact will give them insight into what the Templars intend and then directs Jacob's attention to the Assassination Wall….

The Assassination Wall is now available in the train hideout. Use the Assassination Wall to track the next Templar target. Press the ○ / B button while Sequence 4 is selected on the wall to enter a window where you can confirm your choice to begin Sequence 4: A Quick and Reliable Remedy. Press ○ / B to confirm.

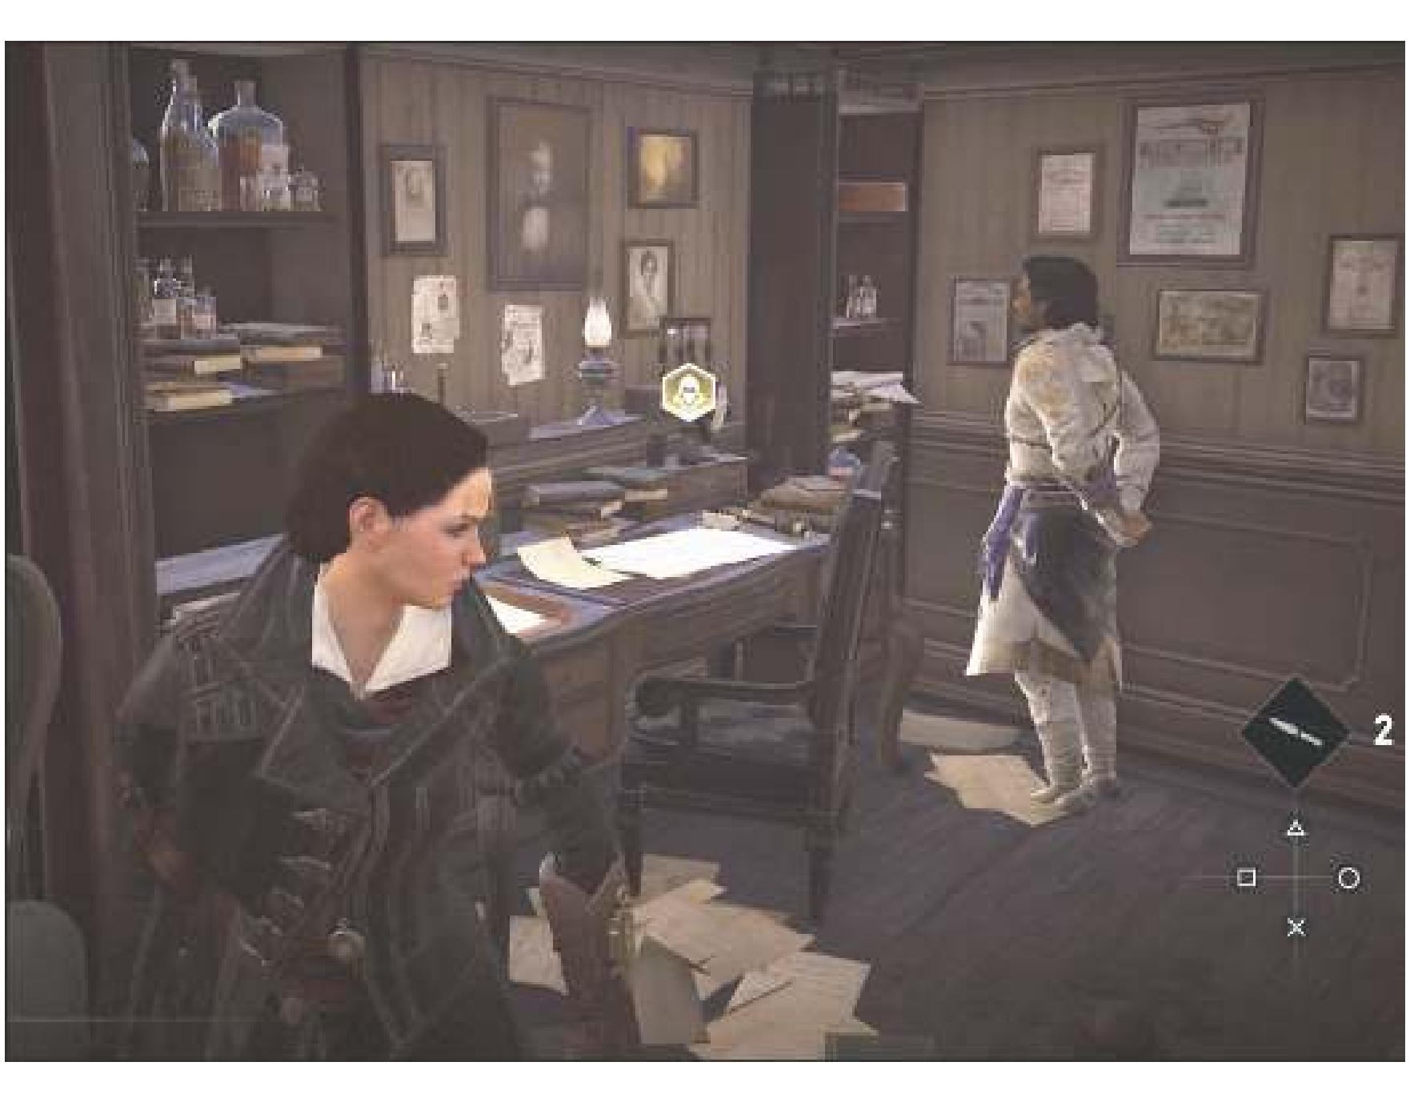
Location: Train Hideout



The Crate Escape memory icon is located on the desk in the last car on the Train Hideout.

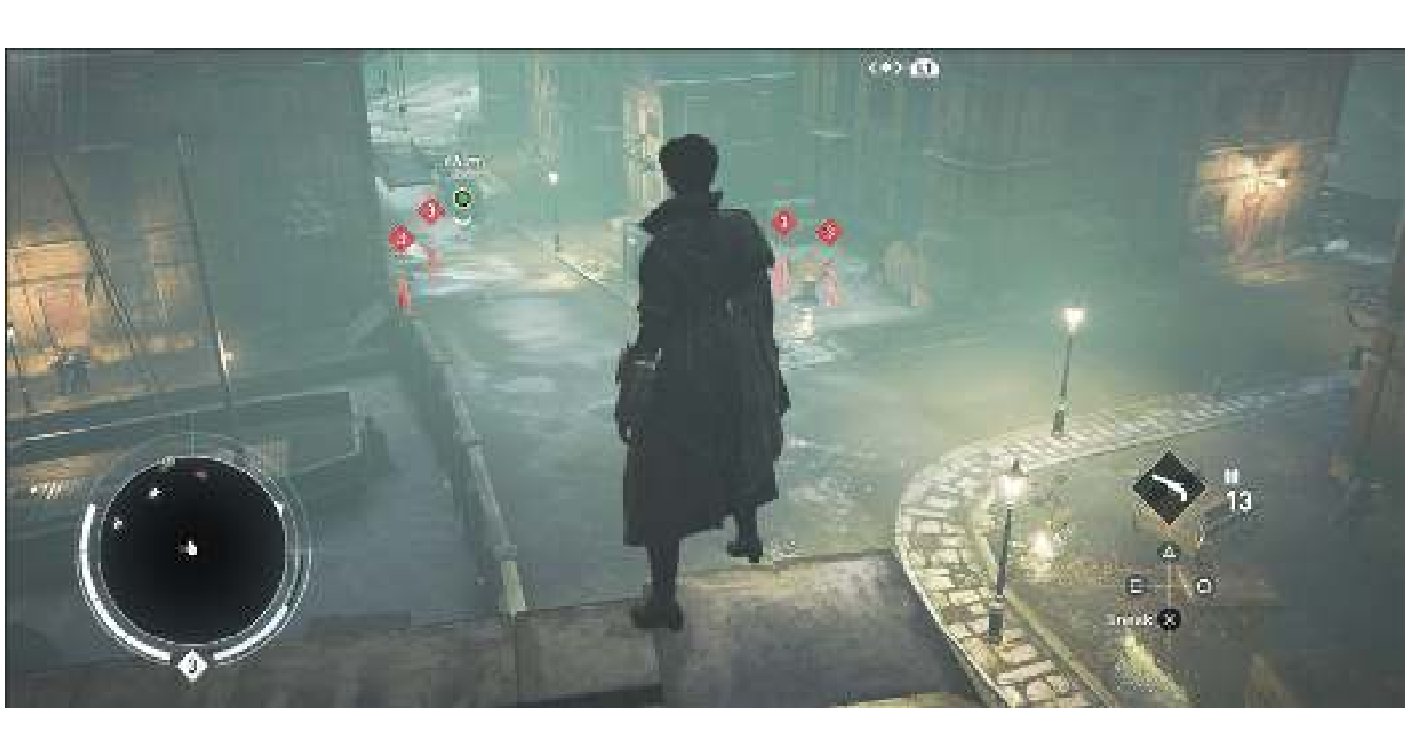
In the opening cinematic, Jacob teases Evie about her artifact hunt commenting that she sounds just like their late father. She responds, "If only." She thinks more highly of her father's quest than Jacob. Evie points to a picture of Lucy Thorne on the desk. Thorne is expecting a shipment tonight. Evie is certain that she is receiving the Piece of Eden Sir David Brewster mentioned.

Current Objective: Search the Templar Chest

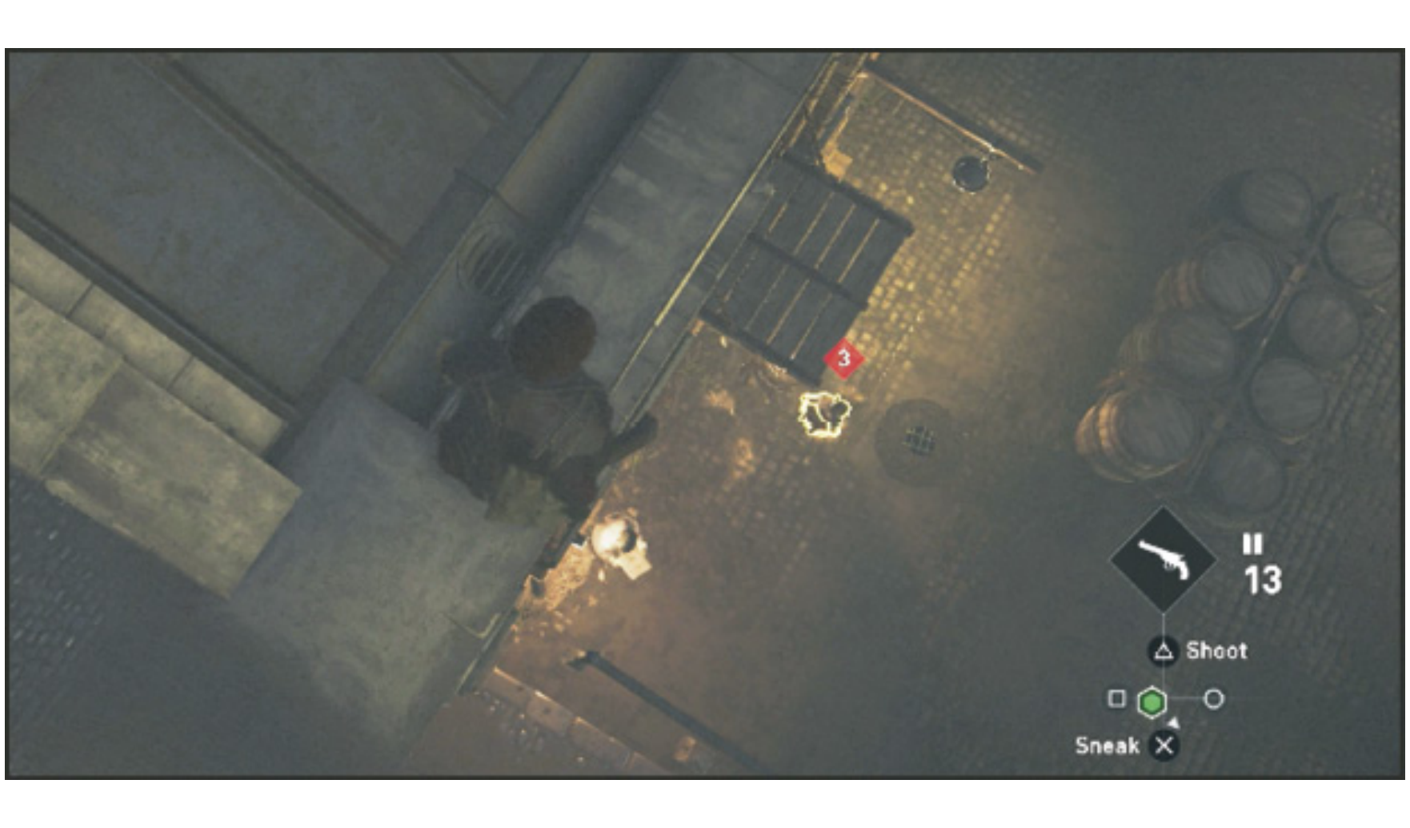
Location: City of London, Near The Thames Waterfront

The mission begins on location (you do not need to travel to the site). Evie stands on the rooftop (1) of a large warehouse overlooking Lucy Thorne as she receives the shipment personally. She follows a Brute inside to fill out some of Starrick's paperwork. The Chest, believed to contain a Piece of Eden, is inside the cart under heavy guard, but out of Lucy's sight.

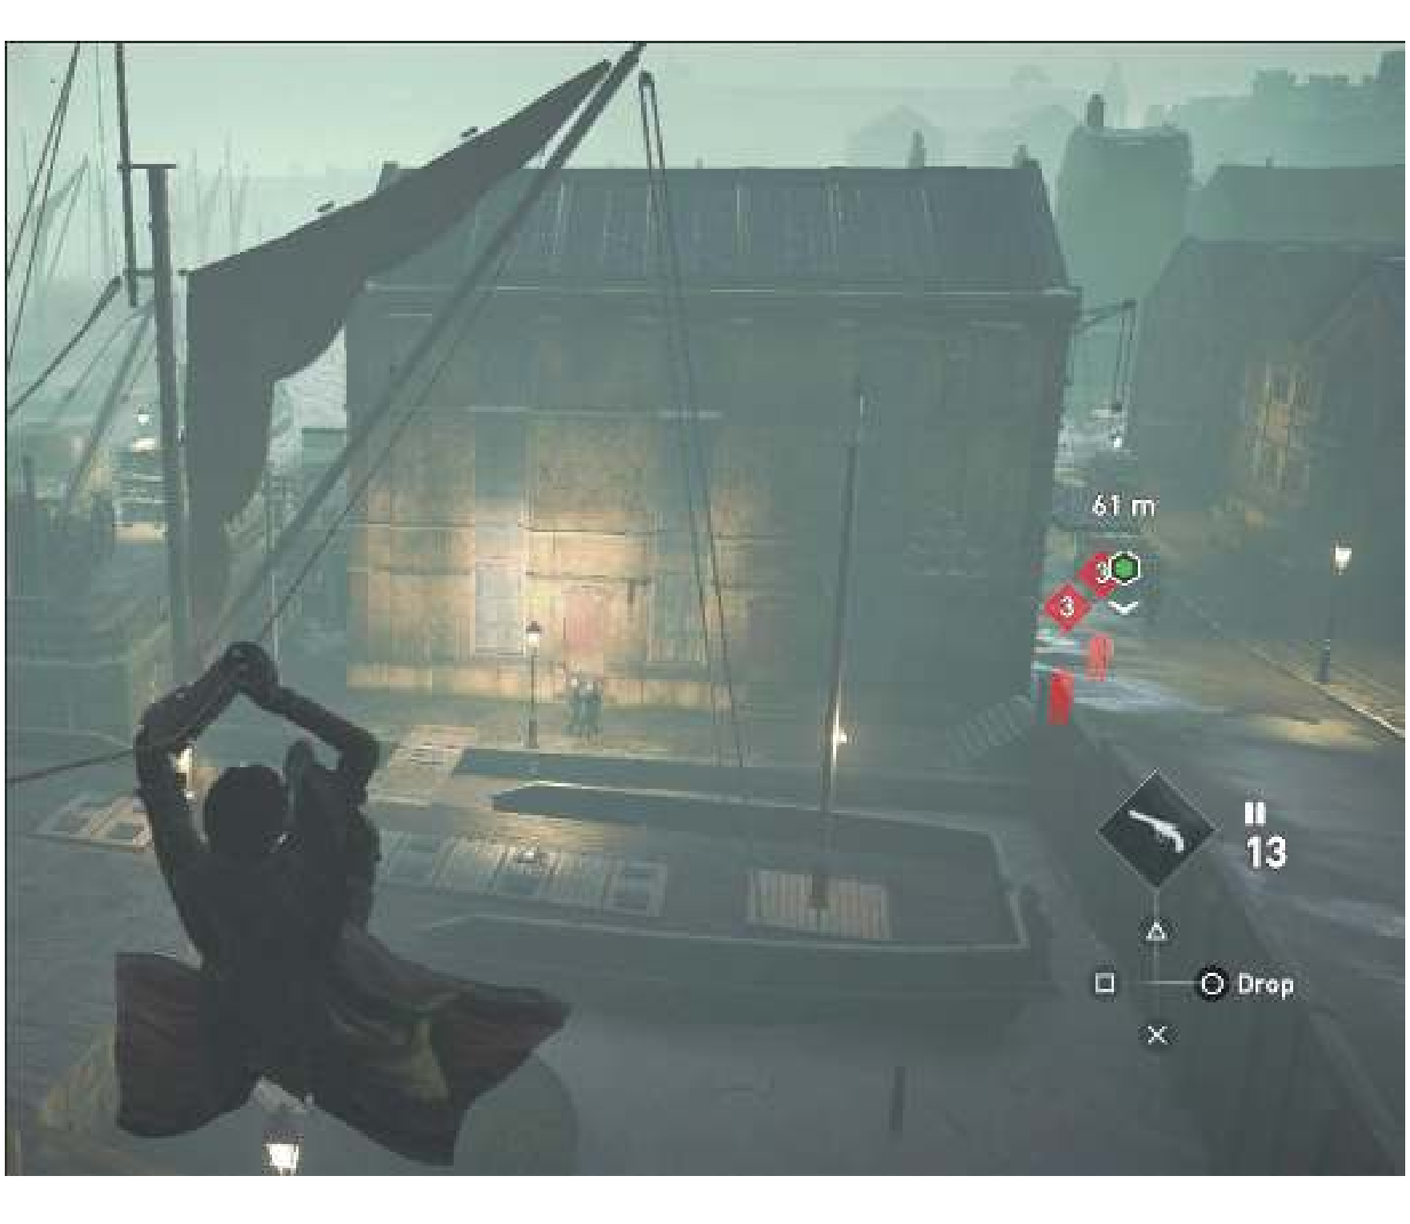
Before you move from your perch, scan the area all around you with Eagle Vision active. You mark a Soldier directly below you and a couple of cops patrolling the street below (they stay some distance away from the cart). Further ahead near the cart with the Chest you can mark four enemies until you can get closer. Jacob mentioned taking out the snipers, but don't count on him. You won't be able to spot those until you get nearer to the cart.



Eliminate everyone to get to the Chest safely. Begin by dropping down to a small wooden plank sticking out of the west side of the building you are on. Perform an Air Assassination on the Soldier below. Rope Launch back to the same rooftop corner afterward.

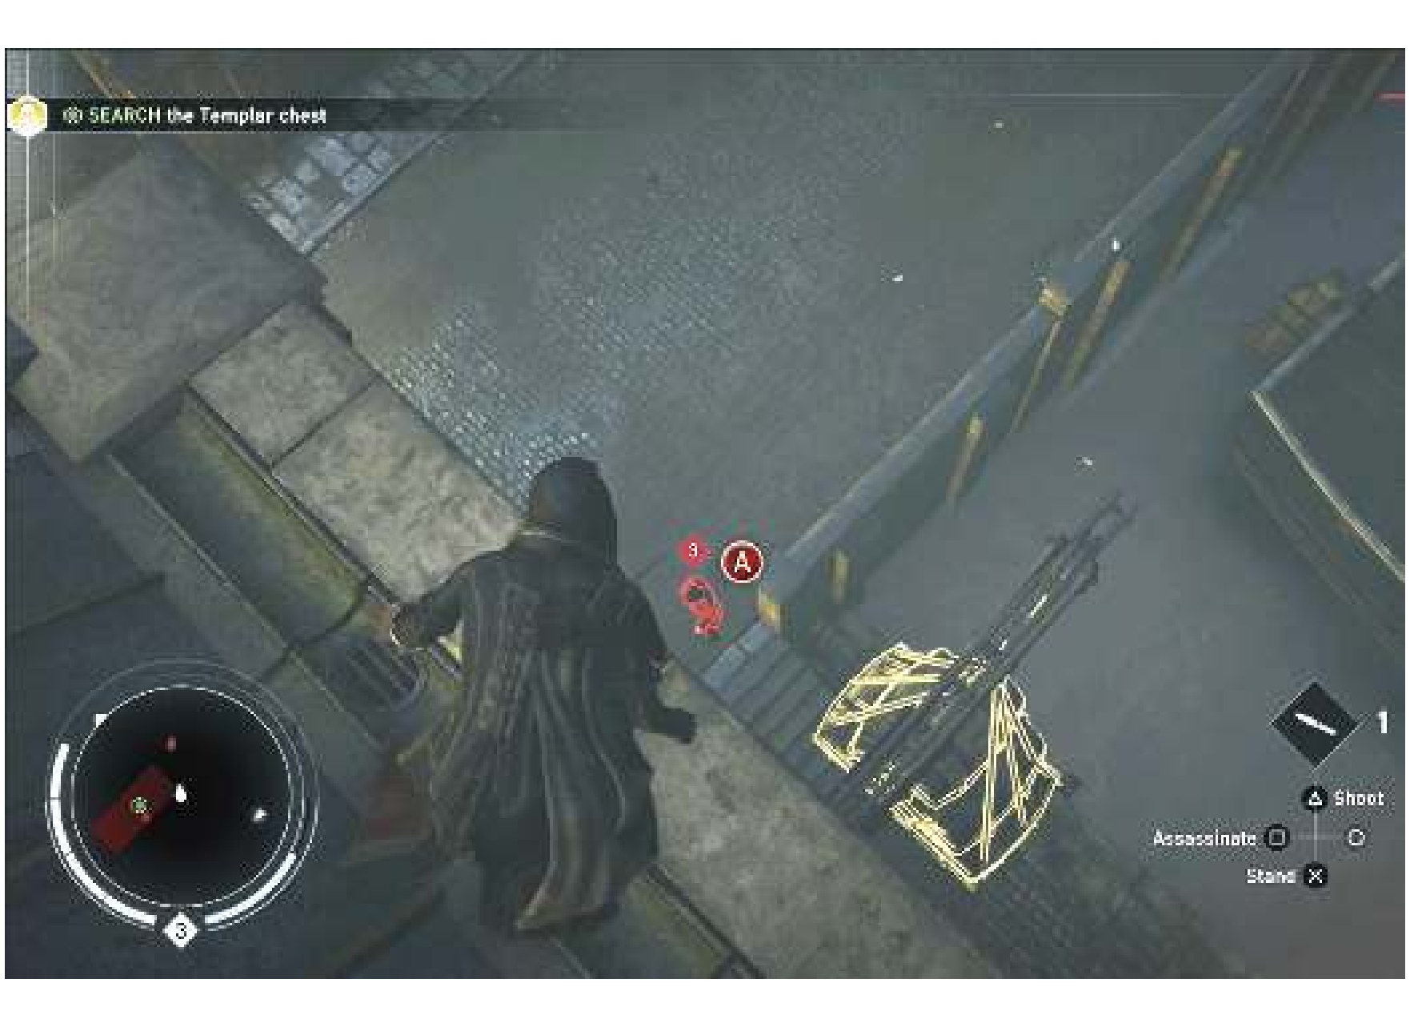


Helix Glitch

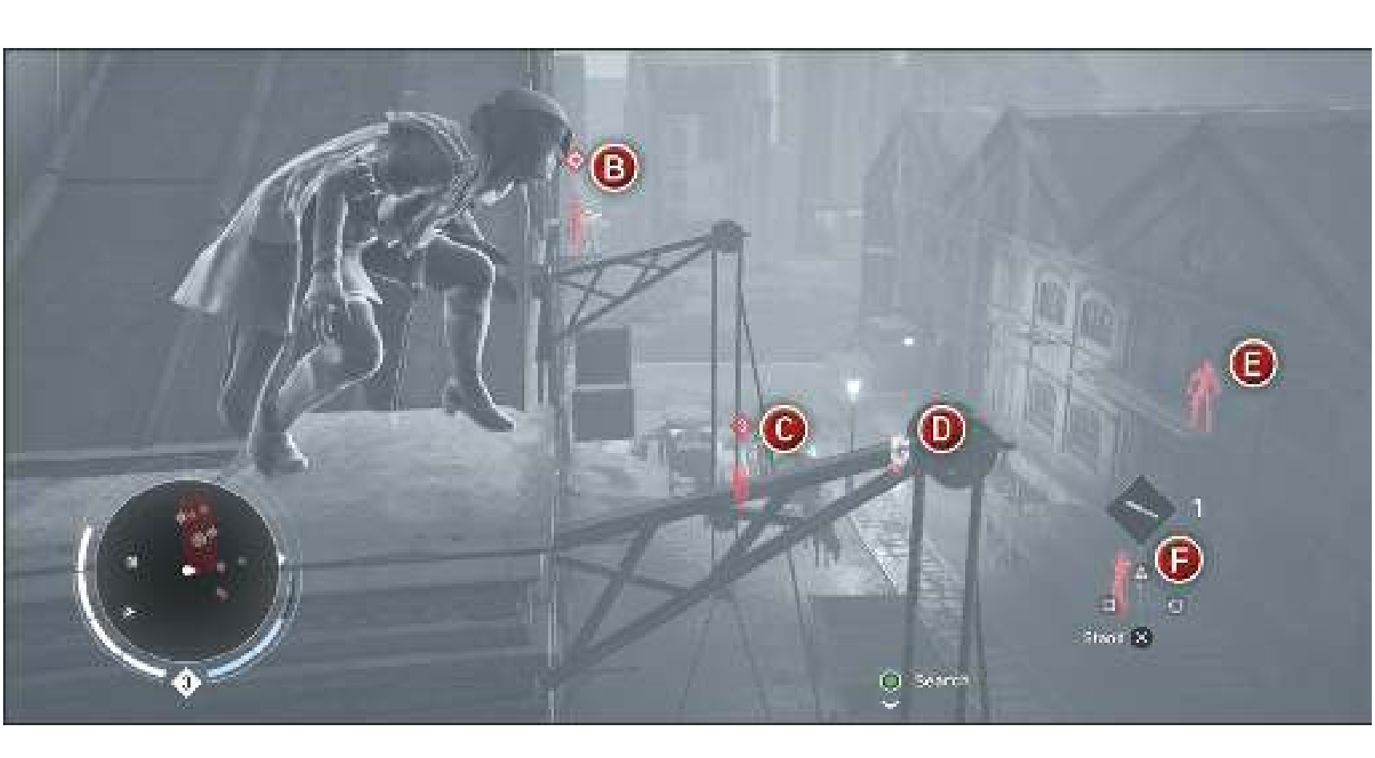


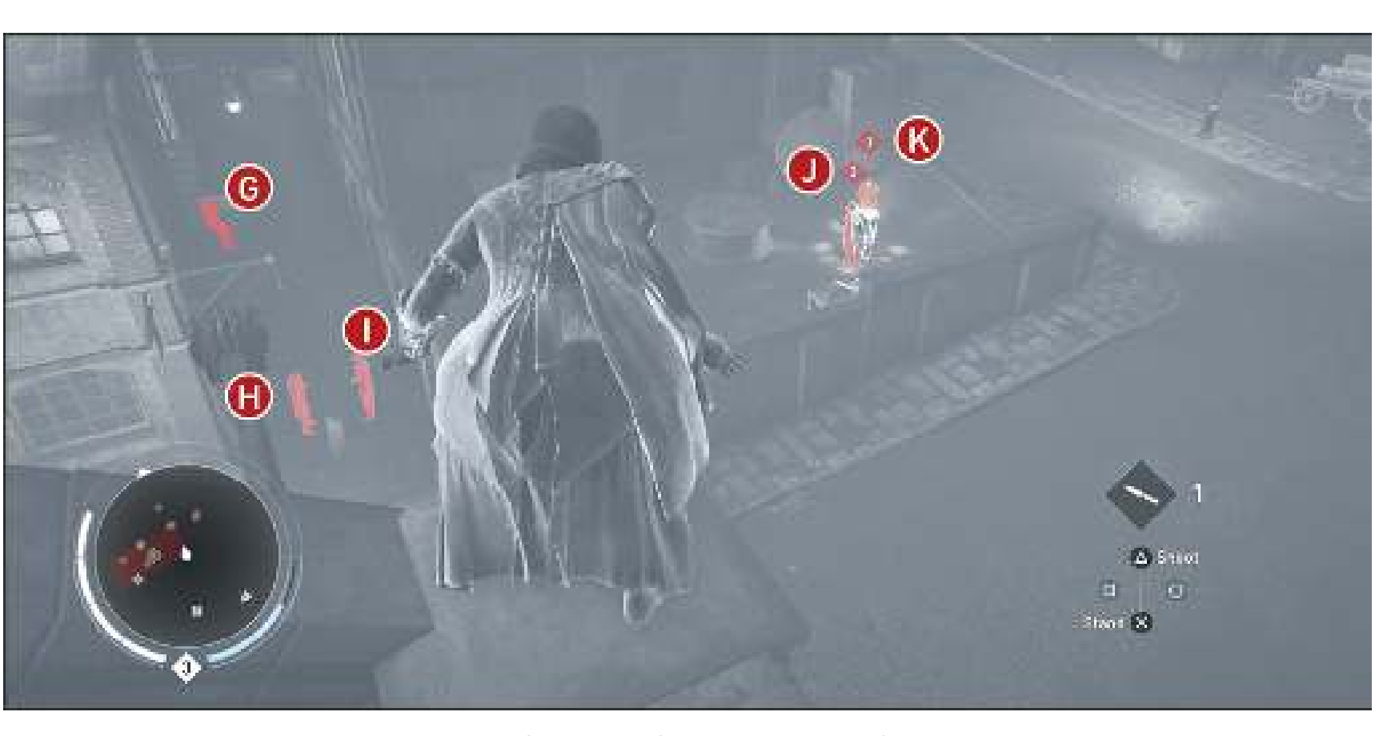
From the edge of the original rooftop, shoot the Rope Launcher at the top of the boat mast (2). There's a Helix Glitch floating just in front of the boat. So once you are on the mast, shoot a rope to the rooftop of the building across the street and just zipline far enough to acquire the Helix Glitch and then return to the top of the boat mast.

Zipline west to the edge (3) of the next rooftop, above the hanging barrels. When the Brute (C) walks away from the Soldier (A) that stands her ground at the boat yard entrance, drop down from the edge of the rooftop and Air Assassinate the Soldier. Duck back around the corner of the building to avoid the Brute's sight. Rope Launch back to the rooftop of the same building.



From the northeast edge of the rooftop, search for all the enemies using Eagle Vision. You find two Watchers (B & E) on high balconies to the west. Eliminate these two first from the group around the cart. Look across the street to see two Soldiers (H & I) at the mouth of an alley and a Brute (G) leaning on a door in the alley (behind some crates). These are optional kill opportunities. You just need to inspect the crate on the cart anonymously, so just clearing the snipers and the few around the cart is the bare minimum you have to do.





Optionally, you could take out the enemies, two Soldiers (H & I) around a barrel fire in an enclosed yard, on the outer region next. Zipline from your rooftop corner to the corner of the building (4) near them so that the line passes right over them. Zip down the line and Air Assassinate one Soldier and then quickly quiet the second before your cover is blown.

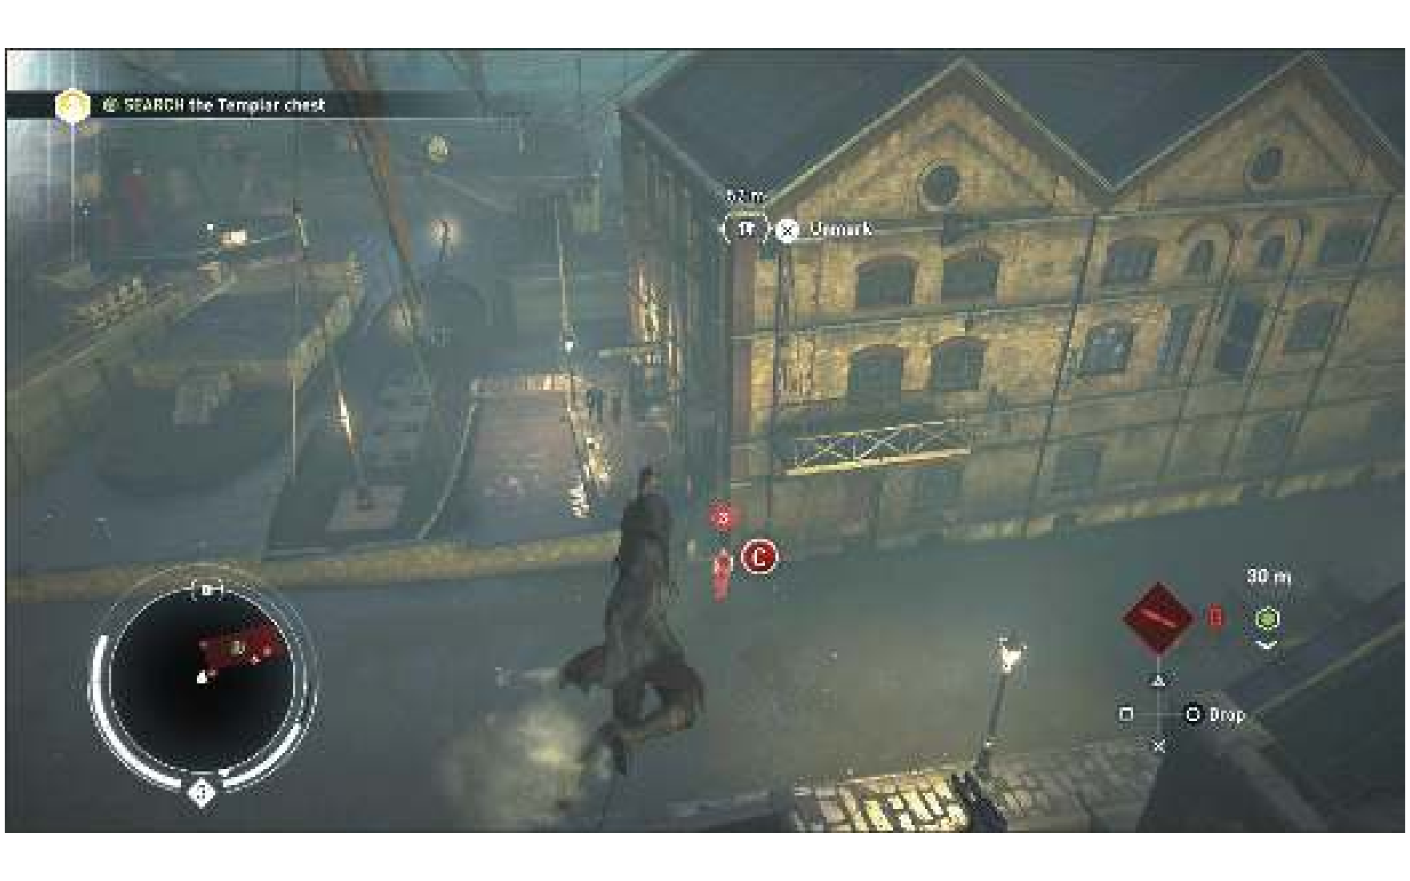
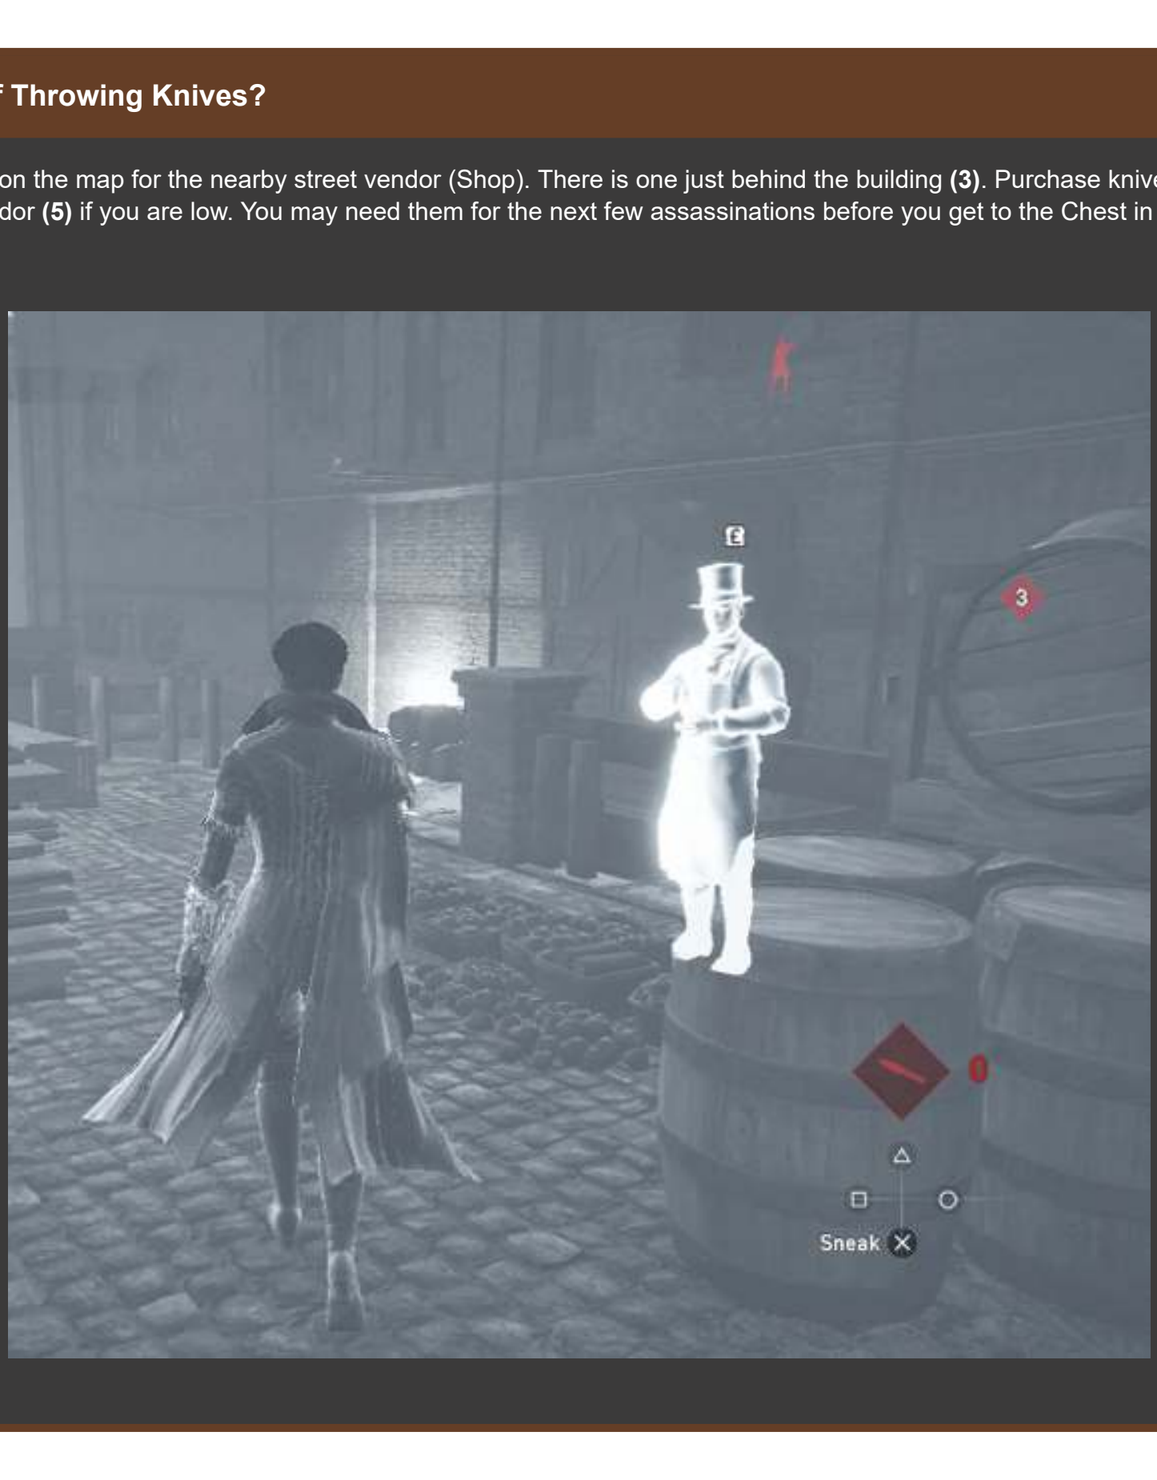
Eliminate him and duck around the corner inside the boatyard once more.



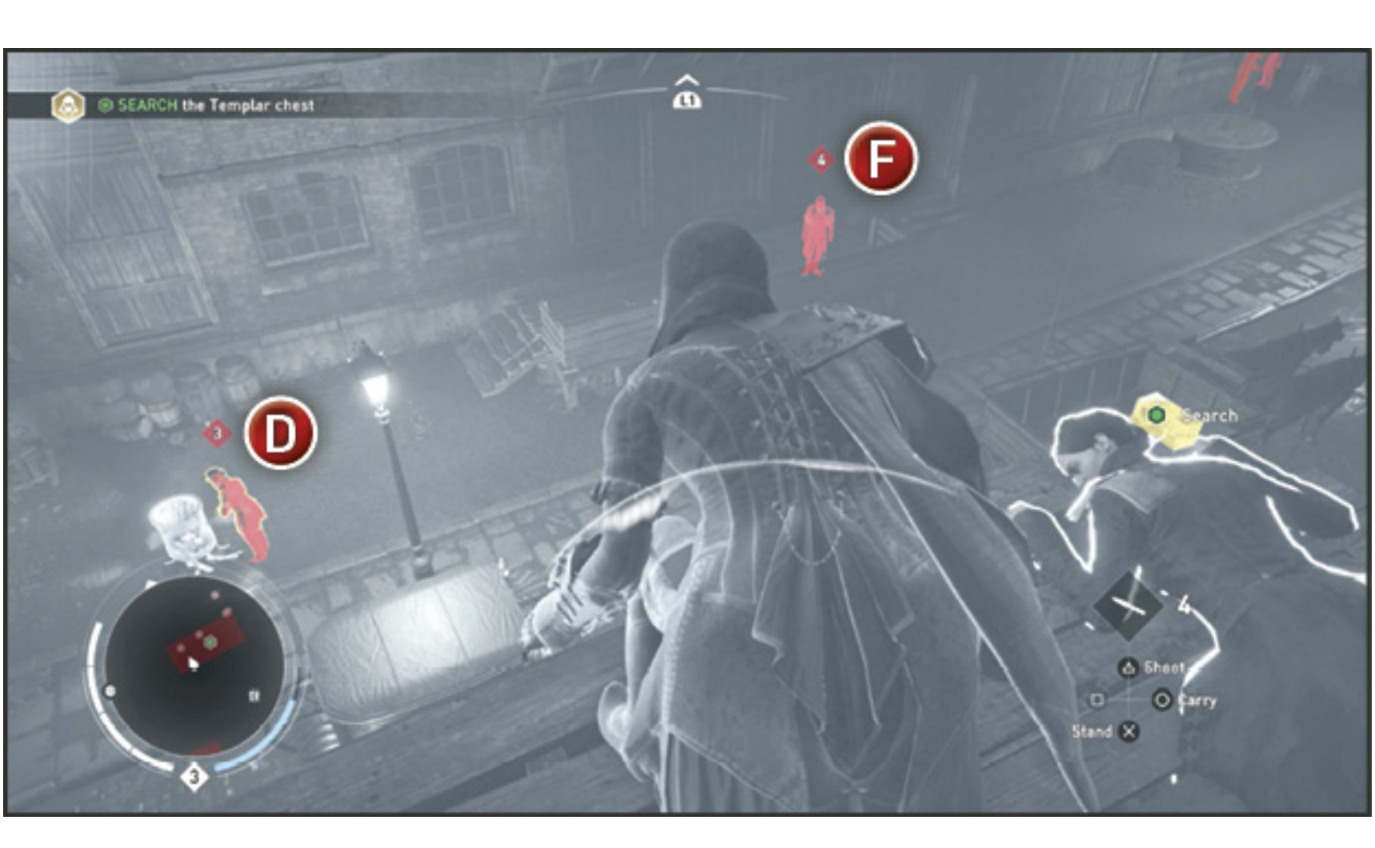
Out of Throwing Knives?

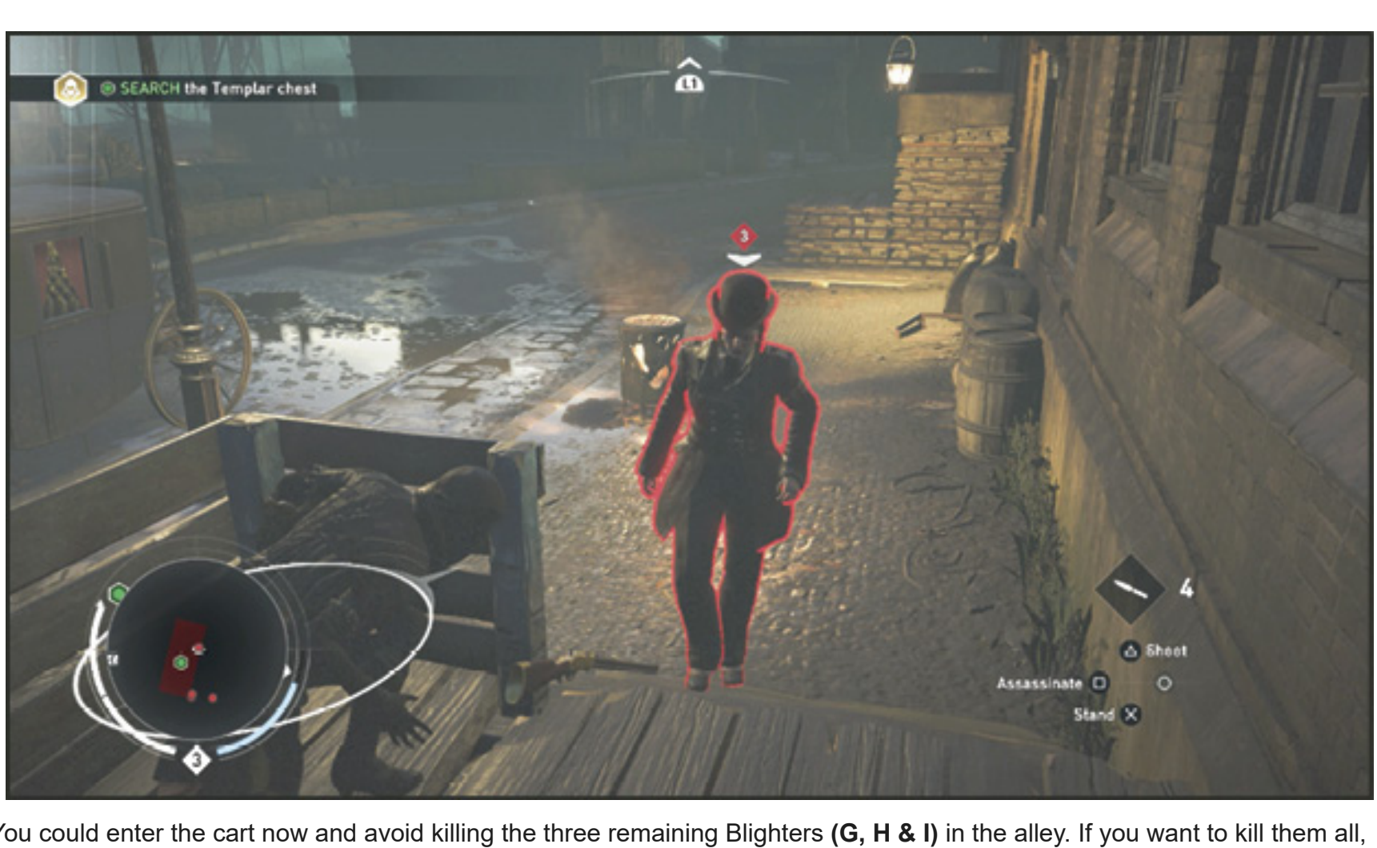
Search on the map for the nearby street vendor (Shop). There is one just behind the building (3). Purchase knives from this vendor (5) if you are low. You may need them for the next few assassinations before you get to the Chest in the cart.



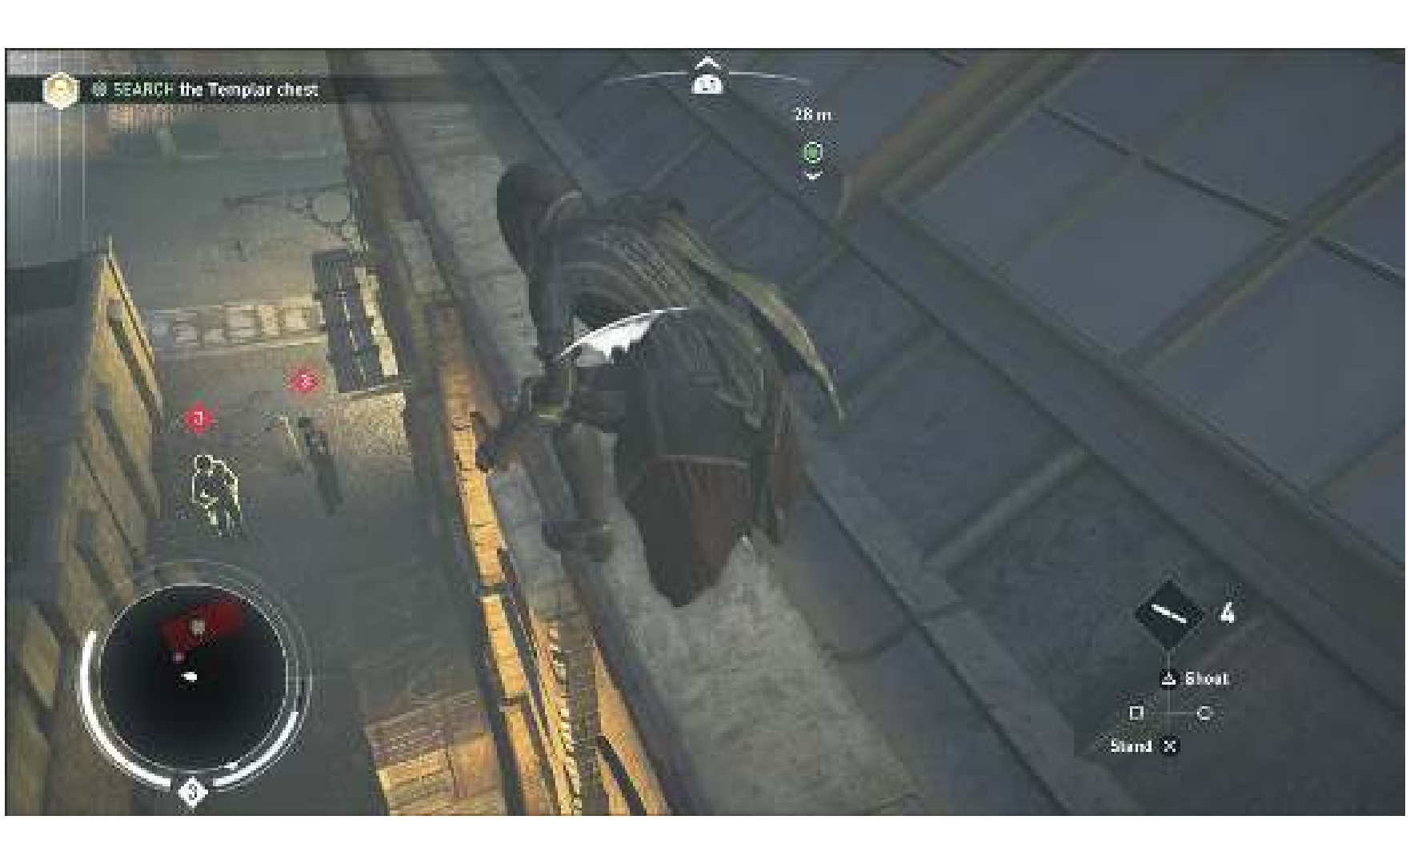
Get back up onto the rooftop and walk to the northern edge (6) so that you are standing over the Watcher (B) on the balcony below. Throw a knife at the head of the Watcher (E) on the balcony across the street. Now look down and position yourself for an Air Assassination on the Watcher (B) below you.

From the Watcher's (B) ledge below you can study the movements of the Soldiers across the street. One Soldier (D) remains standing around a barrel fire facing away from the patrolling Soldier (F). Zipline above this patrolling Soldier and Air Assassinate him (F). From his porch, hide behind the stair rail and whistle for the Soldier (D) warming near the barrel fire. Cover Assassinate this thug when she climbs the stairs.



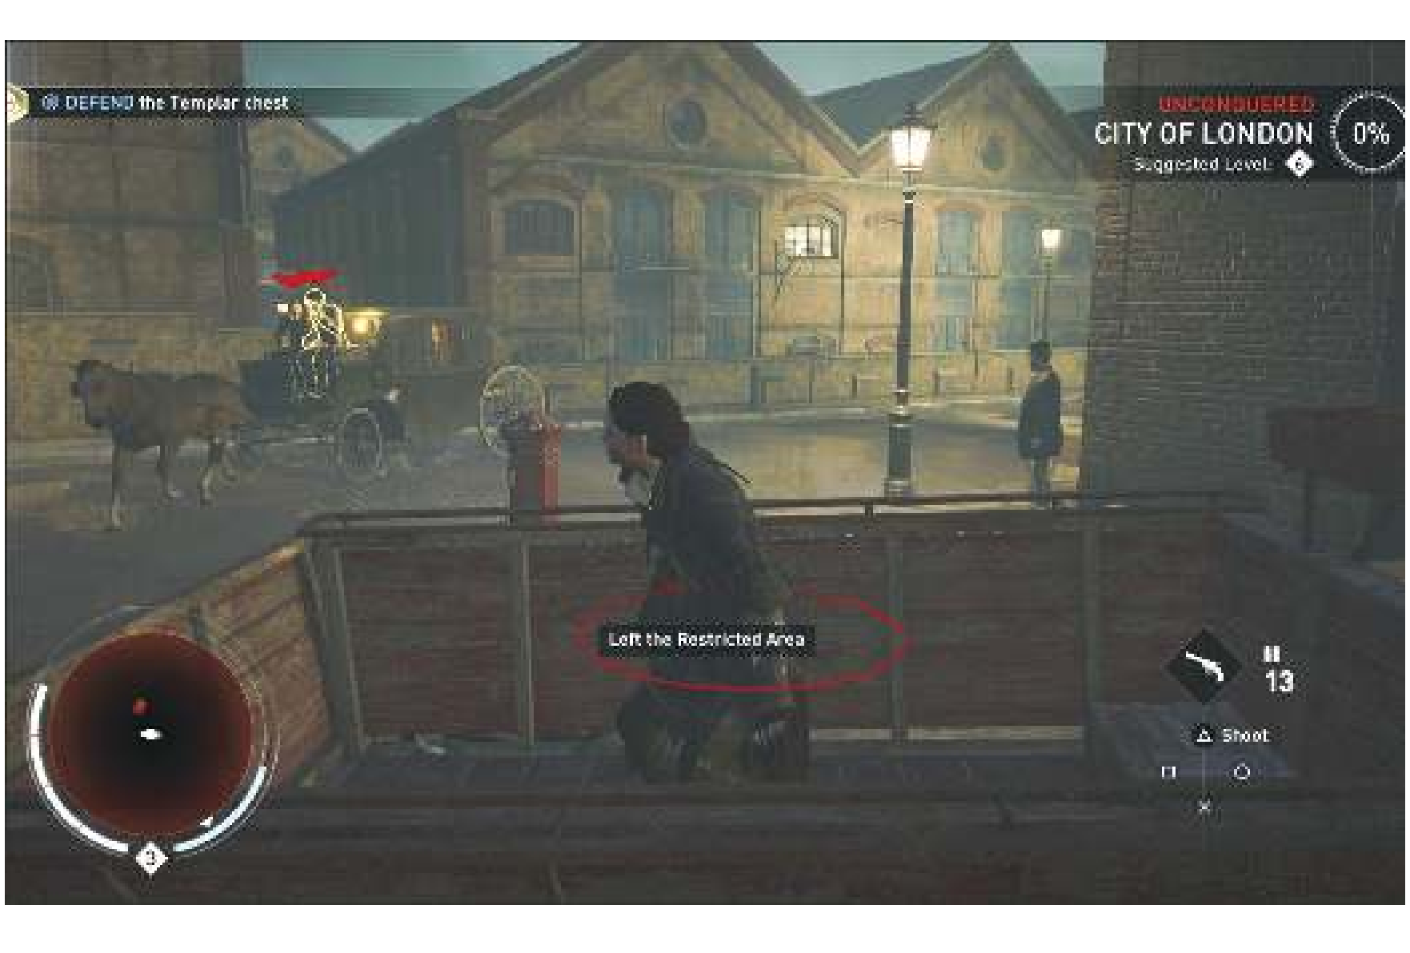


You could enter the cart now and avoid killing the three remaining Blighters (G, H & I) in the alley. If you want to kill them all, get on the rooftop above them and perform a double Air Assassination on the two Soldiers standing at the alley's entrance (H & I). The Brute (G) does not see you as he leans against a wall behind a stack of crates. Take him out from behind the crates by whistling and Cover Assassinating him.



Now enter the cart in the middle of the street and open the crate. Inside the crate is a book. In a cinematic, Lucy Thorne and the Brute come running out of the building witnessing Evie and Jacob stealing her cargo. Jacob takes the reins and Evie remains in the back of the cart to protect the Chest.

Current Objective: Defend the Templar Chest



Your job is to shoot all pursuing Blighters and dispatch any that make it into the cart with you, while being chased by multiple horse-and-carriage pursuers.

Watch the Stealth Ring around your body. It points to the direction of the nearest enemy. As soon as you see an enemy, begin shooting. The trick is to use the Quickshot since aiming the gun and hitting your target is nearly impossible while being thrown around in the back of the speeding carriage. So press the △ / Y button to shoot. You don't even have to aim.

Jacob helps shoot enemies occasionally and he also throws you more ammo when you run out of bullets, so get trigger-happy. Keep an eye out for the prompt above your head to duck bullets. When it appears, mash the button to avoid being shot.

Conquest Activities

Now is a good time to start Conquest Activities to not only clear the Blighters from the territory, but also to earn more Skill Points, Money, and Crafting Items. At this point it is nice to have a larger Knife Pouch and in Gang Upgrades, Rook Training I and Allies in Arms. These come in very handy when you are trying to complete the Challenges the first time you play a Memory.

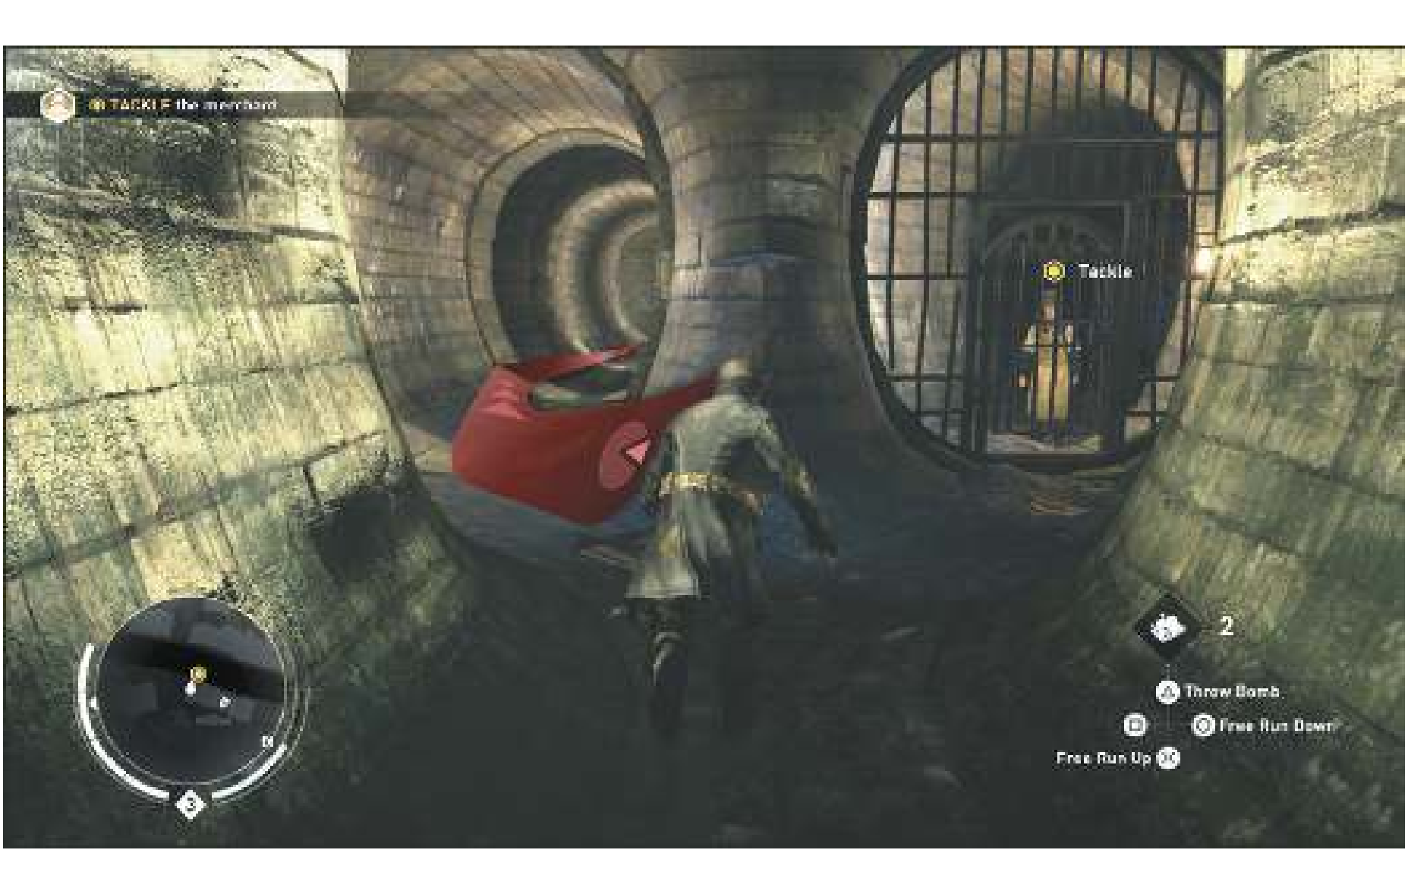
Purchase Smoke Bombs

To complete the Challenge in this Memory it is extremely helpful to have a couple of Smoke Bombs in your pouch before you start. Find a nearby street vendor and purchase Smoke Bombs before starting this Memory.

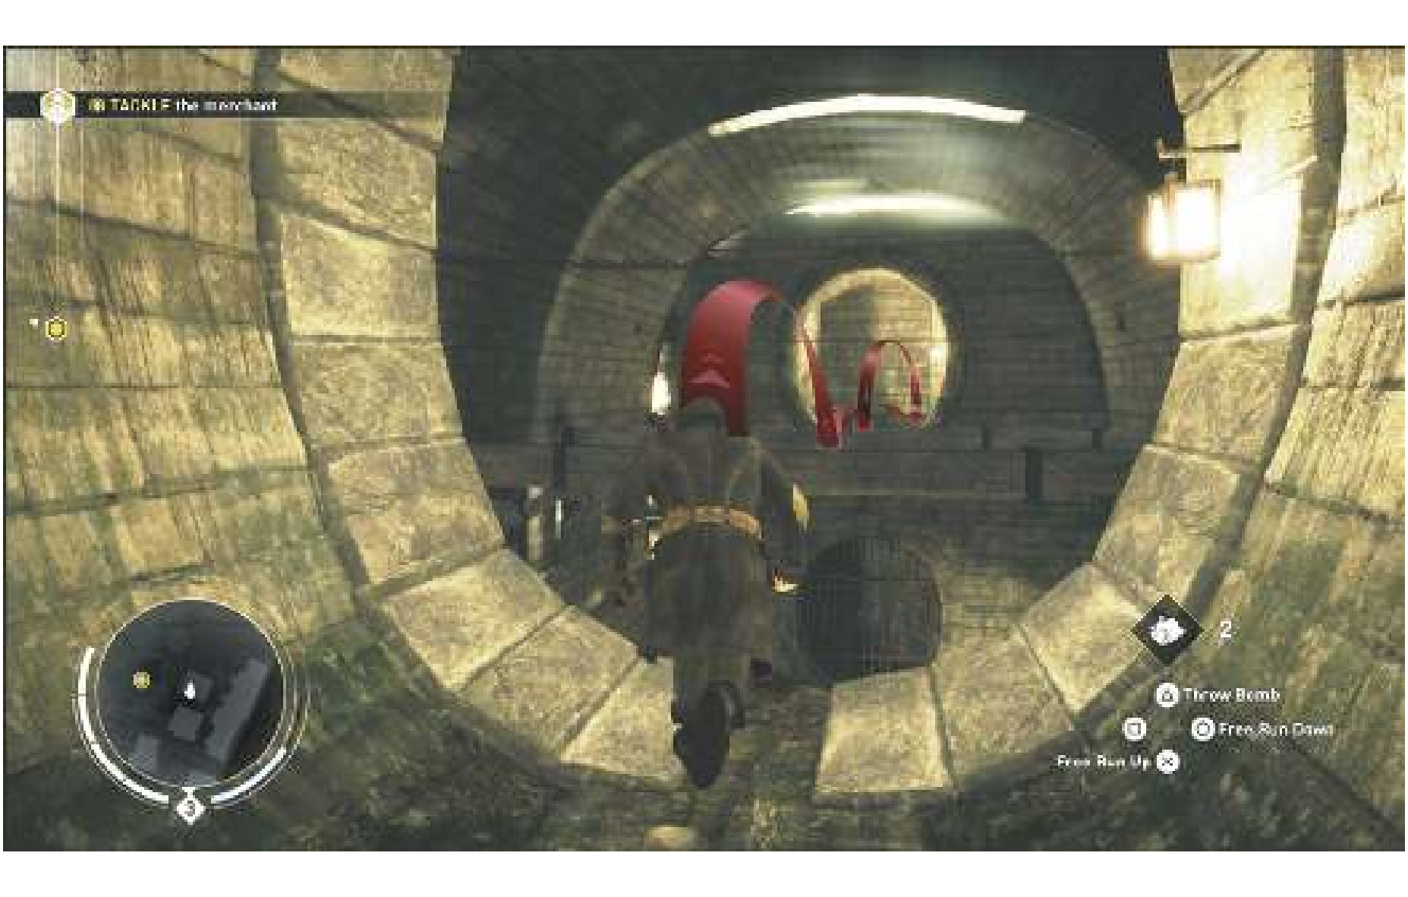
Approach the snake oil merchant on the dock near The Thames in Lambeth by following the man-in-a-hat hexagonal icon (1). This is a mission for Jacob only. He investigates a new drug that is ravaging London and must uncover its creator. At the docks, Jacob intervenes in an altercation between the wife of a syrup customer—who is now zombified—and the merchant that sold him the poison. The merchant pulls a knife and Jacob slaps it away with lightning reflexes. The merchant, quickly realizing he is out of his league takes off running.

The merchant heads north along the shoreline. He's represented as a yellow dot on the Mini-Map. Follow him closely as he sprints past a dock on the right and veers right into a tunnel (2) at the far end of the dock.

A short distance into the tunnel you find the merchant behind a locked gate of impassible bars (3). The tunnel forks to the left here. Run through the open tunnel on the left to try to catch up to the merchant at another junction.



In the left passageway you leap over a junction to the continuing tunnel. Jump over short bars, slide under the next grate, and in the clearing you must leap and grasp onto a suspended chain, and then swing to two beams and another chain to reach the continuing tunnel. Only press the R2 button while doing this so you don't climb to the top of the chains. If you were quick enough, you see the snake oil salesman run through this tunnel just ahead of you. Follow him to the left.



Climb the stairs at the end of the tunnel to reach the park outside (4). The merchant should be just a little ways ahead of you.

Make a beeline for him and tackle him (5) using the ○ / B button.

After the merchant gets to his feet, he spills the beans on the whereabouts of his supplier. He says they make a run each day between the gasometers and the asylum. Bring up the large London Map and set a marker on the green "Locate" blip (7) to the northeast.

Current Objective: Locate the Distributor

Challenge: Steal the plan undetected

Hijack a carriage from the street (6) just outside the park and drive north and take a right at the intersection. Pass under two bridges and slow down just beyond the second bridge (7) and activate Eagle Vision while looking to the houses on the right side of the street. You spot the leader (glowing yellow) amongst a gang of Blighters. Roll up close enough that he begins to move to his carriage in the street but not close enough to be spotted.

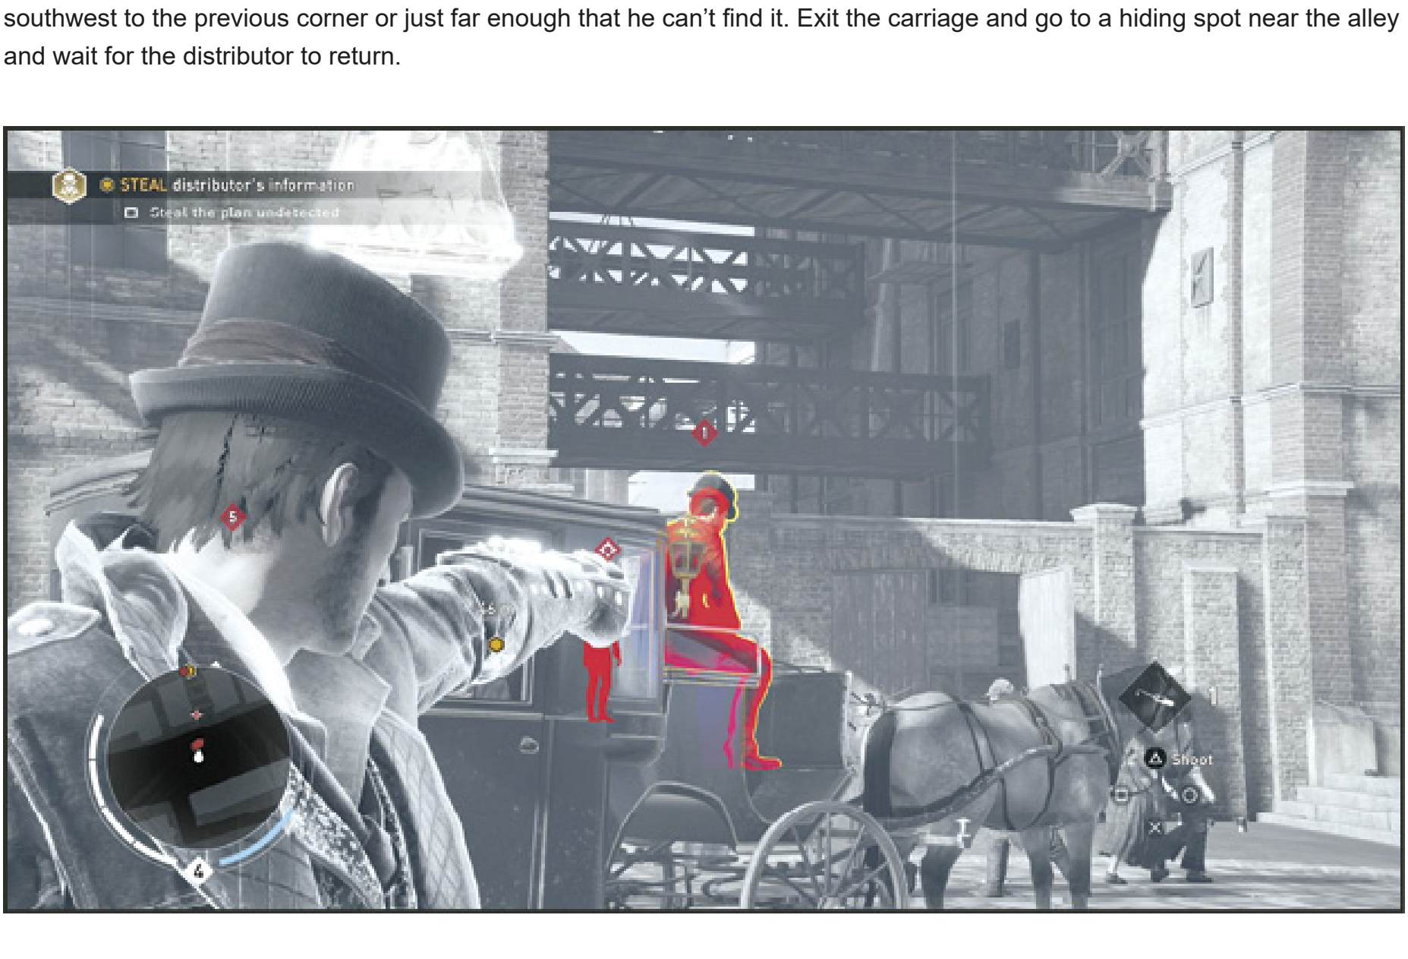
Current Objective: Steal Distributor's Information

Challenge: Steal the plan undetected

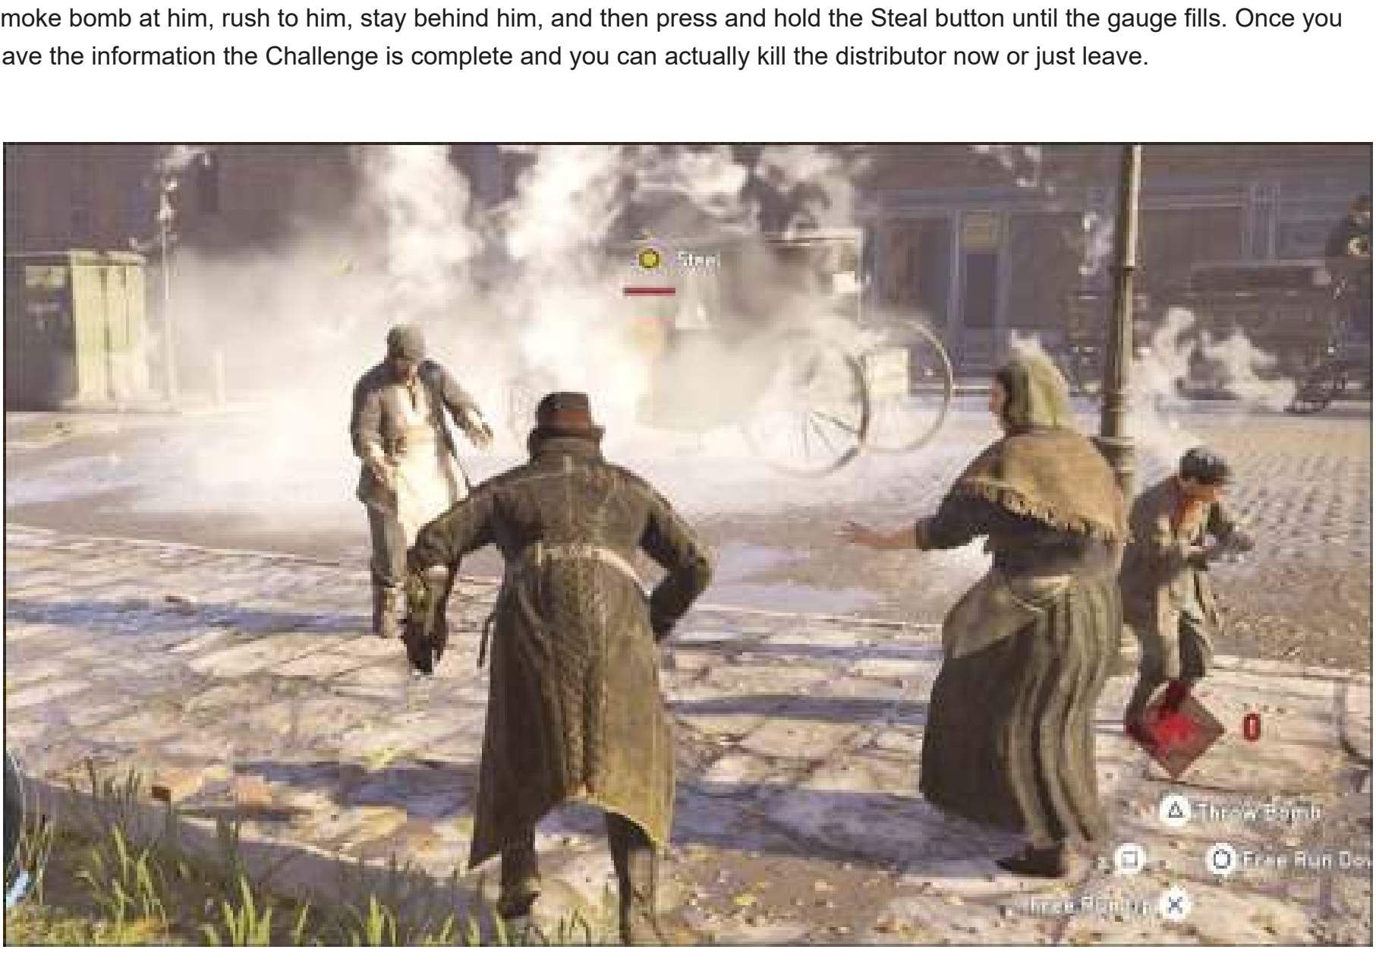
This particular task does not follow the rules of what it normally means to be "detected" in the rest of the game. So to complete this particular Challenge you cannot kill the distributor; you must sneak up behind him and hold the ○ / B while the Steal meter fills to take the info without him knowing. Anonymously killing him without anyone noticing does not count. There is not enough time to do this at the first location (8), so you must wait for him to enter his carriage and head to the second location (9).

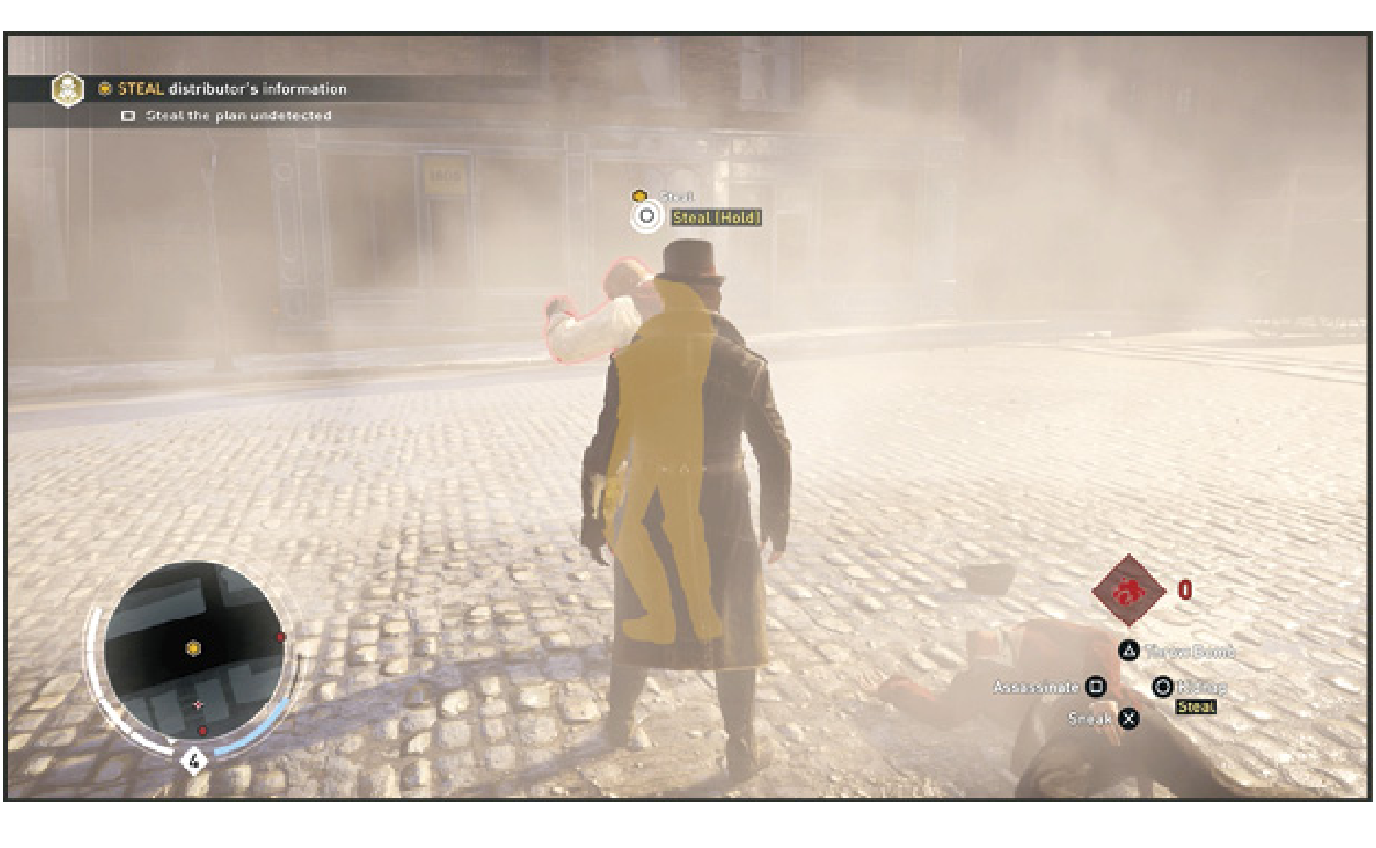
Follow him to the second location and get out of your carriage at a safe distance. The distributor exits the carriage and walks through the alleyway between buildings. A guard at the front entrance follows him. They both stop at the far end of the alley (10) for a few moments.

Instead of trying to kill all the Blighters in the alley and sneaking up behind him when he's alone, it's easier to just sabotage his ride. As soon as he enters the alley, kill his driver (9). Try using a hallucinogenic dart or a throwing knife. Drive his carriage southwest to the previous corner or just far enough that he can't find it. Exit the carriage and go to a hiding spot near the alley and wait for the distributor to return.

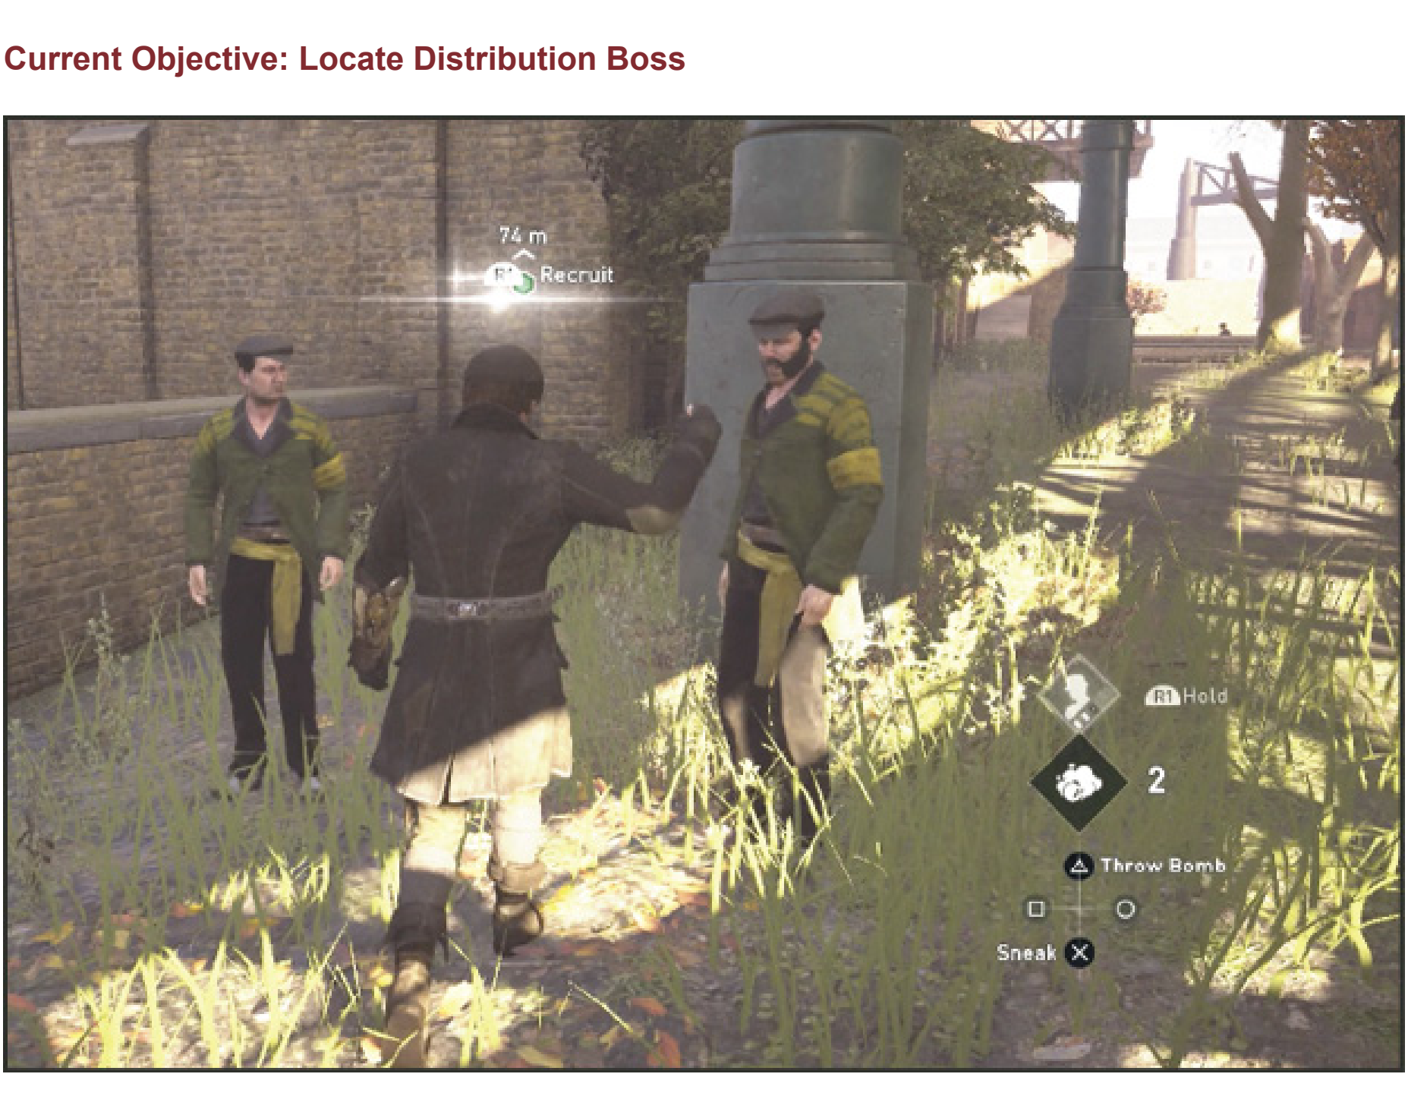


When the distributor returns he finds a dead body (his driver) instead of his carriage. When he inspects the body, throw a smoke bomb at him, rush to him, stay behind him, and then press and hold the Steal button until the gauge fills. Once you have the information the Challenge is complete and you can actually kill the distributor now or just leave.



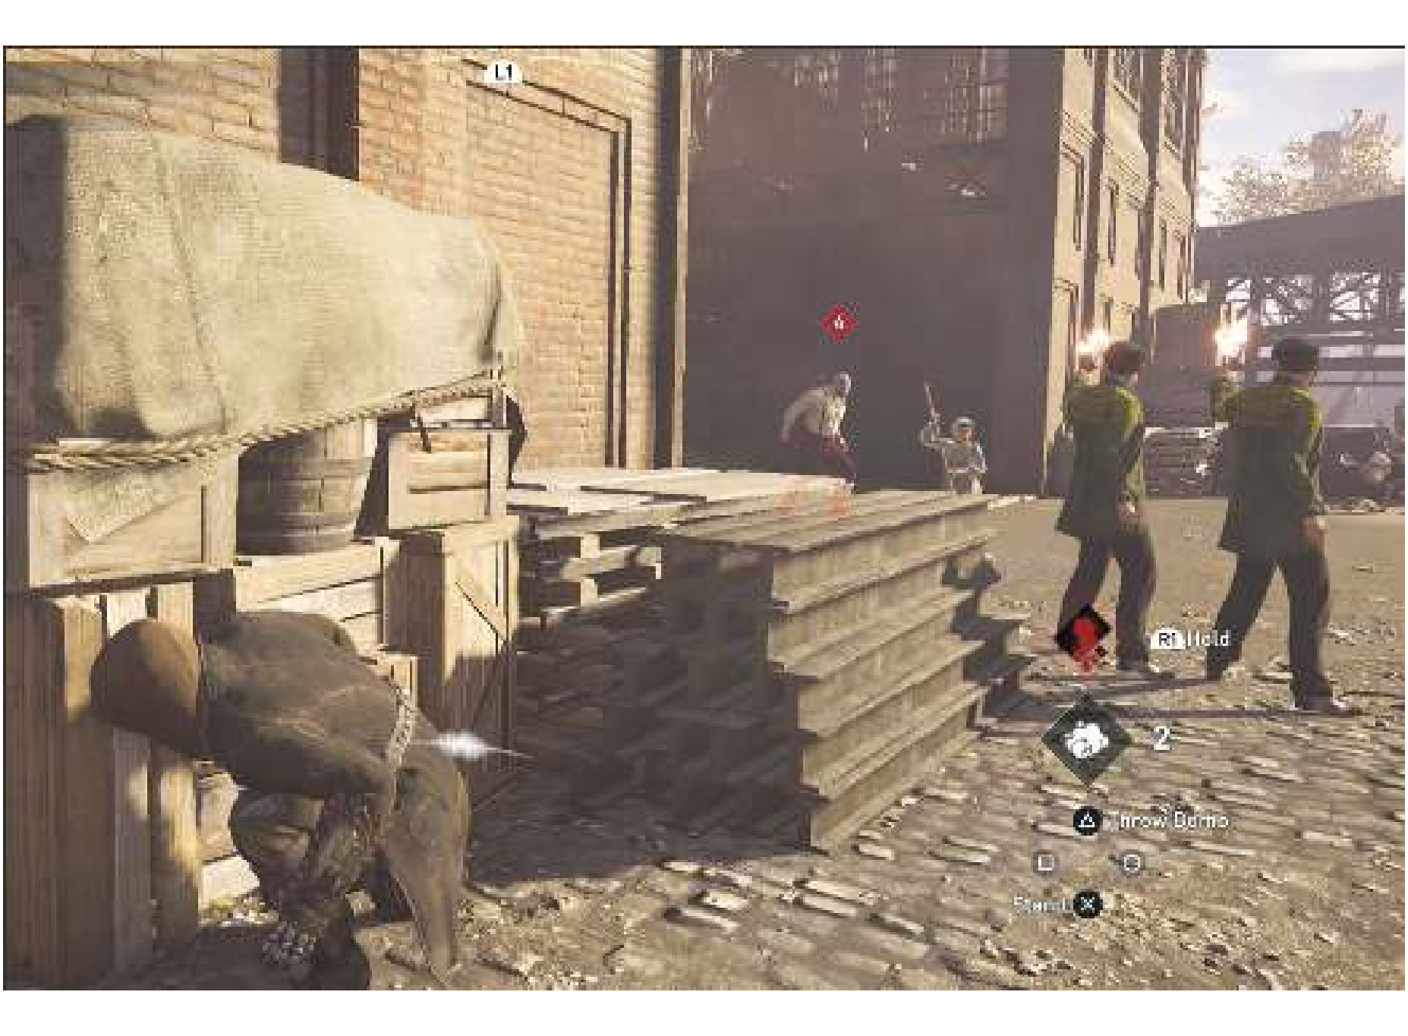


Current Objective: Locate Distribution Boss



You must locate the distribution boss after stealing the information. A green blip appears on the map at a very large fight club (12) to the north. Take a carriage ride to the southwest corner of this building to find a couple of Rooks (11) under the rail bridge. Recruit them. If they have the Allies in Arms upgrade, then they are going to be extremely useful, as they will out-arm any of the Blighters inside the fight club.

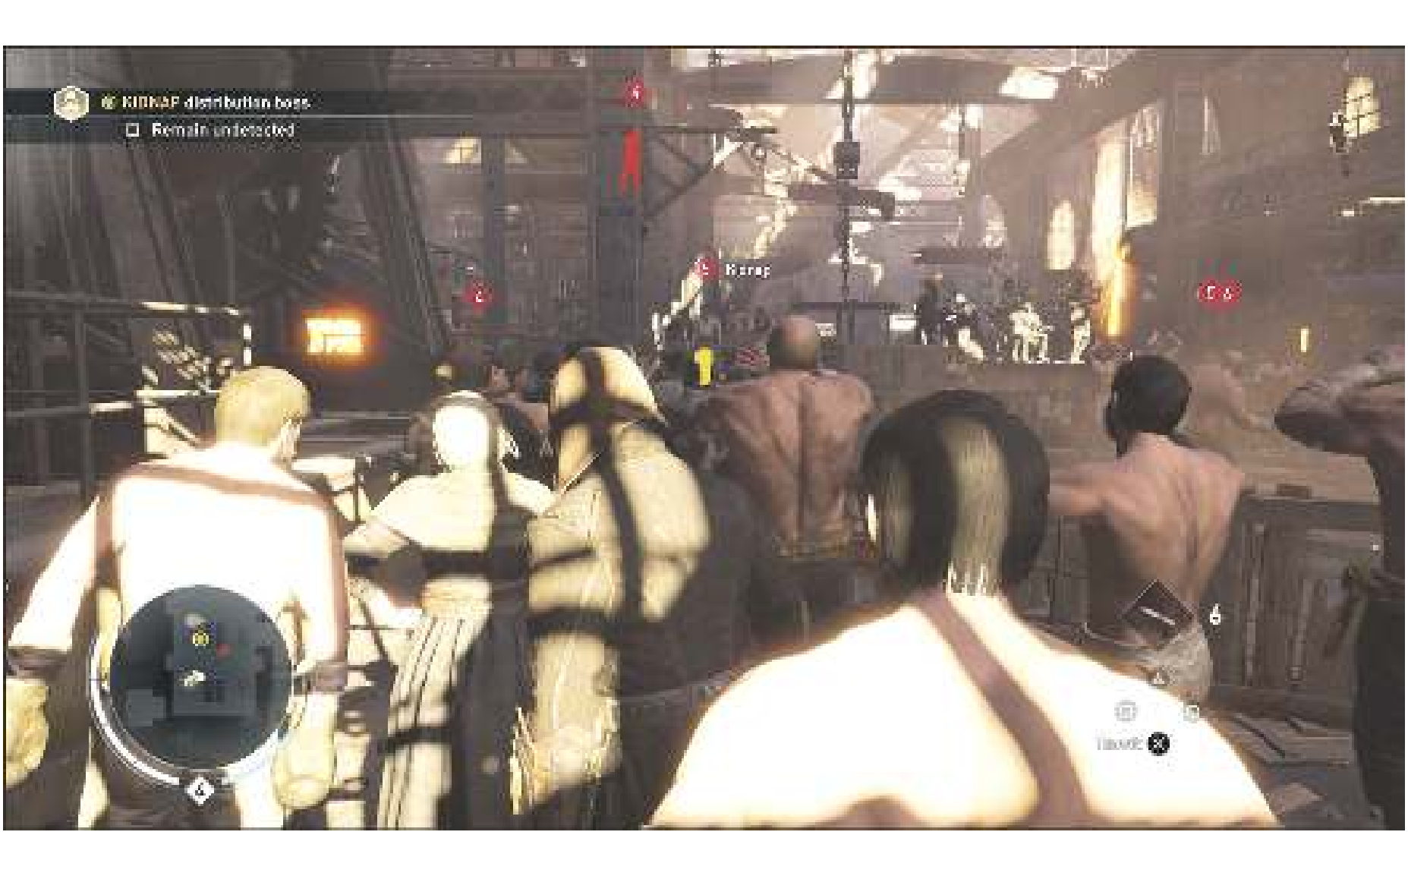
Activate Eagle Vision and approach the west entrance to the fight club. Hide behind the crates and pallets (13) to the left of the entrance. Look at the Brute on patrol around this entryway and acquire the "Fight" icon that tracks around the Brute. Press R1 to command the Rooks to fight the Brute. If they are holding guns (Allies in Arms upgrade) then they immediately open fire on the enemy. Since you physically did not attack the enemy, you remain anonymous.



Current Objective: Kidnap Distribution Boss

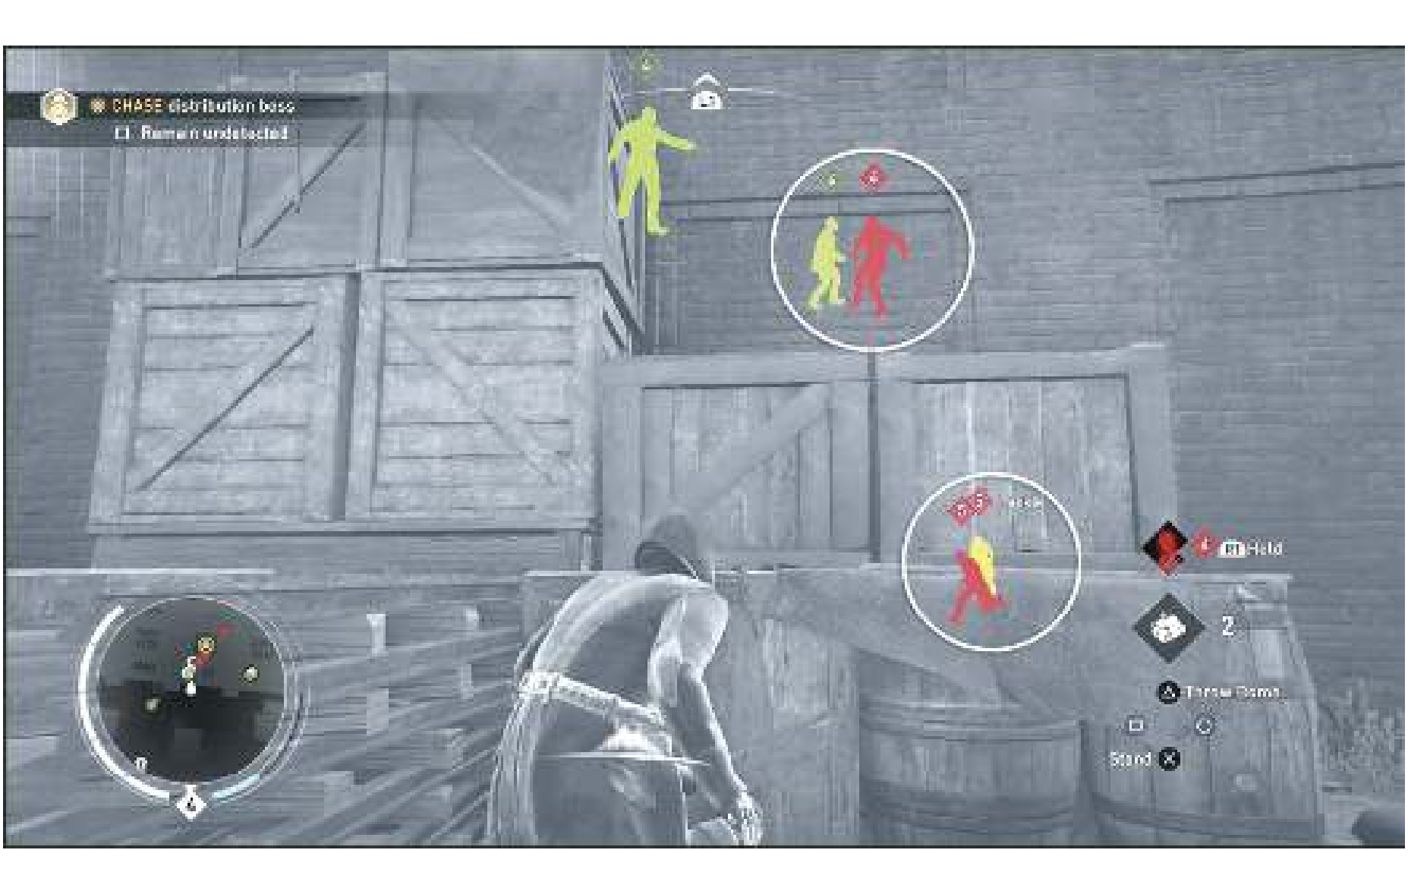
Challenge: Remain Undetected

Continue scanning the inside of the building with Eagle Vision to spot the distribution boss. Now the objective changes. You must kidnap the boss and the Challenge is to do this undetected. There are several ways to go about this. You could infiltrate the building from high entryways and use the rafters like a spider attacking prey one at a time (Air Assassinate and then quickly Rope Launch back to the high rafters to find the next target). Or you could push through the crowd in the upright position to use the crowd as cover and then come up behind the target to kidnap him. This is the most risky strategy; as you may be spotted and fail the Challenge.

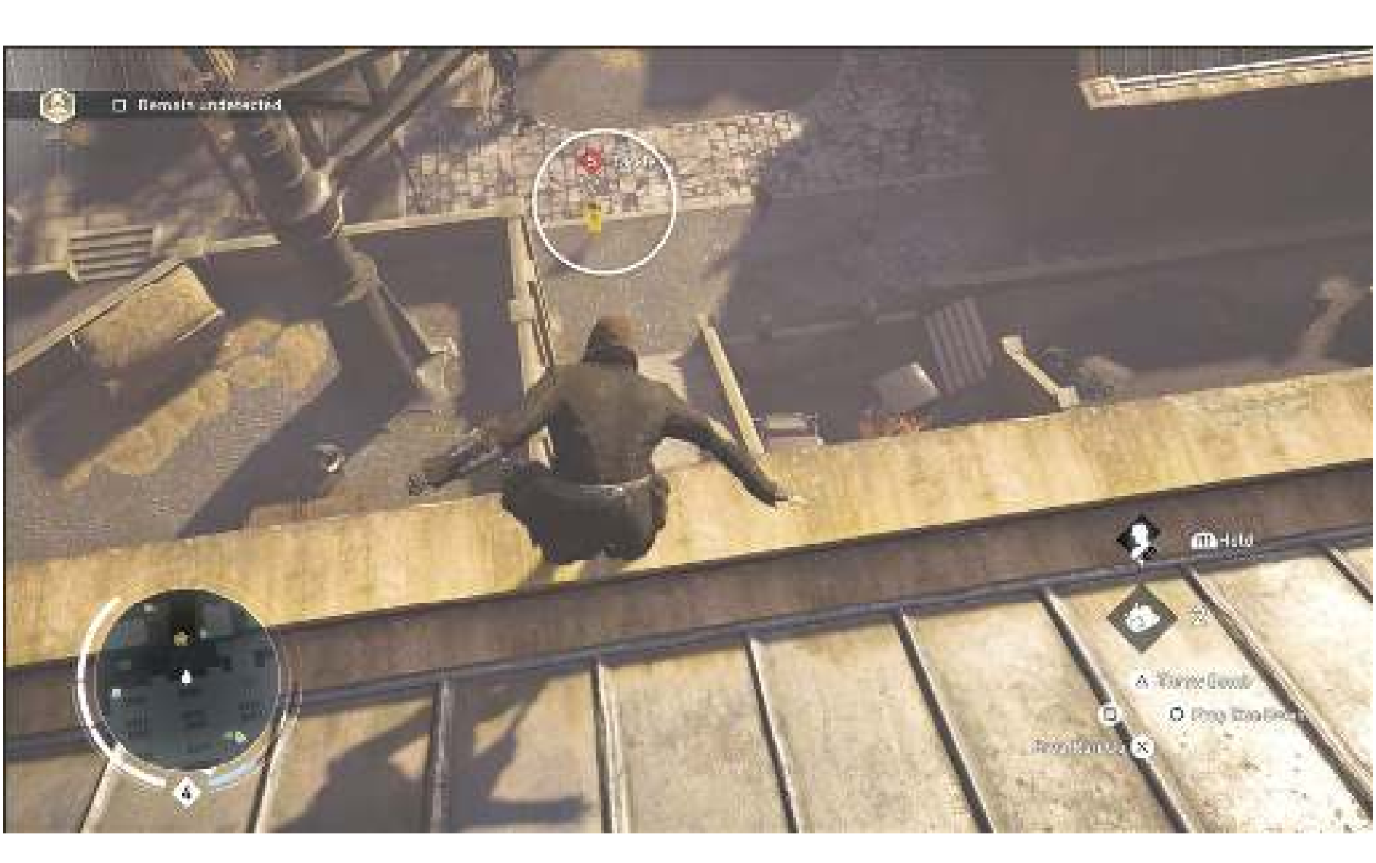


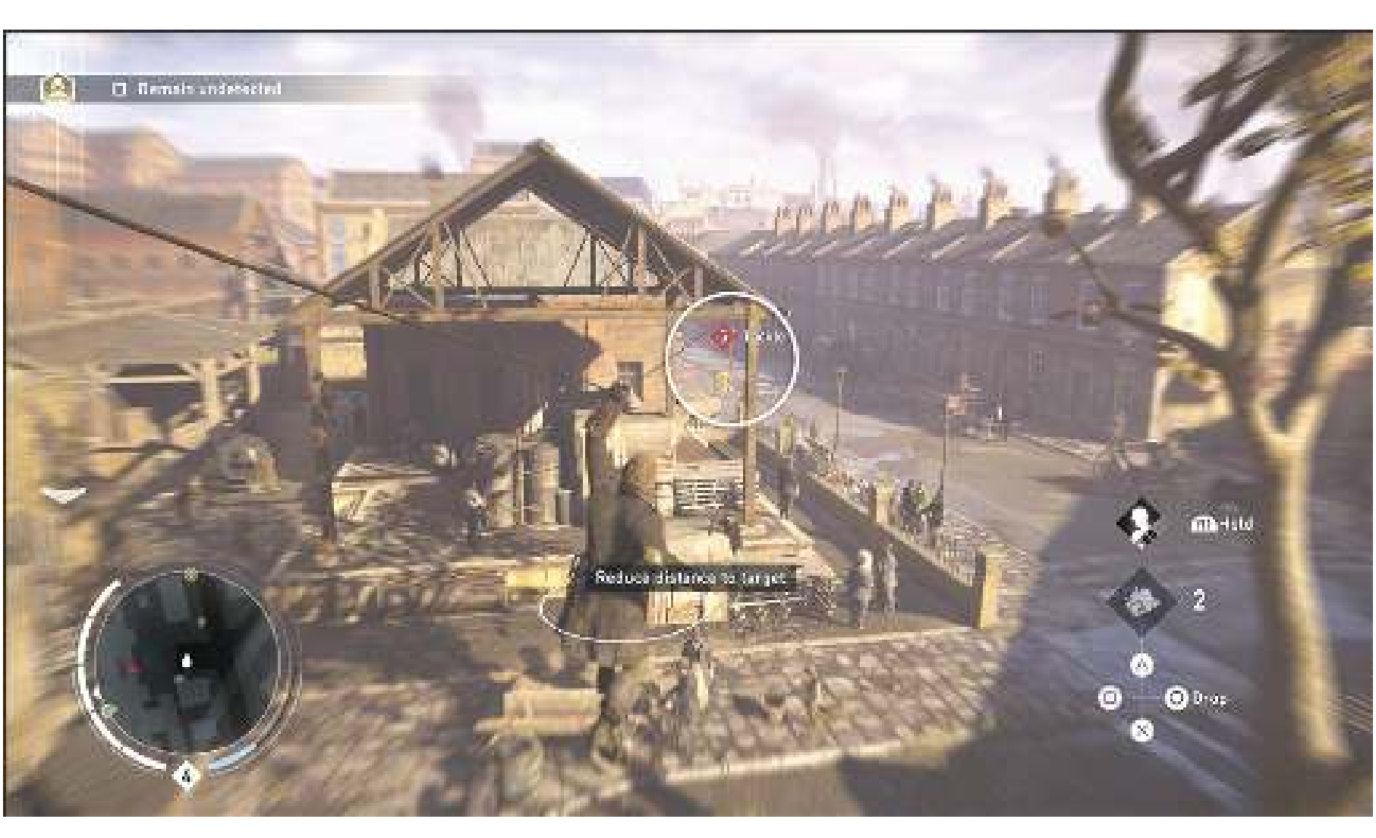
We cover the quickest route to results. Continuing with the Rook strategy, head to the north side of the fight club exterior. Hug the north wall, look into the building, and mark enemies. Send your Rooks after the guard near the lower north entrance (14).

Next, face the wall to see the second level inside. There's a Brute on a catwalk who's one of the more difficult enemies to take out unnoticed from inside. Sic your Rooks on this enemy. This often scares the distribution boss into a full run. Rope Launch to the rooftop of the fight club so you can keep an eye on him.



Watch as the boss runs out of the south exit (15). Use the Rope Launcher to quickly catch up to him. Reduce your distance to him so you do not fail the memory.





The distribution boss does not get too far down the road heading east until he decides he feels safer near the fight club and begins to double back. Leap off a rooftop and kidnap him on the sidewalk (16). Cops often patrol this route so walk him into a nearby alley or gated area to interrogate him.

UNNATURAL SELECTION
Suggested Level: 3

Get to the corner (1) of the rooftop across the street from the Starrick Brewing Company in Southwark to begin this mission. From your perch you spot an old gentleman peeking into the cloudy windows of Starrick's large brick building. He then tries to enter through the large front doors but finds them locked. Before the patrolling Blighters spot him he ducks into a booth beside the doorway.

Activate Eagle Vision from the ledge where you start the memory. Notice the mixture of many level three and level four Blighters below. A group of three Blighters patrol starting from the far right and they pass through the courtyard in front of the main doors to the brewery. One Soldier stands guard at the door facing the street. There are hanging barrels above his head. There's also another group of two Blighters that patrol from the left and approach the guard at the door.

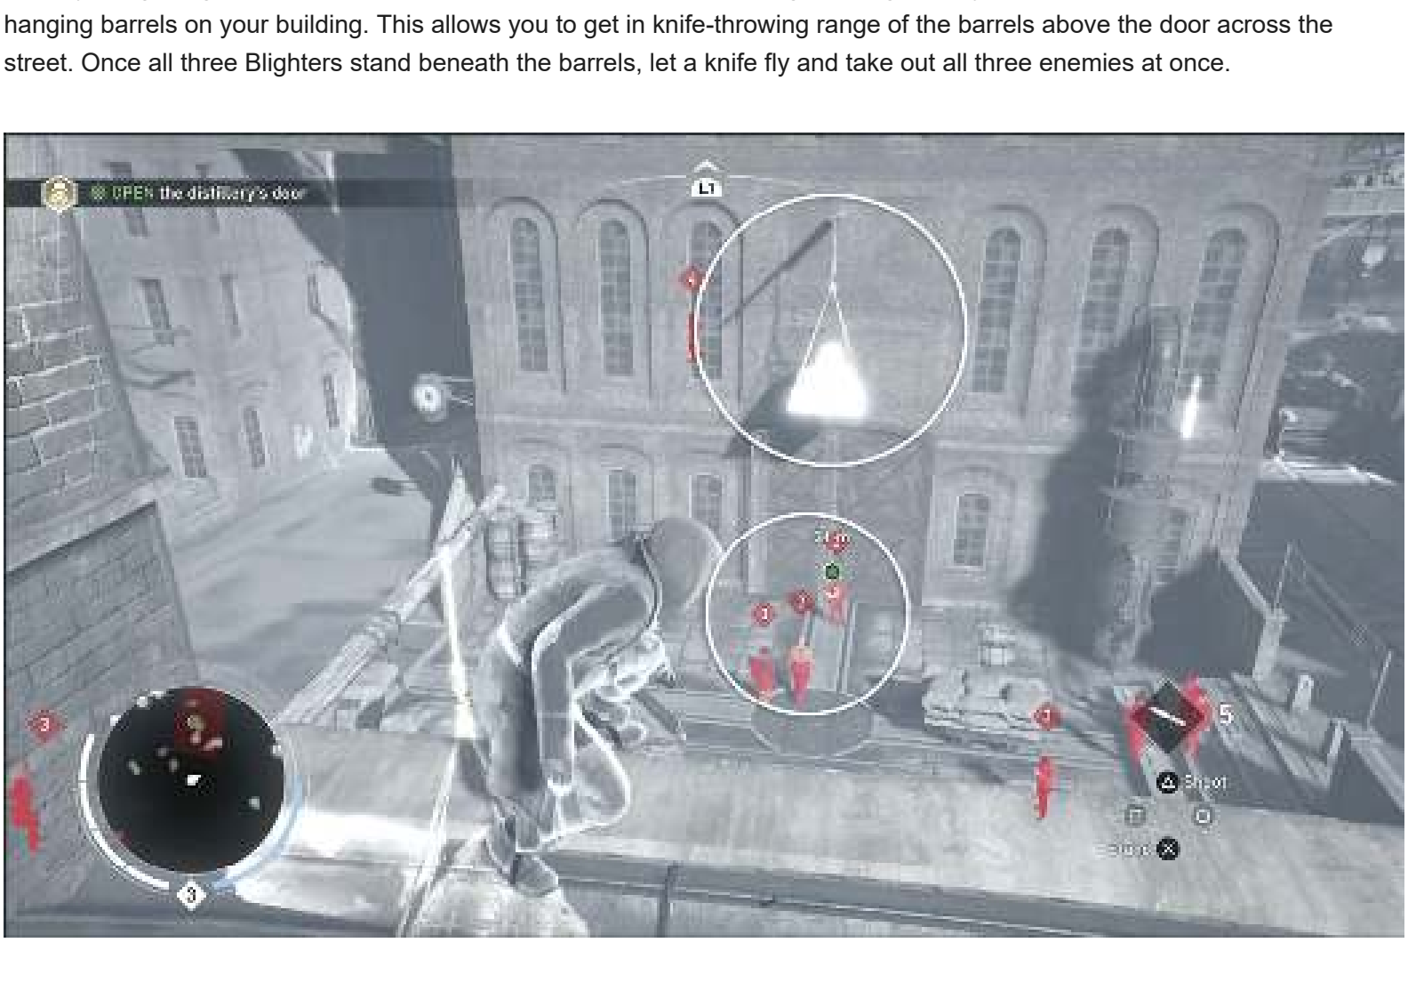
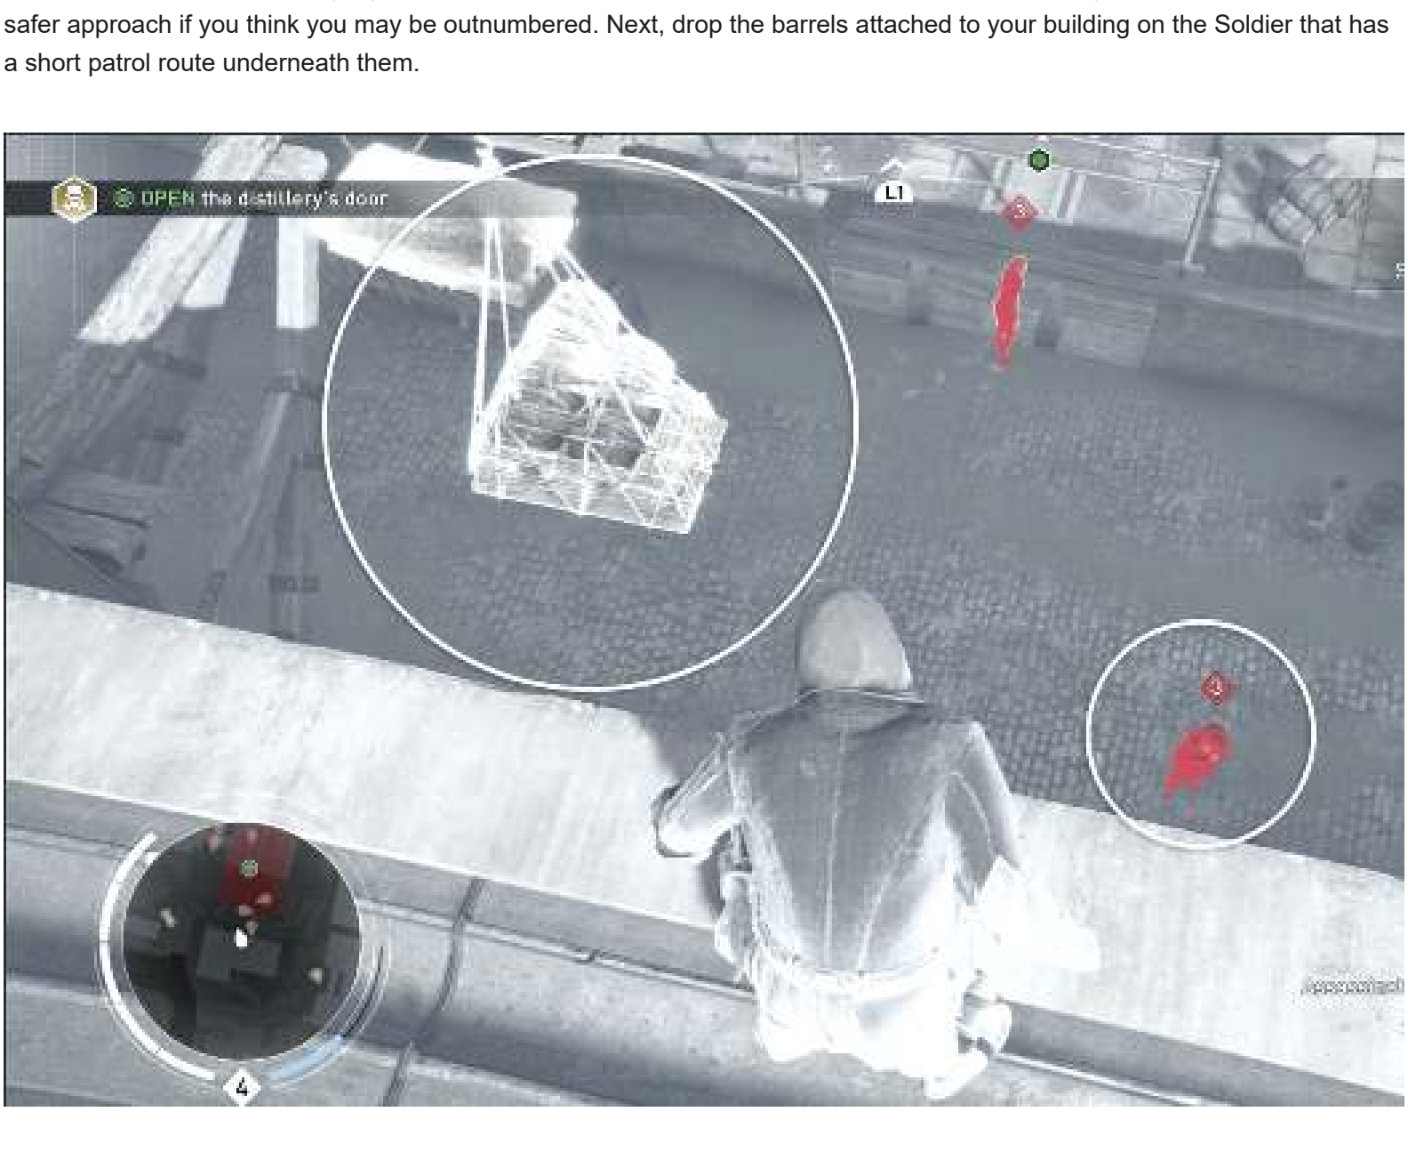
Suggested Level: 5

As they are getting into position underneath the barrels, move left along the ledge until you reach a column that holds some hanging barrels on your building. This allows you to get in knife-throwing range of the barrels above the door across the street. Once all three Blighters stand beneath the barrels, let a knife fly and take out all three enemies at once.



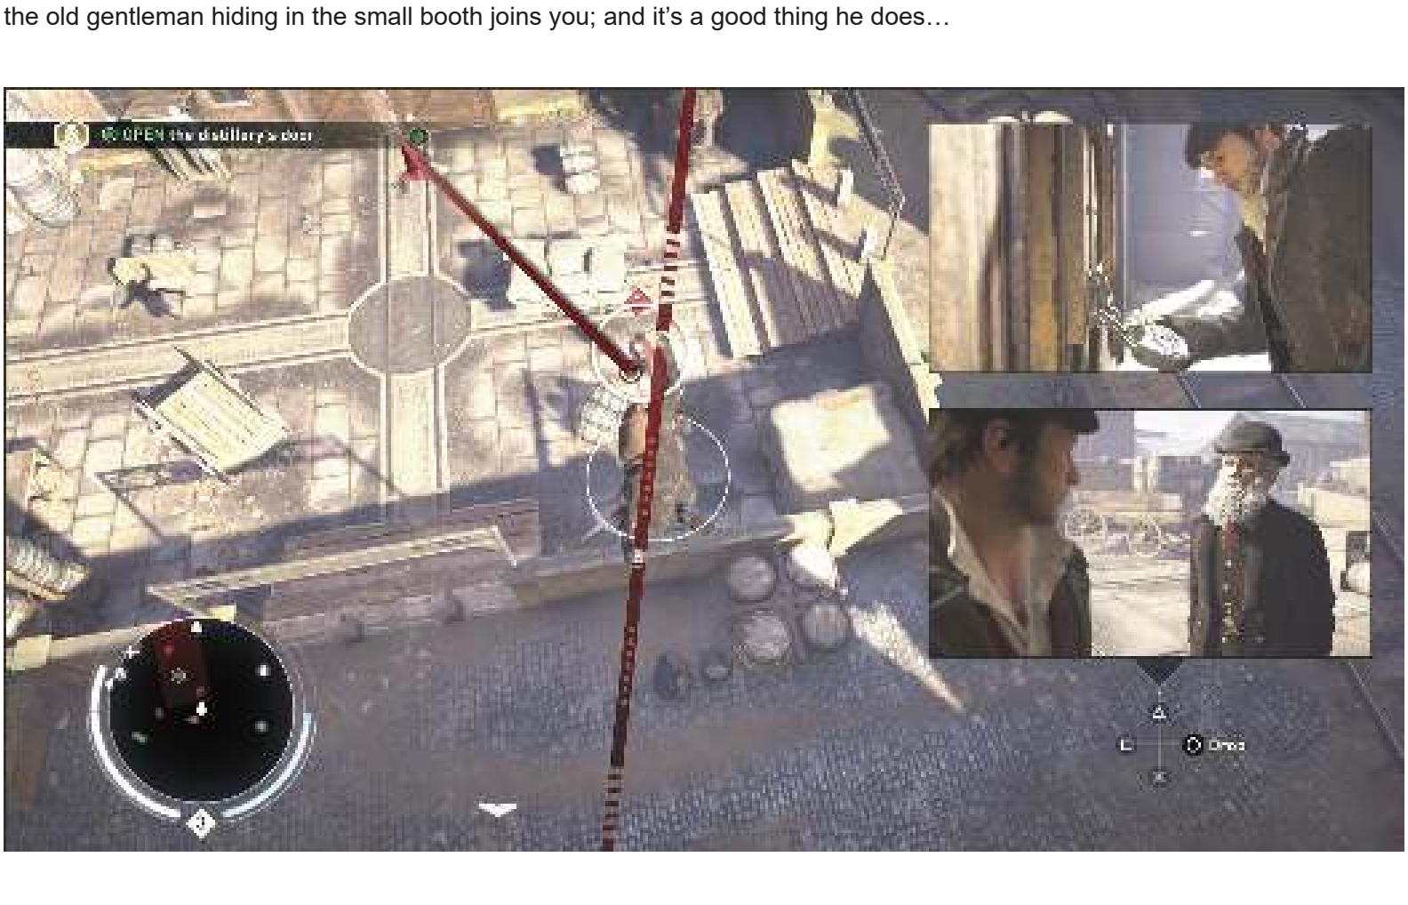
OPEN the distillery's door

You do not need to be stealthy if you do not feel like it. You could rush down there and defeat everyone, but this is a much safer approach if you think you may be outnumbered. Next, drop the barrels attached to your building on the Soldier that has a short patrol route underneath them.



OPEN the distillery's door

You can continue to use the two haystacks below to single out and Cover Assassinate every one of the patrolling guards below or you could just take out the remaining Soldier in the entrance courtyard when no one else is looking. When the patrolling Soldiers are far off, shoot the rope at the brewery so that you pass over the top of the remaining Soldier in the courtyard. Air Assassinate him and then run for the door and press ○ / B to break the lock. In a cinematic, the old gentleman hiding in the small booth joins you; and it's a good thing he does…



OPEN the distillery's door

Current Objective: Follow your ally

Location: Starrick Brewing Company Interior

Once inside, activate Eagle Vision as you follow the old man through the ground floor of the brewery. Notice and mark the many different enemies on the floors above. Follow the man closely. He knows when to move to avoid the Blighter's wandering eyes above.

He stops at a table with plans on it for a bit. Be patient; he'll move again. He discovered Devil's Snare (Opium) is being added into the syrup. That doesn't sound healthy. He finally stops at a large valve on the side of the central boiler. He turns the wheel and sabotages the machine. Poisonous gas issues from the valve area. The man tells you to find a way out quickly and runs for cover in the next room.

Come up behind some unsuspecting enemy and just grab them around the neck and squeeze until they pass out. Not dead. Passed out.

The Knock Out is useful since you must be anonymous to turn the sabotage valves (a lockout feature). There are two valves to turn on the second floor. Others become active after you turn these two. So ascend the stairs near where the old man sabotaged the first valve and sneak up the stairs and hide behind the crates at the top of the stairs. Location: Alexander Graham Bell's Workshop, Lambeth

Follow the B icon on the map (1) in Lambeth to talk to Alexander Graham Bell who is in his workshop working on a new tool to aid your cause. He intercepts a wire containing the recipe for a powerful hallucinogenic serum. Bell designs it into a dart mechanism that can be attached to your gauntlets. He hints that it adopts the form of a gas when introduced to heat.

Current Objective: Locate the Missing Crew

Hallucinogenic Darts

Hallucinogenic Darts can be fired at enemies to cause them to attack their allies. A person shot with the serum does not survive. They are either killed by allies or eventually die from the effects of the serum. You currently can only hold two darts at a time, but this can be increased through upgrades. More darts are usually found in Chests, looted bodies, or can be purchased from shops.

Hallucinogenic Darts in Fire

To satisfy the Challenge you are going to have to get creative because you cannot find nine enemies already standing next to fire barrels. So you must lure Blighters to the fire barrels. Select the Hallucinogenic Darts and take aim at the fire barrel. Notice how a white area of effect ring surrounds the barrel. This represents the effective range of the gas once you shoot a dart at the fire barrel. Currently only the Soldier (C) is in that area of effect. So go ahead and shoot the barrel to release the gas cloud that affects the Soldier (C).

Stay in position and watch what transpires. The affected Soldier goes nutty and the Brute (D) approaches and starts attacking him. The moment the Brute enters the blast zone, hit the barrel again with another dart. You would have used the same amount of darts if you had just shot the two enemies.

In this scenario you could have just darted both Blighters and gotten the same results, but that would not count toward the Challenge. Next, the four enemies in the area fight to the death. Usually none of them survive, as the dart eventually kills the affected victim. In this location, many area Blighters come to investigate the commotion. None of them reach the range of the fire barrel so just hide on the other side of the roof until they return to their normal positions in distant areas.

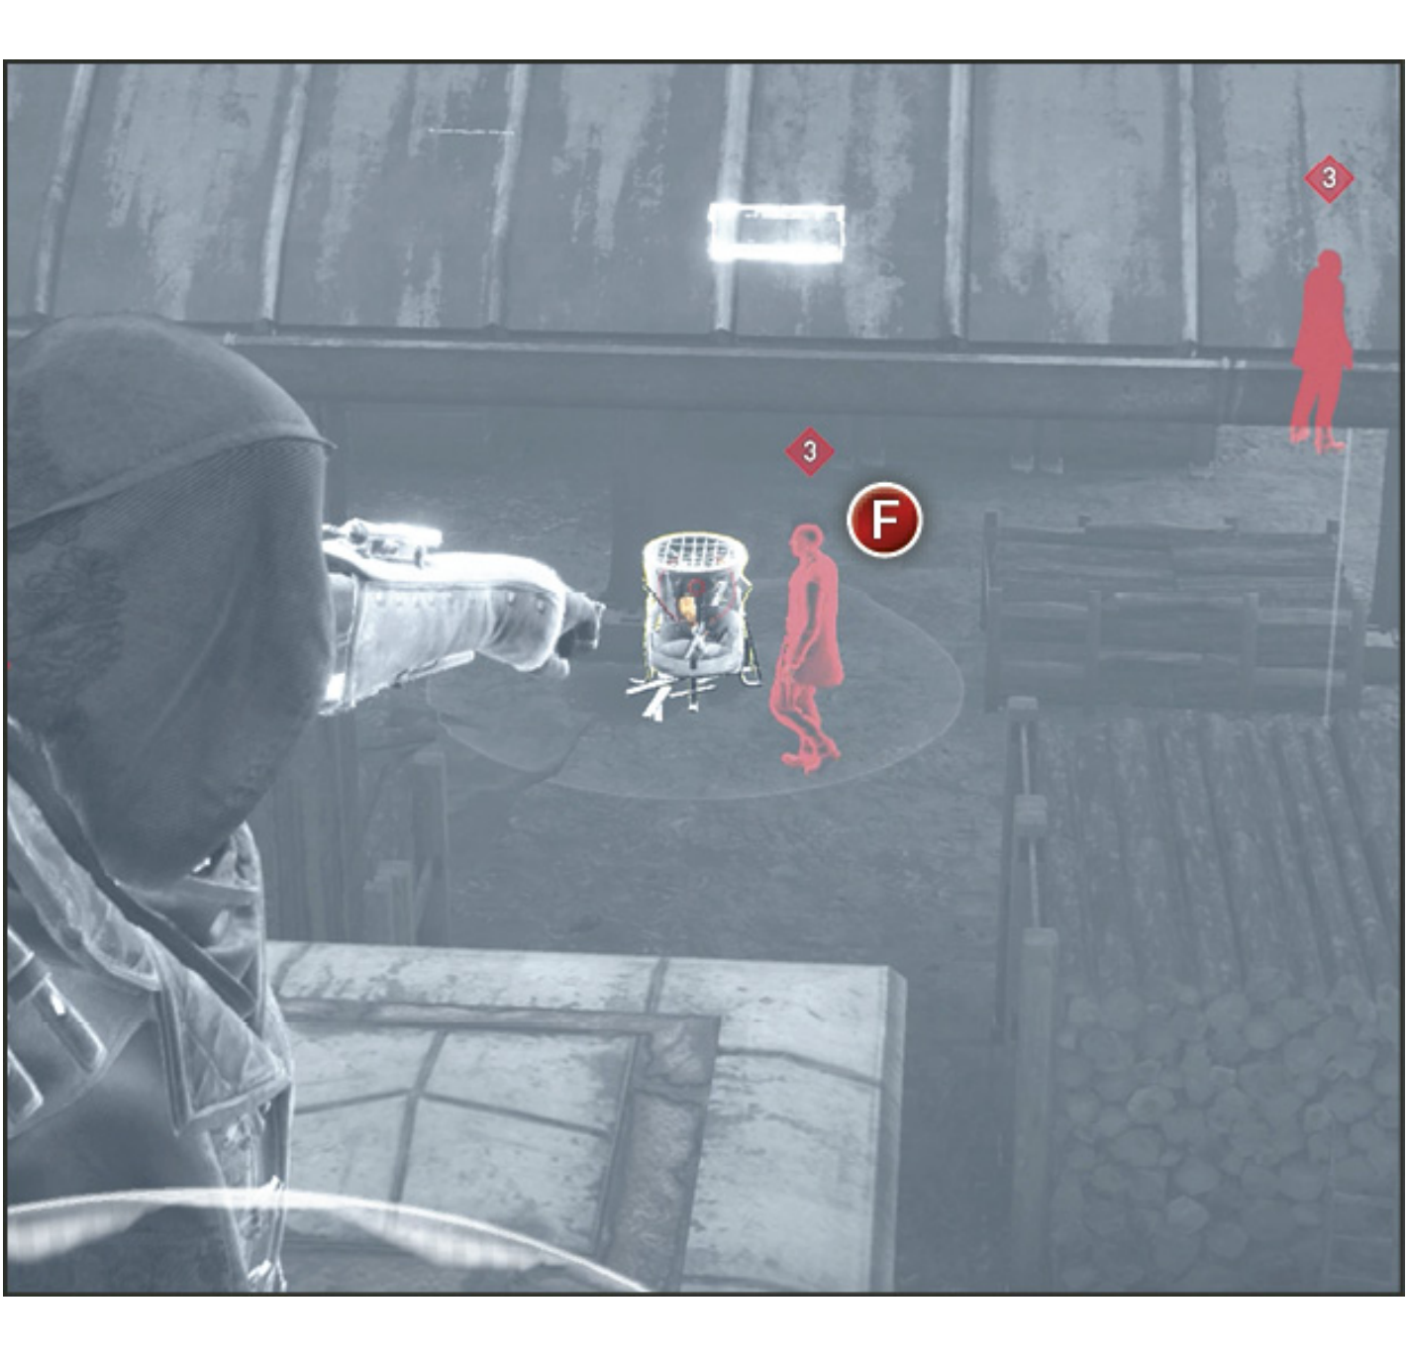
One Soldier (F) has a patrol route that puts him in range of the fire barrel sitting in the middle of the sheltered area. Have your darts ready, aim at the barrel to see the blast range and wait for the patrolling Soldier to enter it. When he does, shoot the barrel.



The Soldier goes nuts and the three Blighters nearby all descend on him at once and begin attacking him. As soon as one of the unaffected enemies enters the barrel gas radius, shoot the fire barrel with a dart again. You will probably only get two barrel kills here, but that leaves you with only five more to go. Easily finish off the lone survivor with a knife to the head.

Enter the carriage (1) and allow Henry to get on before you take off. Follow the route marker to the green blip (2) in northern London a few city blocks away. Speed and drift in every corner opportunity to execute a few more London Drifts (Perk). Walk into the green zone indicated on the Mini-Map around the large mansion (2). Current Objective: Find Kenway's Secret

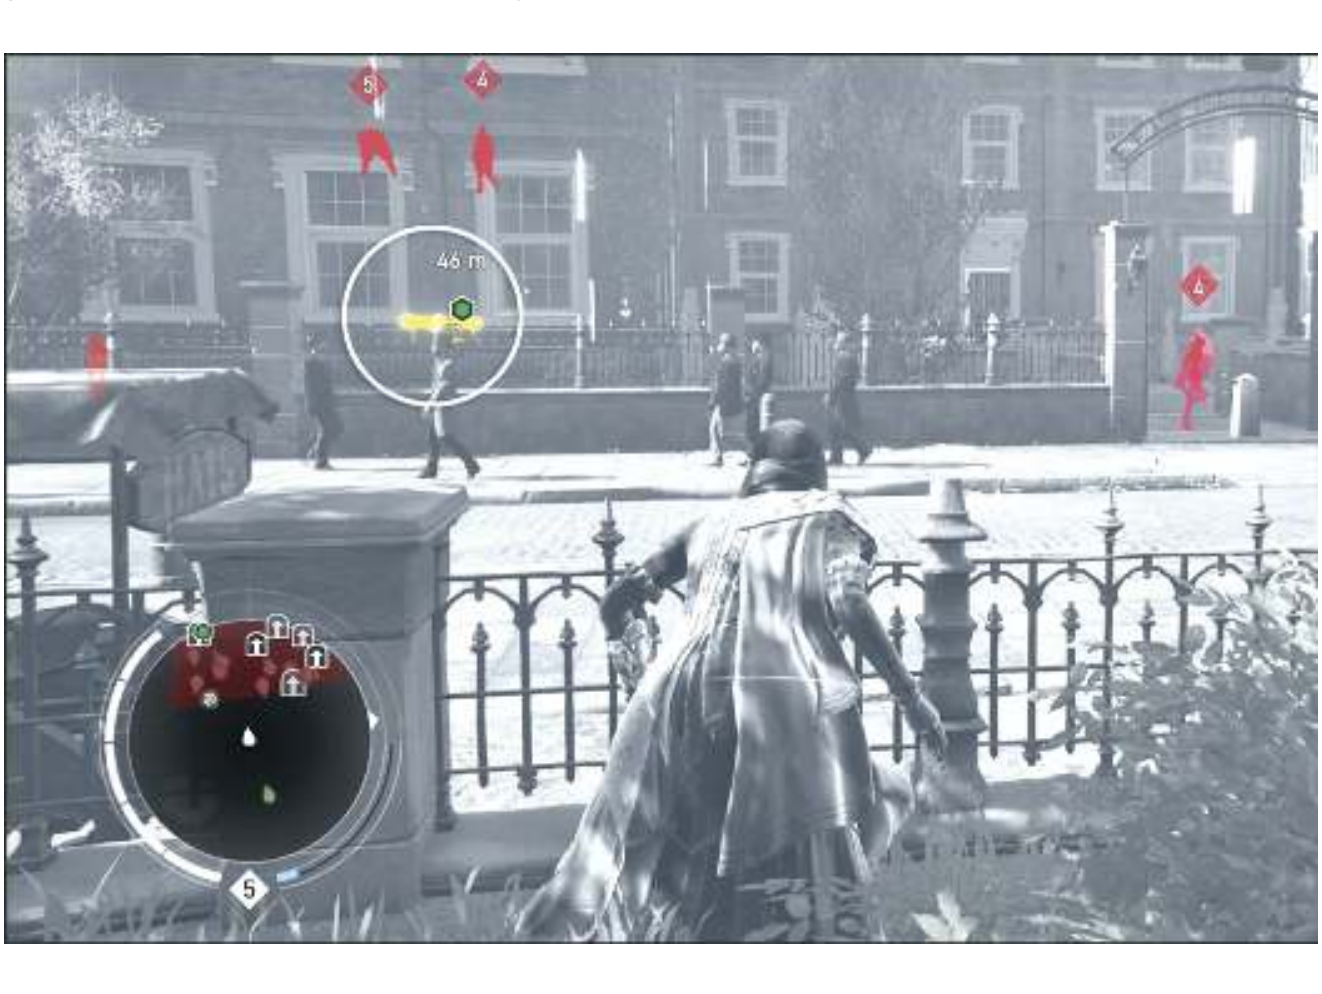
Location: Kenway's Manor, City Of London

Approach the manor with Eagle Vision activated to spot and mark the level four and five enemies around and inside. You also can spot the secret inside the southeast section of the mansion. The first objective is met when you spot the yellow glowing grand piano on the first floor. This updates the objective: Examine the room for clues.

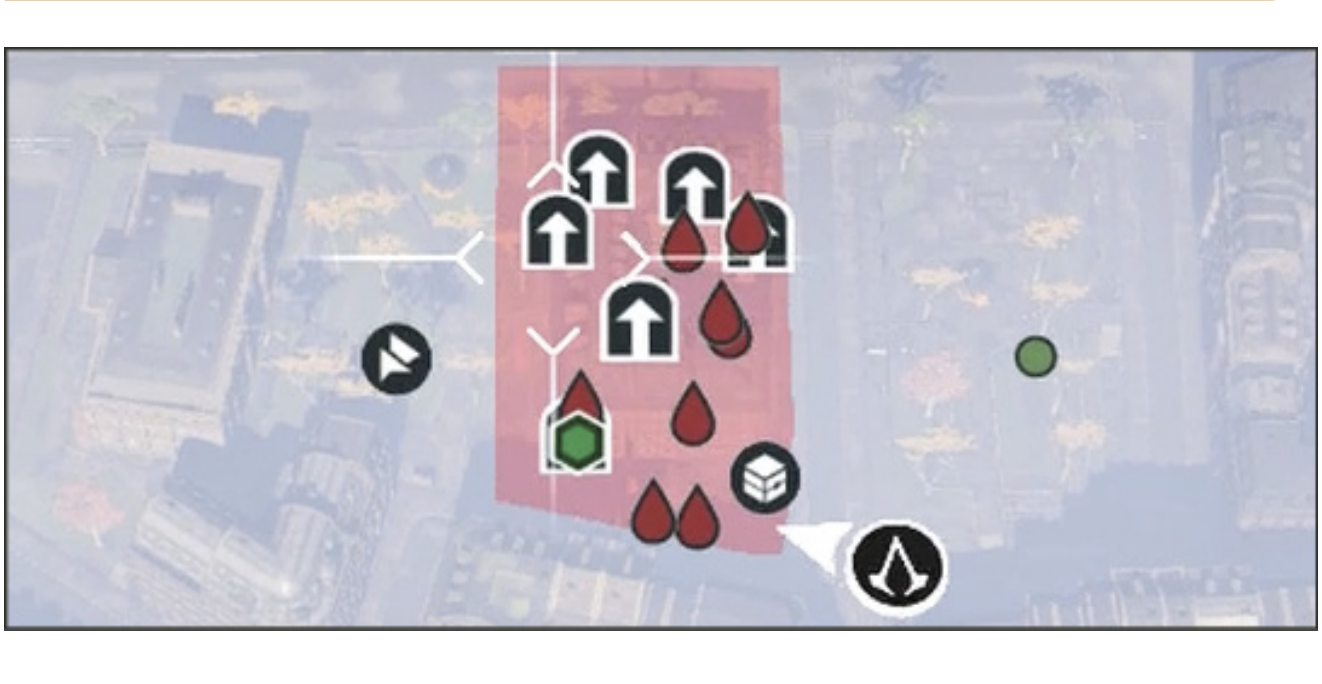


Current Objective: Examine the room for clues

Challenge: Discover all 7 of Kenway's memorabilia collection

Complete the Challenge before Entering the Piano Room

When you enter the piano room the Challenge opportunity ends. You must physically unlock the door (the piano is highlighted yellow while in Eagle Vision) so you can't accidentally enter. If you haven't found all seven memorabilia before entering, you fail the Challenge.



Look at the mansion on the World Map and you discover that there are six Entry Points into the mansion, the majority of them along the northern half of the building.

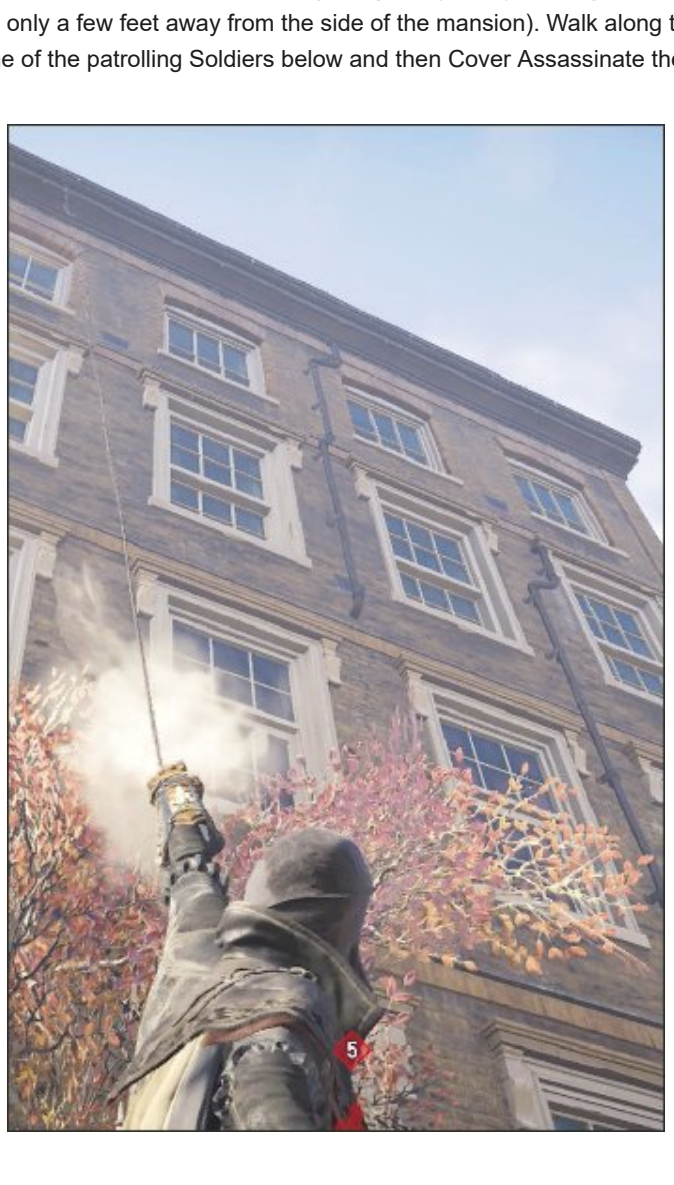
You can easily get to the rooftop of the house without entering the gated yard by walking up to the gates on the southeast side of the building (the gate is only a few feet away from the side of the mansion). Walk along the southern edge of the rooftop and Air Assassinate one of the patrolling Soldiers below and then Cover Assassinate the second.



Remain on the south side of the mansion exterior and look up to the last row of windows on the southwest corner of the building. You find an open window (Entry Point) on the second story. Enter this window to breach the interior.

Piano Room Puzzle

Challenge: Discover all 7 of Kenway's memorabilia collection

Once you have discovered all seven clues, head into the south hallway on the first floor, unlock the locked door and enter the piano room. You meet up with Henry inside. Search for more clues before you examine the grand piano. Using Eagle Vision, examine the writing on the wall above the fireplace. Music notes appear on a staff, they are: D, A, D, E, F, D.

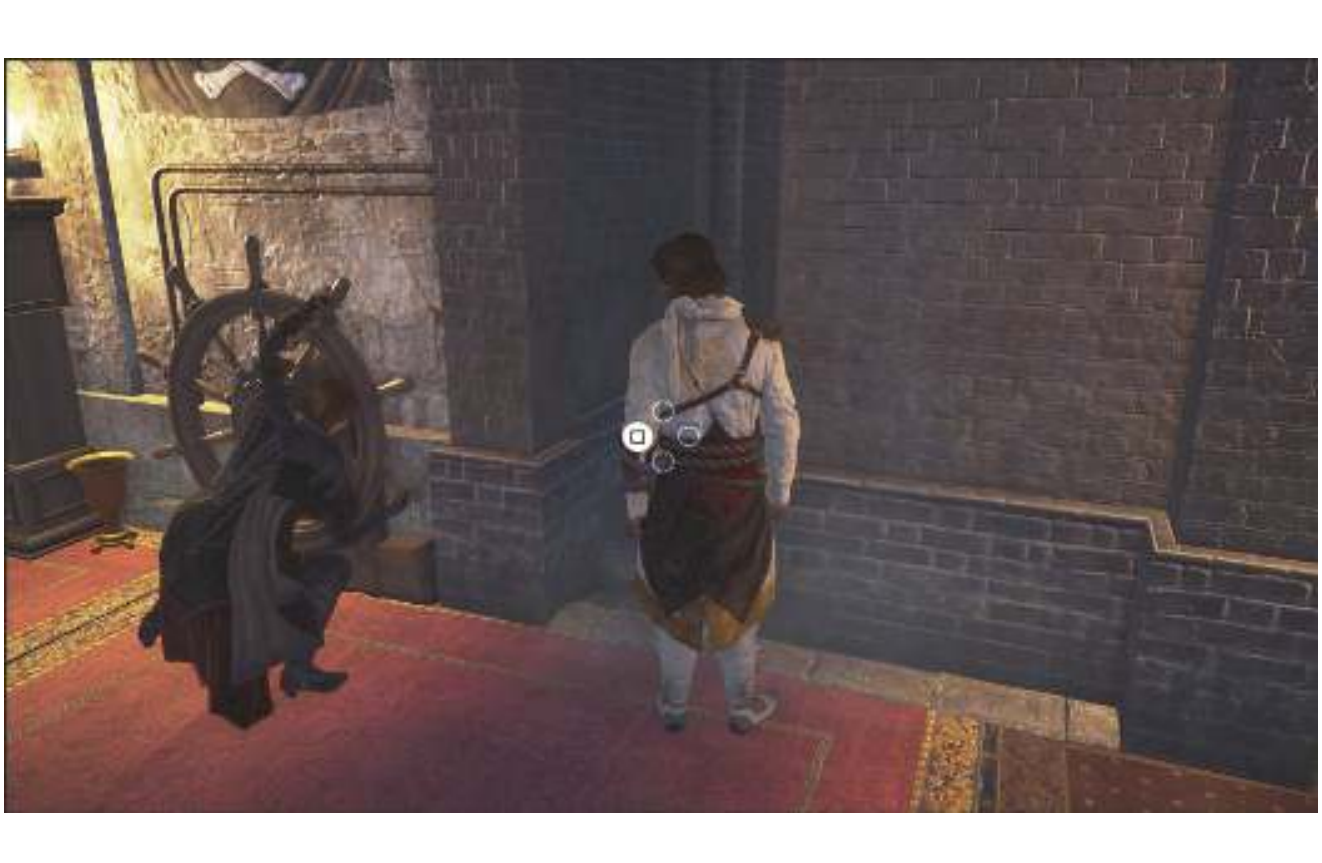
Evie picks up a piece of paper with some writing on it. Just as they find what they were looking for, Lucy Thorne is heard on the floor above in the music room. She quickly notices the opening in the floor. Henry rushes to the lever in the cellar to close the floor from below.

Current Objective: Open the secret hatch

To escape the cellar, move to the left (east) side of the room and examine the ship wheel. A □ / ✕ button prompt appears on screen. Quickly mash this button to turn the wheel, which opens a hidden passageway in the same wall.



Current Objective: Escape the Kenway Mansion

REACH the Vantage Point

In the same cinematic you see a scene concerning the first Challenge: a couple of orderlies preparing to perform electroconvulsive therapy on a patient.

Lastly you see a nurse being fired and her key being taken away. This is your infiltration opportunity.

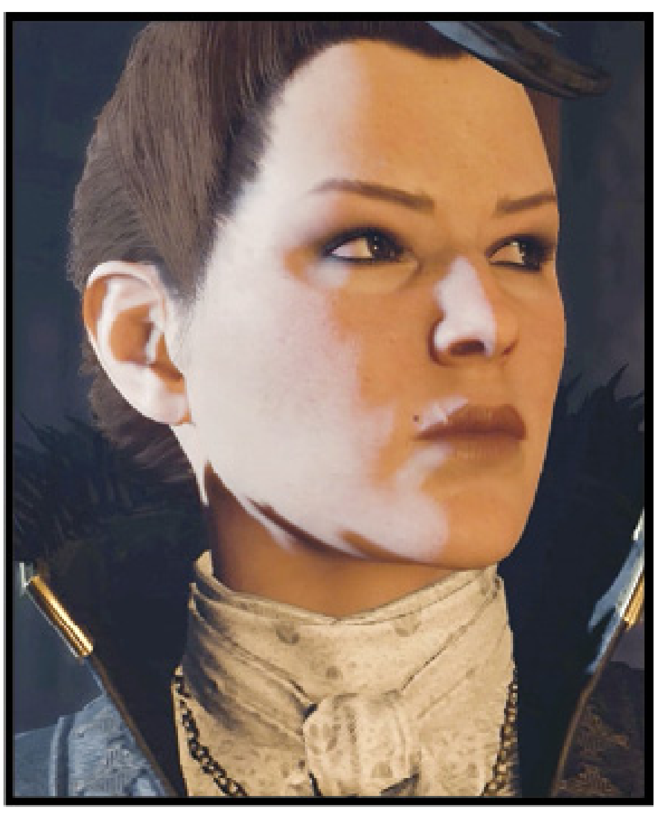
The Perils Of Business

Location: Crawford Starrick's Office



Crawford Starrick sits in his luxurious office while Philip Twopenny reads the morning headline aloud, "Ellitson Expired And Simple Syrup Production Has Ceased."

Starrick calmly drinks his tea and explains that everyone in London is indebted to him for their livelihood. He thinks of Jacob Frye as an insignificant blemish who calls himself an assassin.

Starrick remains calm and pretends not to be distracted by these events when Lucy Thorne enters the office. Lucy says she is reaching the end of her research and Jacob will not be a problem much longer, and that his sister shall be gutted soon enough.

Inside the assassins' safehouse in London, Rebecca tends to Shaun's wounds from their last encounter with the Templars. Bishop is communicating with them through a drone sitting on a nearby table. Shaun reports that Berg's presence confirms that The Piece of Eden is in London. Bishop reports that the initiate's data synch suggests this artifact is actually the Shroud. Shaun's concerns are that he and Rebecca cannot go up against Sigma Team alone. Bishop orders them to keep a low profile while the initiate continues to synch the data.

In this Sequence, Jacob looks to loosen the Master Templar's hold on London's transportation. Meanwhile, the race for the Shroud of Eden continues, and Evie hopes to gain the upper hand over her nemesis, Lucy Thorne. Press ✕ / A to begin Sequence 5.

Take a Story Break and Earn Stuff

This game is best enjoyed with the many upgrades it offers. This also means out strong-arming the enemy and being fully weaponized. Do not ignore the available side activities or the upgrades that come from completing them. Your level should be no lower than the sequence number you are playing. In addition, to open Sequence 8 you need to have reached a certain notoriety, which comes with territory conquest.

Four new Memories are marked on the London Map. While on the train, check the safe for cash and check to see if you can spend more Skill Points. You should at least be at level 5 by now. Take this time to check your inventory and see that you are using all the best gear available. Purchase more Gang Upgrades and do some Crafting if you can. You should have the Throwing Knife Upgrade II. This increases their attack strength and you can achieve one hit headshot kills once again. Smoke Bomb Upgrade II is recommended at this time as well.

Agnes's (Train) Memories

The memories available through your train maid, Agnes, are covered in the Associate Activities section of this guide.

Come Prepared to Fight!

There is a different kind of fight at the end of this memory. Make sure that you are completely full on all items you can carry for this mission, especially medicine, knives, bullets, and smoke bombs. Check to see if you can upgrade any of these through Crafting.

Location: Monument, London

Enter the marker on top of the store (1) facing the Great Fire Monument (4). It appears there is a launch ceremony going on below. Jacob reconfirms that the hints Evie found in the Kenway house lead to this monument and then he continues to tease his little sister about her new friend, Henry Green. He makes a crack about not letting personal feelings compromise the mission and runs off leaving Evie to her quest. She's very pleased he left.

Current Objective: Examine the base of the monument

Walk to the edge of the rooftop where you begin the memory and face the large monument. Activate Eagle Vision. Look down and mark all the policemen (glowing blue) down below working crowd control. There's a civilian on the makeshift stage at the base of the monument introducing this Great Fire memorial. Scan a wider area and you see many green allies about. If you have been upgrading Rooks, they come in very handy for this mission.

Don't fight the police—they're really tough and lightning quick with that Billy-club-skull-cracking move they do. The strategy is to cause an incident that gives the crowd the upper hand in the fight to reach the stage for a closer look at the monument. An uncontrollable mob scenario is one that the police won't be able to control.

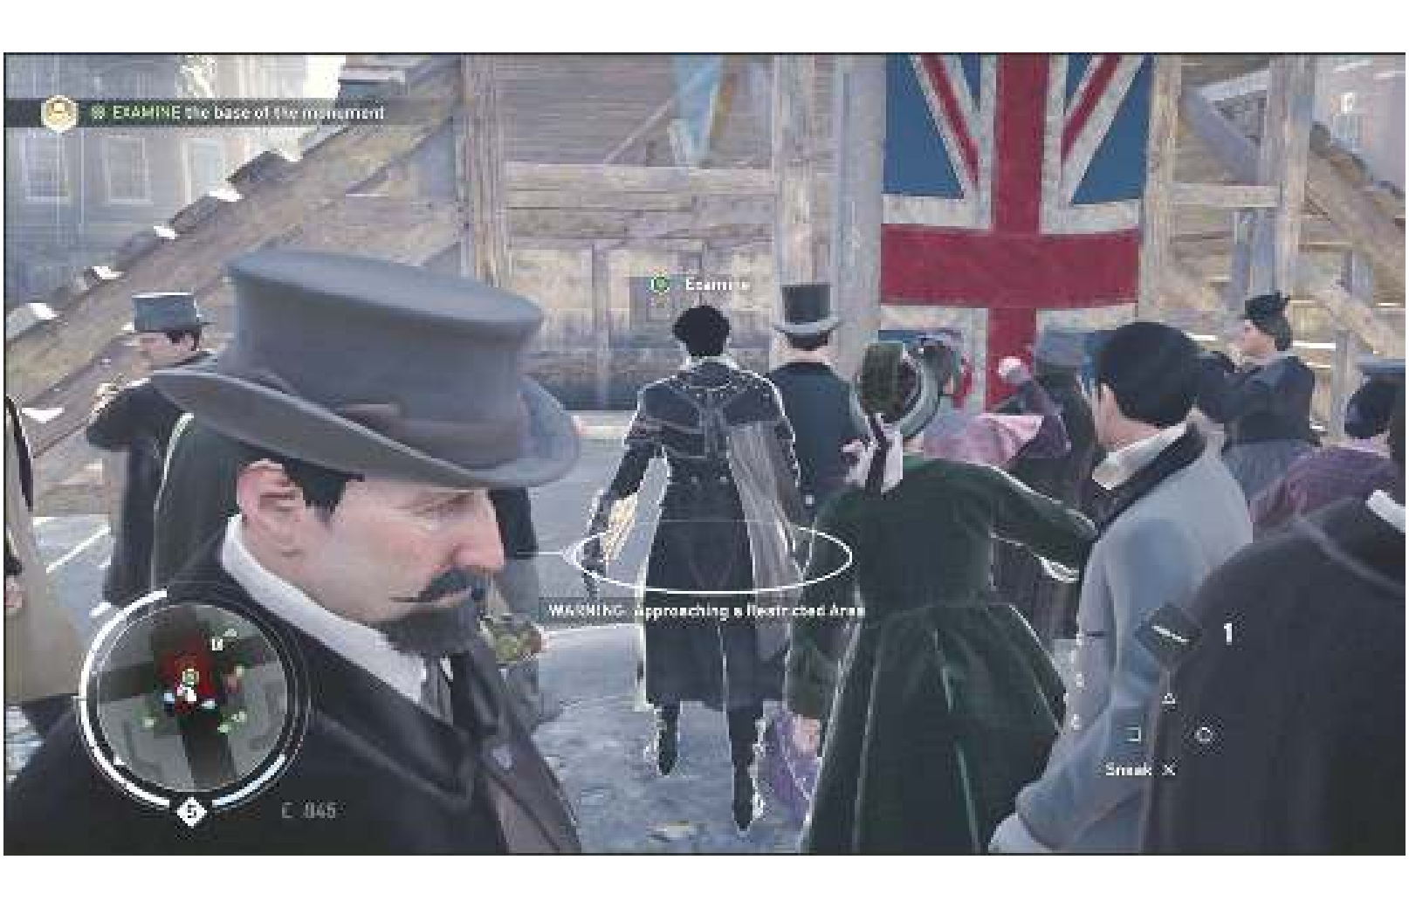
Rope Launch to the west wing (2) of the building and drop down to the top of the Tea Importer sign. Perch here and focus on the cop closest to you. This cop and a few others are keeping the crowd from rushing the stage. The item you are trying to examine is under the stage and accessible via a pathway through the front. The plan is to herd the crowd up to the front of the stage and use them for cover.

Since cops shake off low levels of hallucinogenics, select your throwing knives and throw it at the closest policeman's head (C). Throw a few knives if they aren't upgraded enough (the Level 2 Knife Upgrade is recommended). When the cop goes down, the caring citizens crowd the stage, Remain in your position until the other cops (A, B, D & E) react to their fallen comrade.

The first cop on the scene is usually (D). Throw knives at the head of the first cop that inspects and then starts looking around. Given time, you will be spotted where you are perched. If you have enough knives to finish off another cop then do so, but if you don't, quickly Rope Launch to the rooftop directly above. You'll likely incur a yellow caution stealth ring. If it's red, hang it up and disappear far away. If orange, you can simply hide behind a gable or chimney until it turns white again or completely dissipates. If you receive a red stealth ring and you escape to the rooftops the cops quickly exit secret rooftop hatches and are all over you within seconds—so don't get a red stealth ring.

When all is calm and you are anonymous again, stand at the corner ledge just below the roofline. Work at acquiring a Rope Launch lock-on to the building to the north so that you can zipline directly over the policeman (B) or drop into the haystack near him.

After eliminating the cop (B) from the air, or from a whistling haystack assassination, quickly stand up straight and walk calmly through the crowd. Make a beeline for the large opening under the front side of the stage, just left of the Union Jack.



If you are not anonymous you cannot examine the emblem on the back wall under the stage. Crouch down to help lose the caution level. If it's orange, throw a smoke grenade at your feet. Once you are anonymous, examine the plaque. Evie places the smallest of the disks she found in the Kenway mansion in the middle of the plaque. A cinematic shows another circular emblem rotate at the top of the monument. She takes the now larger disk and places it in her jacket.

Current Objective: Reach the top of the monument

Turn and face the crowd from under the stage. Activate Eagle Vision and relocate the remaining cops and roaming Blighters. Walk out from under the stage with the same tactic you used to get under it and then veer right, passing the haystack for the nearest building (3). Quickly zipline to the rooftop.

From the corner of the building northwest of the monument (4), turn and face the monument and try to get a Rope Launching lock-on as high on the monument as possible and zipline up.

Climb to the top of the monument (4) following the green Reach icon. Evie inserts the first disk into the ornament at the top of the spire. The emblem moves and reveals an engraving of the St. Paul's Cathedral dome. Evie leans out to face her next destination, which can be seen in the distance.

Current Objective: Find the secret of St. Paul's Cathedral

Challenge: Perform a Leap of Faith into a haystack while on a zipline

Get to the front of the monument (the northwest side) and use Eagle Vision to better identify the haystack below. Move your view directly above the haystack and get a Rope Launch lock-on on the corner of the building (3). Also notice the Helix Glitch floating in the same area. Done correctly you will collect the Glitch, zipline, and drop into the haystack in one pass. Press ○ / B to drop from the zipline when above the haystack. You will not release from the zipline unless you are directly over the haystack. So if it's not working for you, reposition yourself on the line and try again.

Get back to the rooftops to get out of the area quickly. Move west toward the green blip (6) at St. Paul's Cathedral. Hijack a carriage to get there quickly. It's highly recommended that you have as much medicine and bullets as you can carry before proceeding, so stop at the street merchant shop (5) on the south side of the cathedral. Purchase medicine, bullets, smoke bombs, and knives in that order of importance (if you are on a limited budget).

Rope Launch to the rooftop of the cathedral by standing at the base of the wall near the merchant. Follow the green blip to a gear puzzle on the backside of a statue on the south side of the cathedral (6).

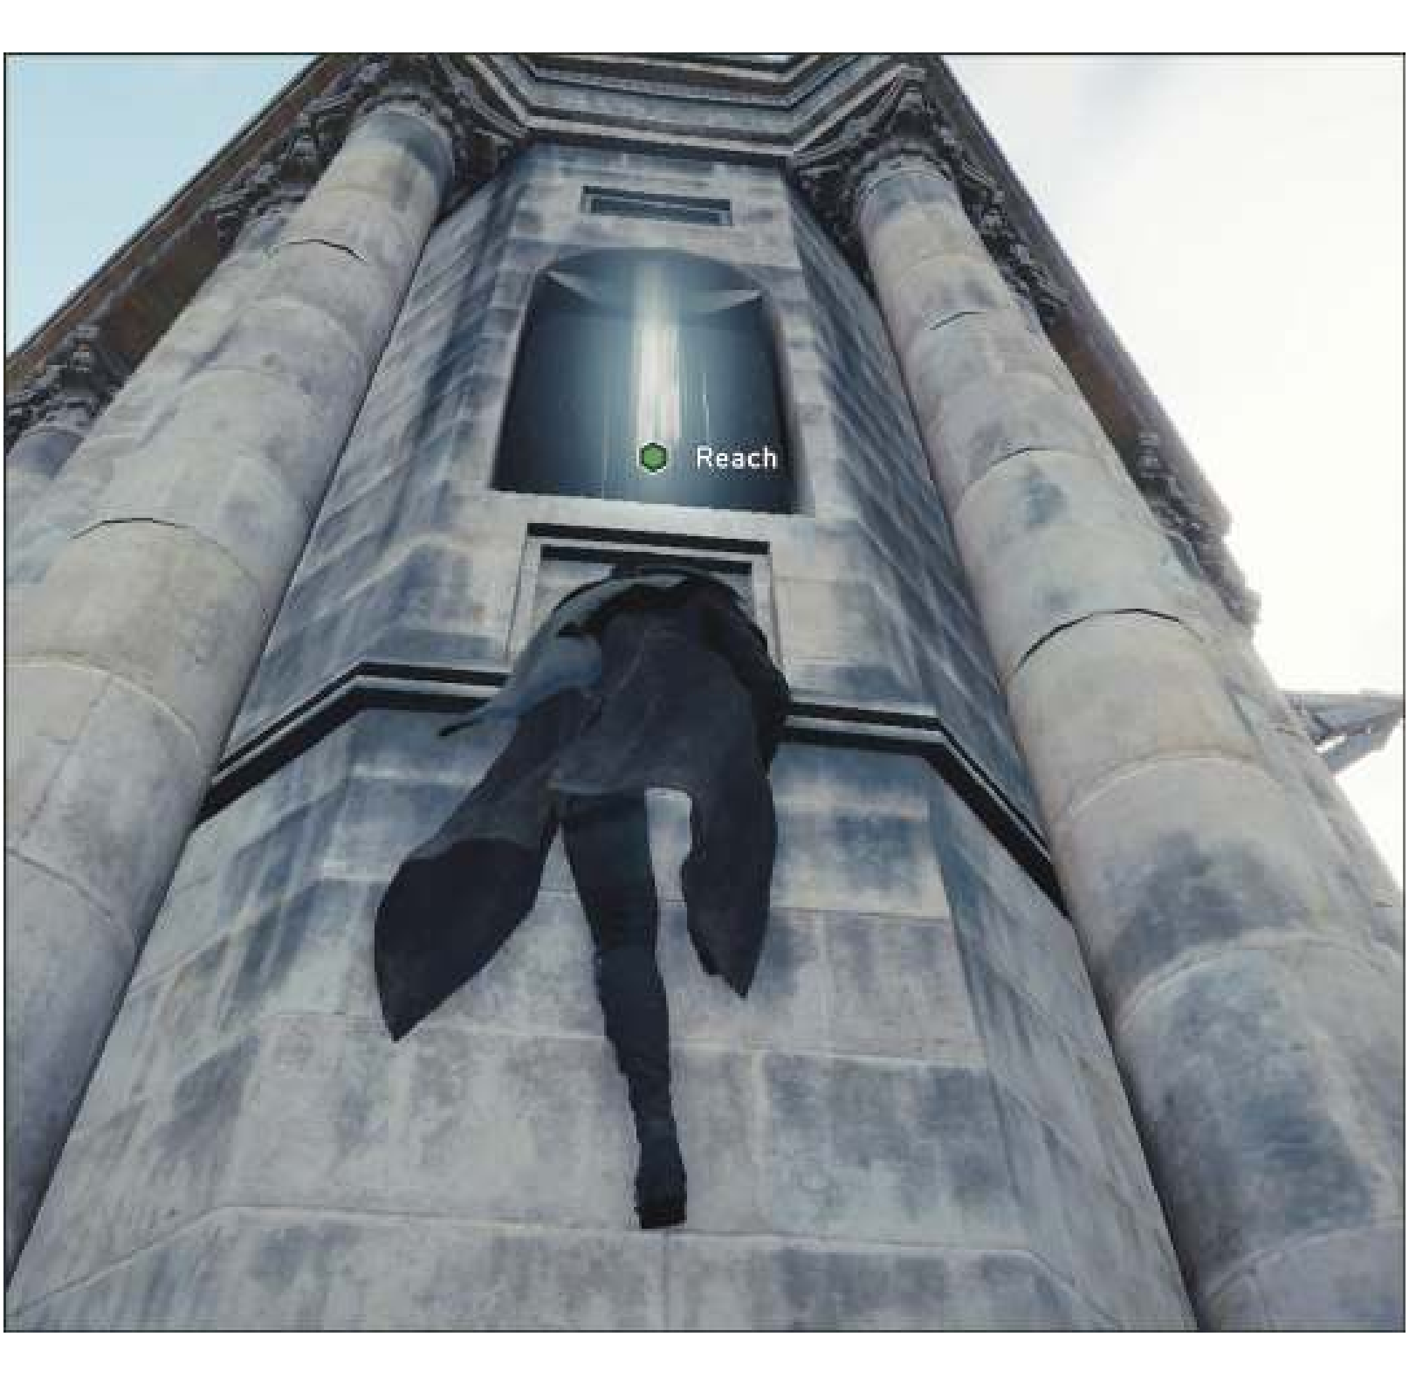
Current Objective: Solve the St. Paul's puzzle

Approach the puzzle and press ○ / B to insert the two disks and to enter the puzzle interface.

There are six gears that can be rotated. Each gear has a number of symbols on them. These symbols have to match up to the connecting gear to solve the puzzle. We like to start with the bottom gear first. Select the different gears using LS and rotate the gears clockwise or counterclockwise using R2 and L2 / RT and LT. Use our picture to discover the correct combination. Align the correct symbols and the gears begin to move and open a window on the tall cathedral spire (7) in the distance.

Current Objective: Reach the Vault

Head to the open window at the top of the tallest cathedral tower. Once on the balcony below the open window, move to the opposite side and unlock the Chest. When you are ready, clamber up the side to enter the open window marked with the glowing destination marker.



Current Objective: Examine the artifact

Inside the small vault, examine the artifact on the dais. In a cinematic, Evie tries on the artifact and places it around her neck. A familiar voice is heard behind her, slightly startling Evie.

Lucy Thorne commands, "I'll take that." Evie responds, "You want the Shroud to cement your own power—but what if you cannot control it?" Lucy thinks it holds the power of eternal life. Evie questions Lucy's theory and the fight begins.

Current Objective: Assassinate Lucy Thorne

Challenge: Counter all of Lucy's strikes

The countering Challenge comes into effect during the last stage of the fight. You cannot finish this battle without blocking a good number of Lucy's attacks in the final round. We suggested you buy medicine before the battle for survival (not so much for beating the Challenge) and the bullets are used for getting you to that last stage more quickly.

Lucy Thorne Fight Round 1

Attack Lucy quickly at the beginning of the fight; don't let her strike first. If you wait too long, counter her attack by dodging it and start attacking.

Each time a combo string ends, do not attempt to throw in an extra combo. Instead, always prepare to counter Lucy's quick retaliation move. Her early attack is a single knife slash. Counter it, and then lay into her with the longest attack combo possible.

Pearl has been receiving threats on her life and Malcolm Millner has all but waged war on her since Starrick bought out his company. They have common enemies and similar short term goals.

Current Objective: Locate one of Millner's employees

You begin this memory in the driver's seat of a large Attaway Transport Omnibus with Pearl in a passenger seat behind you. Follow the green blip marking one of Millner's employees driving another carriage to the south (2). Follow the route marked on the Mini-Map and on screen. Listen to the conversation between the two new acquaintances along the way.

Current Objective: Kill Millner's employee

Challenge: Save Ms. Attaway's Omnibus driver from his pursuer

When you cross over The Thames and reach the first intersection (2) in Southwark you spot a Blighter racing a carriage towards you from the right. This is your target. The location of the Attaway omnibus driver he's set on killing is not clear, nor does it matter because you can finish this objective with just a few bullets. Select your firearm and perform multiple Quickshots with △ / Y within close range until the Blighter in the driver's seat falls dead out of the vehicle. You can also threaten the driver or ram his vehicle until it is destroyed.

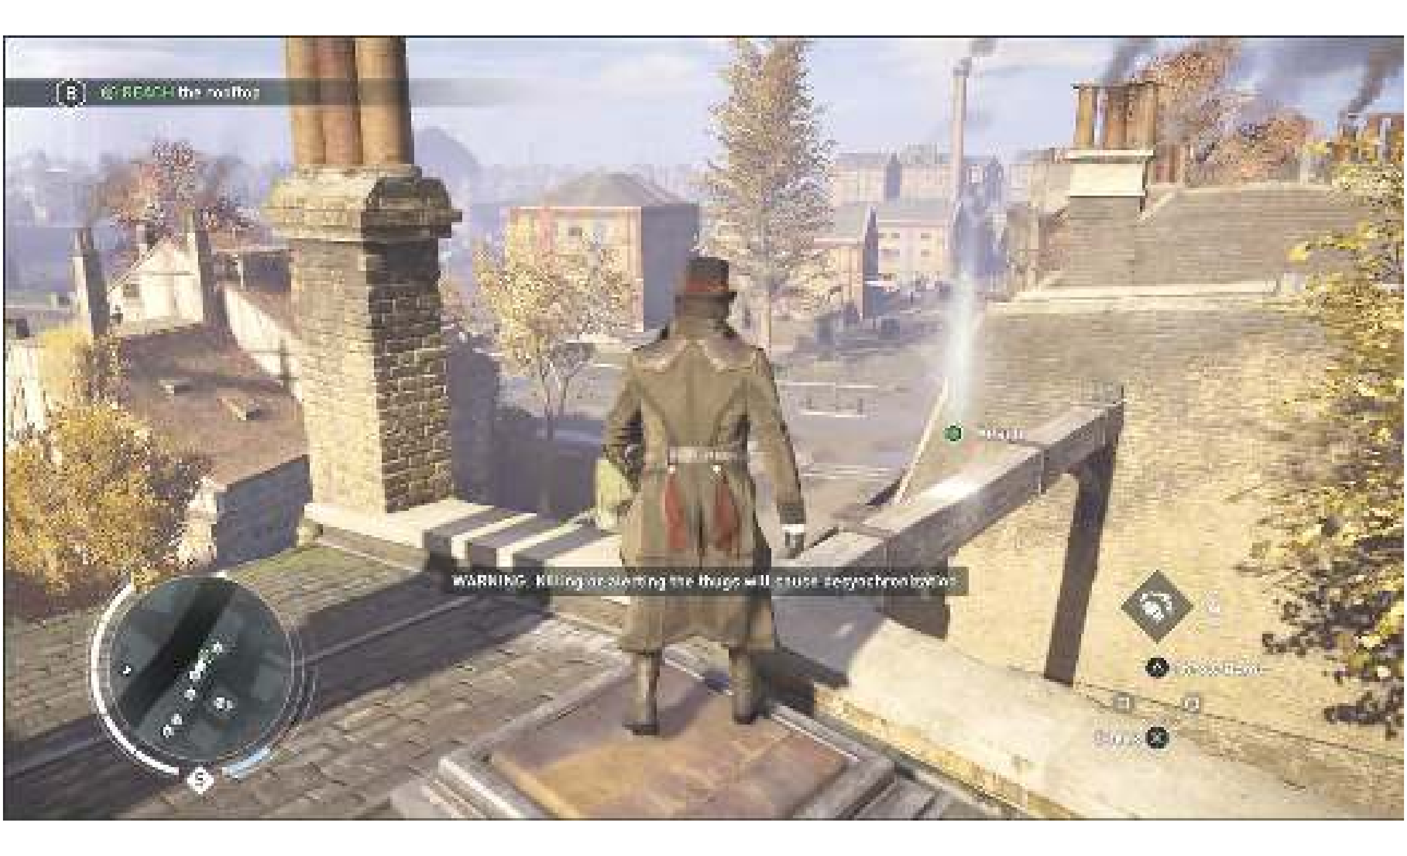
Voltaic Bombs: Voltaic Bombs x 5

Location: Alexander Graham Bell's Workshop, Lambeth

Evie and Jacob visit Bell in his laboratory to continue their conflict with Starrick and his control of the press. Bell is experimenting with some copper and zinc used to create voltaic bombs. He tells the twins he's been working on a bomb that is meant to stun an assailant. The formula is not quite right so he needs to test them with your help. He also wants to destroy Starrick's transmitters once the bombs have been tested.

Current Objective: Reach the rooftop

In this memory you are Jacob Frye. You stand facing the back window in Bell's workshop when Bell left through the front door. Exit through the front door. Rope Launch to the top of Bell's rooftop. Turn and head north and enter the Reach maker on a wooden post connecting this building to the next.



REACH the rooftop
WARNING: Killing or alerting the thugs will cause desynchronization

Current Objective: Wait for Bell's signal

Bomb Attack 1

In the opening cinematic, Bell mentioned that you guys were going to play a bit of a linguistics game with the Thugs. You need to clearly hear what Bell is saying as he speaks to a couple of Blighter Soldiers below. If you cannot hear him clearly, turn up the sound and if that doesn't do it, you can also try turning down the sound effects and music in the game so that the speech is louder.

You have four Voltaic Bombs in your inventory. Select one and aim at the Blighters below. Do not throw the bomb until you get the "fruit" reference in Bell's conversation. Bell is wearing rubber soles in his shoes, like the ones he handed Evie and you in his workshop. This means the electricity will not flow through the shoes and shock him. So technically you could include Bell in the bomb's effect radius and he won't get hurt. When Bell steps back and says, "PEAR-shaped," throw the bomb at the Blighters.

Bomb Attack 2

The first bomb is a failure. As Bell mentioned earlier, the formula has not been perfected. This first one turns out to be more of a stink bomb and the Blighters react as such. Bell and the Blighters move further into the alleyway (heading south). You notice many rooftop Chests in this area that are generated for this memory only. Each one only contains Voltaic Bombs. You can only hold four at a time so if you don't need any, don't bother opening any of these Chests. At Bell's second stop, stand on the edge of the rooftop and be ready to drop a bomb on the Blighters when you hear the words "donkey's APPLES." The bomb's blast has a much different and more promising look. Electricity shoots across the ground, shocking and damaging the thugs.

Bell and the two Thugs move a couple of more yards down the alleyway. Position yourself again and be ready to drop a third Voltaic Bomb on them when you hear a fruit word. Challenges

Do not kill the Peddler
Hijack the pharmacist's cart in less than 1 minute

£: 500 + 125 (Full Synch Bonus)

Schematic: Medicine Efficacy II

Location: Lambeth Asylum

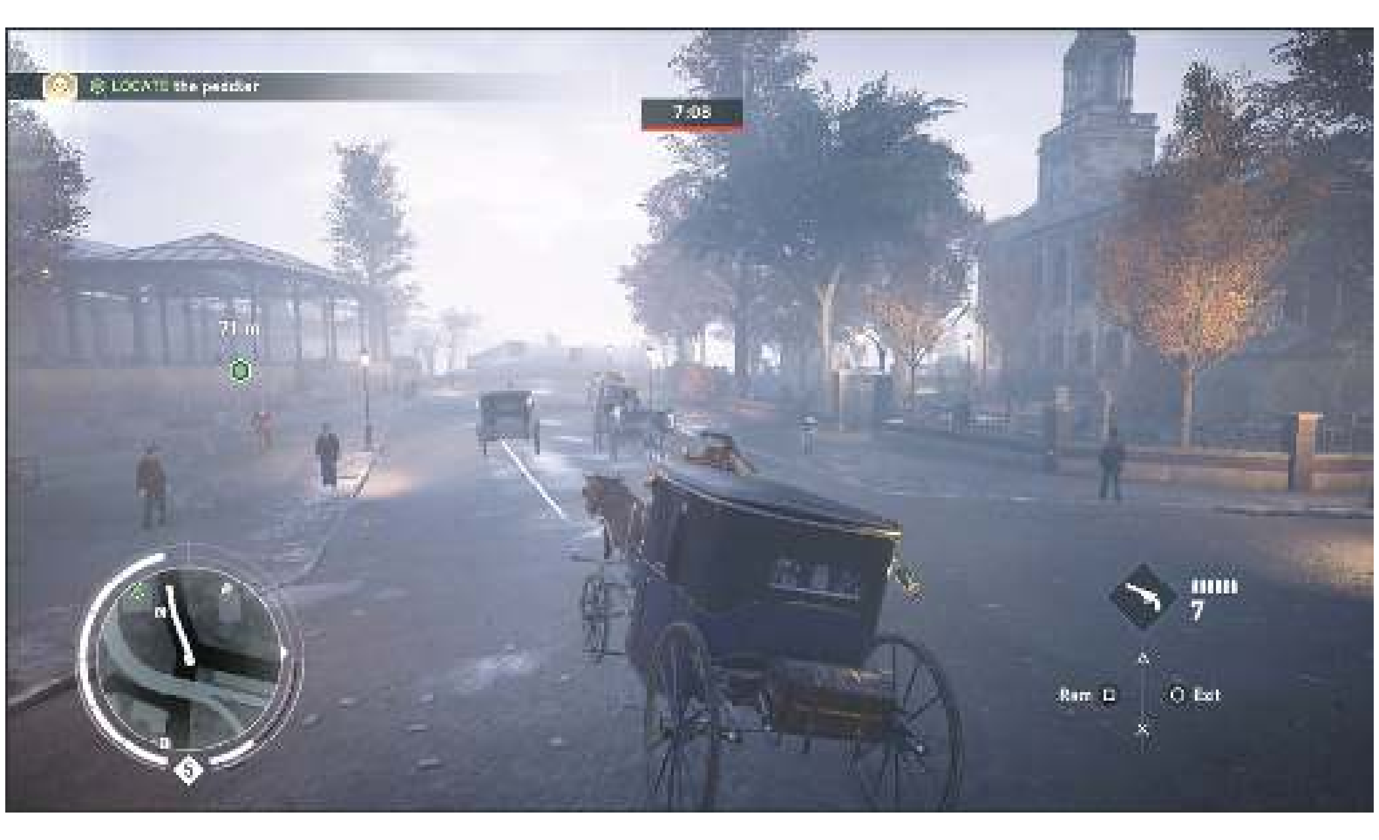
Enter the memory marker at the door at the southeast wing of the Lambeth Asylum (1). It is here that Evie finds Clara who is feeling under the weather. Clara tells Evie that the children under her care at the asylum are falling ill and that the usual tonics aren't working. Then Clara collapses in Evie's arms. Florence Nightingale hears Evie's cries for help and assists. Nightingale explains that ever since Elliotson was murdered, the district's been overrun with counterfeit tonic. Evie agrees to help get Miss Nightingale the supplies and medicine she needs to help Clara and the children there.

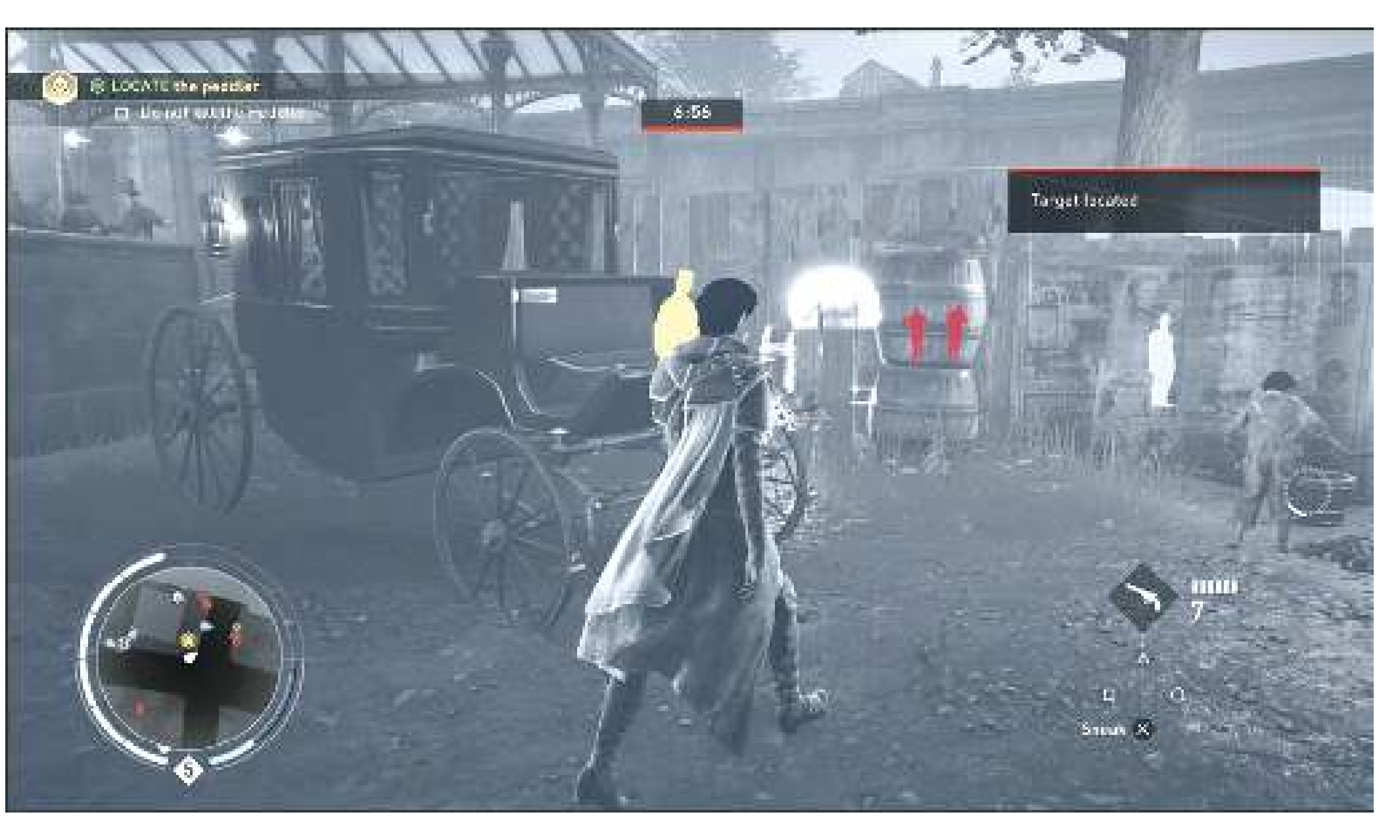
Current Objective: Locate the peddler

Time is of the essence in this mission. You must get the supplies and medicine and deliver them to Florence Nightingale in eight minutes. You start the mission outside the asylum entryway and a horse and carriage are nearby. Race this vehicle following the route marker on the Mini-Map and the green blip onscreen to the peddler's location (2).

You should have no problem reaching the peddler in west Lambeth with seven minutes remaining on the clock—which appears at the top of the screen, constantly reminding you of your deadline.

Activate Eagle Vision and look south through a wooden fence to spot the yellow glowing silhouette of the peddler. The Challenge is not to kill him, but to steal the potion he holds.

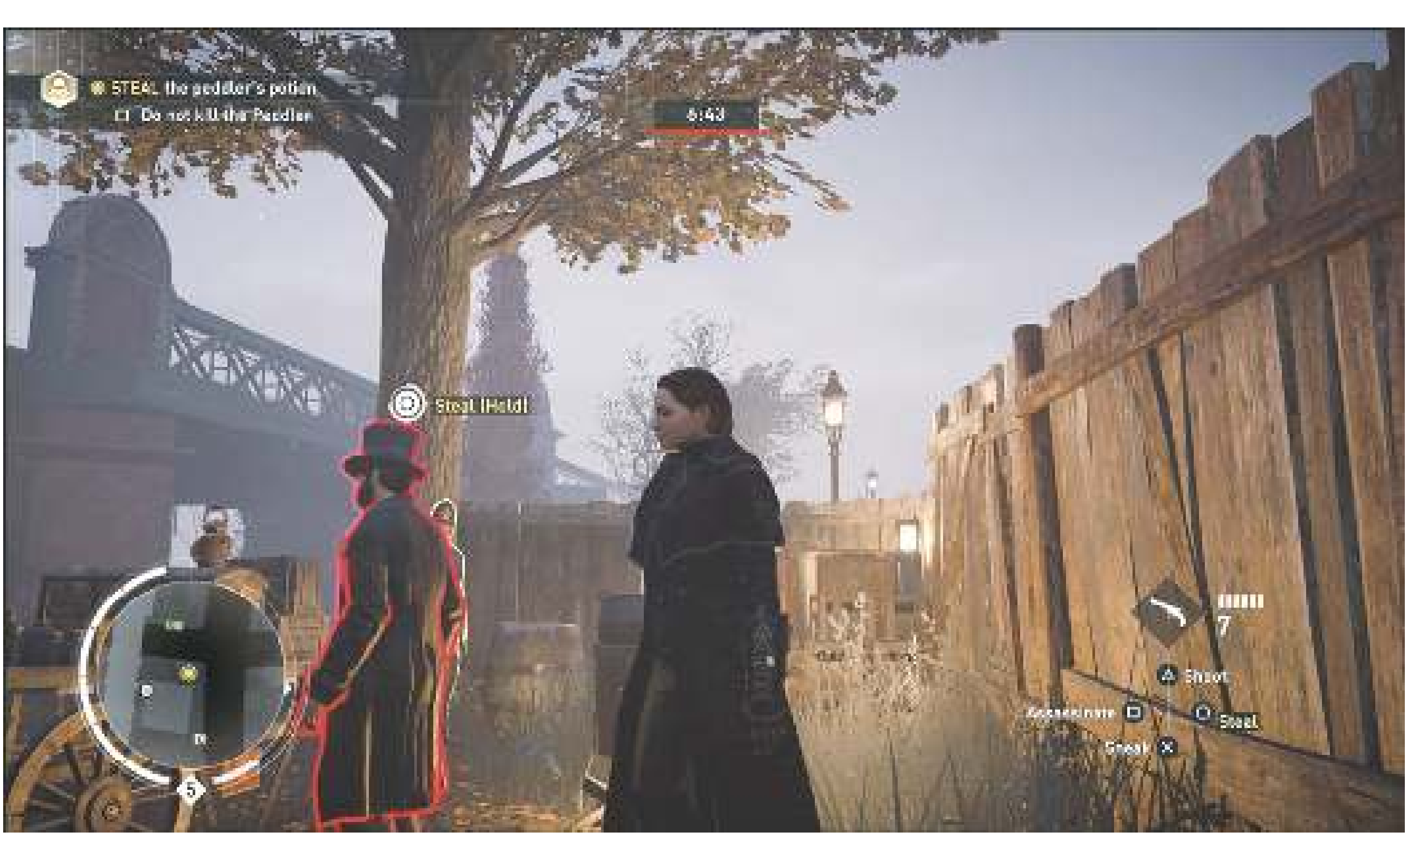




Current Objective: Steal the peddler's potion

Challenge: Do not kill the Peddler

The biggest challenge at this location is the patrolling cop near the peddler. If you have purchased the Gang Upgrades "Police Bribes" then you have an easier time with this. Simply jump over the fence and sneak up behind the peddler without touching him and press and hold ◯ / B while the steal gauge fills completely. If you do not have Police Bribes then you might want to wait until the cop's back is turned to steal from the peddler.



Current Objective: Locate the pharmacist

Hop back over the fence, get back in your vehicle, and don't stop whipping the horse until you reach the pharmacist's location (3) in northeast Lambeth. You should reach the pharmacist's location marker with around five and a half minutes left on the clock.

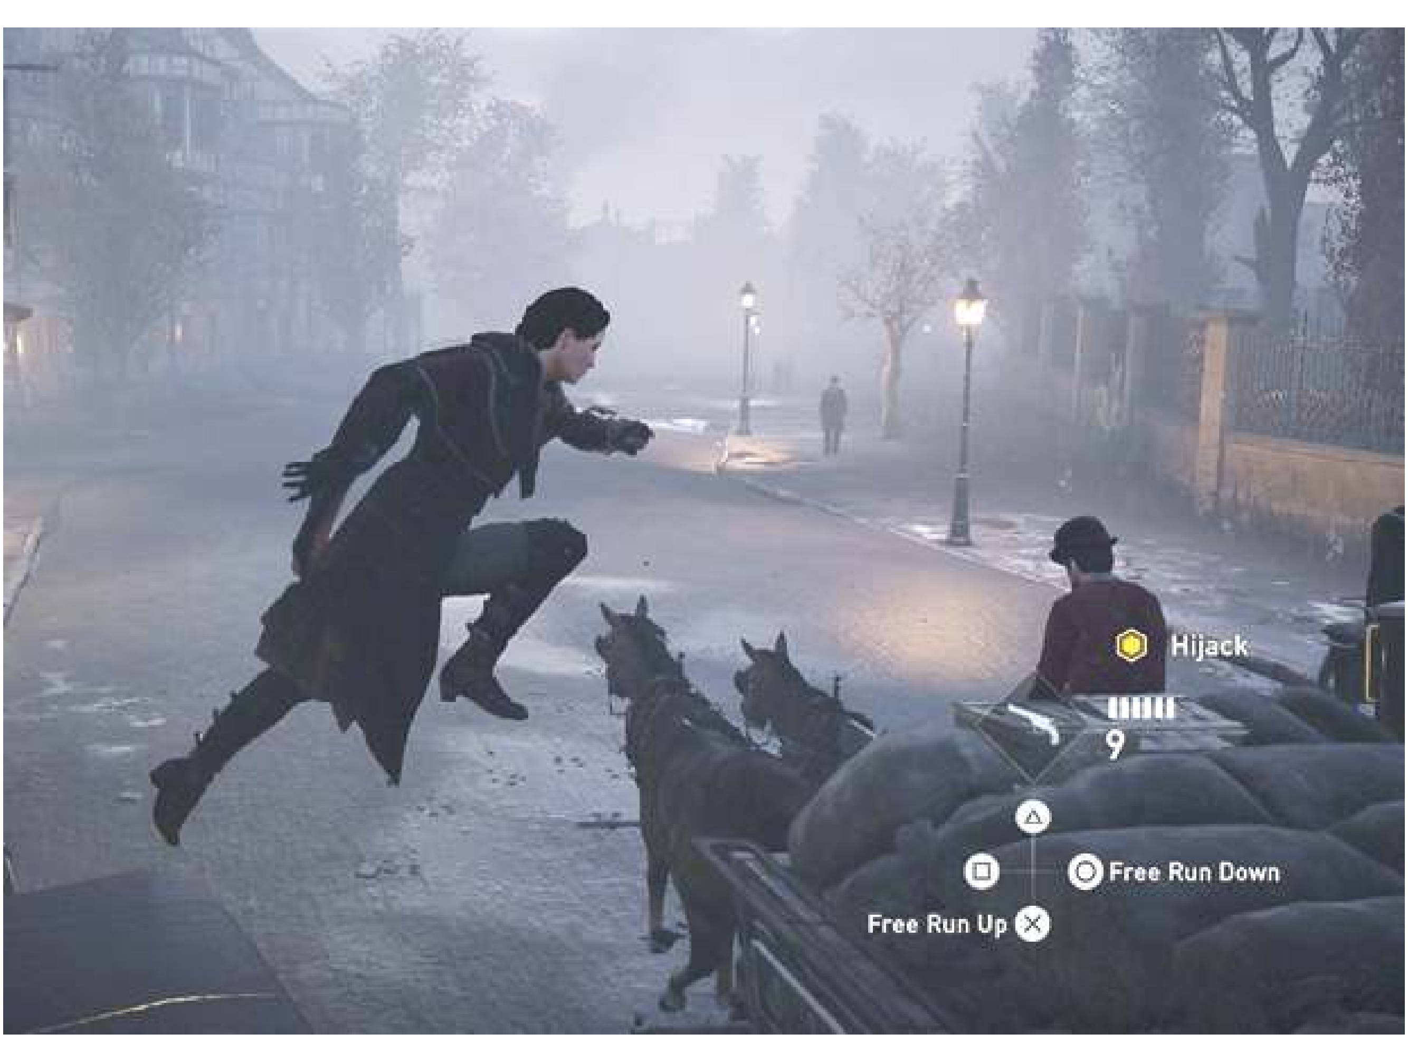
He thanks you and tells you the supplies he carries are for Miss Nightingale and that they are on the cart ready to go. Evie glances at the cart of supplies as a Blighter hijacks it and rides off.

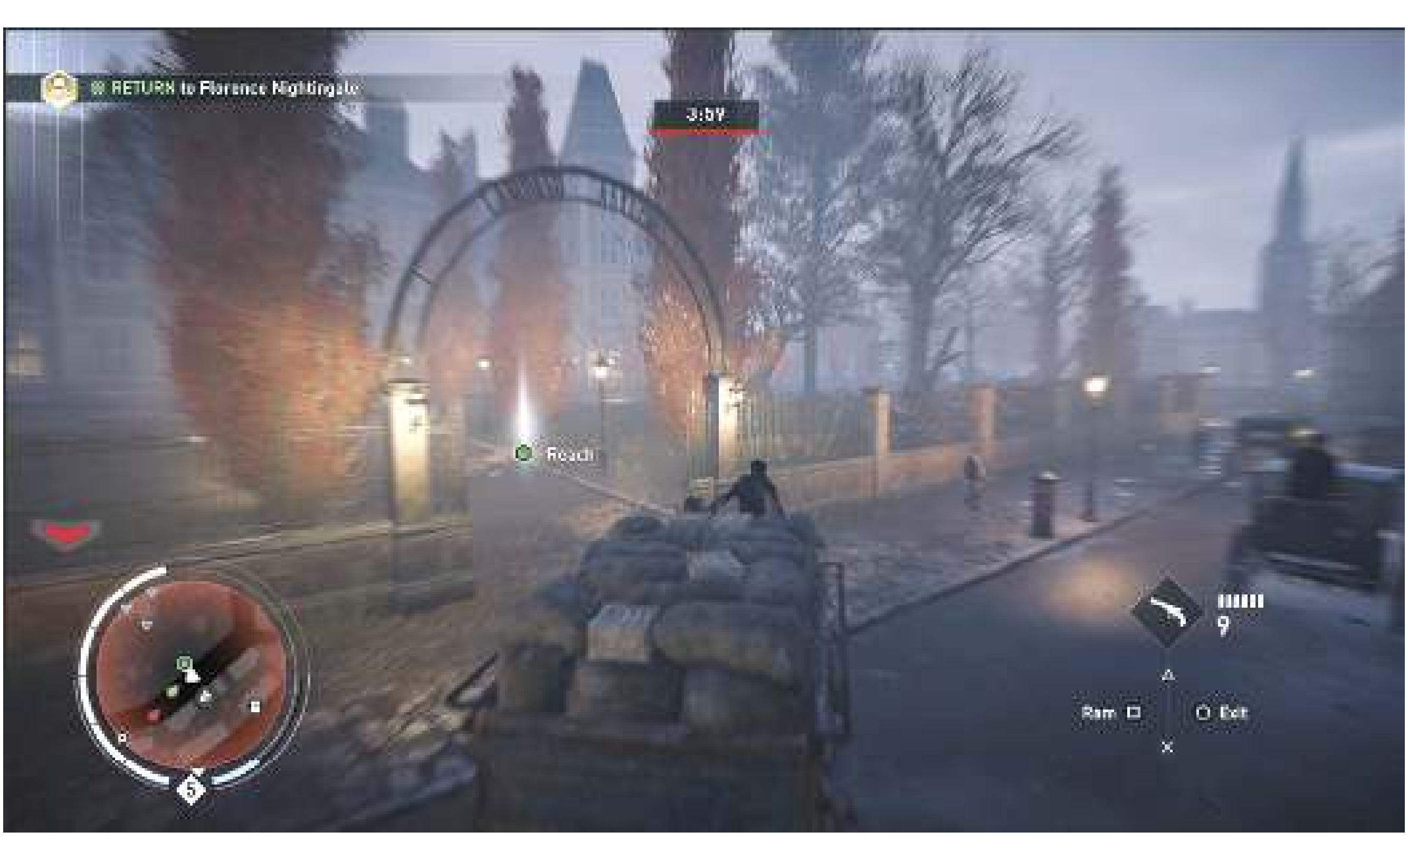
Current Objective: Hijack the pharmacist's cart

Challenge: Hijack the pharmacist's cart in less than one minute



You gain control of Evie while she's in a full run heading south down the street chasing after the stolen supply cart. Jump into the nearest carriage parked on the side of the road and whip the horse non-stop while following the route marker on the road. You should have about four and a half minutes left on the clock and the good news is that the stolen cart is headed toward the asylum. With speed and a little luck, you should actually reach the stolen cart just as it is passing the asylum.

Drive up alongside the stolen cart, matching its speed the best you can. Press L1 to jump from the driver's seat to the roof. Leap over to the stolen cart using R2 / RT only. Face the driver and press ◯ / B to hijack the vehicle. If this only took you a minute from when you left the pharmacist then you have completed the final Challenge.



Current Objective: Return to Florence Nightingale

With around four minutes on the clock and the stolen supply cart in your possession (and hopefully you are near the Asylum), you must now return to Miss Nightingale. The first marker to appear is at the entrance to the Asylum grounds (4). But the drive is not over; you must deliver it around back (5) near where the mission began.

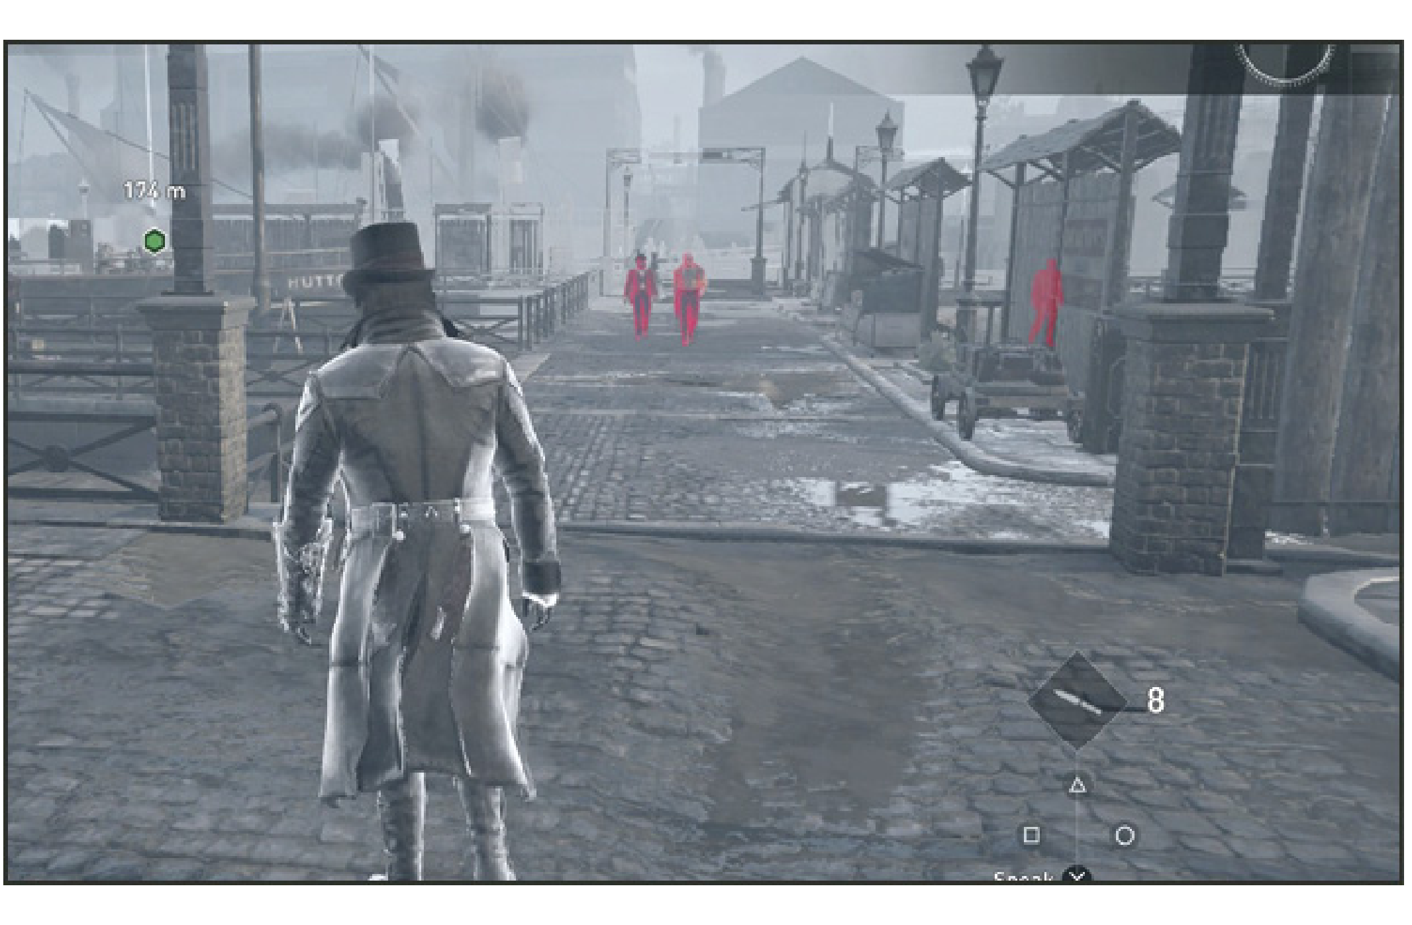
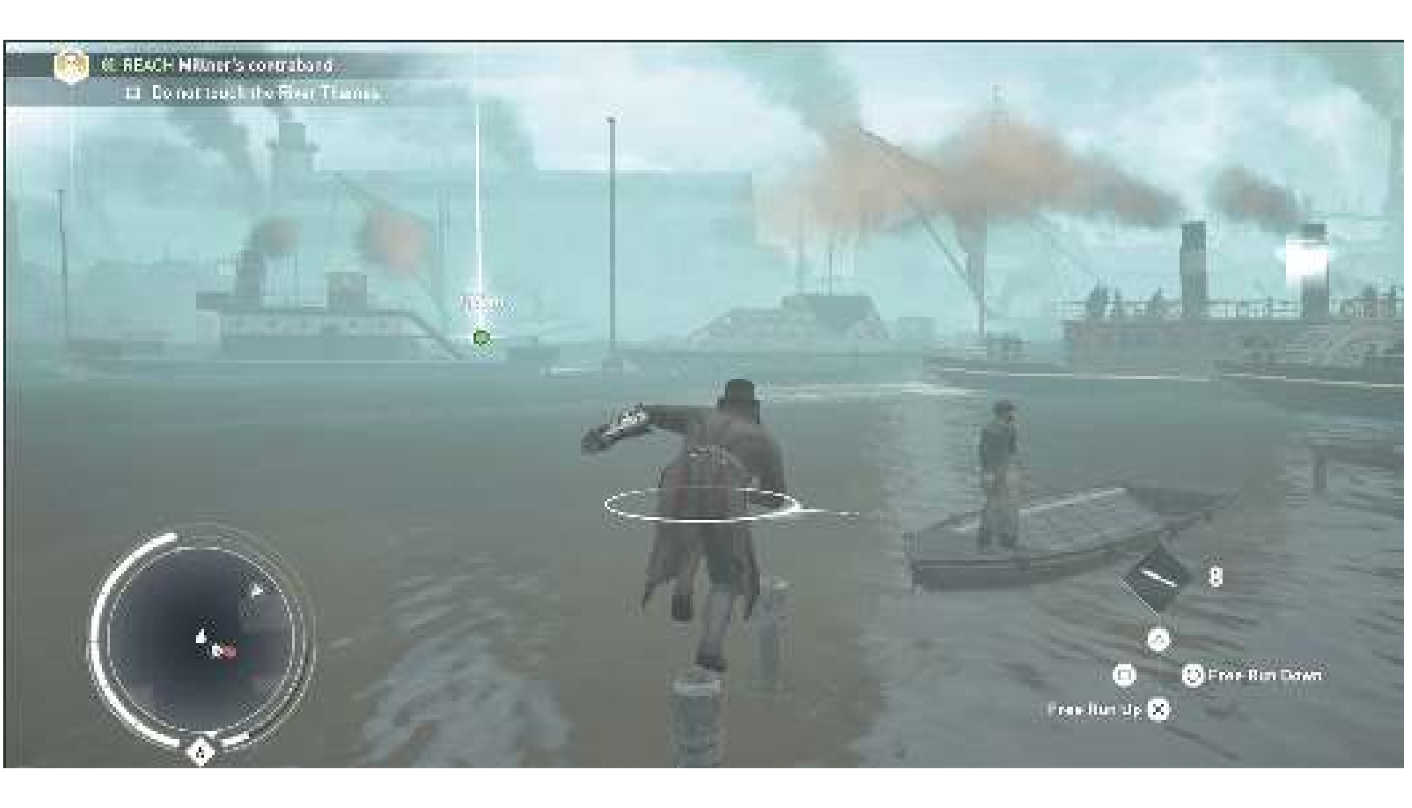
Current Objective: Reach Millner's contraband

Location: The Thames waterfront, South London

Pearl's carriage lets you out on the north shore of The Thames (2). Your Challenge is to reach Millner's barge with the contraband (3) without touching The Thames. Do not swim at any point to reach the destination. You could start your trek across The Thames from the end of the pier where Pearl let you off, but you may want to find another less perilous path since Blighters and coppers patrol this pier.



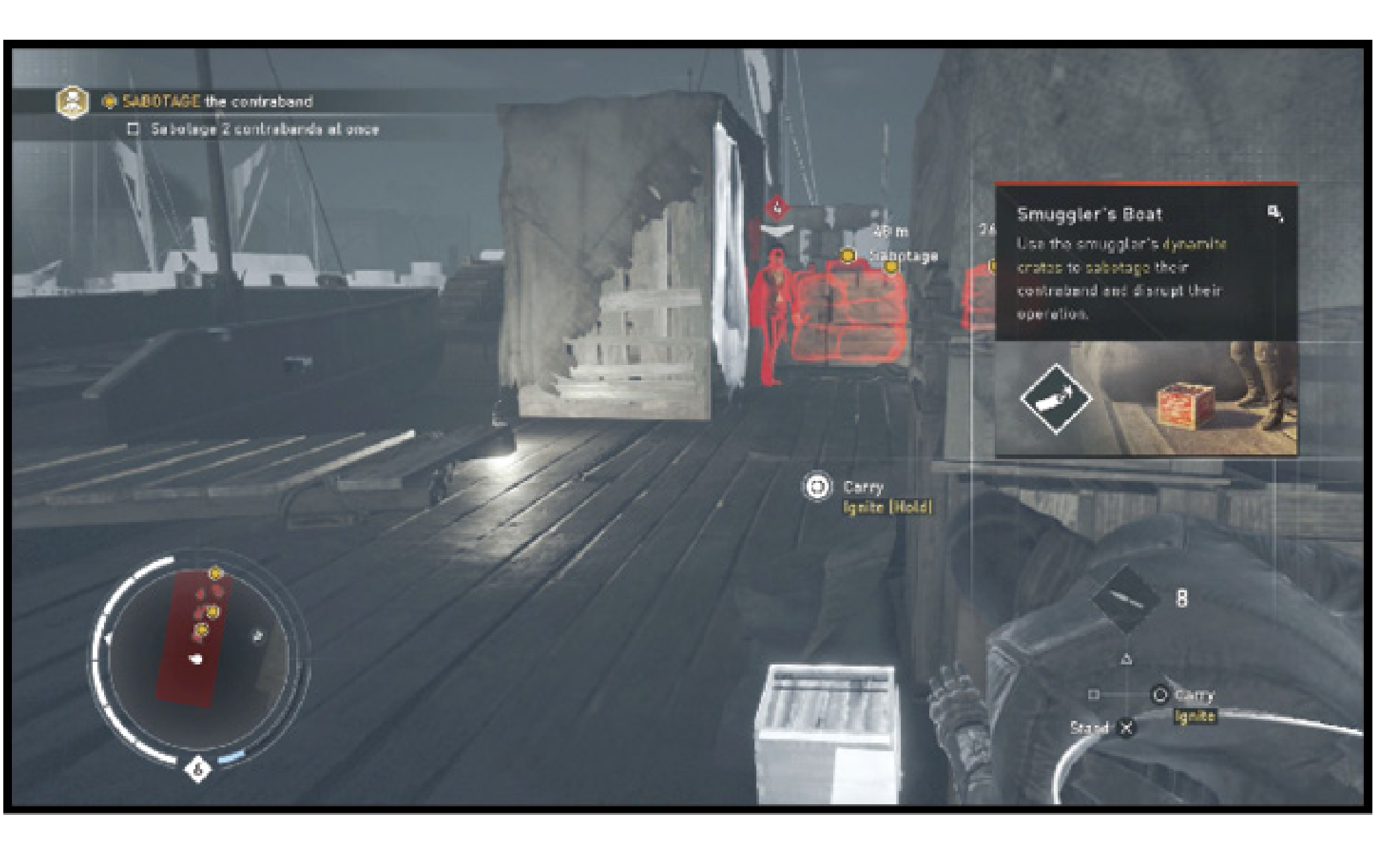
Simply jump from rowboat, to pier post, to floating object and from one moving ship to the next to reach Millner's barge. If you find yourself in a position where there is nowhere to go but to go swimming, back track a bit and find a better route.



Current Objective: Sabotage the contraband

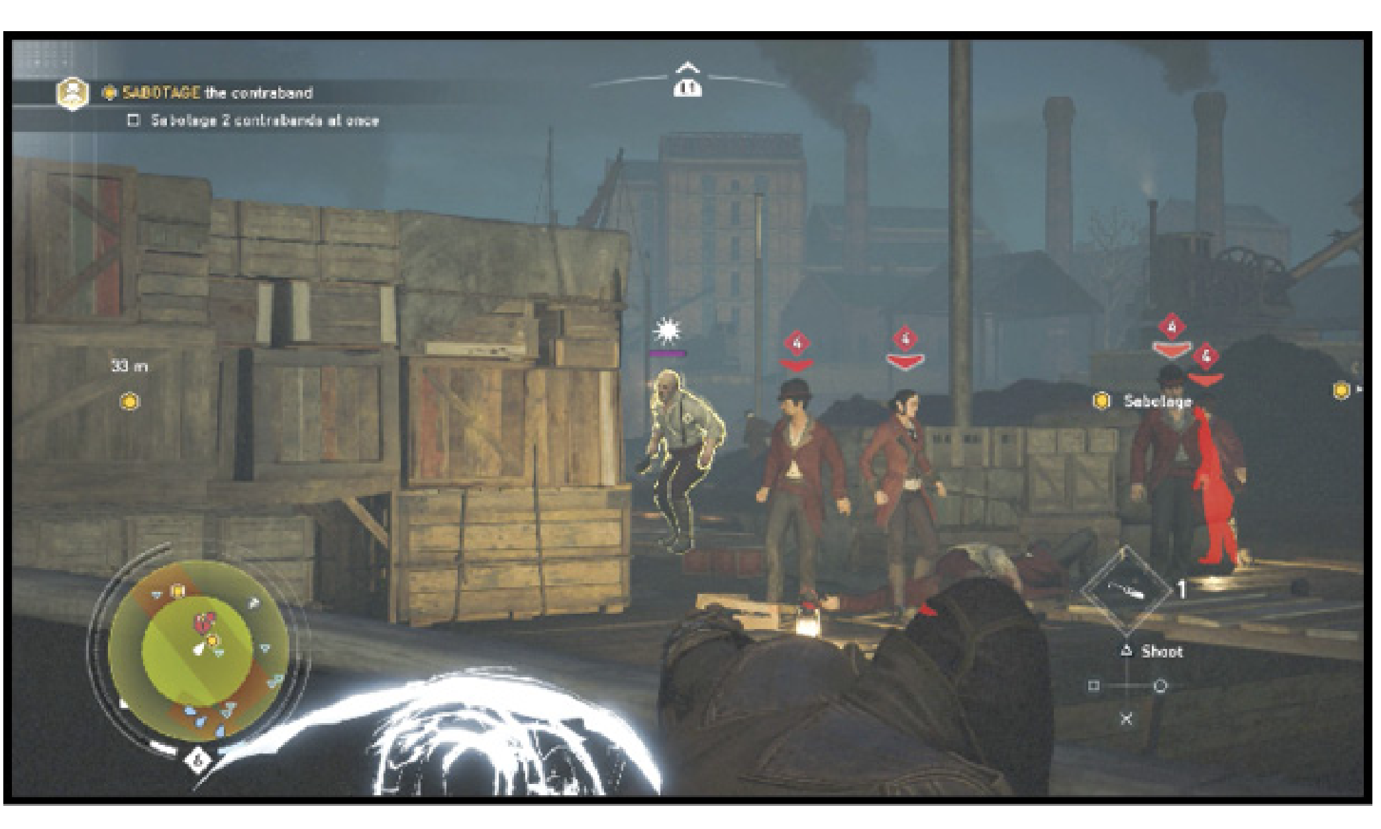
Challenge: Sabotage two contrabands at once

Location: Docked Barges near The Thames's Southern Shoreline



Smuggler's Boat

Use the smuggler's dynamite crates to sabotage their contraband and disrupt their operation.



You receive your new objective to sabotage the contraband once in the restricted zone around the group of docked barges (3). With Eagle Vision you can spot the many Blighters aboard and the three glowing red contraband pallets.

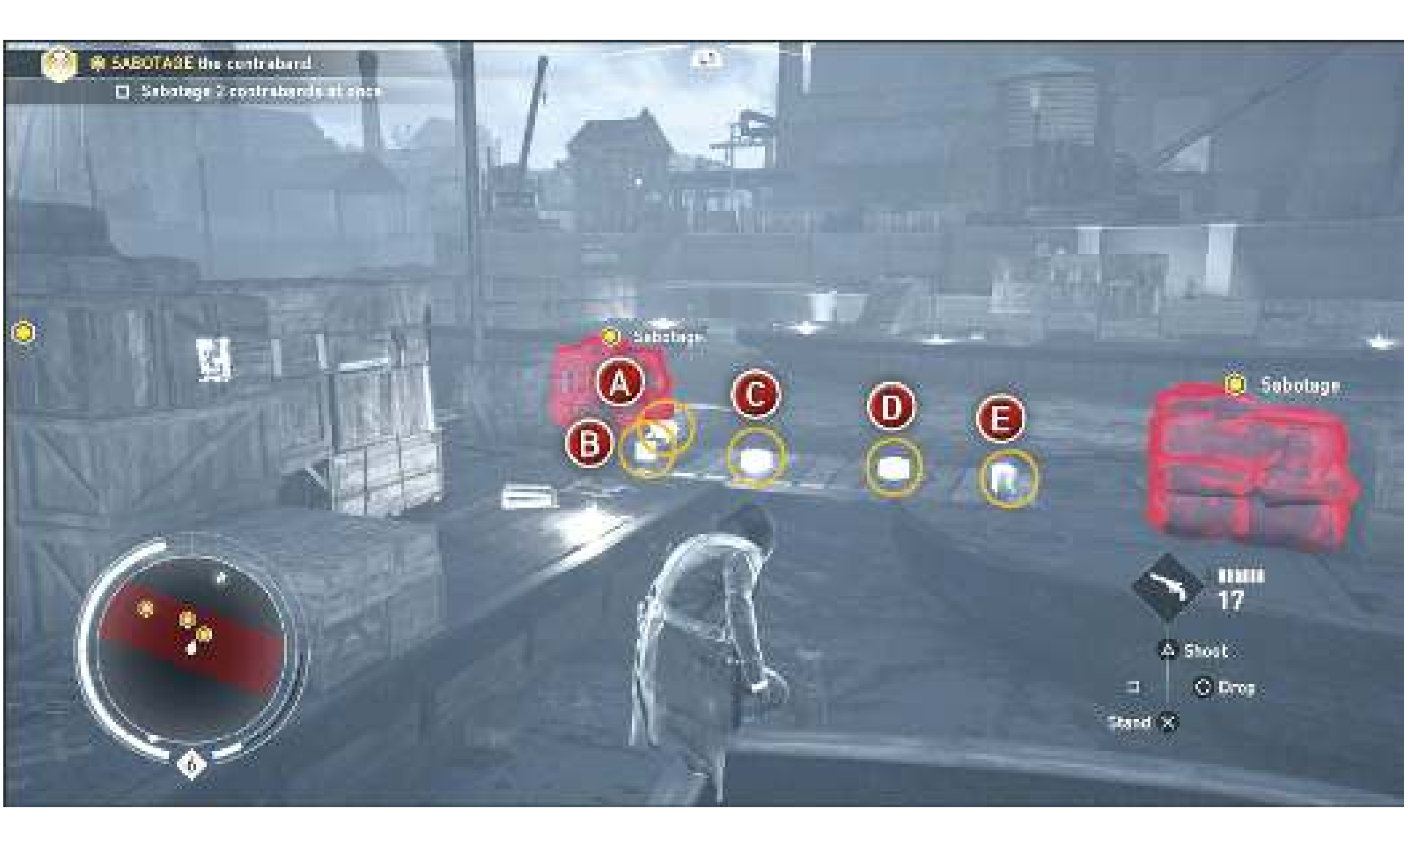
Use the many shipping containers for cover while you whistle to create Cover Assassination opportunities or throw knives and darts to make quick work of the Blighters crowding around the contraband.

Do not destroy the contraband until you've defeated all the Blighters on the cluster of barges. When that is done, notice that the three contraband pallets are on separate barges. However, two of them are much closer together. First destroy the contraband that is alone and furthest east. Use Eagle Vision to quickly find the nearest crate of dynamite, which glows white.

Pick up and place a crate of dynamite next to the single pallet of contraband. Ignite the crate and walk away. The contraband explodes.

Blowing up two contrabands at once

Approach the remaining two contrabands that are stored very closely together. A plank (4) that connects the two barges separates the two pallets of contraband. It takes a little ingenuity to destroy both at the same time. You need to line up an odd number of dynamite crates across the plank between the two contraband (A, B, C, D, E). Carefully place the crates of dynamite as equally spaced as possible from each other and the contraband. Make sure to place an equal amount of space between the last crate and the contraband on each barge. Use our picture for placement reference.



Position yourself away from the blast and where you have a clear view of the dynamite in the middle. Shoot the middle crate (C) with a pistol and watch the chain reaction blow both targets at once. If you do not have bullets, then you'll have to physically ignite the middle crate and quickly clear out. Now Malcolm Millner is marked on the Mini-Map. If you turn toward the south shoreline with Eagle Vision active you see Millner (5) glowing yellow and walking near a shipping crane.

You begin to spot the Blighters around your target as you approach the south shore with Eagle Vision active. The first two complications are the two armed Watchers (F & G) on the bulkhead. Since Millner moves to the southeast area of the shipyard, you need not even bother with the Watcher to the west (G).

Jump in the water and swim to the eastern edge (6) of the bulkhead. Or, use the path of floating objects to run to this edge when the Watcher isn't watching. Exit the water by clinging to the edge of the bulkhead and shimmy toward the patrolling Watcher (F). Reach out and pull her into the water when she walks in front of you. This is a Cover Assassination position; she highlights red as she enters your attack radius.

From that east corner (6) look due south around the corner to the side of the shipyard. Here you can spot a large group of Blighters (H). This direction is calling you. This is where your target spends most of his time at the end of his initial patrol. Leap onto the ladder on the side of the bulkhead to the south. Latch onto the sidewalk's edge and just wall-walk until you are directly behind the two closest Blighter Soldiers (H & J).

These two don't move. They keep their backs to you. A Brute (K) patrols from the right to the left while your target (I) walks in and out of this area from the west. Now when the Brute returns he turns his back in this same area, so quickly attack him from behind.

When your primary target (I) comes close to the area again, head to a high point to perform an Air Assassination. If he sees you he's no match for your skills and is dead with just a short combo. This assassination pulls you into the Animus white room. Millner knew he had it coming; Starrick was furious at him for losing the engines. As soon as you get to the front of the warehouse, head to the left corner (west) and assassinate the Templar leaning on the wall, then Rope Launch to the roof and enter the open window on the third floor. Enter the window and follow the zigzagging path through the rooms until you begin overhearing a conversation between Starrick and Attaway. It's almost as if they were husband and wife, the way these two are going at each other. Jacob slides up to a boarded window to be close enough to hear and get a good view. Amidst the arguing, Pearl spills the beans about Jacob. She also includes that she will personally deliver the stolen engines when they arrive at the Waterloo Train Station. Look around to the north while in Eagle Vision and you spot the station chief prone on a second story floor. This is where you are headed next. Use the Rope Launcher to return to the rafters and to get back to the rooftop through the same entry point (2) you used to get inside.

Once on the rooftop, run north to the glass rooftops on the north wing. Here you find two more open skylight Entry Points. Do not enter the closest one (3) as there are too many enemies below to enter stealthily. Instead, stand on the edge of the next closest Entry Point (4). Look below and wait for the Soldier to walk under you. Breach the building by using an Air Assassination on this Blighter.

The Train Schedule

After taking out the Soldier in the office, look around to spot the Train Schedule on a desk inside the same room. Take it. There's also a Chest nearby. Next, activate Eagle Vision and find the remaining enemies in the next room. Use the large mail bin near the doorway as a cover (like a haystack) and whistle for the nearest guard in the next room. Cover Assassinate her when she enters your attack radius.

Freeing the station chief

There are two enemies remaining in the next room where the station chief is located. Throw a smoke bomb into the room and assassinate both the Blighters. And then "Free" the station chief who's on the floor in the back of the room. This completes the first Challenge.

Available Templar Conspiracy Memories

There are two Templar Conspiracy memories available at the beginning of Sequence 6: A Case of Identity in the City of London and One Good Deed in Southwark. These two memories launch new (story-related) memories for Jacob and Evie individually. These memory sagas are covered here arranged in their unlocking order—even if that means Jacob's and Evie's missions get shuffled. We start with the closest memory to the train's current location….

To begin this memory, find the paperboy (1) at the Royal Exchange in The City of London. Jacob snatches the newspaper and opens it. He glances over the top. There are guards everywhere. A man in an expensive suit passes, the Govenor of the Bank of England, Philip Twopenny. He walks with his nose in the air while speaking to another banker trailing behind him. He kicks a beggar’s tin bowl sending change everywhere. Instead of apologizing, Twopenny exclaims, “You weak fool, get a job!”

LONDON

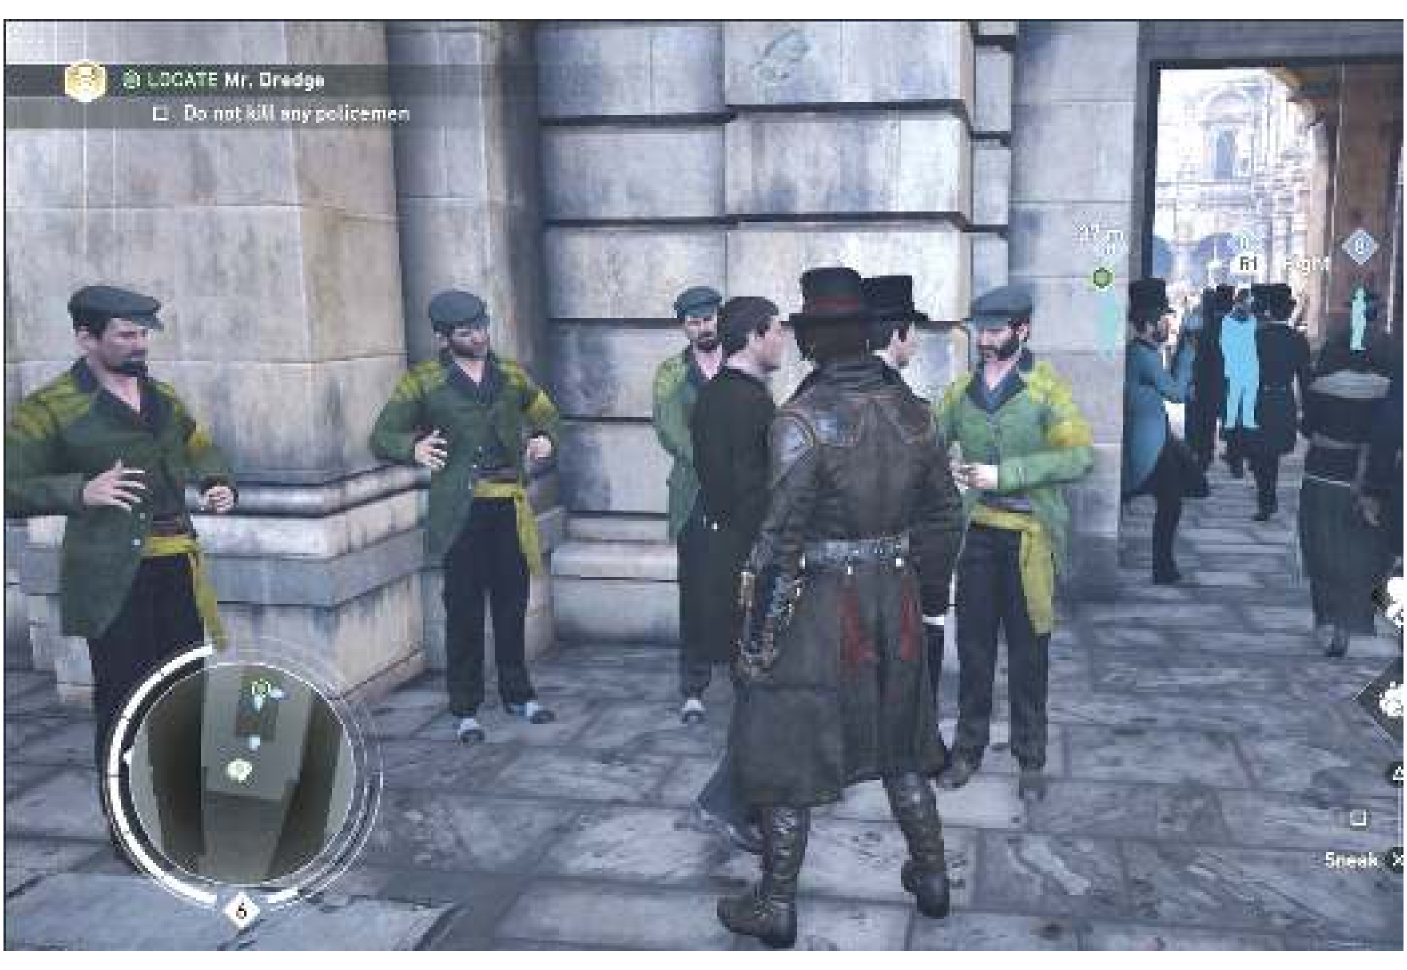
Current Objective: Locate Mr. Dredge

Challenge: Do not kill any policemen

There’s a small gang of your Rooks outside the Royal Exchange doors directly ahead of you. Recruit all of them and from that same spot, activate Eagle Vision and send the gang to attack the policemen through this east entrance. Allow your gang to take out a couple of cops near the doorway before you enter. This does not fail the Challenge because the Rooks are doing your killing.

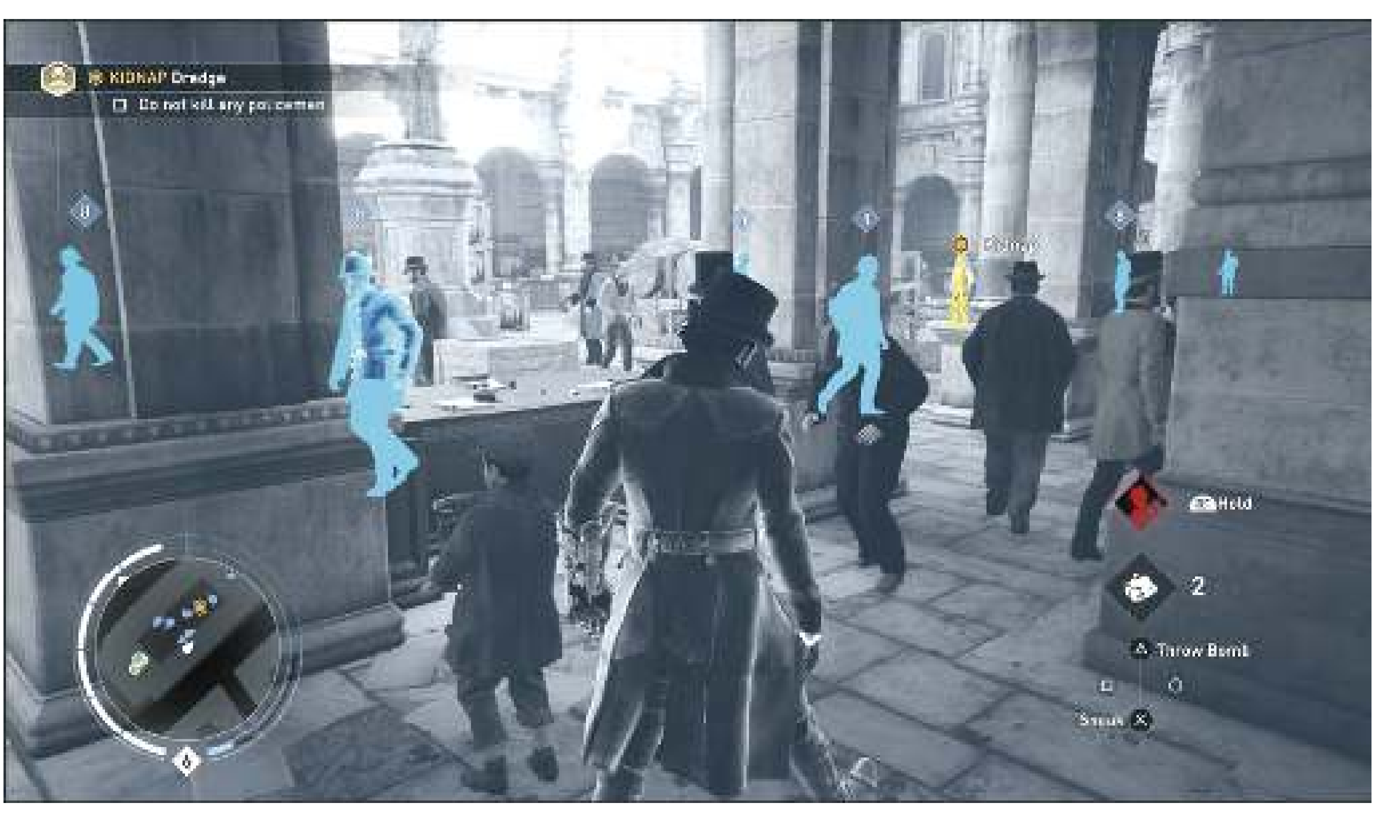


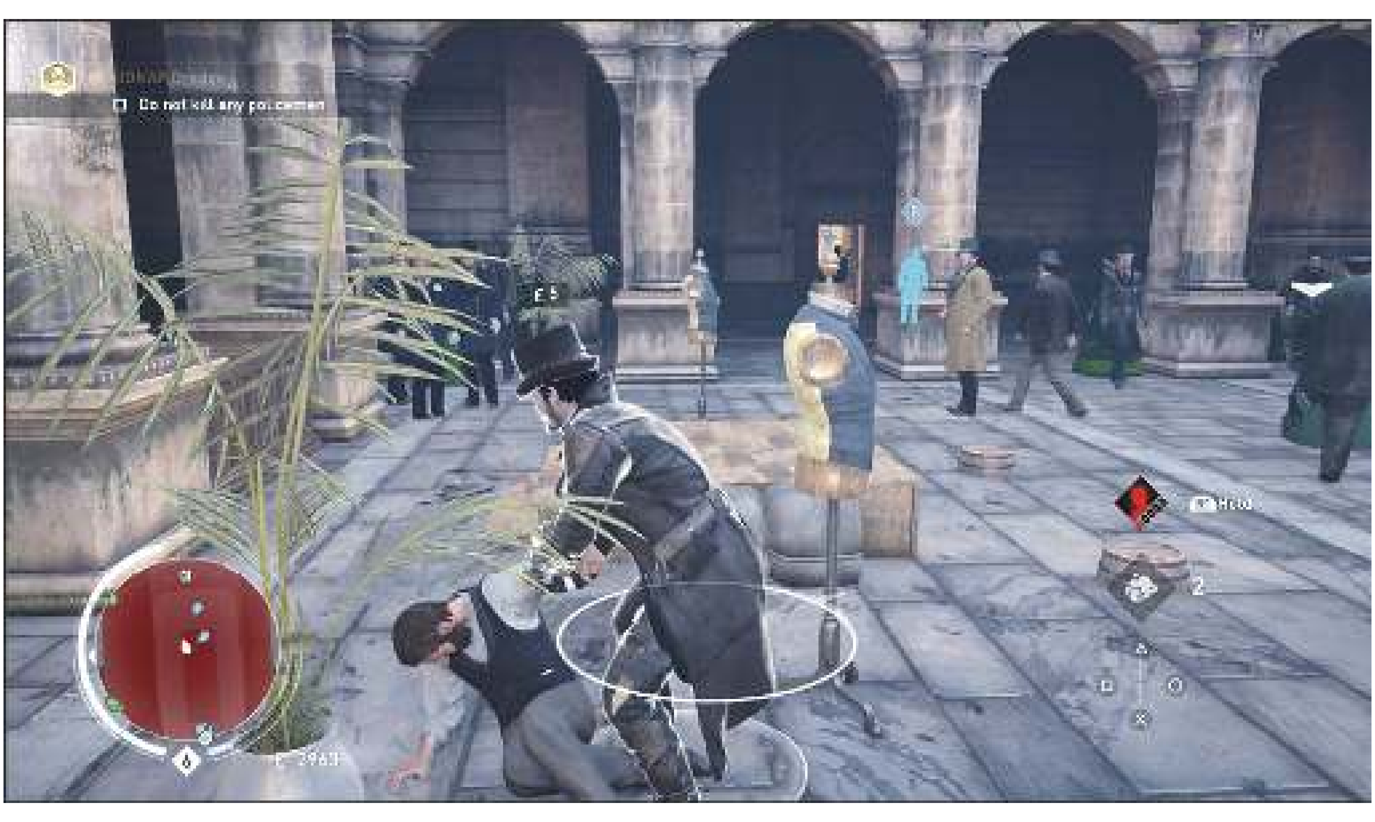
Current Objective: Kidnap Dredge

Look for Mr. Dredge, the guy that glows yellow. When you enter the exchange, continue east toward your target. Stay away from your gang’s activities. Remain anonymous. Sometimes Mr. Dredge will take off running in the street if he gets spooked. Simply chase him and tackle him. There are not as many cops outside. The other option is to walk through the Royal Exchange crowd and “Kidnap” the Dredge.

Tackle Dredge and then press ○ / B as soon as he gets his balance back to get his hand behind his back.

Accidentally killing him will cause desynchronization.



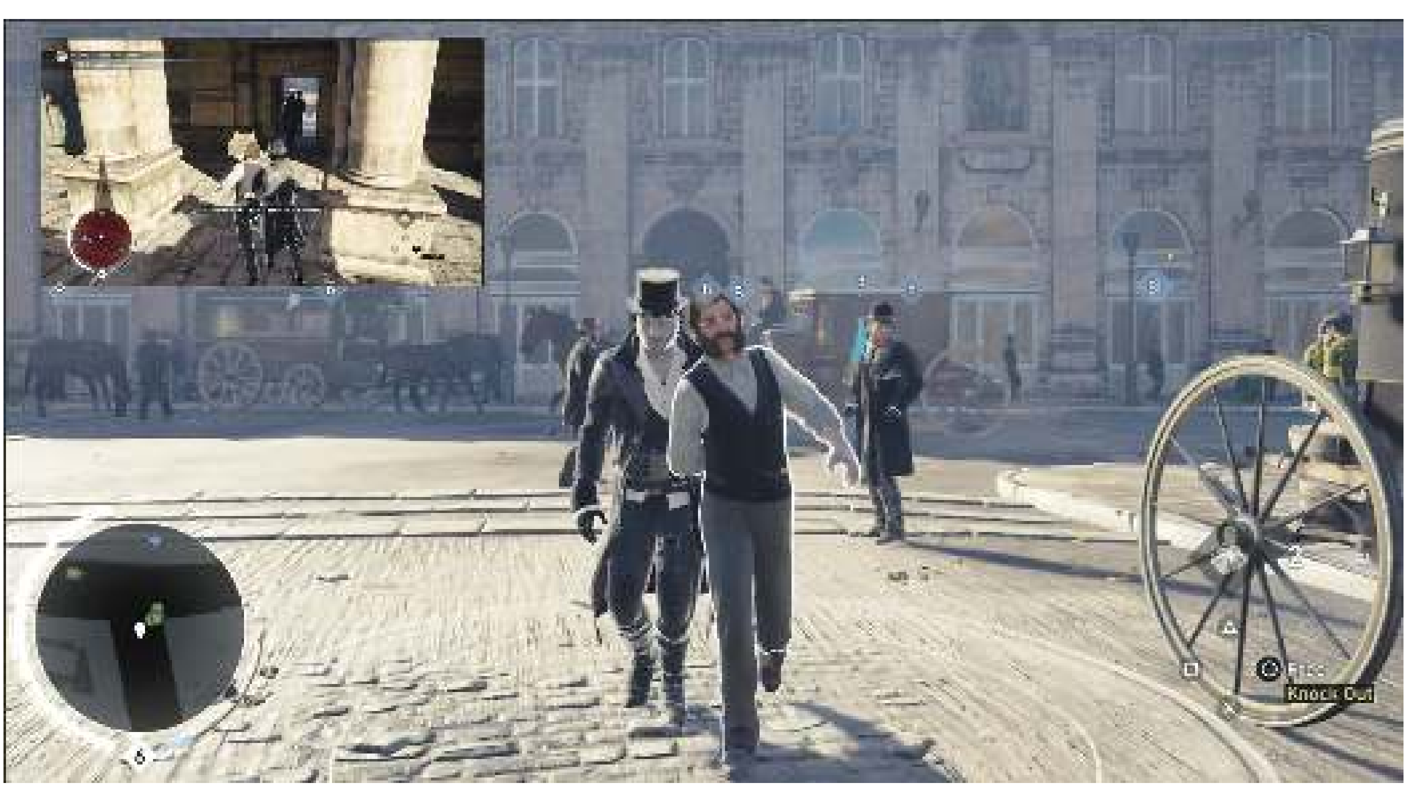


Police Bribes

If you have not yet spent the money for the Insider Gang Upgrade “Police Bribes” then now would be the perfect time. The cops will not become suspicious of you as quickly, turning a blind eye to your illegal intentions.

Current Objective: Kidnap Dredge

With Dredge captured, walk slowly to keep the detection zone small around your feet. If a cop gets near, come to a complete stop and then at a snail’s pace, edge in the desired direction. If you are in a clearing you can actually walk very quickly using Free Run. Find the nearest unguarded door and walk your victim out into the street and continue until you are clear of the red restriction zone on the Mini-Map.



You have just kidnapped the bumbling Frederick Abberline. He tells you there’s to be a robbery in the Bank of England. Jacob assures him he will get all the credit for their arrest if he would only share the name of the guy responsible. Abberline agrees, “The thieves are supplied by Cockham Merchants.” In Jacob’s next memory, A Spot Of Tea, he continues this lead and meets Abberline at the shipyards to dig deeper.

Current Objective: Defend Edward

Location: Southwark

The memory start (1) is located on the rooftop of an East Southwark home near the train station. In this memory, Evie visits Southwark after Jacob assassinated Pearl and shut down her omnibus company.

Three Blighter thugs surround Edward Hodson Bayle—a nicely dressed elderly man. He backs away from the gang as they threaten him and his family. Evie drops from a rooftop onto the street behind the gang and yells. The diversion allows the frightened man to get away in a nearby carriage.

It's highly recommended that you have your bullets and knives at max capacity before starting this memory. They will be in great demand.

While in your carriage, you see Edward Bayle fleeing to the left through the intersection in front of you. A Blighter-driven carriage is hot on his tail. Whip the horse and get after the Blighter carriage. Once in range, begin using the Quickshot pistol feature. Try to take out all three Blighters with bullets. If you run out, fallback to knives.

Bayle's cart is marked with a blue blip and the word "Defend." Race to him directly; the Blighters are drawn to him as well.

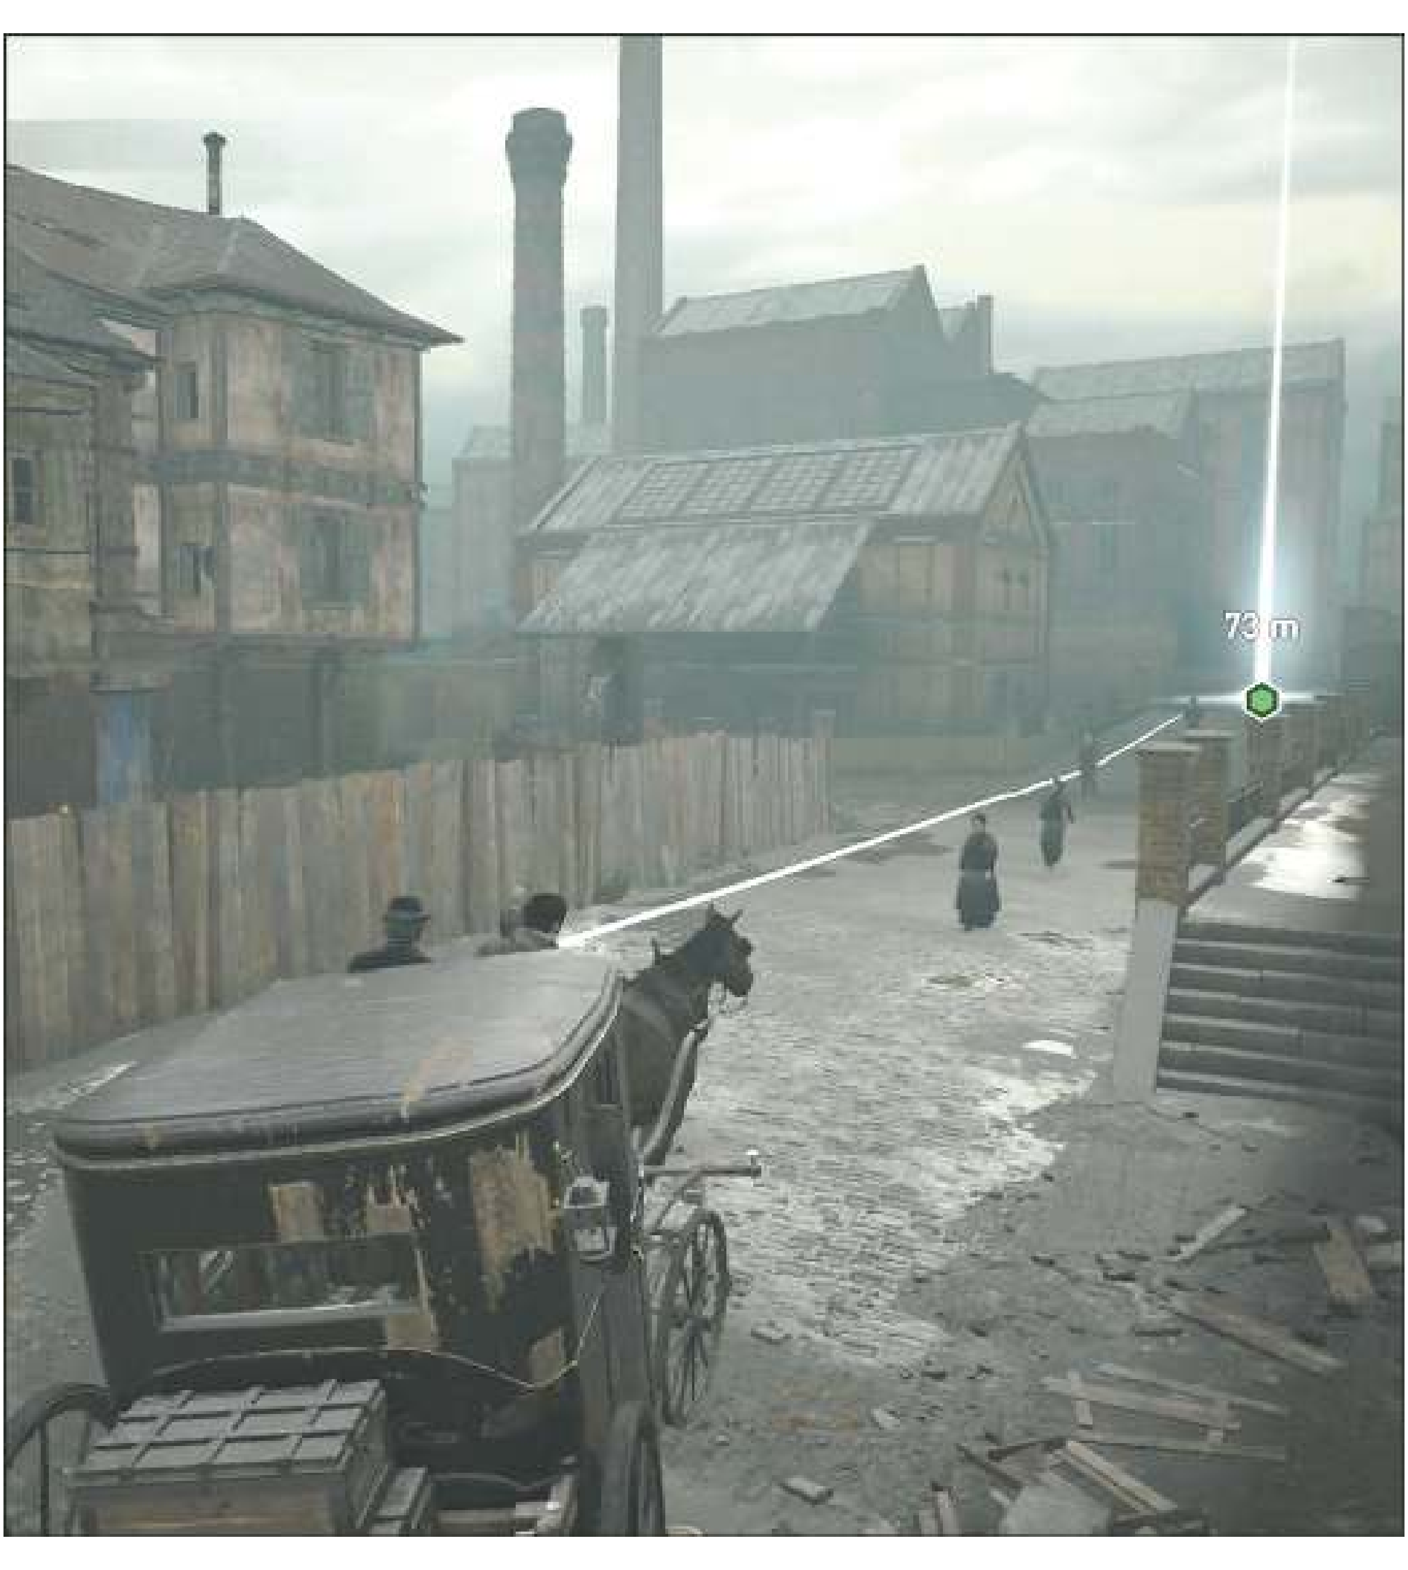
There are three carriages with one Blighter each. Not a terribly tough Challenge, unless you are low on ammo. Remember you can also Ram their carriages and then if they survive that you can hijack them out of the carriage and show them your latest knife. If you catch up to Edward, you can board his carriage and take over the driving—it's not a bad idea to do this while Blighters are trying to attack Bayle. You will do a much better job of keeping him safe if he's by your side. And the best place for you to be is in control of his vehicle.

Current Objective: Reach the omnibus factory

Drive Edward's carriage

The objective does not change until all three Blighter pursuers are dead. Then you are to drive Edward in his vehicle to the omnibus factory (2). During the ride Edward expresses his fears for his children's lives. He says since Attaway Transport and the Millner Company went belly-up, with no one to fill their shoes, the gangs made their move. Evie mutters under her breath, "Well done, Jacob."

Edward is the only omnibus builder in the city and they are demanding he work for them. Evie allies with Mr. Bayle to get back a stolen deed that will allow him to start a new, honest omnibus company.



Current Objective: Locate the deed

Challenge: Do not let the target exit the factory

Location: Attaway Transport, Southwark

The rest of this mission will seem very familiar to you if you have been conquering boroughs and taking out a lot of child labor factories. There are no children here but the layout of the building is a popular factory design-type and there's a boss glowing yellow inside when searching with Eagle Vision activated. Current Objective: Locate the smuggled Cockham weapons

Location: The Thames, South City Of London

Jacob meets Abberline at the end of a pier (1) in the City of London on The Thames. Looking out at the sea of shipping vessels, Abberline tells Jacob, "If only I knew which shipment it was, then I could trace the weapons to their owner." Jacob loves this idea and acts on it. He will use his Eagle Vision to locate Cockham's weapon crates.

Head north toward shore. The pier is populated with police and Blighters, so if you don't feel like dealing with them, leap from the pier rail to the mast of the ship (2) near your meeting location. Head to the end of the ship and jump to the pier rail and continue to the street.

If the cart gets out of your view (blocked by buildings) then a 25 second timer begins ticking down until you get can get a direct line of sight with the cart again. Lucy Thorne: Assassination Target

While in the vantage point you see your assassination target: Lucy Thorne. She's in a chapel yelling at her guards about the Shroud being in a chest that matches the key. She demands they bring it to her.

Chief Yeoman: Infiltration Opportunity

You see Chief Yeoman Warder (3) holding the master keys to the Tower of London. Get these keys and you gain easy entry into the tower to get to Thorne. Alternatively, you wont need keys if you simply go for the Unique Kill Opportunity. What the Yeoman's keys guarantees is the Constable's freedom; you won't have to chase after the guard who has the keys to his cell.

Allied Guard: Unique Kill Opportunity

The Allied Guard is a spy and on your side if you take out some of the disguised Templars for him. They glow red in Eagle Vision so they are easy to spot. He will then allow you to be taken under (fake) arrest to get marched directly in front of Lucy Thorne. You need only speak to him (4) to begin and then kill three Templars dotted around the map. Kill at a safe distance with throwing knives. Once they are dead, return to the Allied Guard and let him take you under fake arrest. Walk yourself directly into the tower and up the stairs to see Lucy. Execute a unique kill ☐ / ✕ to take Lucy without a fight.

Constable: Assistance Opportunity

The final vision from your Vantage Point is of the Constable (5) being locked in a room. If you free him, you have access to a small gang of Royal Soldiers (including the Constable). You can Recruit them and they can aid in your raid on the tower. But for them to be of any use to you, you must first find the Templar holding the key to the Constable's cell. This guy is on a lower floor in the same building. Take him out without much commotion and then return to free the Constable. Alternatively, you can simply unlock the door if you have a Master Key. This is why you should complete the Chief Yeoman's Infiltration Opportunity first.

Location: Bank of England, City of London

Jacob meets Frederick Abberline on the rooftop of a building (1) across the street from the Bank of England. They discuss thwarting Twopenny's bank robbery plans. Jacob assumes that Twopenny is deep in the vault as they speak and asks Abberline how to get into the vault. Abberline explains….

Mr. Osborne the Bank Manager: Stealth Opportunity

THE BANK MANAGER

Only Mr. Osborne is allowed free access to the vault. There are other ways into the vault as we will discuss, but if you kidnap the manager you can walk right into the vault through a squad of security guards.

THE VAULT WATCHER

One man watches the vault like a hawk and if he sees you he is sure to seal it. As a strategy note, you can kidnap the Bank Manager and walk right into the vault under this guy's watch. We suggest taking this guy out first only if you are going in with the intention of eliminating the guards at the vault entrance.

Gus Howard the Head of Security: Unique Kill Opportunity

The guard captain, Gus Howard, keeps a tight watch on his men who guard the door. If he leaves, they tend to relax their vigilance.

These high, open windows allow direct access to some high trusses which, in turn, allow you to watch over the guards in the bank below while remaining undetected. But that's a different strategy. Suggested Level: 6

Current Objective: Reach the Sinopean Club

From the rooftop you face west toward the Sinopean Club (2) marked in the distance with a green blip around 94 meters away. Jump off the end of the pole sticking out of the building you're on and leap into the haystack below. There's a merchant on the sidewalk below if you need any items.

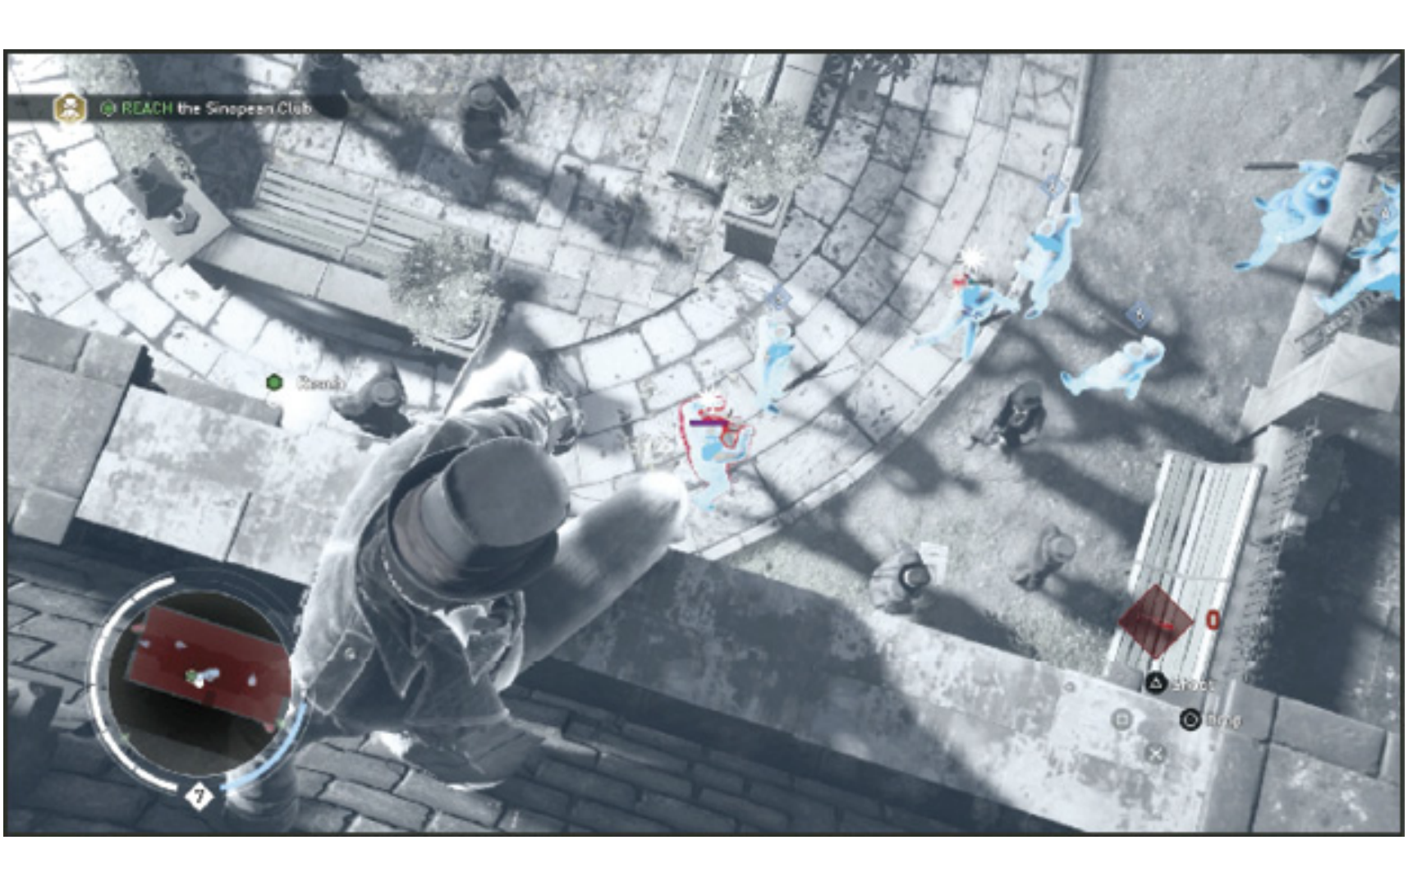
REACH the Sinopean Club
NEW DATABASE ENTRIES

Walk west toward the Sinopean Club across the street. Activate Eagle Vision. Notice the many policemen guarding the entrance and posted at various locations inside. Before you enter the Reach marker in the Sinopean Club courtyard, gather a local Rook gang. You should find some on nearby street corners. Send them inside to attack the policemen before you enter the marker and activate a Challenge that frowns on killing the guards.

REACH the Sinopean Club

Location: Sinopean Club

Another option is to get onto the Sinopean Club rooftop and look down into the courtyard to assess the situation. Shoot a hallucinogenic dart at a cop and wait for a crowd of cops to form. When a group of them are massed together, shoot a couple more cops in the group with darts to have them kill each other.

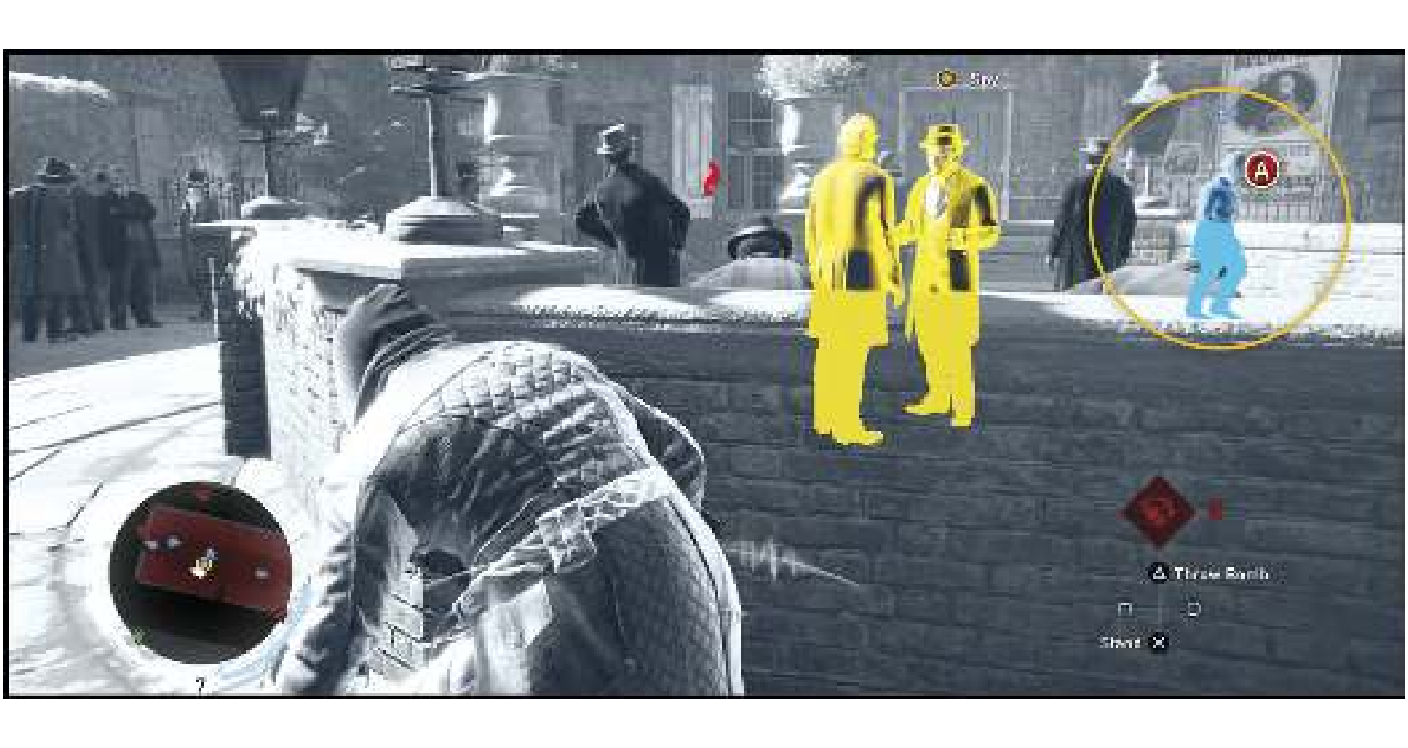


While they all fight each other, start throwing Voltaic Bombs on the group until all of the policemen in the group are finished. This does get rid of all the cops in the area and does not stop the policeman that circles the meeting that is about to happen. But it does make the next Challenge a lot easier to deal with.

Current Objective: Reach the Sinopean Club

Challenge: Do not kill any guards in the Sinopean Club

Drop down off the rooftop to the Reach marker inside the courtyard near the round bench enclosure (3). Cover behind the bench enclosure's short walls. While in Eagle Vision you can see the Prime Minister and William Gladstone highlighted yellow. They meet in the middle of the bench enclosure and begin to talk. Remain covered behind the short wall. A new policeman (A) arrives to patrol the area. He is located on the west side of the enclosure.



Remain Within Range to Spy

You must cover behind the short wall around the meeting at the circle of park benches. Any other location that is out of policemen's sight is too far and a timer activates and counts down from one minute and does not stop until you get within listening range again. If this timer reaches zero, you are desynchronized.

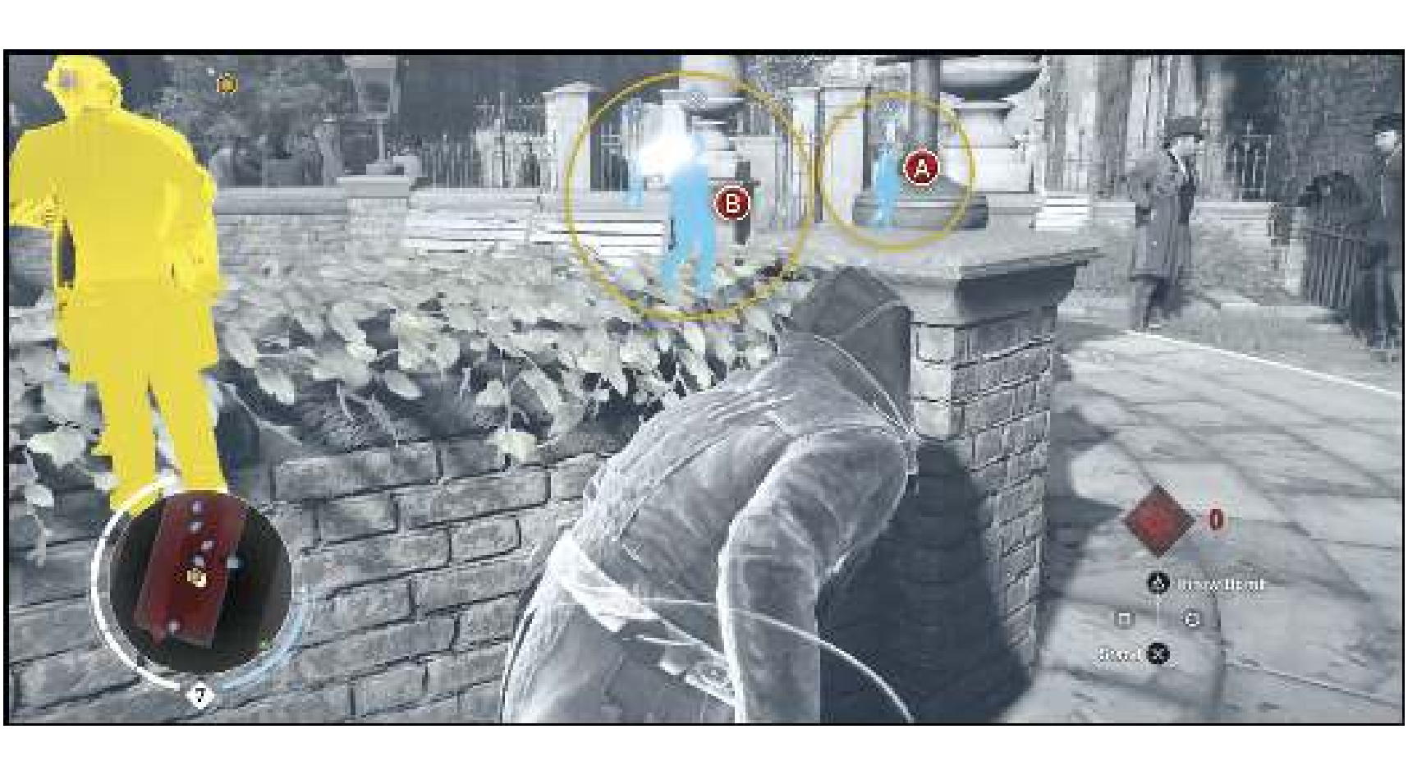
WARNING: Remain within range to spy

The newly arrived policeman (A) patrols around this round park bench wall you are covering behind. So all you have to do is keep Eagle Vision activated so you can locate him clearly and crouch-walk along the wall, always staying on the opposite side as he patrols around it. You do not need to worry about the Prime Minister or Gladstone seeing you in the walkway openings in the short wall. You are of no interest to them. But you do need to make sure the patrolling policeman does not see you cross these openings.

SPY on the Prime Minister
Do not kill any guards in the Sinopean Club

Now you know why we eliminated so many policemen before this Challenge starts (when you enter the Reach marker). Imagine avoiding all the police that were in the area while crouch-walking around the bench walls! At one point, the patrolling policeman (A) switches patrol with another (B) who was patrolling further north. Just keep an eye on this switch and continue to stay behind the opposite wall from the currently patrolling policeman. Alternatively, you could sneak up behind the policemen as they patrol ahead of you and knock them out. When the second one arrives he inspects the body of the first, which makes him an easy target for another knockout.



Current Objective: Tackle the spy

When the heated get-together is over, Benjamin Disraeli walks off and a spy is seen following closely behind him. Jacob begins to pursue the pursuer. You are now supposed to tackle the spy known as "B."

She comes to and is startled to find herself suspended over the edge of the rooftop. She sees Jacob holding her by her jacket collar, temporarily keeping her from falling to her death.

Jacob interrogates the sniper. He asks for the name of the guy she works for. She claims she never got his name. Describes him as an old chap with a big beard and wore some kind of uniform. "Hussars, maybe," she says. She adds that her lads are to attack the Prime Minister's carriage on the way to Parliament. Current Objective: Infiltrate the Disraelis' carriage

The Disraelis enter the carriage (2) in front of their house and remain there until you infiltrate it. So you have time to strategize. Location: 10 Downing St., Westminster

Enter the memory marker (1) in the Disraeli's backyard on 10 Downing St., Westminster. Jacob meets Mary Ann Disraeli at night on a park bench with her small dog, Desmond, in a bag. Jacob is exaggeratedly polite and courtly to the Prime Minister's wife as he asks if she is ready to tour Devil's Acre. She tells Jacob she's afraid she'll have to cancel their engagement; there are scandal-hunting reporters crawling outside her door. She can't risk being seen with Jacob. Jacob tells her that he will take care of them, discreetly.

Current Objective: Use tools to distract the reporters

Challenge: Distract the reporters with an ally

When you gain control of Jacob, walk through the concrete archway in the yard and head south through the yard to the open metal gate near a haystack. Now you are at the street. To your right are the reporters (2) and police at the Disraeli's front door. Across the street is a small girl (3) sitting on a stoop. She glows white when Eagle Vision is activated. While sitting down to share a couple of pints, a Blighter sitting nearby takes notice of the odd couple and their dog in a bag at the next table. He promptly gets up, walks over to your table, and steals the puppy and bag.

Current Objective: Follow Desmond's barks to find the dognapper

You are tasked to follow Desmond's barks to find the Blighter who stole him. Look onscreen to find the green blip on the ground and pass through it. When you can't see the next green blip visually, glance at the Mini-Map to locate the next closest blip. Continue to follow the green blips until you run into the Blighter with the pup. The final location is where the first Reach maker appeared in the slums (10).

Current Objective: Escape with Mrs. Disraeli

After the cinematic, Mary Ann, Desmond, and you are back at the carriage (8), but the dognapper and his Blighter friends are quickly approaching and they won't be messing with the pooch this time. You can either stand and fight or jump into the driver's seat of the carriage and take off for Mary Ann's home. If you decide to stand and fight, begin the battle by throwing a smoke bomb down on the ground around you. This helps you make quick work of the three level 8 and one level 9 Blighters.

Current Objective: Escort Mrs. Disraeli back to 10 Downing Street

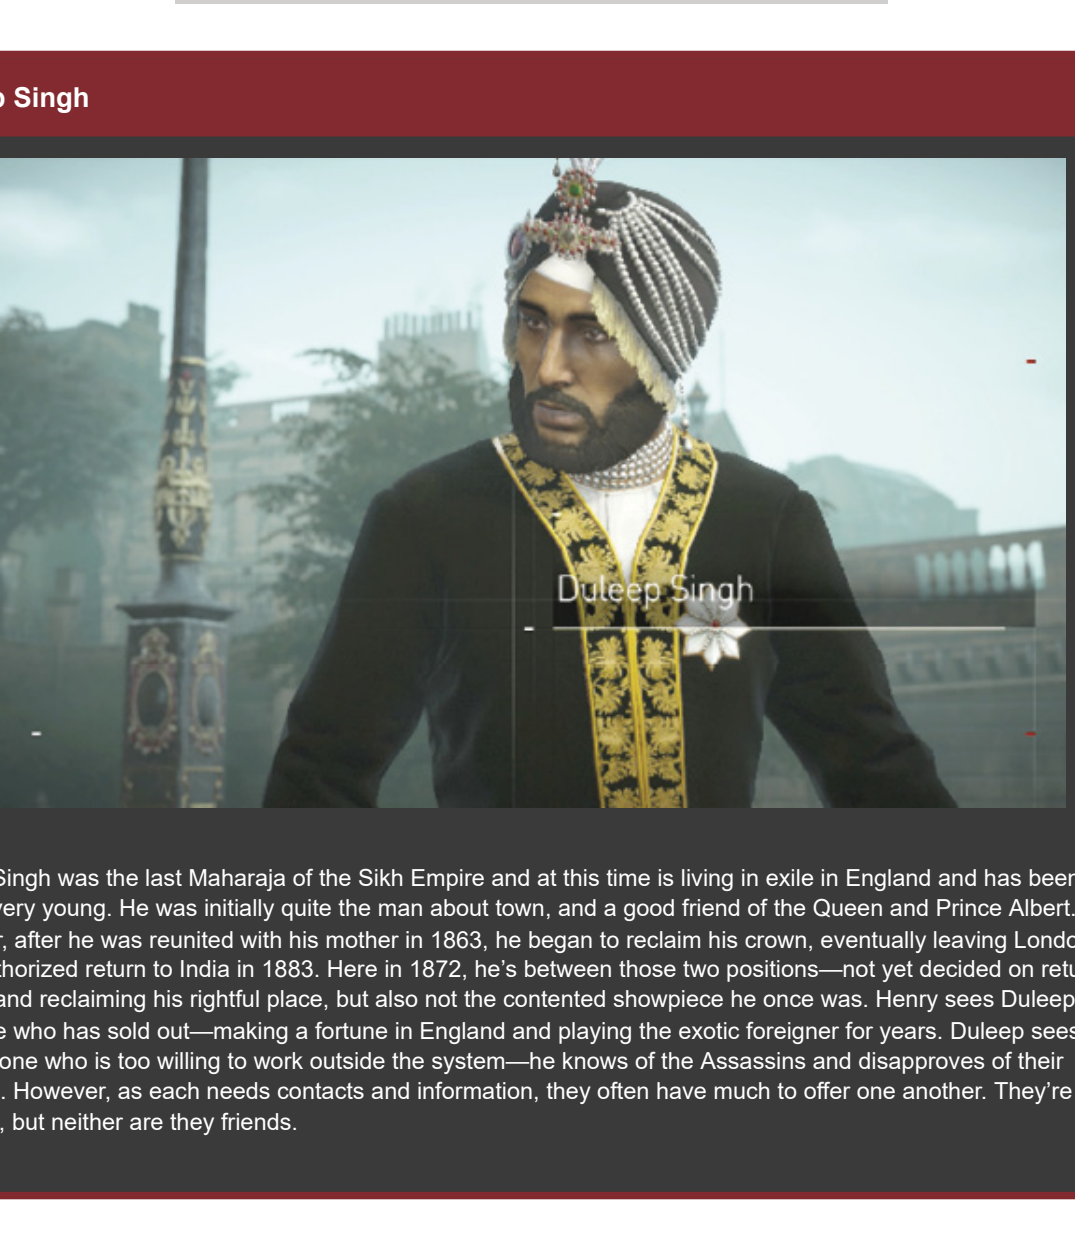
Duleep Singh



Duleep Singh was the last Maharaja of the Sikh Empire and at this time is living in exile in England and has been since he was very young. He was initially quite the man about town, and a good friend of the Queen and Prince Albert. However, after he was reunited with his mother in 1863, he began to reclaim his crown, eventually leaving London for an unauthorized return to India in 1883. Here in 1872, he's between those two positions—not yet decided on returning to India and reclaiming his rightful place, but also not the contented showpiece he once was. Henry sees Duleep as someone who has sold out—making a fortune in England and playing the exotic foreigner for years. Duleep sees Henry as someone who is too willing to work outside the system—he knows of the Assassins and disapproves of their methods. However, as each needs contacts and information, they often have much to offer one another. They're not enemies, but neither are they friends.

Location: The Strand

Evie meets Henry at the square (1) in The Strand. Evie and Henry are walking together across the square, Henry strides with a purpose. Evie tries to keep up. Henry has found a letter from the Prince Consort among Lucy Thorne's research dated 1847. The year the Prince began renovations to Buckingham Palace. They think maybe he added a vault for the Shroud of Eden. They reach Dupleep Singh on a park bench and introductions are made. He tells Henry the plans have been removed by Crawford Starrick, but he knows where they are, but it's heavily guarded.

Current Objective: Find the documents

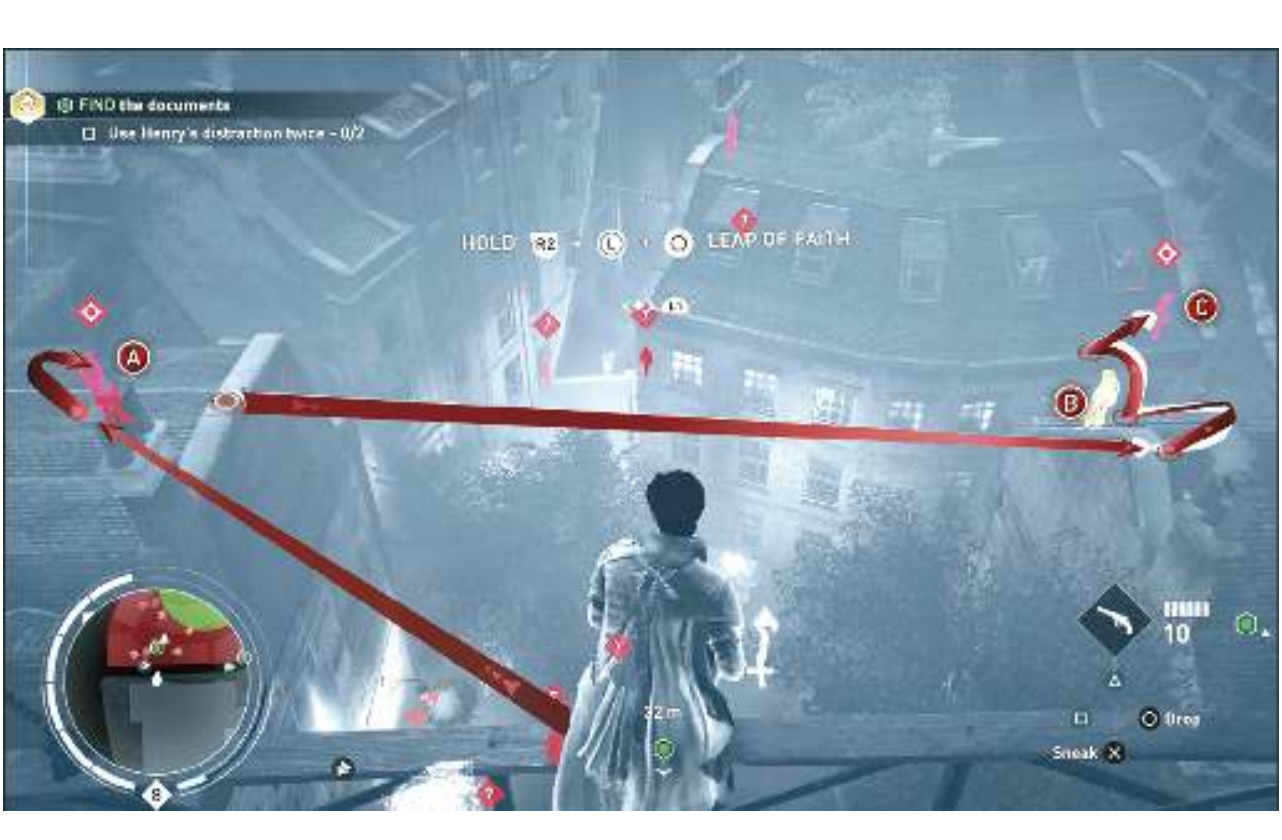
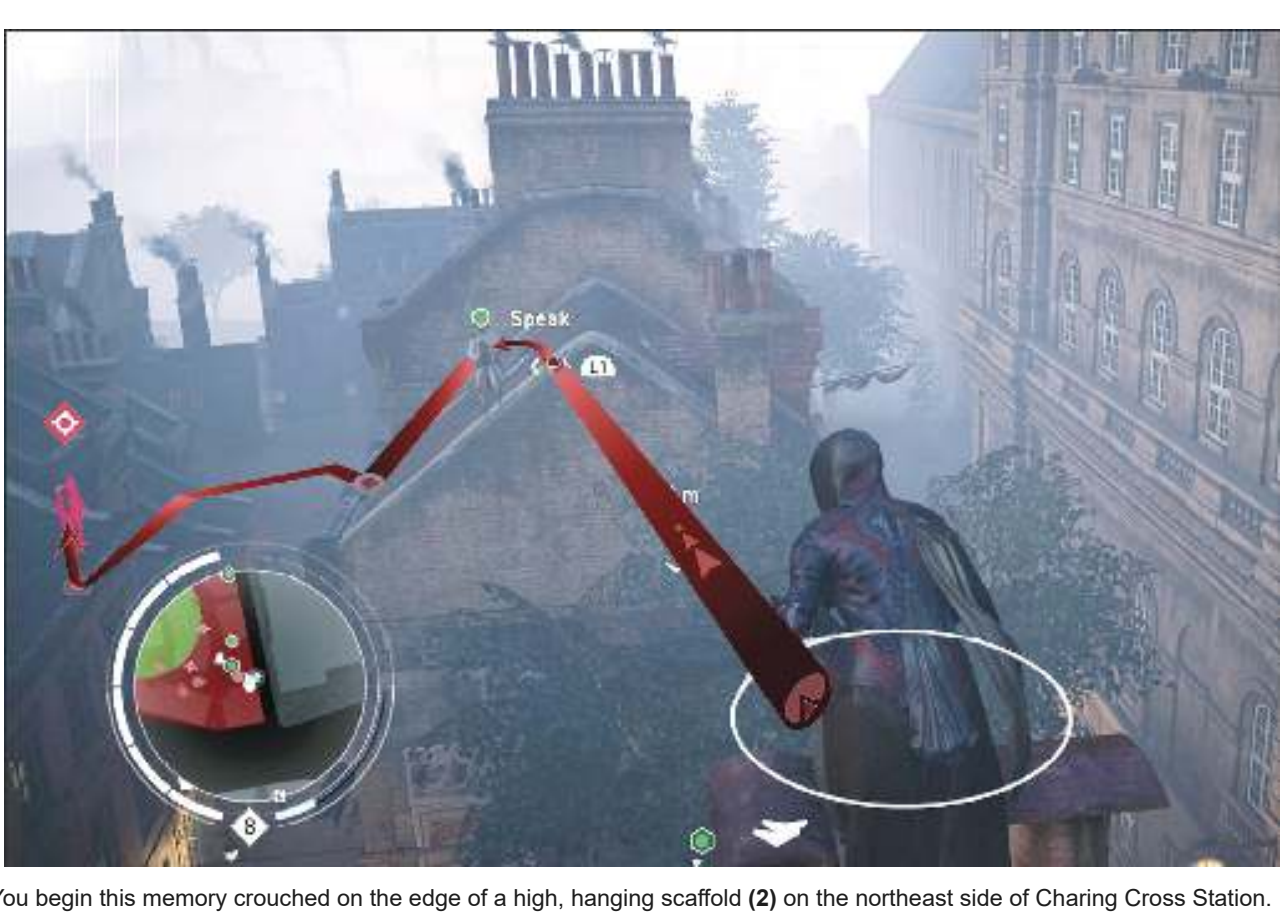
Location: Charing Cross Station, The Strand

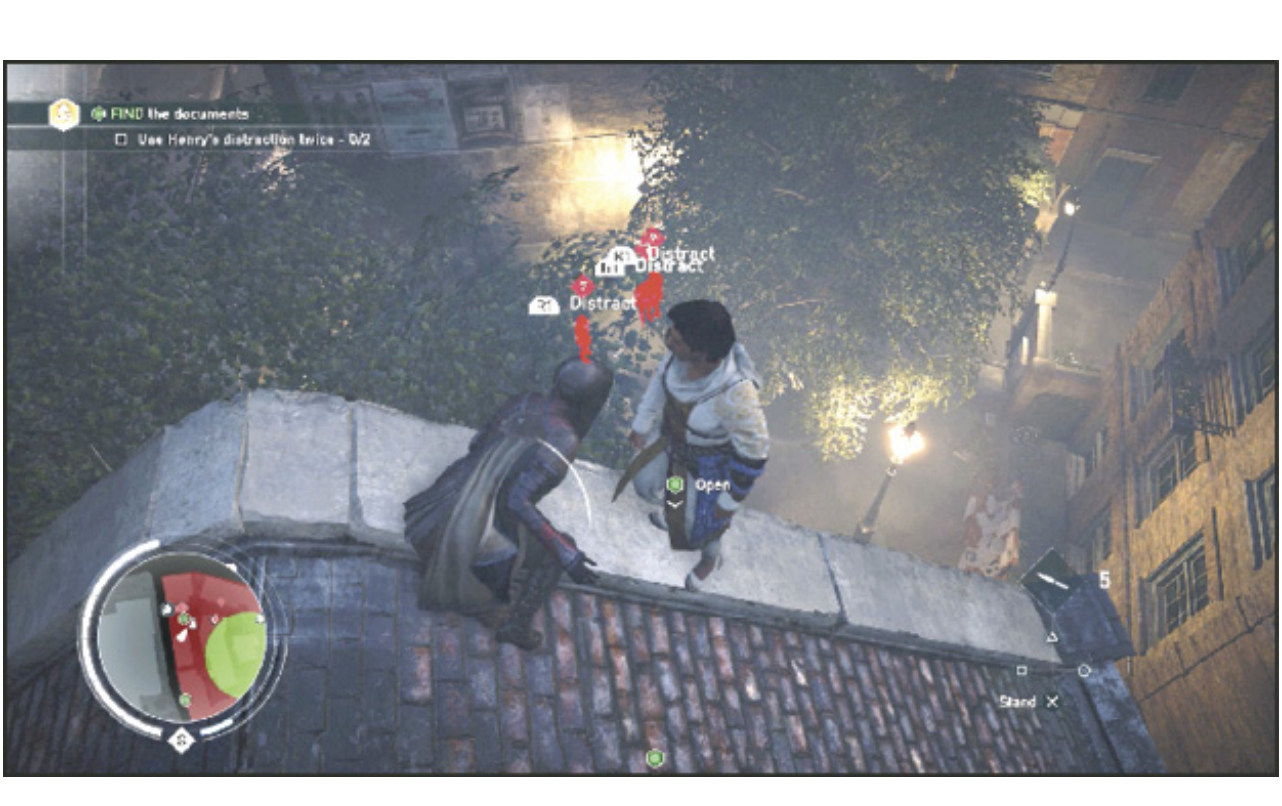


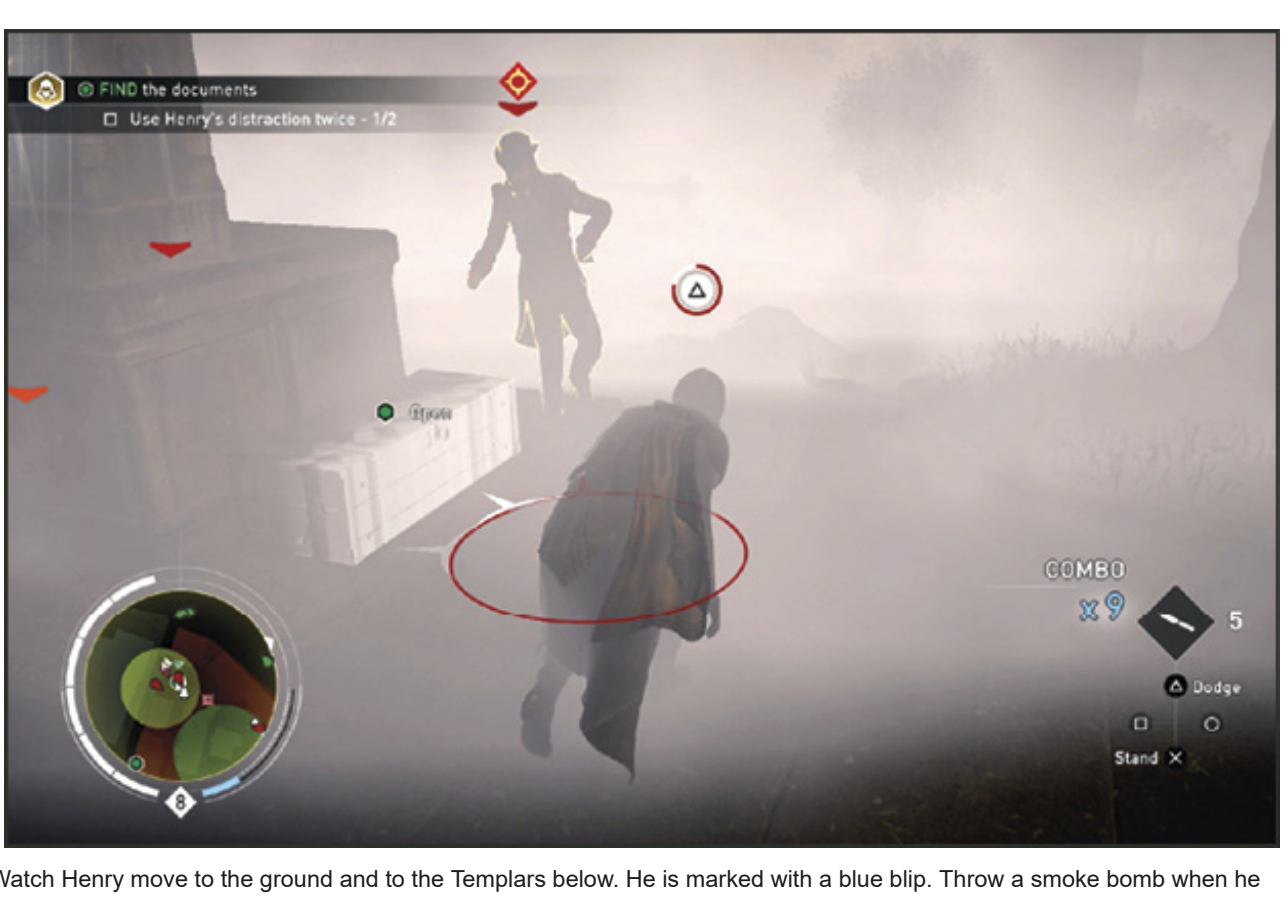


You begin this memory crouched on the edge of a high, hanging scaffold (2) on the northeast side of Charing Cross Station. You face a courtyard of Templars below and Henry Green (B) can be seen on a rooftop below and to your right (he glows yellow with Eagle Vision activated). There are also a couple of Watchers on rooftops in the area that you need to deal with before you ask Henry to distract the Templars around the first location (3) to search for the documents.

Rope Launch to the chimney on the rooftop to your left and then immediately perform an Air Assassination on the Watcher (A) standing on this rooftop. Rope Launch to Henry's (B) rooftop then walk down the east side. Leap to the rooftop across the alley and come up behind the Watcher (C) and silently assassinate her.

Return to Henry and speak to him. He says he'll distract the guards and start a fight. That's when you throw a smoke bomb on the scene, check the crate (3) for the documents, and escape. The crate is at the base of the statue in the middle of the courtyard and is marked with a green blip. So focus on the enemies below and press the R1 / RT button to send Henry after them to distract them.

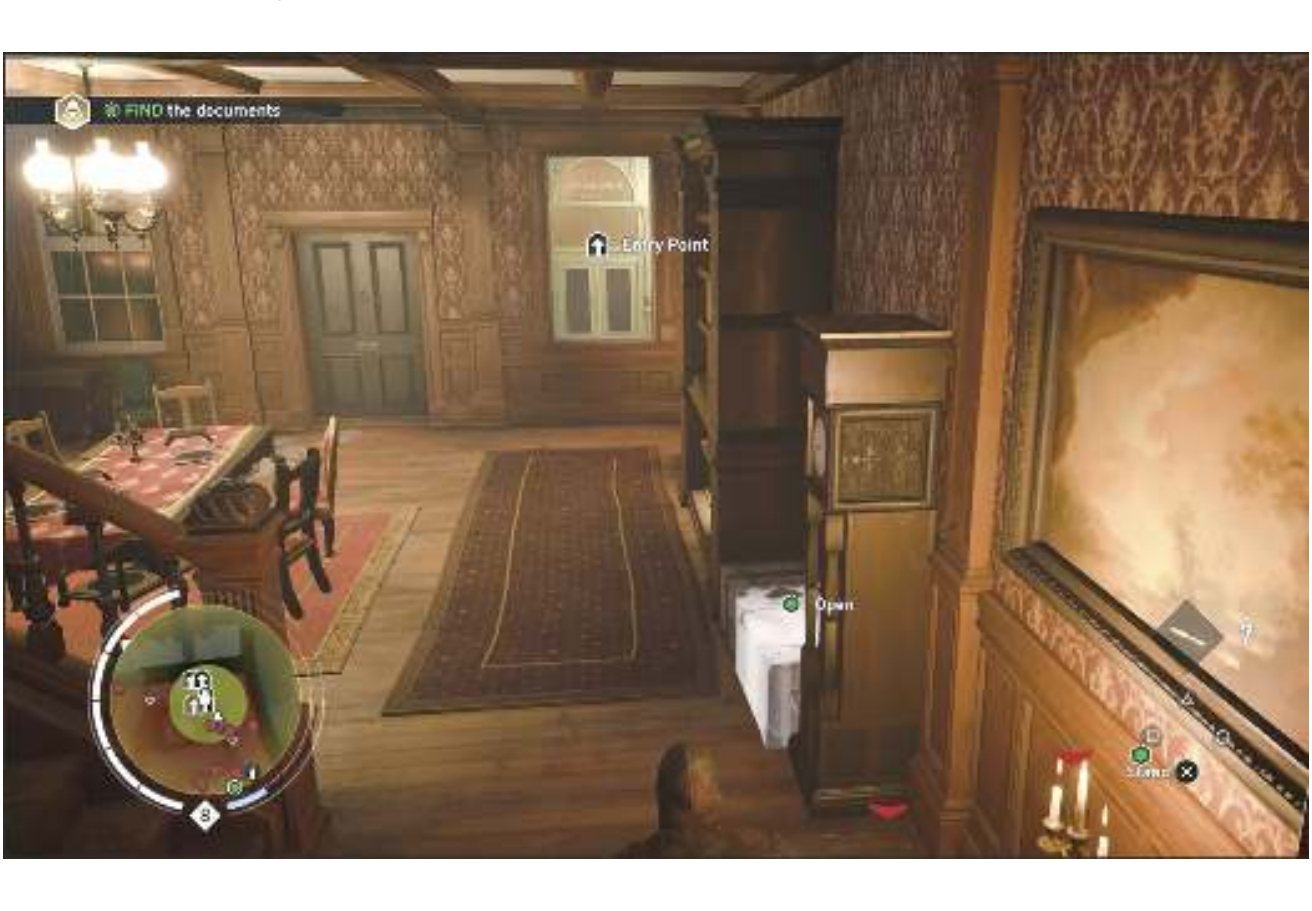




Watch Henry move to the ground and to the Templars below. He is marked with a blue blip. Throw a smoke bomb when he reaches the Templars. Jump down to the smoky courtyard, search the crate, and escape to the rooftops again. The crate does not contain the documents you were looking for but does contain the Upgraded Throwing Knife Schematic III.

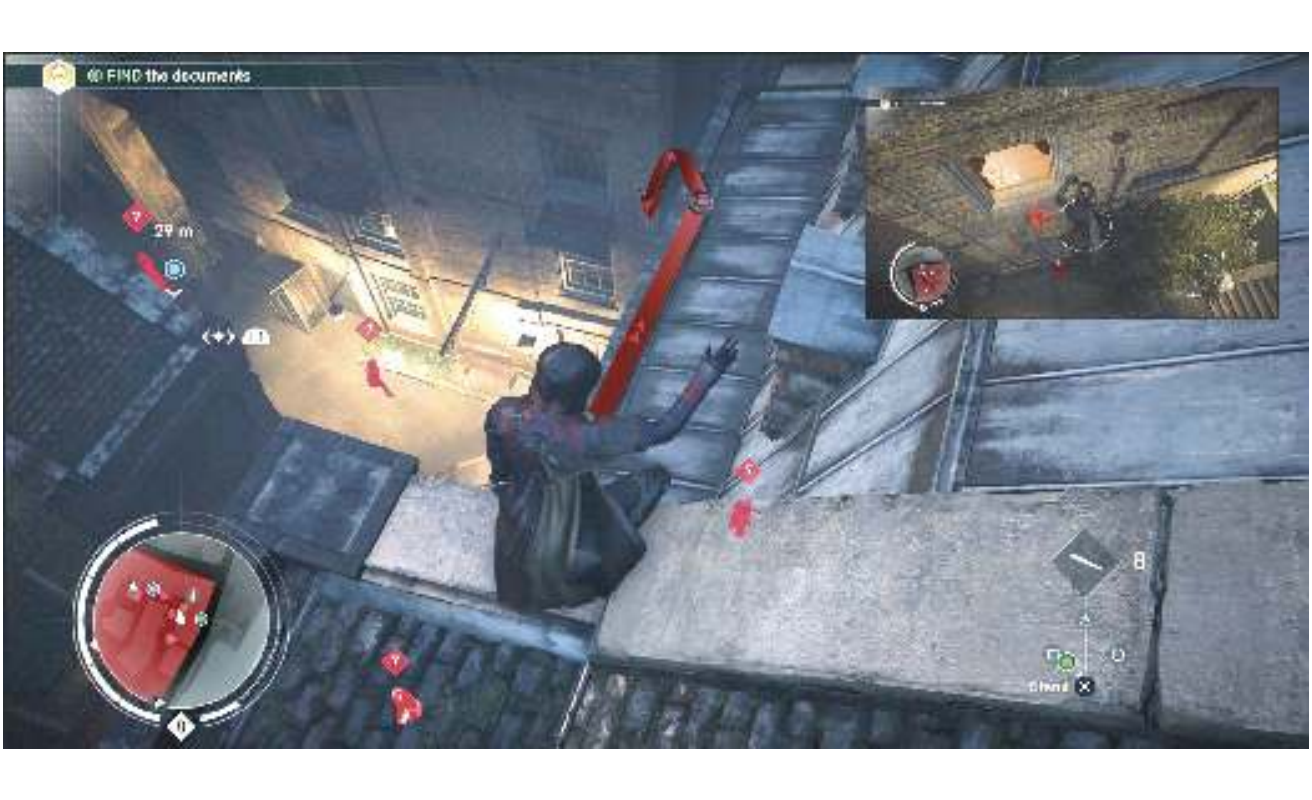
There are two more locations to search. Continue the search by getting to the rooftop (4) to the east. Sneak up behind the Watcher on this rooftop and assassinate her. Follow the rooftops around until you reach an area (5) with a good view of another large group of Templars standing around an alarm bell in the northeast section of the block.

Select the Templars and press the R1 / RT button to send Henry after them to distract them. This completes the Challenge for Henry's two distractions. Throw a smoke bomb to help him escape and to allow you to jump to the building with the open window to the east of this group. Enter the window and search the crate (6). It does not contain the documents either.



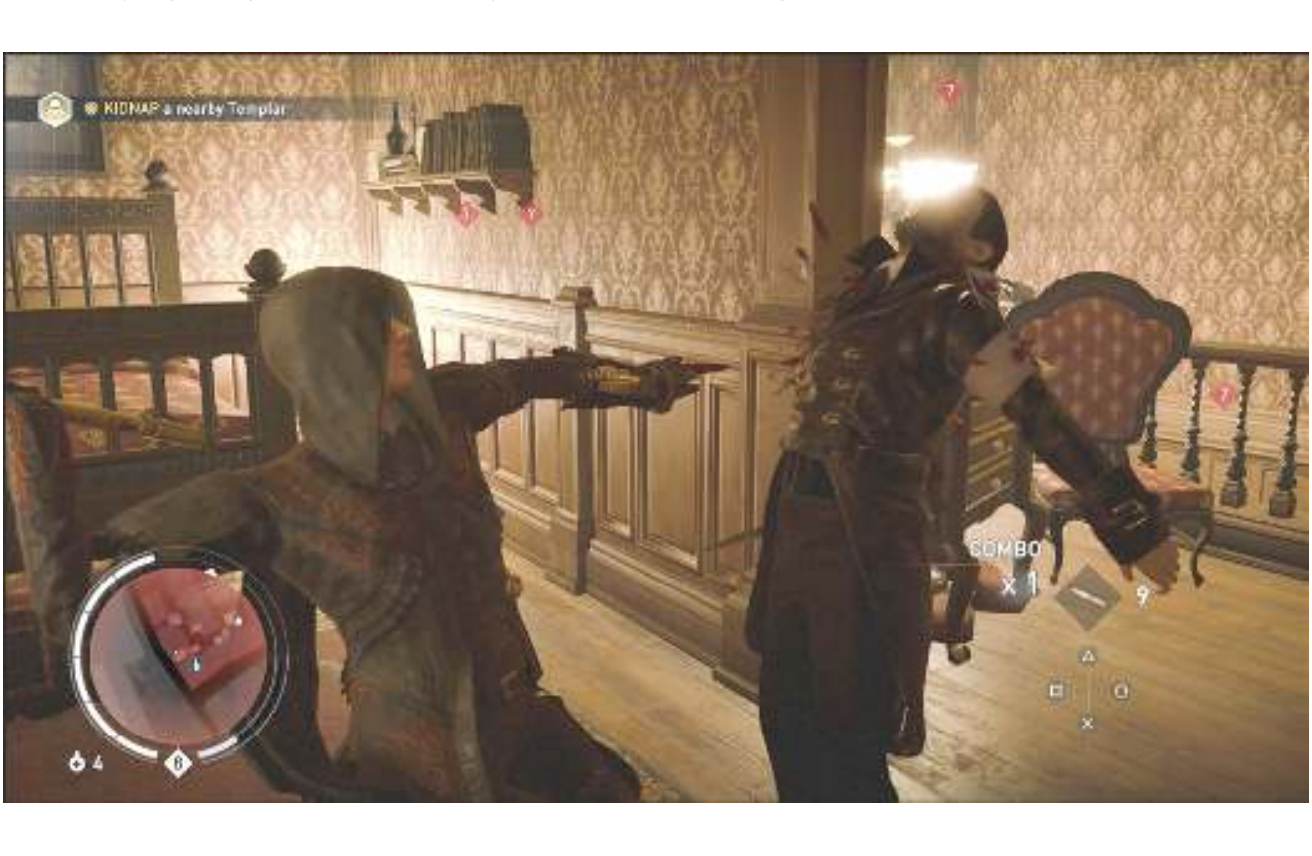
Exit the house through one of the Entry Point windows and work your way to the final Chest (8), which is inside a house in the southeast corner of the block. From the rooftop (7), call Henry Green to distract the Templars in the courtyard below and throw a smoke bomb to further distract the Thugs as you make your way into the top open window (Entry Point) below.

Once inside the top floor of the house with the last Chest (8), rush the Templar near the Chest and assassinate him. Search the Chest. You find this Chest empty as well. Evie concludes that she's going to have to interrogate someone to figure out where the plans are.

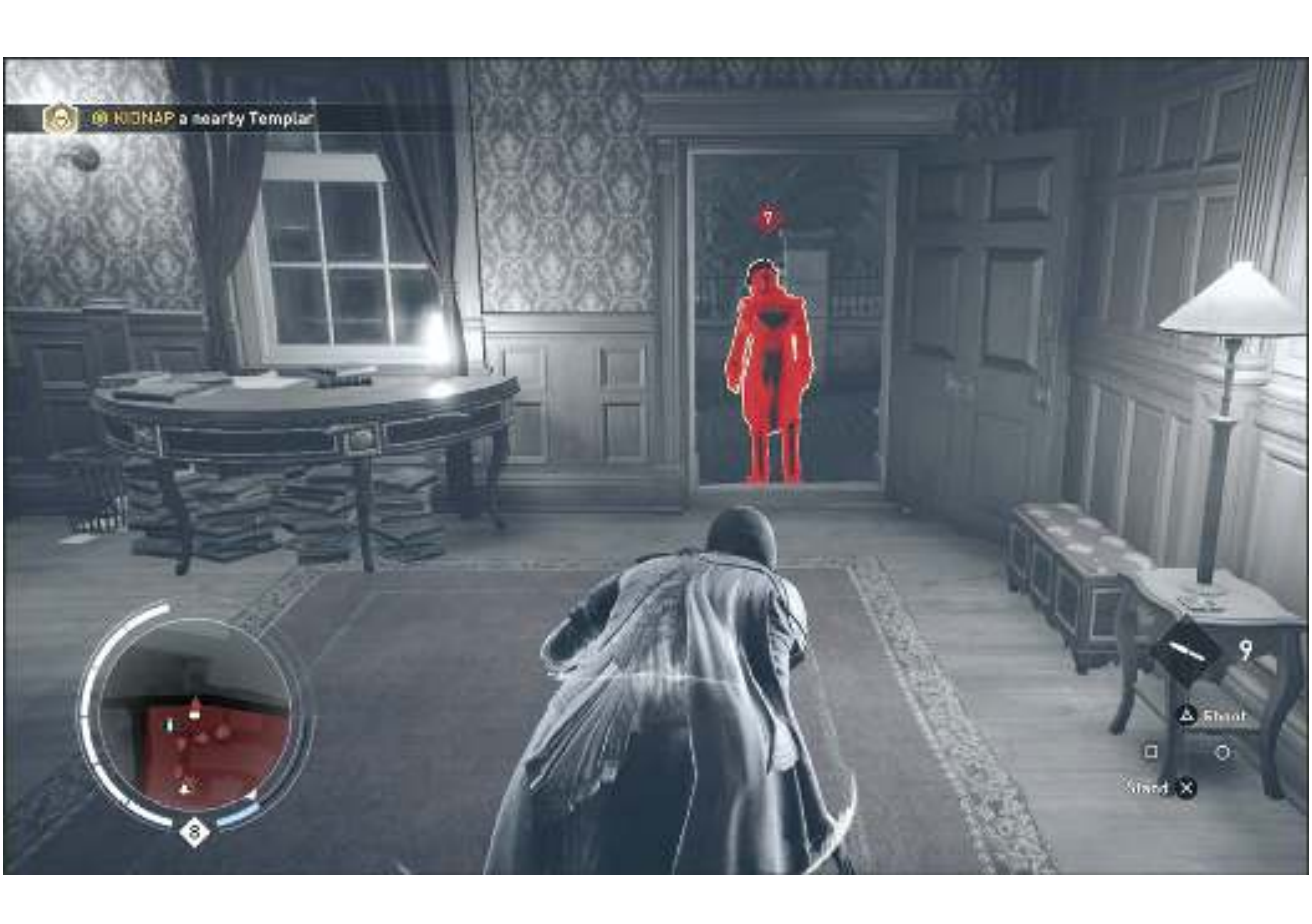


Current Objective: Kidnap a nearby Templar

Before you leave the room with the last Chest (8), cover at the bedroom doorway and whistle for the Templar directly below you on the first floor. Cover Assassinate him when he comes up to investigate. Head downstairs and you see a Templar with his back to you guarding the exit. He is perfectly positioned for a kidnapping.

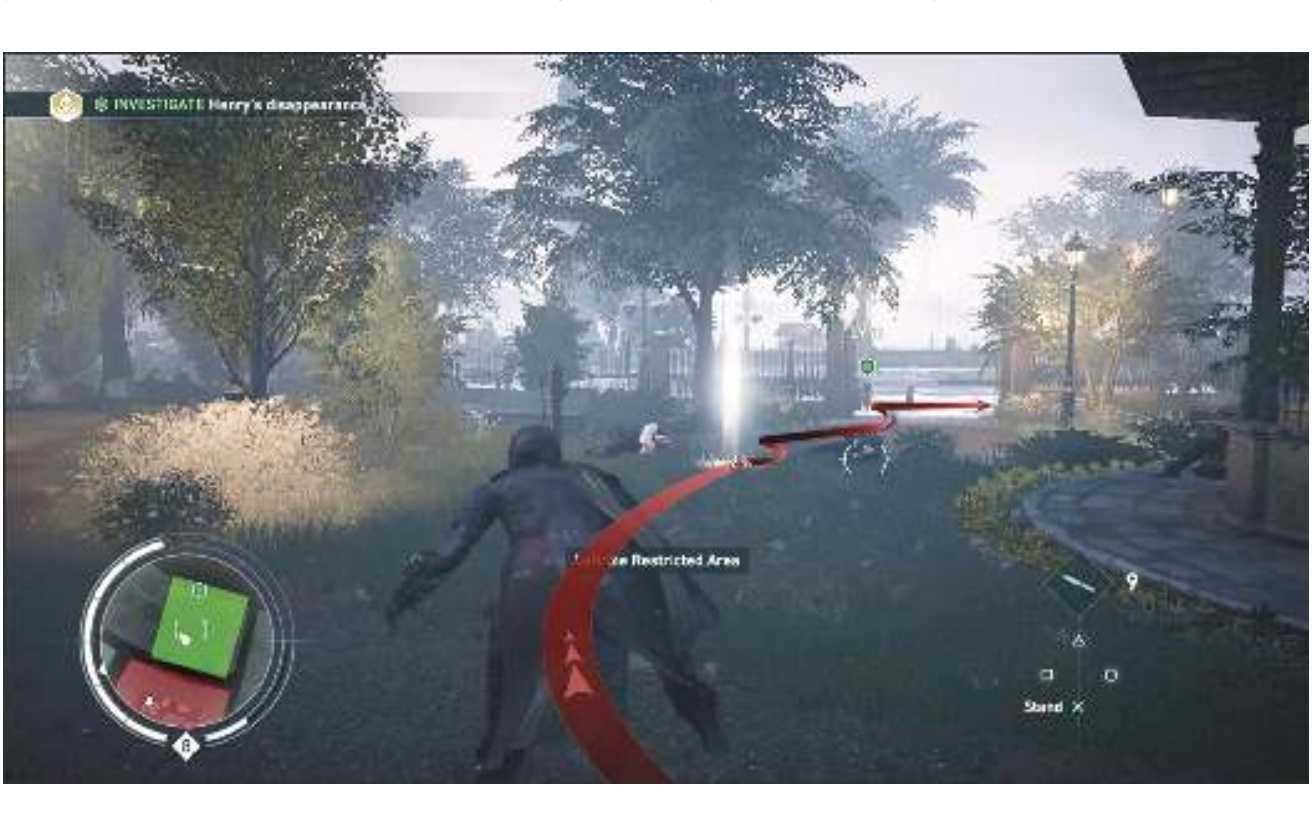


Kidnap the Templar in the doorway and walk him back inside the house. He tells you that Henry has been taken but knows nothing about the documents. Choke the Templar out or assassinate him (slice his throat while you have him kidnapped) and leave him there.



Current Objective: Find Henry

Exit the front door where you kidnapped the Templar and head east on the sidewalk following the distant green blip (9). When you reach the park, head to the northeast side of the gazebo to find your first clue to Henry's disappearance.



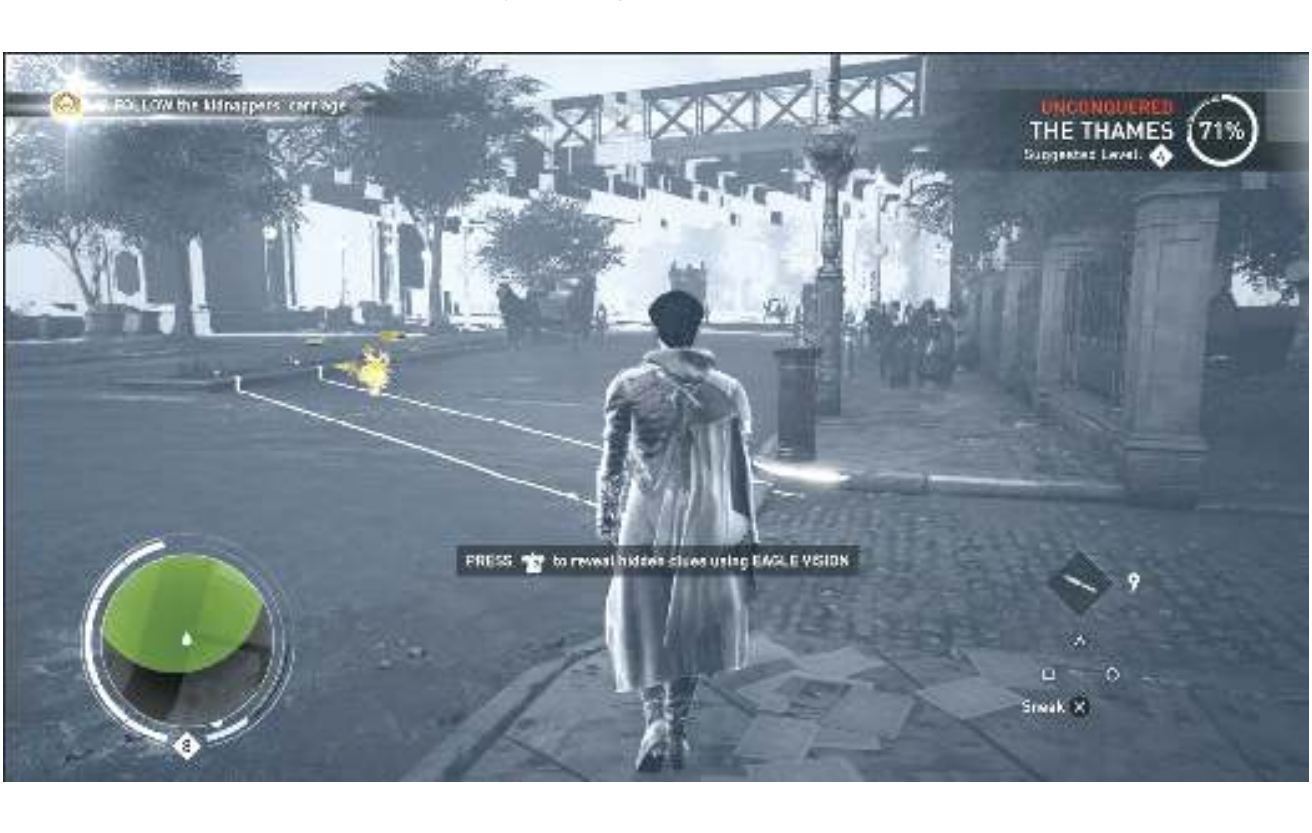
Current Objective: Investigate Henry's disappearance

There is a search icon on the ground between two dead Blighter bodies. Search this glowing marker. The dead bodies clearly show that Henry fought back. You begin to hear a little girl (10) at the street calling for you. Search the second clue just feet away from the first on your way to talk to the little children. These are visible footprints that indicate Henry might have been carried away.

With Eagle Vision activated you can see the footprints glowing and leading out of the park past the children you need to speak with next. The children say that Henry was taken off in a carriage and that the carriage was badly damaged and leaving tracks. He points to the south where another marker appears. Investigate this corner (11) next.

Current Objective: Follow the kidnappers' carriage

Activate Eagle Vision once you reach the marker on the street corner (11) the children pointed out. You spot yellow highlighted carriage tracks heading across the street. From here follow these tracks for blocks finding the wreckage it left in its wake. Follow the route marked on our map if you lose sight of the tracks.

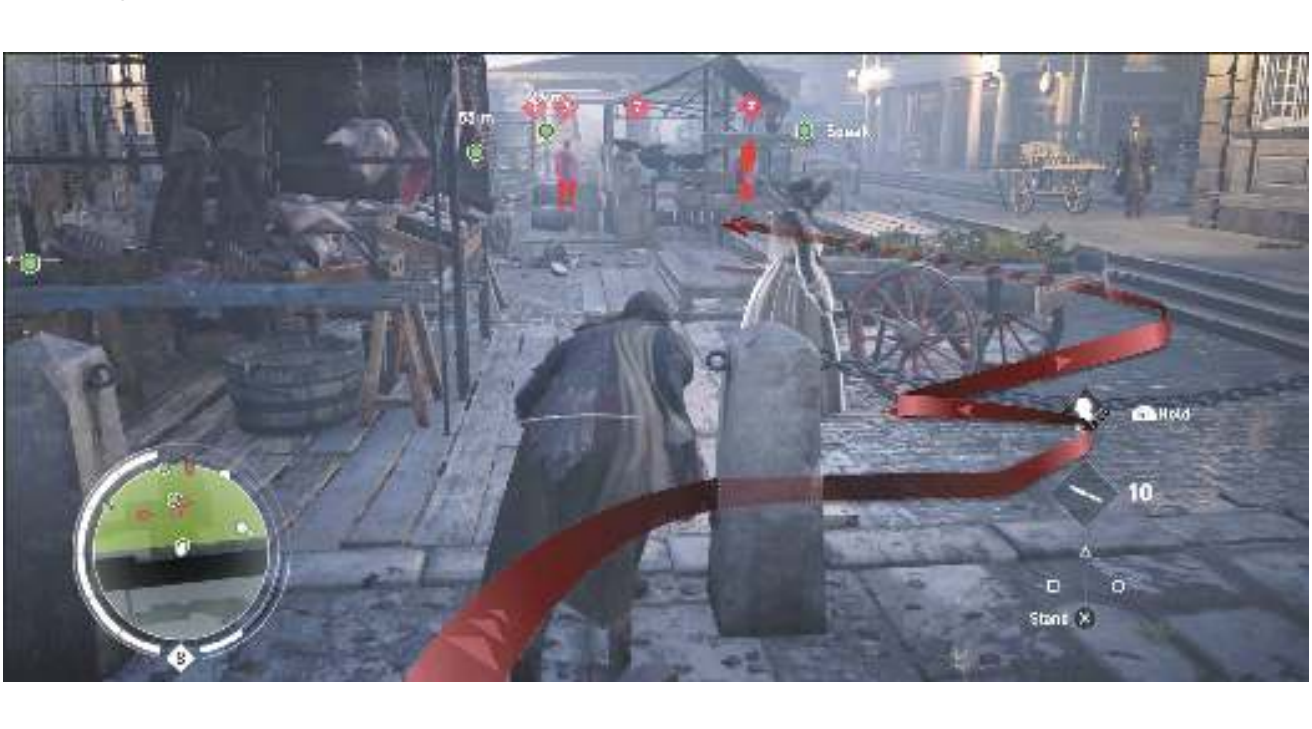


Current Objective: Find Henry

Challenge: Kill 2 guards using hanging barrels

Location: Street Market, The Strand

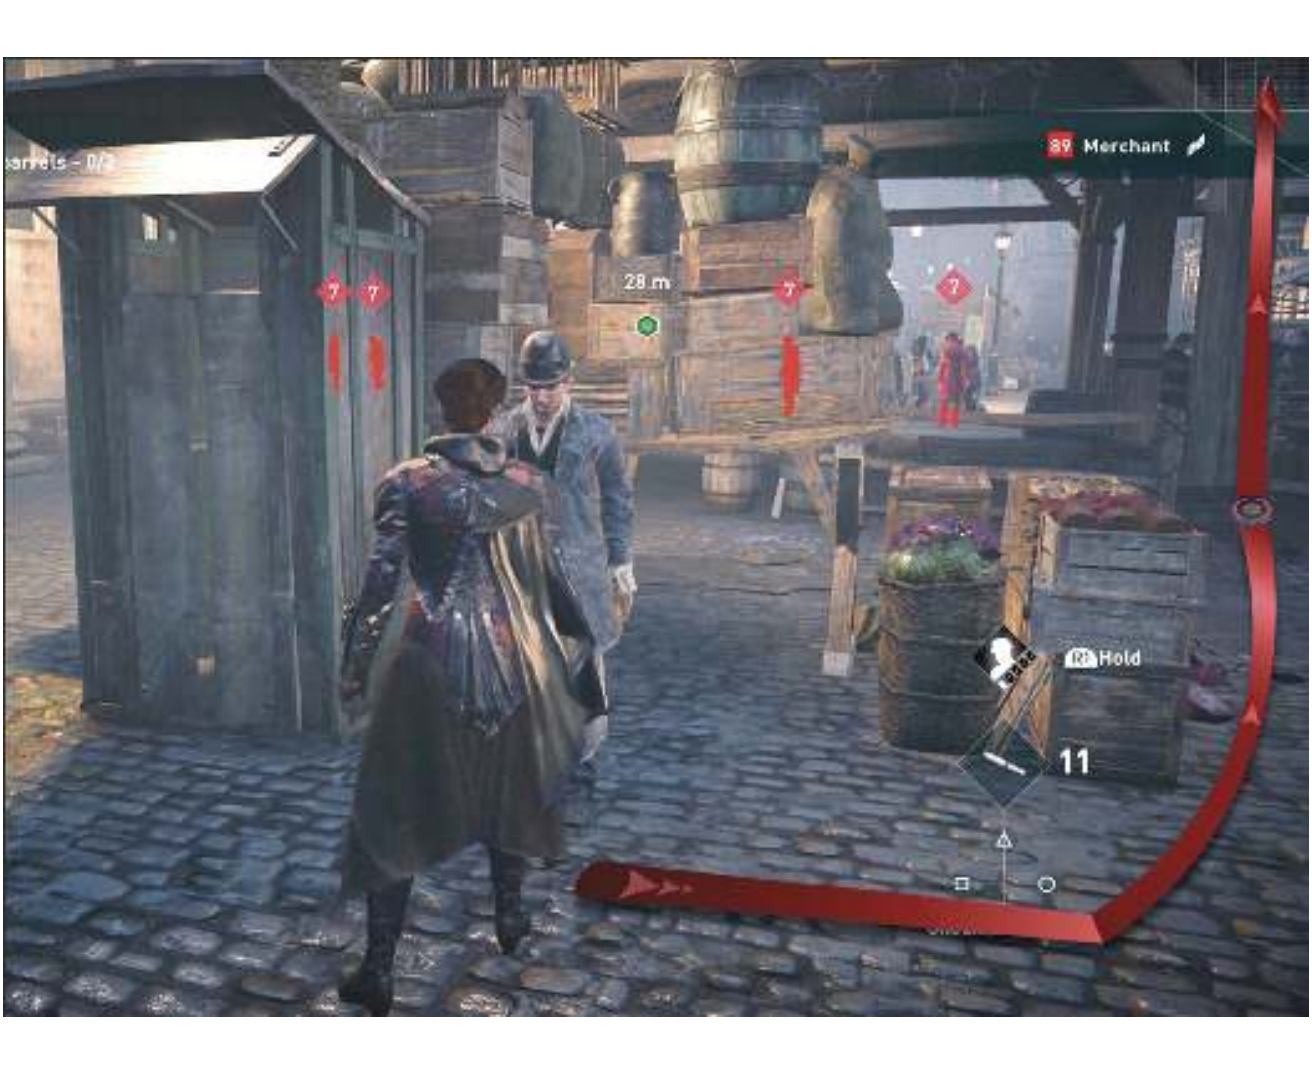
The tracks lead to a market square a few blocks north. Assassinate the Blighter near the entrance and parked carriage and then speak to the first of a few civilians that may be able to help in the investigation. These people are highlighted yellow in Eagle Vision and appear on the Mini-Map as green blips. The first lady (12) near a flower cart only talks about the number of armed Thugs in the area.



Three Green Blips

When you reach the market, you see four green blips representing people to talk to that can help you find Henry. You can talk to all of them, or just cut to the chase, skip the market, and go straight to the man (15) behind St. Paul's Church. This guy points you to the sewer where Henry was taken.

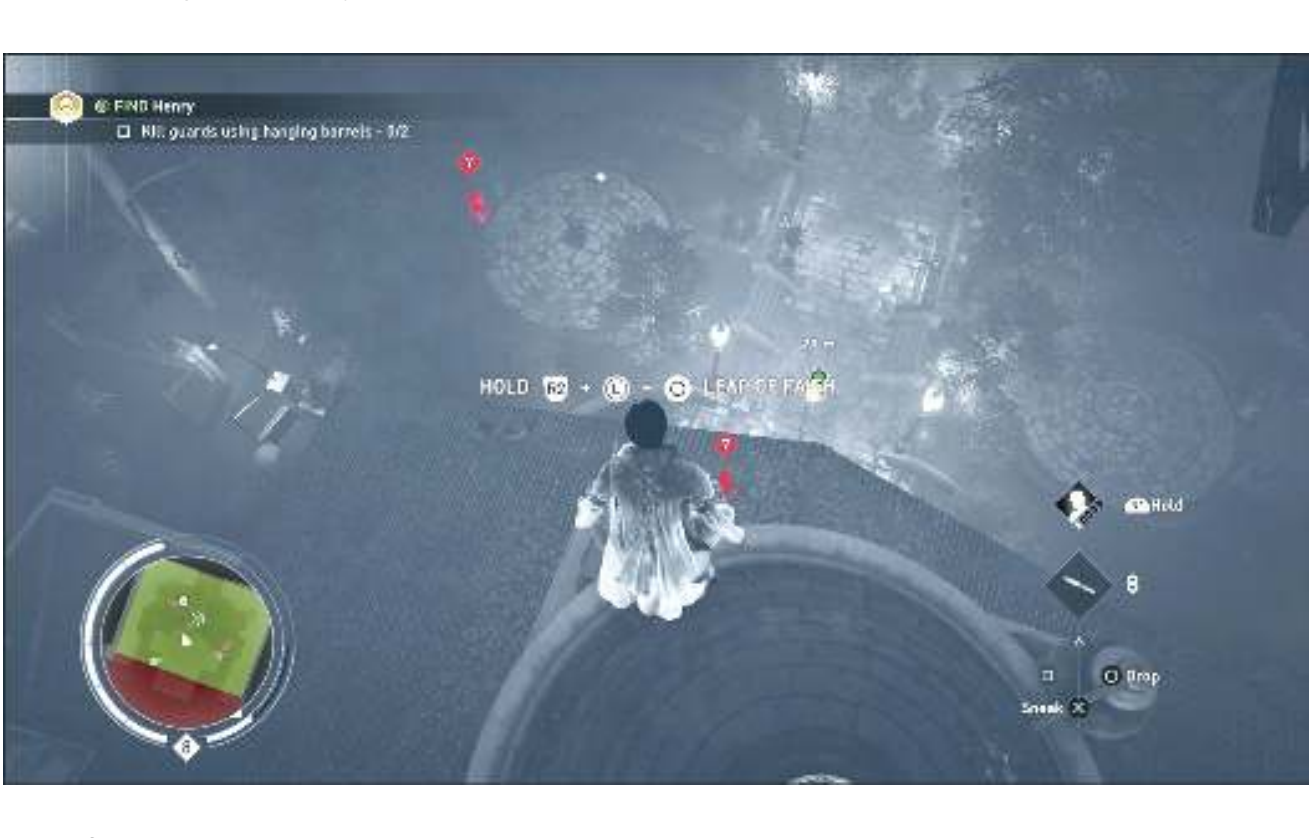
Sneak south and hide behind a cart near a small booth. You spot a couple of Thugs further to the south. They block you from reaching the next civilian to speak to (13). Whistle for the nearest Thug and assassinate him when he investigates. Approach the second civilian (13) and talk to him about Henry. This guy (near the hiding booth) saw them carrying him from the carriage to the church.



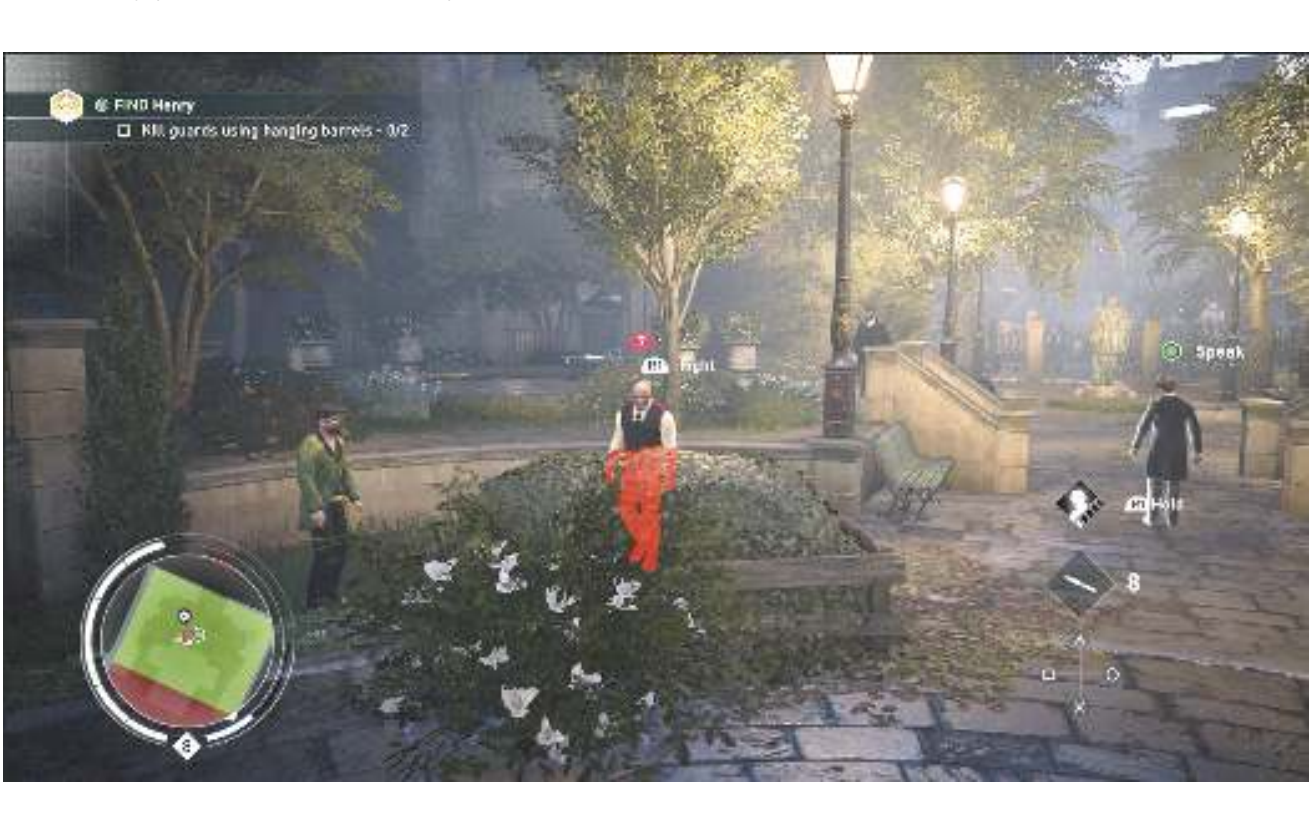
Climb to the top of the shelter to the south of the man you just spoke with. From the rooftop of this shelter you can throw knives at the heads of the many Templars around the third civilian (14). Before you approach and talk to this woman, Rope Launch to the rooftop of St. Paul's Church (next to the shelter you were on) and get rid of the Watcher on the rooftop. Take out the two Templars on the sidewalk to the north as well. Now you can speak to the woman at the fruit stand (14) without interruptions.

Location: St. Paul's Church, The Strand

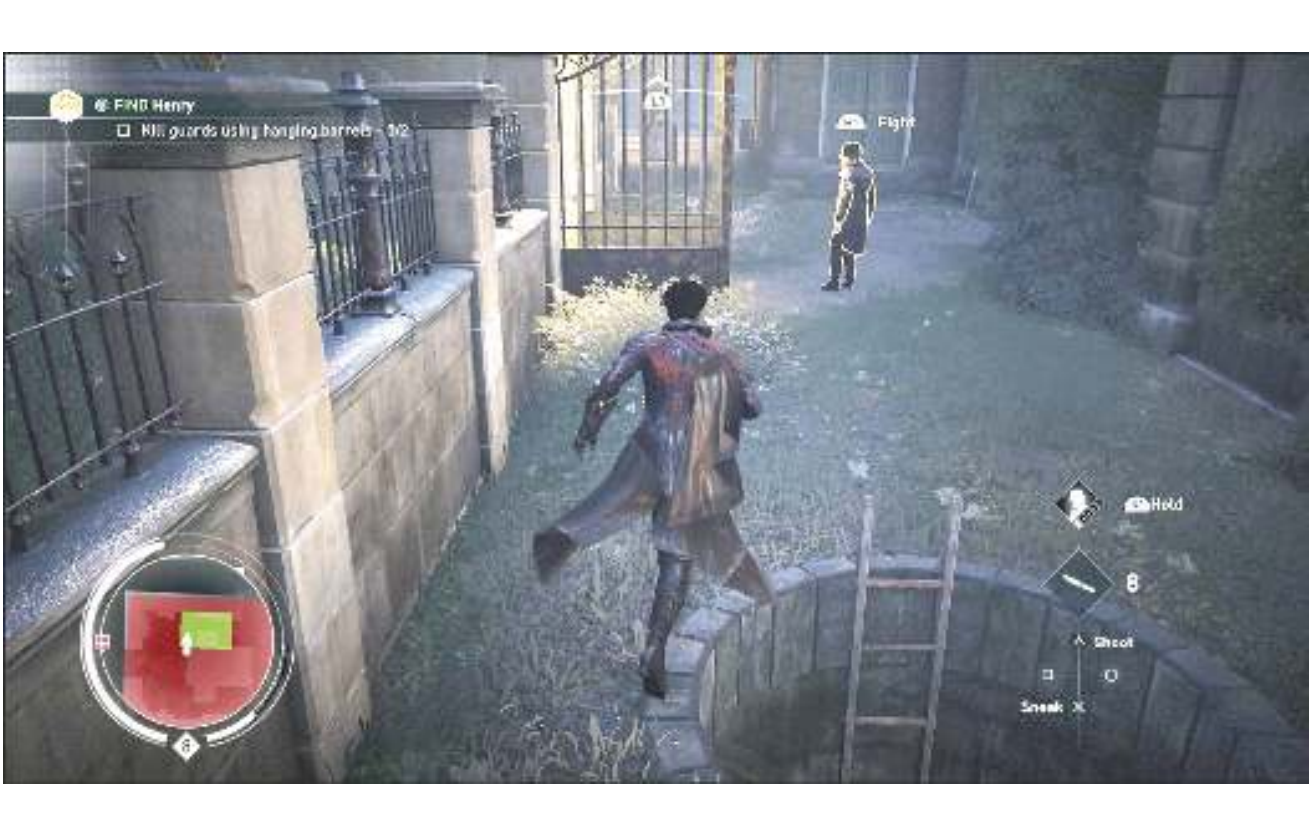
This lady thinks Henry was drunk and says they carried him off to the churchyard to sleep it off. There is one green blip remaining in the area. It's to the south in the churchyard (15). Rope Launch back up to the rooftop of St. Paul's Church and head to the southern edge of the rooftop. Perform a Leap of Faith into the haystack below. Immediately Cover Assassinate the Brute standing next to the haystack.



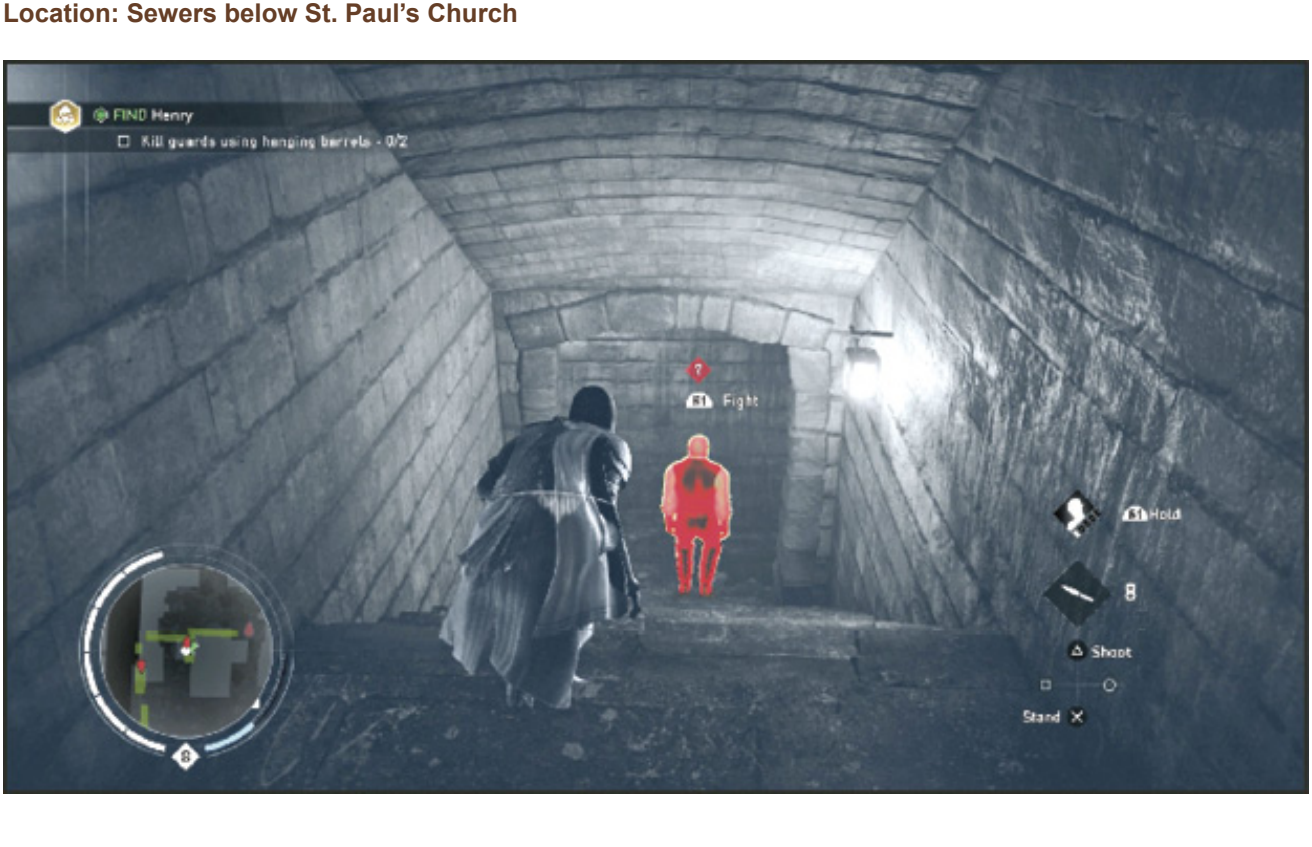
Whistle for the second Brute to come to the haystack and then execute him. Exit the haystack and talk to the man (15) in the hat in the middle of the courtyard. He talks about a gate being unlocked and points north. Find the Pressed Flower on the bench nearby (flower icon on the Mini-Map).



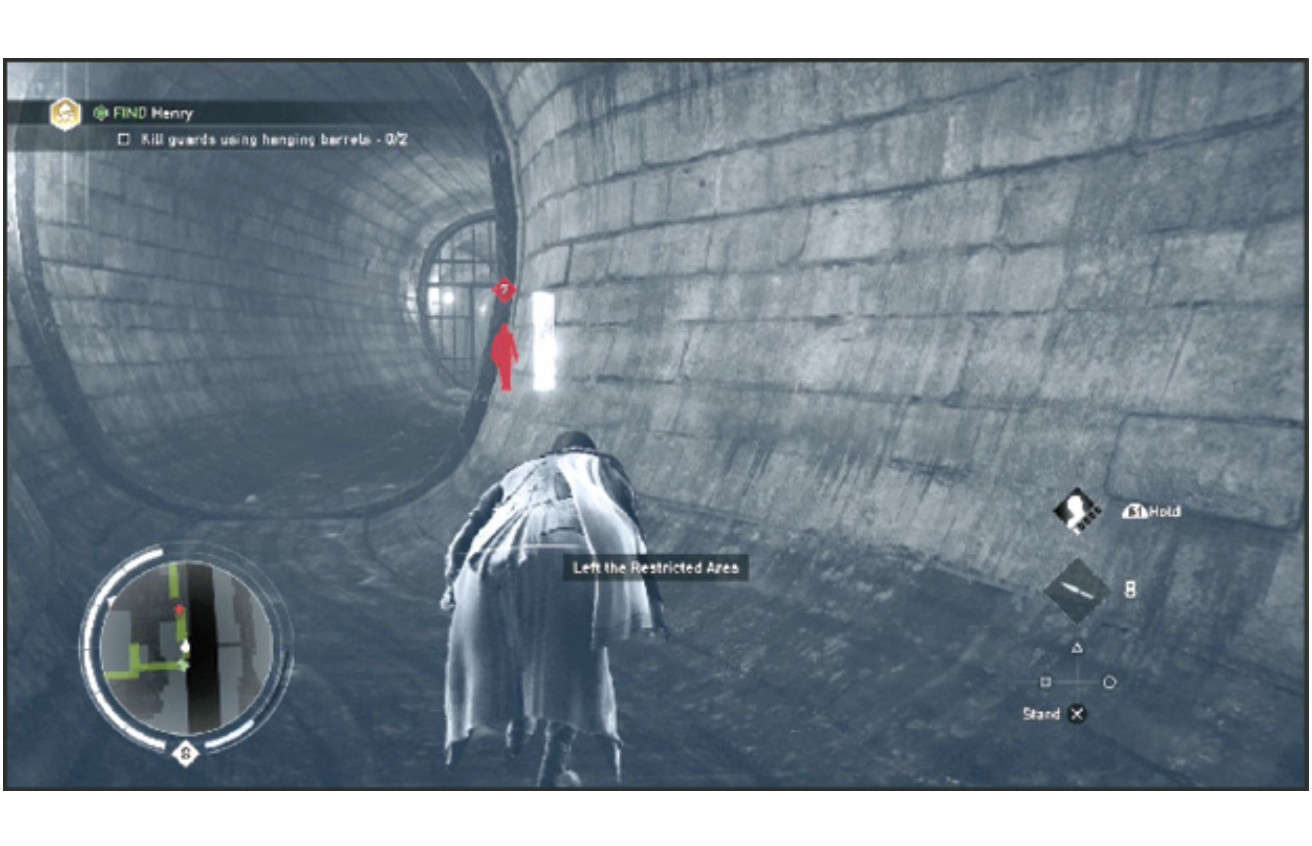
Look at the Mini-Map and you notice a small green patch highlighted in the red restriction zone you're currently in. Head to this green area to the north and you find a Templar guarding an open well (16). Instead of entering through the open gate where the Templar Brute and Solider can spot you, hop over the fence beside the open well and either drop into the well or assassinate the Templars and then enter the well.



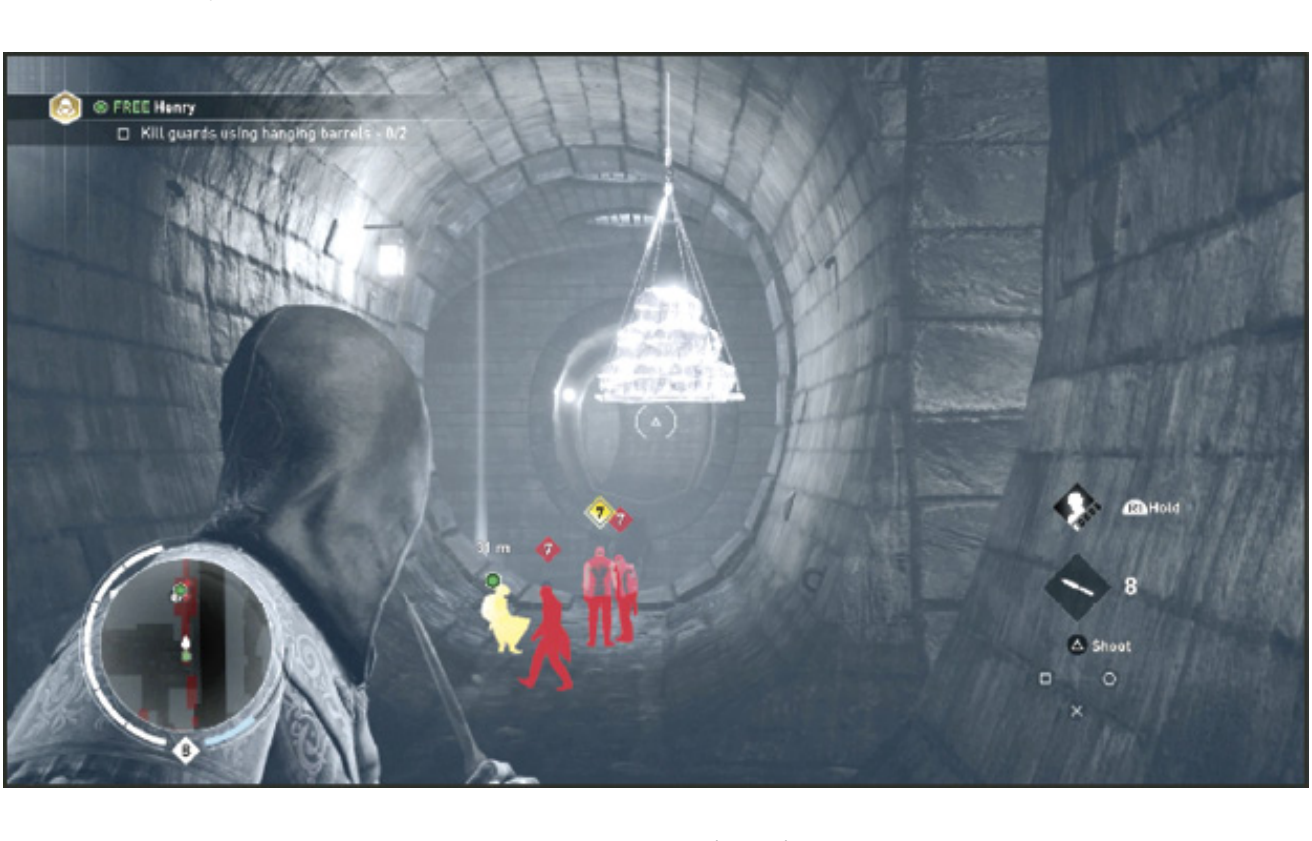
Location: Sewers below St. Paul's Church



Examine your Mini-Map when you jump down into the well. The accessible pathway is highlighted green. Head down the stairs on the left at the end of the first sewer tunnel. Assassinate the Brute standing with his back to you at the bottom of the stairs.



Follow the lower tunnel heading south. The tunnel bends left and reveals a door guarded by a Templar. He patrols this tunnel section and ends up approaching you. Back up to the previous corner and then come up behind him when he turns back towards the doorway.



In the next clearing, and with Eagle Vision activated, you see Henry (yellow) slumped over in a chair, with three Templars and barrels hanging in the middle of the chamber. If you miss this opportunity to drop barrels on two guards, there is another chance as you leave the sewers. Defeat the three Templars and free Henry.

Current Objective: Escort Henry out of the area

Challenge: Kill 2 guards using hanging barrels

Untie Henry's ropes and he tells you they sent someone back to move the architectural plans. He asks if you have them. You do not. Open the Chest in the room and then follow Henry out of the sewer. In the next tunnel are two Templars. Henry throws down smoke as he runs past them. You can easily Double Assassinate them as you pass by them in the cloud of smoke.

Location: Royal Exchange, City of London

Evie meets Frederick Abberline in an alley near the Royal Exchange in the City of London. There's a market riot going on and Abberline looks angry. He pokes a finger at Evie saying her brother is behind this chaos. The newspapers are all over Twopenny's murder and if that weren't enough, someone has stolen the currency printing plates. Abberline believes Jacob was behind this. Abberline fears inflation, riots, and possibly manufacturing jumping to America for cheap labor. Evie tells Abberline that she will fix everything by sneaking the plates back into the bank. He also asks her to destroy the counterfeiting plates if she comes across them.

Current Objective: Follow Abberline

Walk with Abberline as he escorts you through the chaos in the street. There's a couple of cops to pass (they're with Abberline) but they won't be a problem as you walk through the crowded street. Abberline loudly and nervously bickers about the counterfeit plates. All the while, Evie tries to remain cool and quiets him under her breath. Don't worry; you'll leave him behind soon enough.

Current Objective: Locate the counterfeiter

When you reach the next street (2), Abberline stays behind. You see the Royal Exchange ahead and a green blip inside. Walk right in through that south doorway while walking upright like the rest of the public. There's no worry…yet. Once inside, activate Eagle Vision and look to your right to spot the counterfeiter. He glows yellow and has been labeled "Tail."

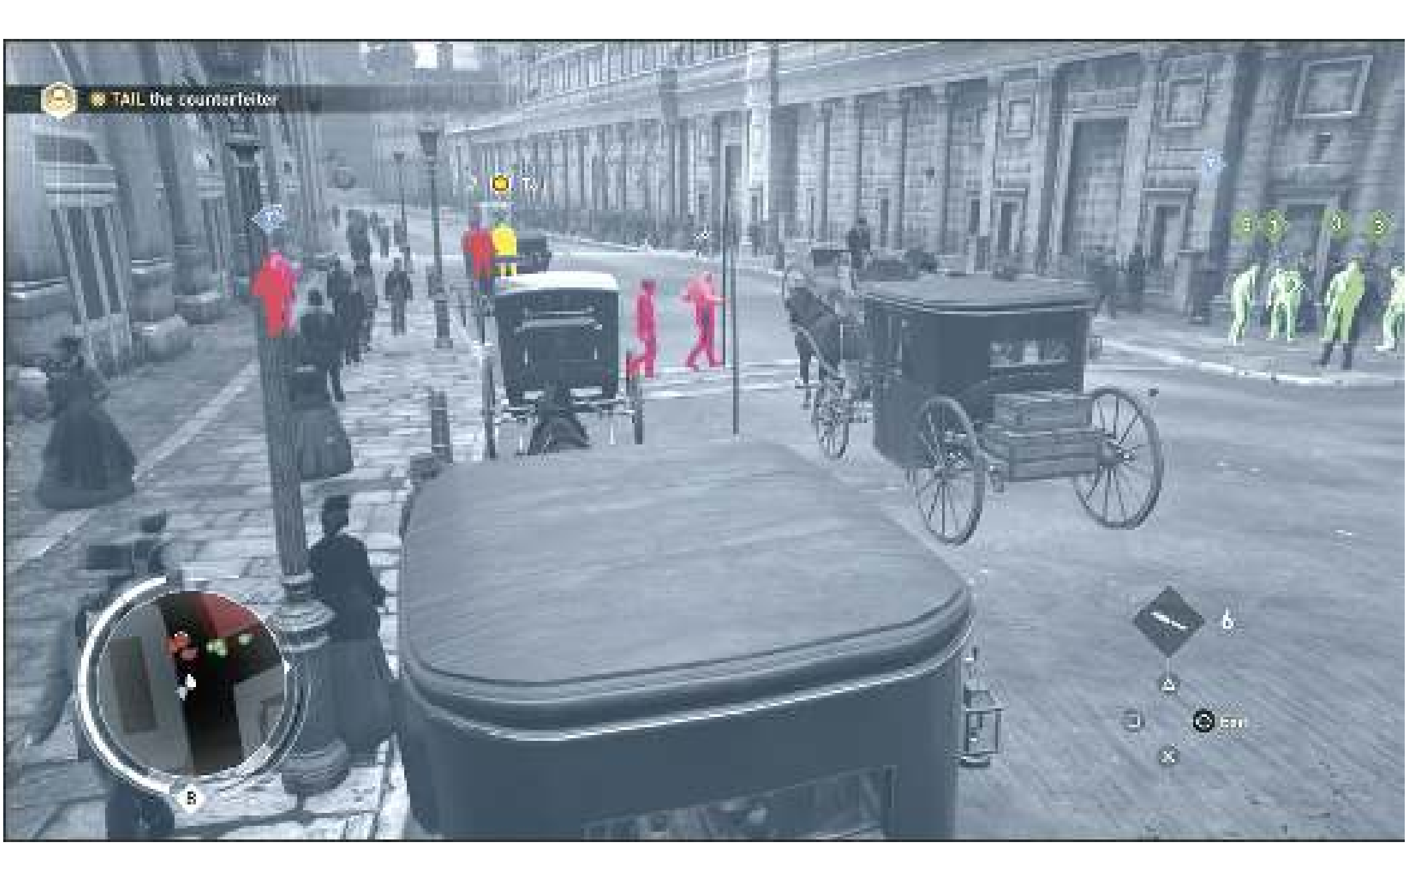
When you take your eyes away a timer appears and starts counting down from 15 sec before you are desynchronized. So when you just walk through the Royal Exchange, enter the carriage (4) parked outside at the curb. Enter the hiding spot inside the carriage, not the driver's seat. This keeps you hidden from all the threats on the street and from the two escorting the counterfeiter to his carriage. His carriage (5) is just a few yards away from you to the west.



TAIL the counterfeiter

If you take out his bodyguards it always turns out badly; the counterfeiter notices you eventually and you are desynchronized. You also see a group of Rooks across the street from your hiding carriage. Don't call on them yet. They can just foul things up too.

When the counterfeiter reaches his carriage, exit your hiding spot inside and quickly take the driver's seat. Begin following your Tail. Do not follow too closely, but get moving if a cop or Thug starts looking at you for too long. Follow the counterfeiter as he gets driven only a few blocks away to the south. It's a short trip. They stop at some ramshackle building (6). Exit your vehicle a good distance away and get to the rooftops (7) across the street from where the target's carriage parked. Location: St. Margaret's, Westminster

You can start this memory by entering the marker at the top of St. Margaret's church (1) in Westminster. The marker is at the top of the clock and bell tower. In the beginning of the mission, Jacob sits on the side of the bell tower strategizing his next move regarding Lord Cardigan, currently inside the House of Parliament.

Current Objective: Find the Earl of Cardigan

Challenge: Do not kill any policemen

Challenge: Do not get detected by the target

Jacob starts this Challenge by sitting on St. Margaret's bell tower while studying the activity across the street around Big Ben and the House of Parliament. You have three tactical options with this memory: a Unique Kill Opportunity (A), a Stealth Opportunity (B), and an Assistance Opportunity (C). We use all three in our strategy and in the order they are introduced in the beginning of the memory.

Start by getting the password from the Minister (A) in the courtyard below Big Ben. This gives you a Unique Kill Opportunity on the Earl of Cardigan. Next, kidnap the corrupt policeman (B) in the same courtyard to stealthily gain entry into the House of Parliament without harming any policemen. Once inside, talk to a politician (C) to get an assistance opportunity allowing you to be guided to the door where the password is used.

Zipline to the rooftop of the House of Parliament and make your way to the lowest rooftop (balcony) in the southeast corner (2) of the Big Ben courtyard. Use Eagle Vision to spot the many policemen patrolling the area and to locate the Minister (A). Notice the policeman (D) patrolling under your balcony. This is your first target.

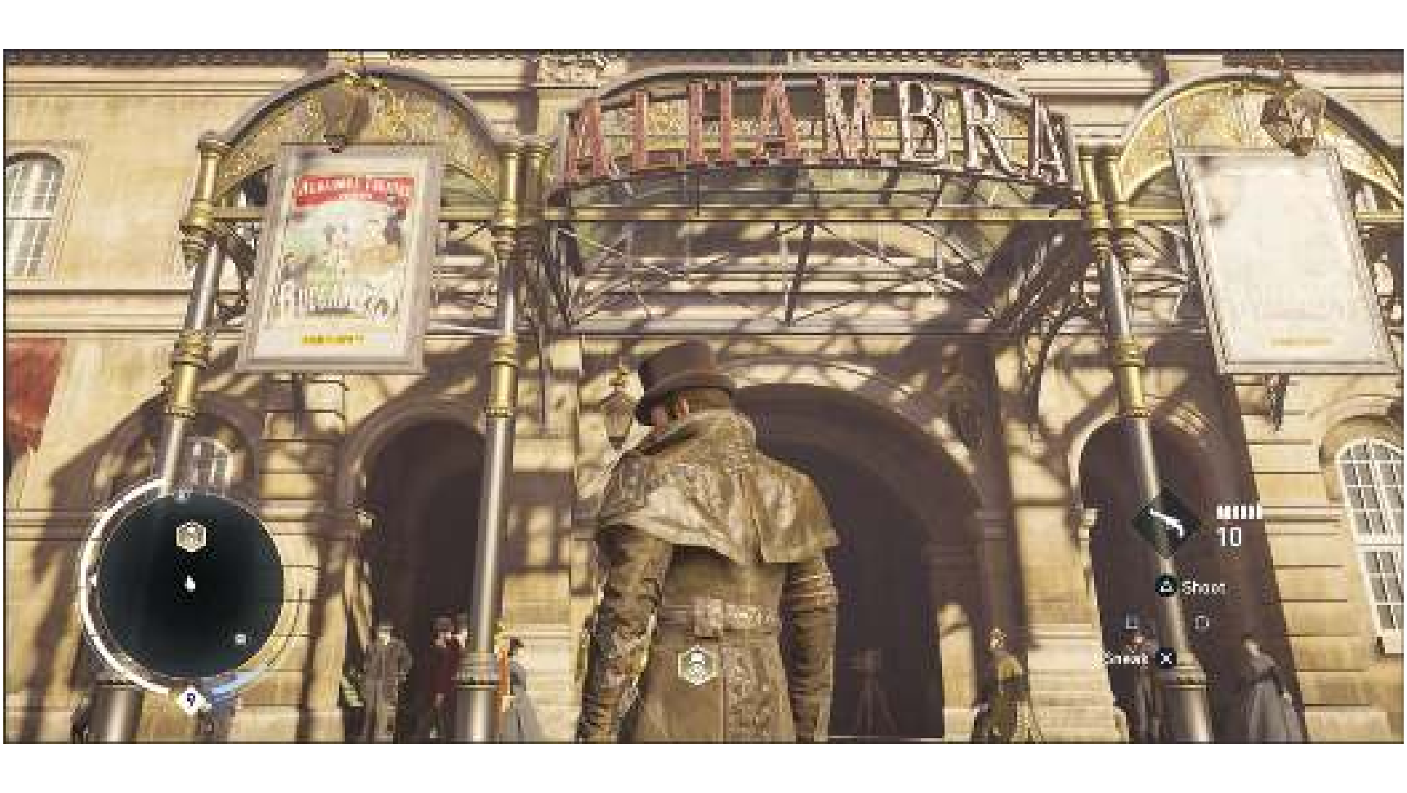
Find the start marker (1) for this Jacob-only memory at the Alhambra Music Hall in The Strand. This is just next door to Leicester Square. When this memory begins, you must first locate the back entrance before the intro cinematic. There's someone you have to see.



Current Objective: Locate the back entrance

When you try to enter the front door of the Alhambra Music Hall, you find the door locked. Your Mini-Map is lit with a small green square representing the search radius. The "back" door is on the north side of the building. There you find a doorman in a very nice derby (2).

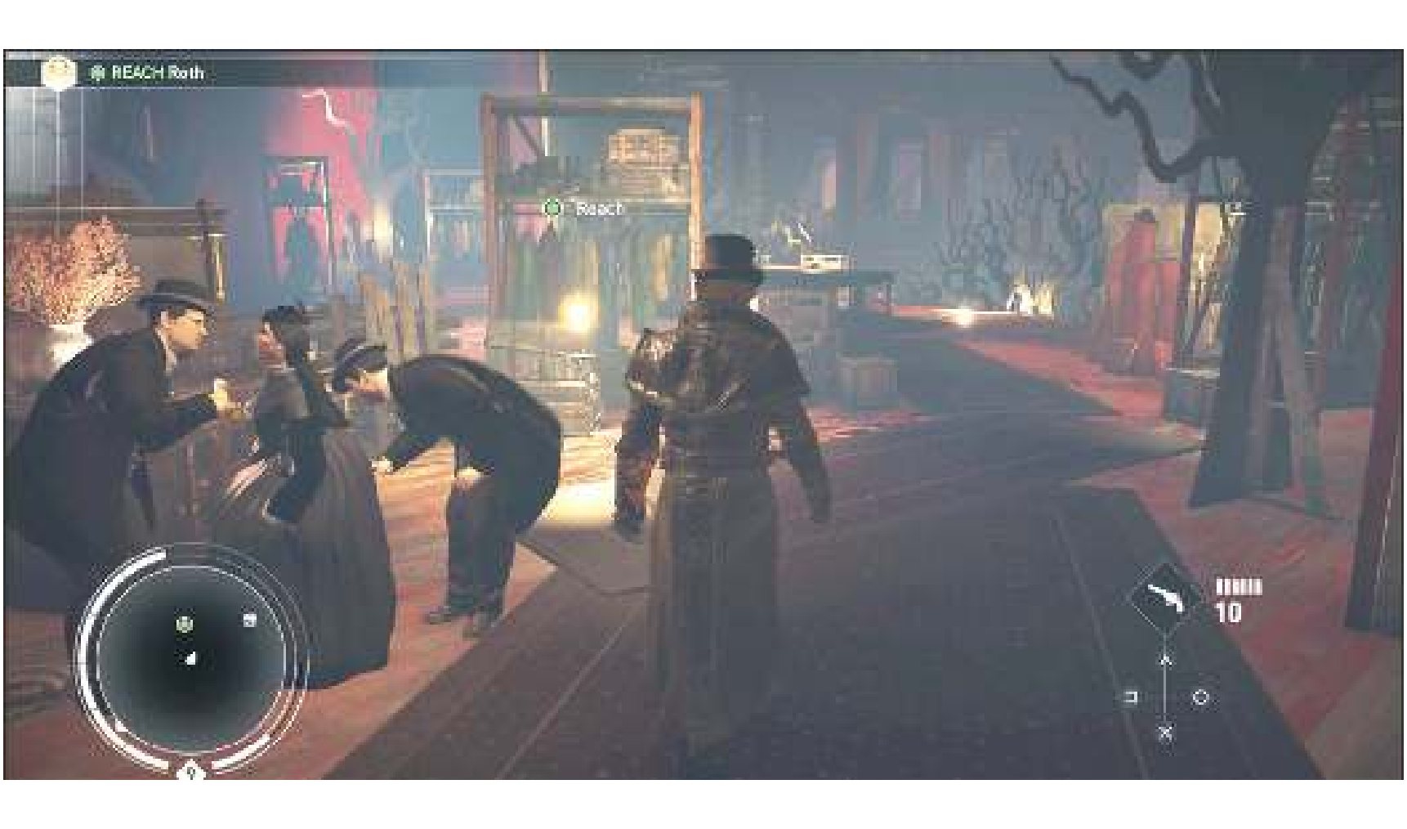
Current Objective: Speak with the doorman

Speak to the doorman with the derby. You tell the doorman you are there to speak with Mr. Roth. The doorman kindly asks "weapons?" and Jacob returns a smart reply. He tells Jacob he should be on the stage and lets him inside.

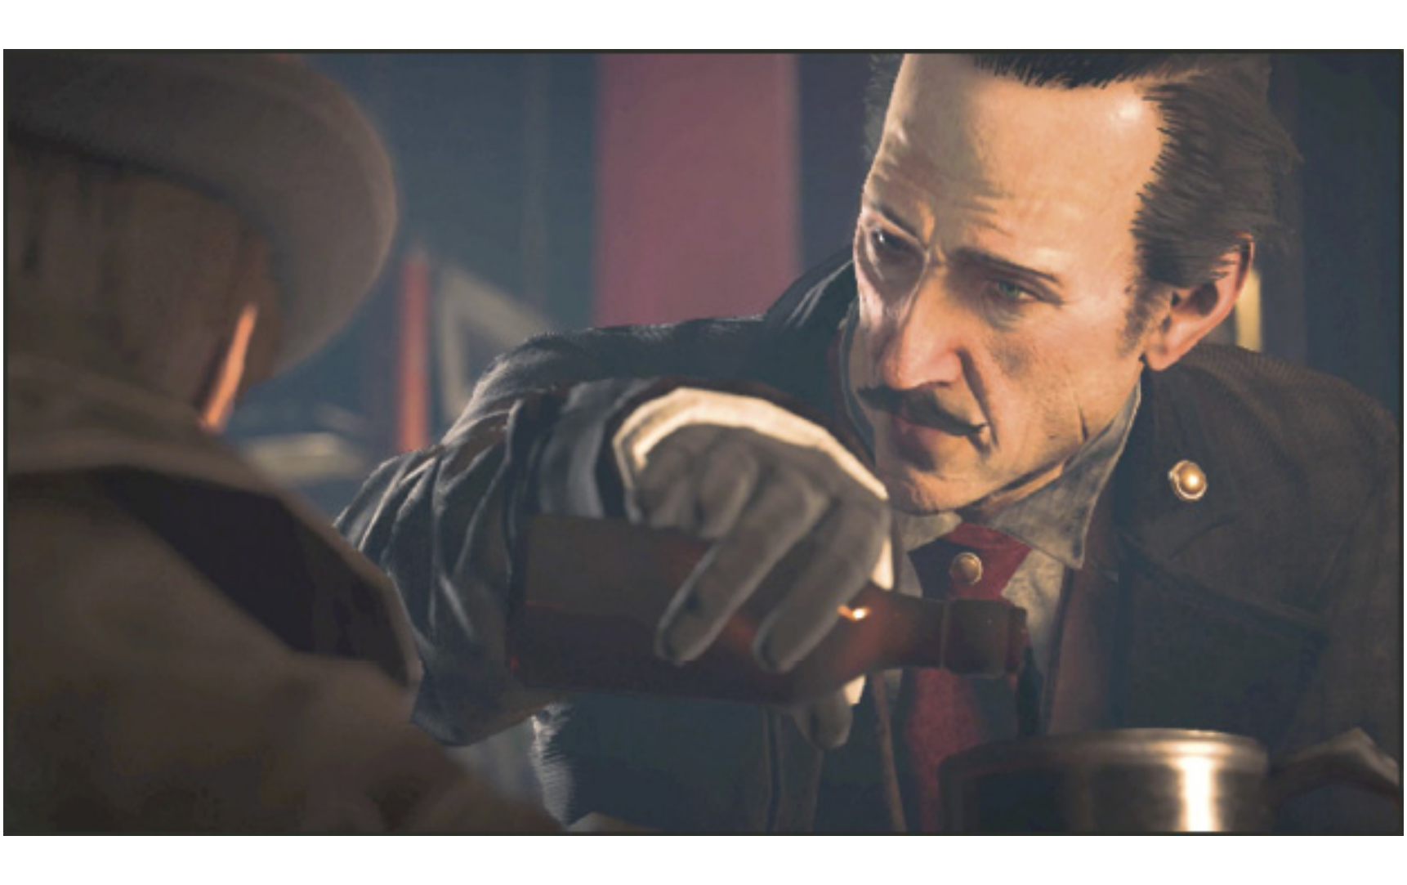
Current Objective: Reach Roth

Once inside, use Eagle Vision to quickly spot Roth backstage behind a room full of stage props. Follow the green blip to find Roth.



REACH Roth
Reach

Maxwell Roth and Jacob manage to have a civil conversation between enemies. Max admires Jacob's heroics in battling their common enemy Crawford Starrick. Jacob is surprised at Roth's candor since he has picked off so many of his soldiers. In they end they surprisingly agree to work together to take out Starrick. Won't Evie be pleased.



Current Objective: Drive to the destination with Roth

Once out of the theatre, follow Roth to his carriage (3) parked outside the gates. He has you take the reins and directs you to drive to St. Pancras (4). Follow the route marker to reach this destination. Along the way, Roth explains that this station they are headed to contains a large shipment of explosives to be dispatched straight on to Starrick & Co. They intend to blow it up.

Current Objective: Follow Roth

Once at the destination (4), Roth jumps out and climbs to the top of a building. Follow him. Once there you find yourself within jumping distance to a set of raised tracks. Roth speaks….

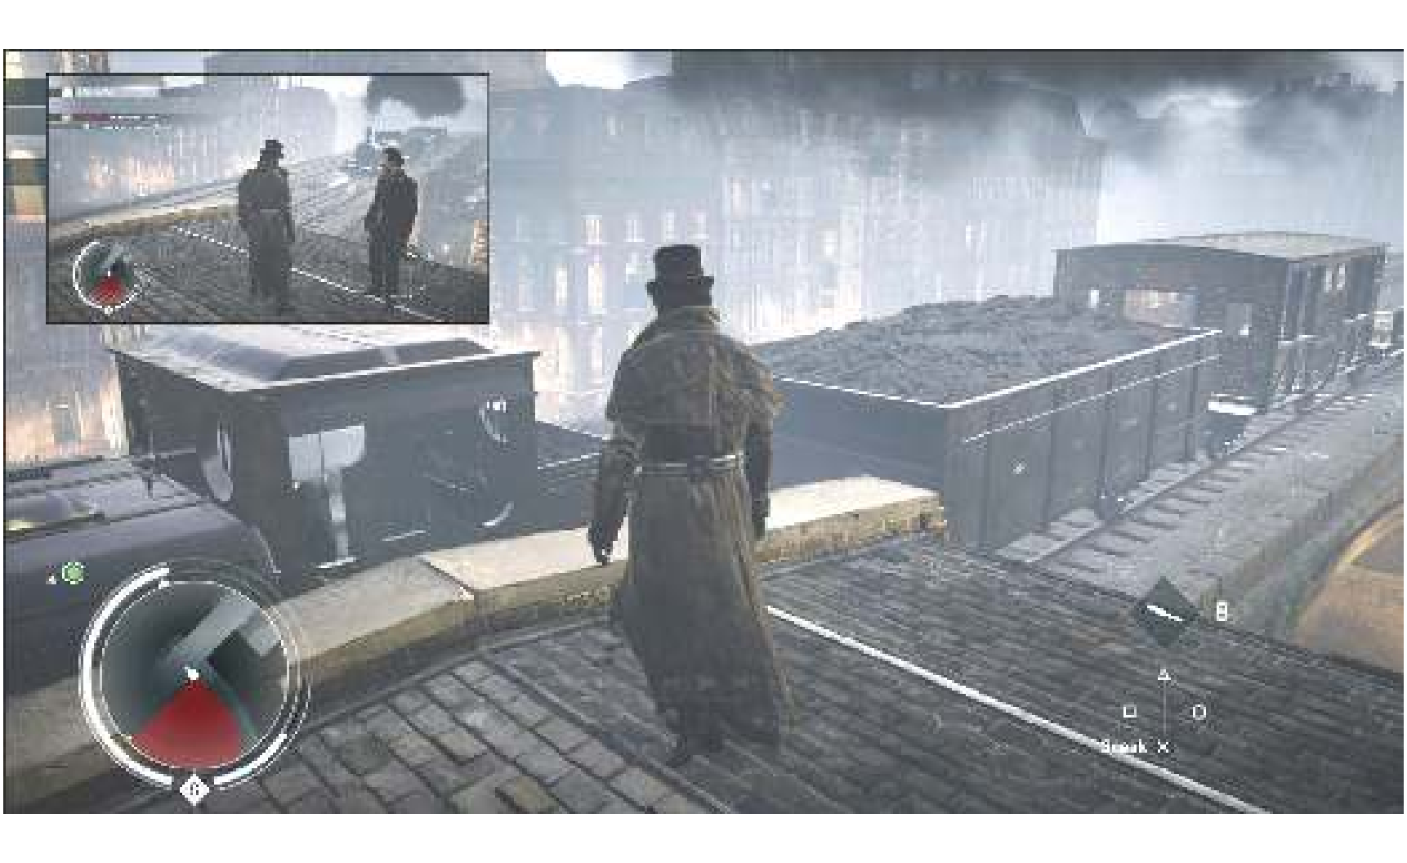
Current Objective: Locate and Destroy the 5 explosives

Challenge: Use the moving train

While on the rooftop (5), Roth explains that there is a train inside St. Pancras station that he needs you to bring to him. While there, you can blow up his merchandise. A train moves toward you from the east. Turn the camera during the conversation so you can see it coming. Roth says, "As we speak, the up train (6) is headed to St. Pancras that, should you choose to ride it, may help you enter the station unseen."

As soon as the train rolls by, turn, run, and jump onto the train. It doesn't matter what car you ride in; you remain concealed no matter which car you choose. We suggest jumping into one of the last cars so you can get inside a covered car.



Activate Eagle Vision as you enter the train station (7). You spot Templars all over the station, including the catwalks, and you see five green blips peppered on the screen. These mark the locations of the crates you must ignite.

It's much easier to eliminate anyone that gets in your way in this memory as opposed to hurting few. But if you do it silently and without attracting too much attention, you can complete this memory rather quickly.

The Covered Car Advantage

To take out a high number of enemies right in the central docking area get into the covered car on the train you are riding on and ride that until it is stopped. Cover under or beside a window on the north side and the train stops next to many Templars.

Throw a knife at the head of the Templar Leader with the yellow 7 over his head. That's a good start. Make sure you are covered, as there will be some curiosity from more of the five other Templars in the area. You can kill up to three Templars from this location. Exit the car launch to the high rafters as soon as possible and before being spotted by the Snipers on the catwalks.

Continue moving all around this side of the train station taking out Templars from above, like a spider attacking prey, then springing back up to the rafters. Once you have eliminated most (or all) of them, you can focus on the explosive crates.

Explosives 1

The first crate of dynamite (8) you usually find is the one inside the train car on the opposite tracks you rolled in on. Hold to ignite them until the gauge is full and then clear out. We suggest Rope Launching back up to the rafters.

Explosives 2

Head all the way to the northwest end of the train station and defeat the guards on the upper balcony. Drop down to the lower floor (where the trains are) and you find dynamite (9) along the northern wall behind a desk. Use the desk for cover as you take out the Brute, then ignite the dynamite.

Explosives 4

Follow the red blip (11) on your Mini-Map to the last red blip in the area. This is on the eastern branch of the second level balcony on the northwest end of the train station. There's a slow Templar Sniper and a Templar Soldier. Easy pickings. Take them out by sneaking up on them from pretty much any angle and then ignite the crates (don't shoot them).

Explosives 5

The last crate of explosives (12) is located in the north wing of the station—the north hall just outside the track loading area. You can reach this area through a large open archway-like window near the ceiling to take the Templars around it by surprise. The explosives are behind the newsstand. Igniting (and not shooting) the final crate of explosives completes the Challenge.

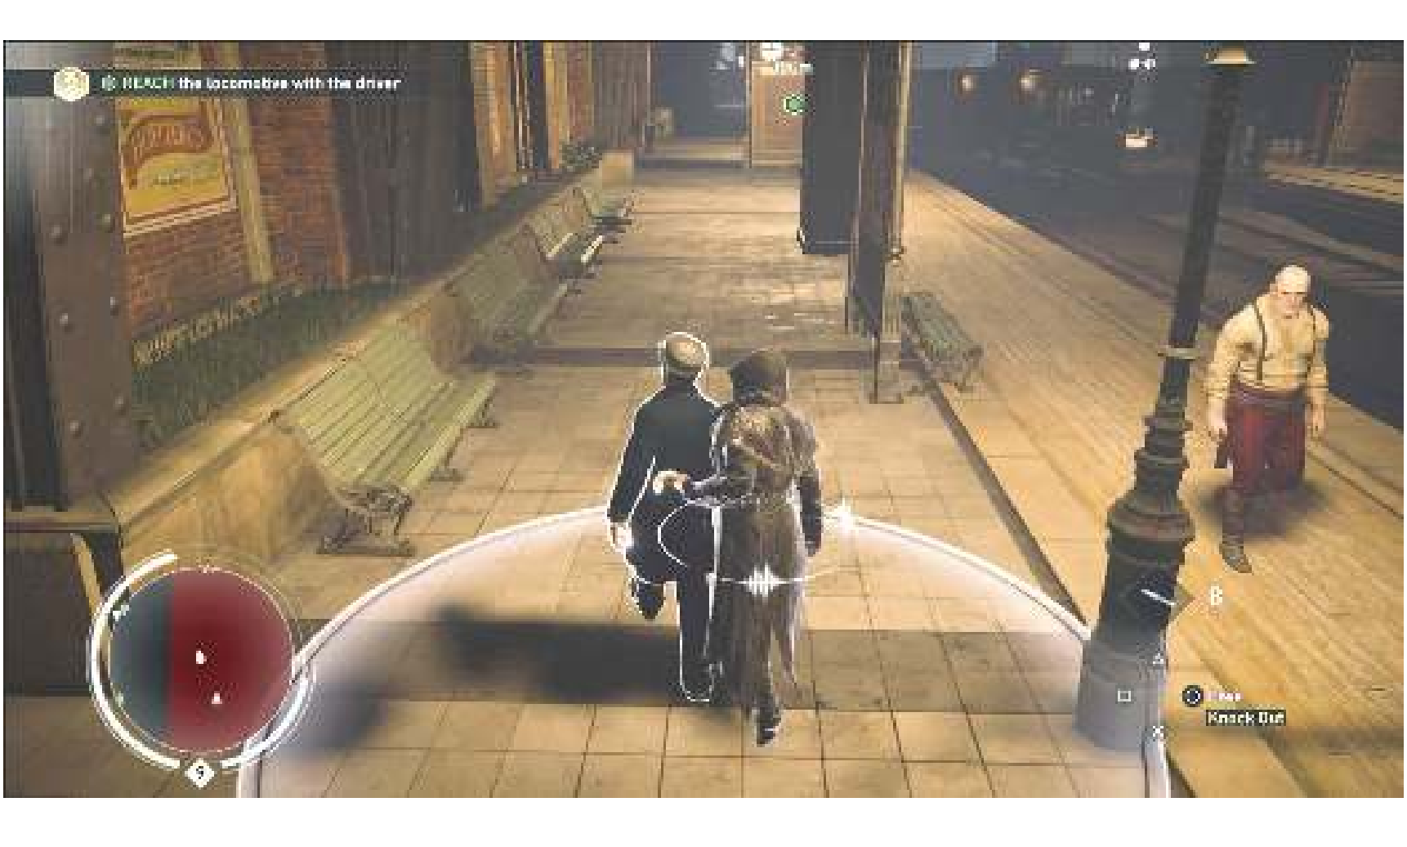
Now to get the train that Roth wants. To get a train you're going to need an engineer. Look at the Mini-Map and spot the green blip on the map in the southwestern side of the station, in the main loading area. Head there now. Defeat any Templars in your path. Having most of the Templars dead in the main station makes this next objective much easier.

As you get close to the driver the blip on the Mini-Map turns to a search area green circle and then, even closer, you spot the driver and he appears as an orange blip on the Mini-Map. Kidnap this man (13).

Current Objective: Reach the locomotive with the driver



REACH the locomotive with the driver

Now walk the kidnapped driver to the north side of train station (14) to access the northern loading area. Move slowly to sneak past any surviving Templars. Walk the driver into the glowing reach marker next to the train engine. Ignore the nearby Brute (if he's still living). The driver gets the train moving as you leave the station.

When the train reaches Maxwell Roth, it slows to allow Jacob off and everyone else on. They continue to hold the driver at gunpoint. Jacob looks as if he's already starting to regret this working relationship. Roth yells back to Jacob, "Splendid, Starrick will be on his knees in no time. My hat is off to you." "…Do come see me again."

Return to the Alhambra to talk to Roth. This time you know where to enter—the back door (1), where you met the doorman last time.

When Jacob finds Roth, he's absorbed with a birdcage on a low table and doesn't even look up when Jacob enters the room. The baby crow draws his attention until he warmly looks up to Jacob and turns on the excitement like a switch. He wants you to ride with him to take out three of Starrick's top henchmen.

Once outside the Alhambra (1), follow Roth to his carriage (2) at the street. And of course, he wants you to drive. Take the reins. Follow the route marker to the National Gallery and stop in the glowing white marker in the street (3).

Current Objective: Find clues to Hattie's whereabouts

Just before you reach the first stop (3), Roth explains Starrick's interest in art. Hattie Cadwalleder has exquisite taste in art, so much so that Starrick has hired her to be the keeper of his extensive personal collection. She also scouts out the National Gallery shipments and organizes art thefts based on the Gallery's schedule and incoming shipments. Roth wants you to kidnap her. Leave the carriage, walk north down the alley, and talk to the little girl at the gate (4).

The girl points you through the gates behind her when you ask her about Hattie's whereabouts. Head east into the courtyard. Don't stop walking until you are right up on a policeman (5) who is preoccupied with some art pedestal in front of him. Come up behind the policeman and knock him out and then investigate the pedestal.

Location: Alhambra Music Hall, The Strand

Return to the Alhambra to talk to Roth. Again, start this memory from the back door (1). This time Roth meets you at the door and directs you to his carriage in the street. He has something to show you.

Current Objective: Reach Starrick's workshop

Enter the carriage in the street next to the Alhambra. Drive Roth to Starrick's workshop compound about a block away to the west (2).

Current Objective: Follow Roth

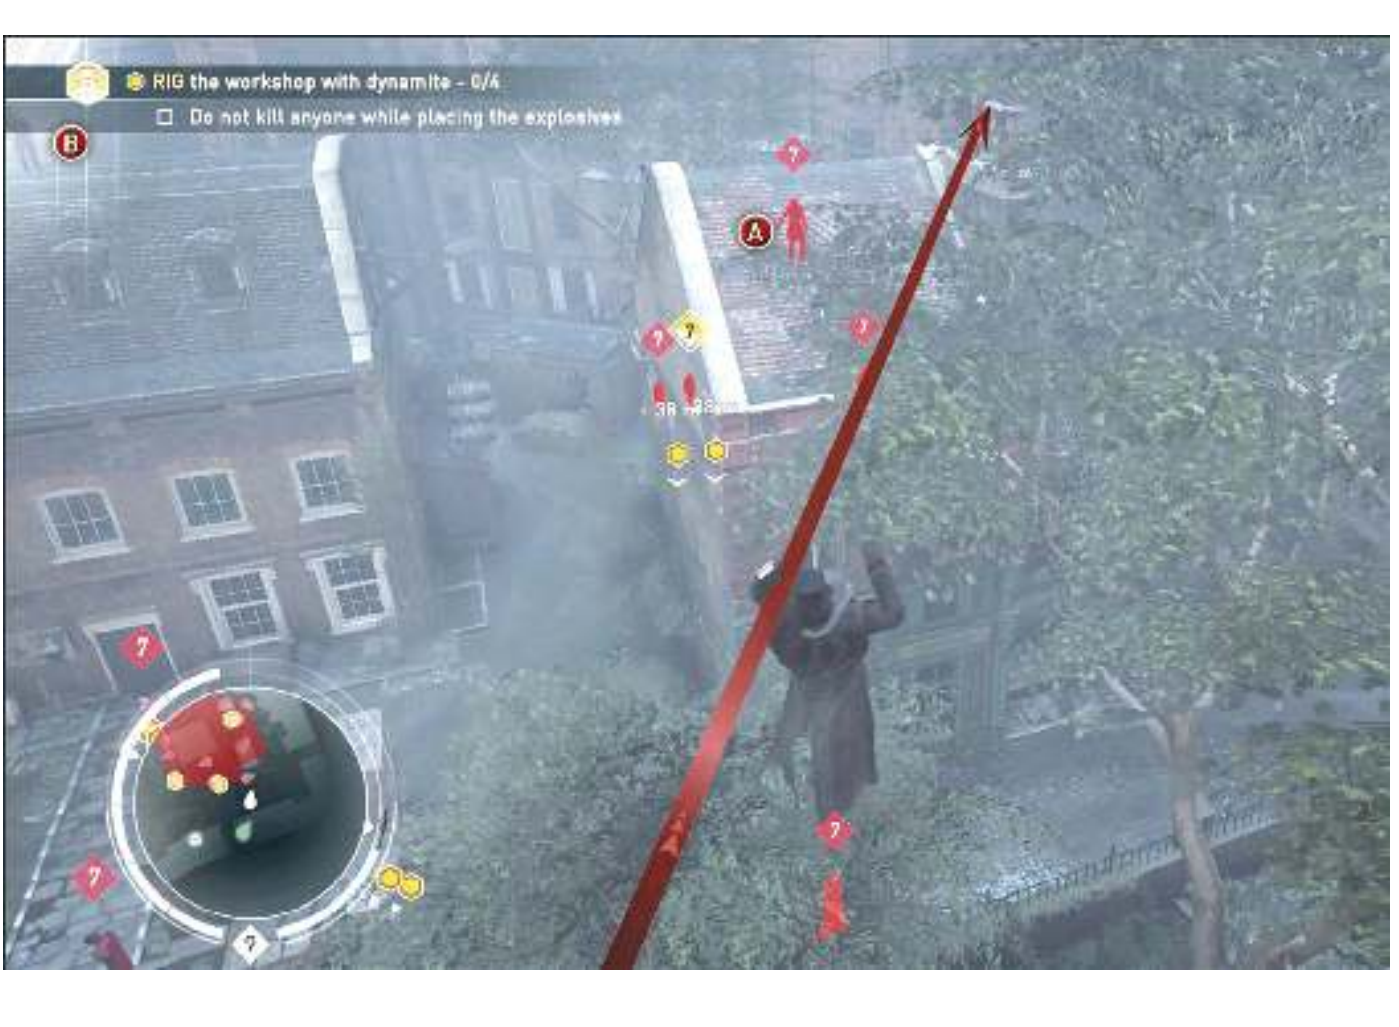
Location: Starrick's Workshop, The Strand

Once you enter the Reach marker outside Starrick's compound (2), Roth hops out of the carriage and enters a short covered alleyway and climbs to the rooftop (3) of a building on the right. Follow him.

Enter Eagle Vision while standing on the edge of the rooftop with Roth. Notice the Templars all around the workshop to the west (4) across the street.

Current Objective: Rig the workshop with dynamite

Challenge: Do not kill anyone while placing the explosives



There are multiple crates of dynamite around the workshop that are easily spotted; they appear as orange blips onscreen and on the Mini-Map. There are four locations where you need to place the dynamite around the building. Walk to the edge of the rooftop to get as close as you can to the building (5) to the north of the workshop.

Acquire a Rope Launch lock-on on this building's chimney and zipline there. Your target is the rooftop sniper that must be dealt with first. Walk over the peak of the rooftop and knock out the Sniper from behind. Kill no one to obey the Challenge rule.

Move to the south edge of this rooftop and Rope Launch to the northwest edge of the workshop's (4) rooftop to get behind the Templar on the rooftop. Knock this Templar out. There's one more rooftop Templar (C) to deal with.

Move to the southwest corner of the workshop rooftop (4) and zipline to the buildings (6) on the southern edge of the workshop compound. You pass the last rooftop Templar who is on a building on the right (7). Now zipline to the south edge of the rooftop Templar's building and come up behind her and knock her out.

From the corner of this rooftop (7) you can look down to the alley and sidewalks around the workshop and spot about five or six of the Templars guarding the workshop. We will walk you through taking out every Templar down there. Taking them all out makes the Challenges in this memory much easier to deal with.

Return to the previous rooftops (6) and walk along the north edge heading to the end of the building (8) to the northeast. Drop down to the alley and knock out the Templar (D) that patrols the alley below.

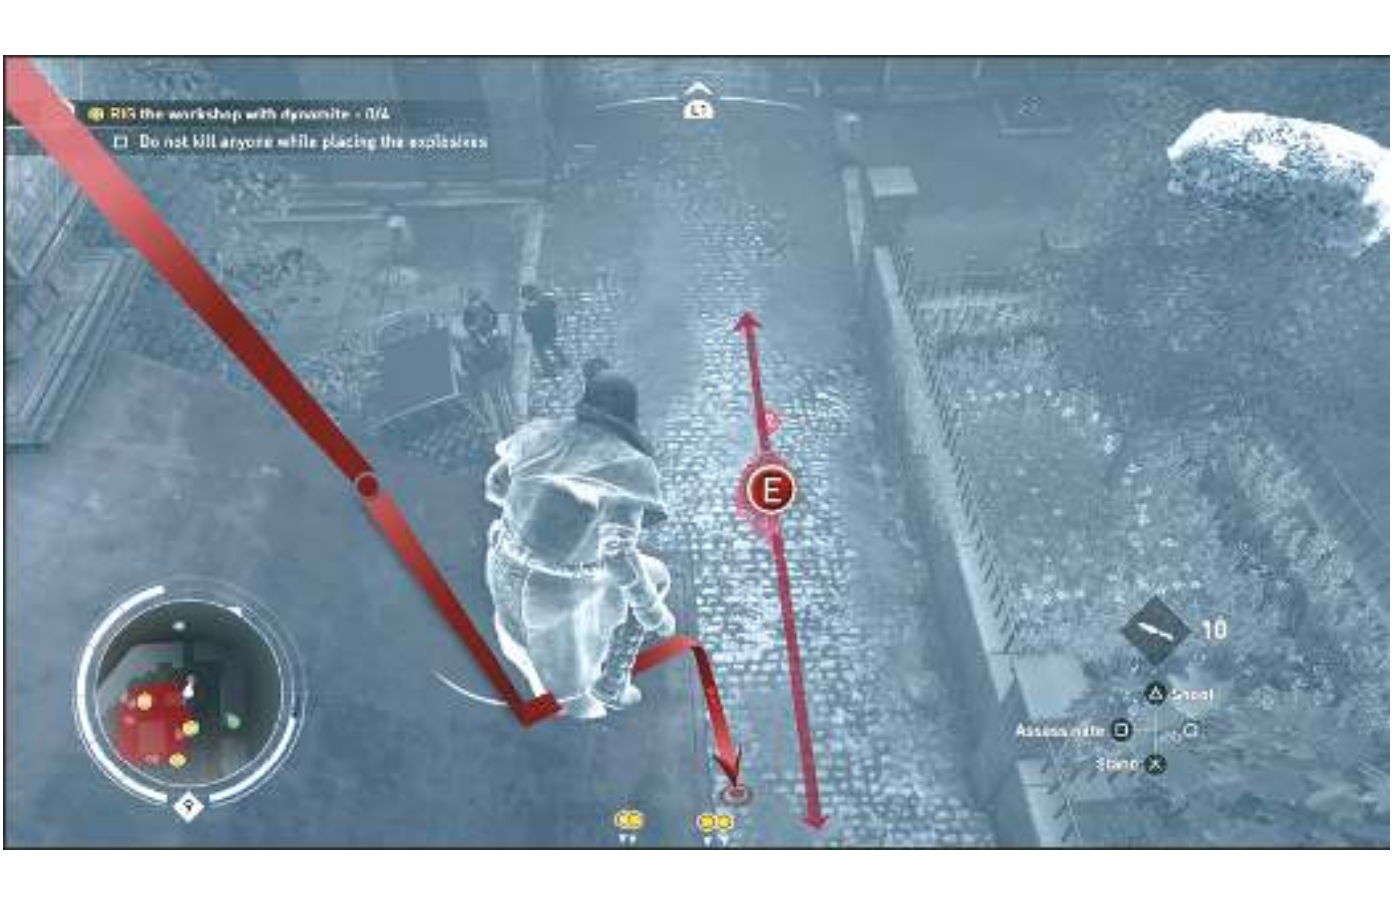
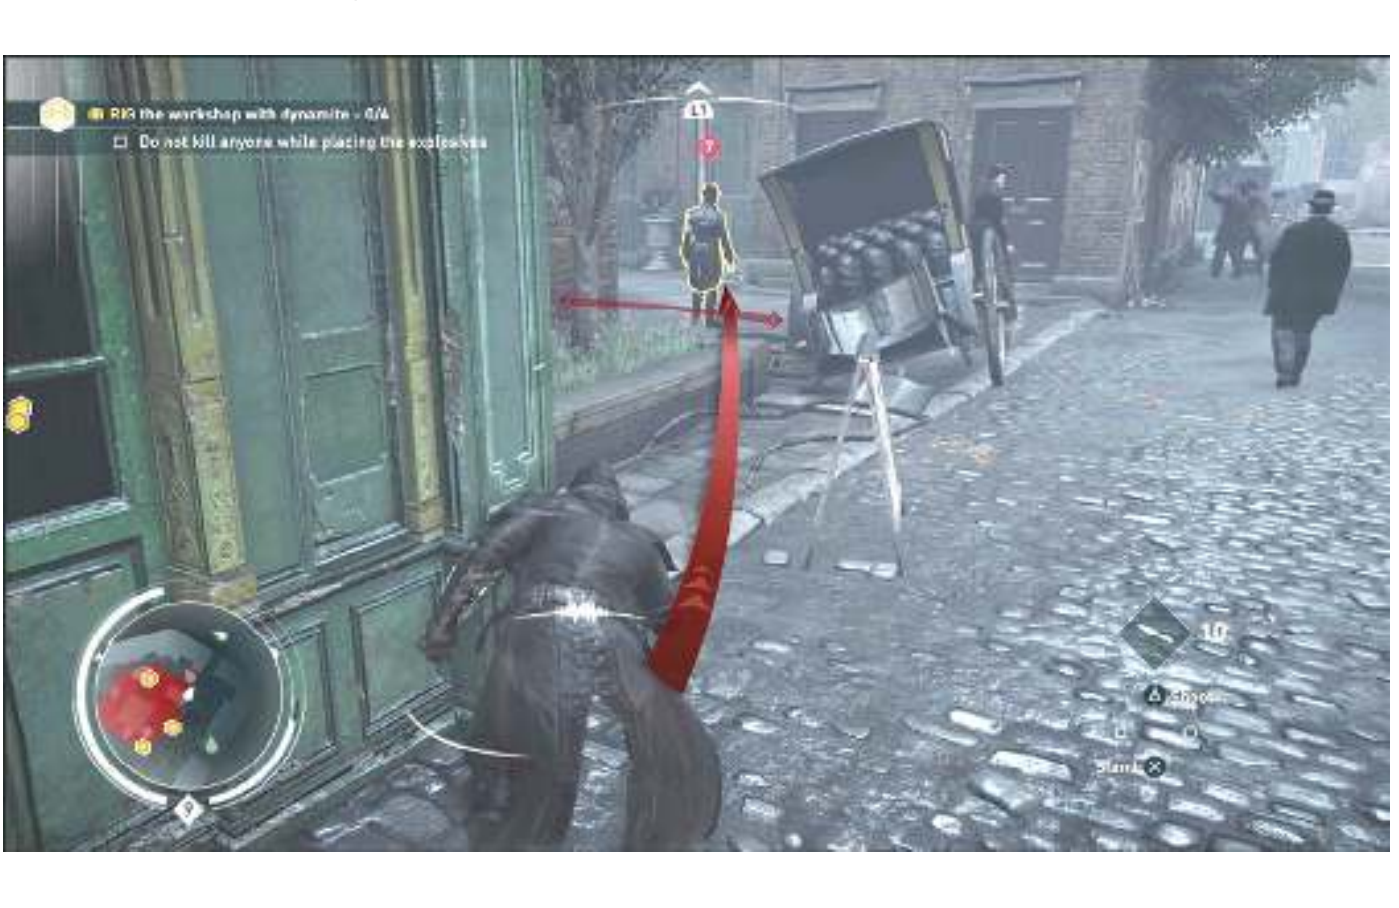
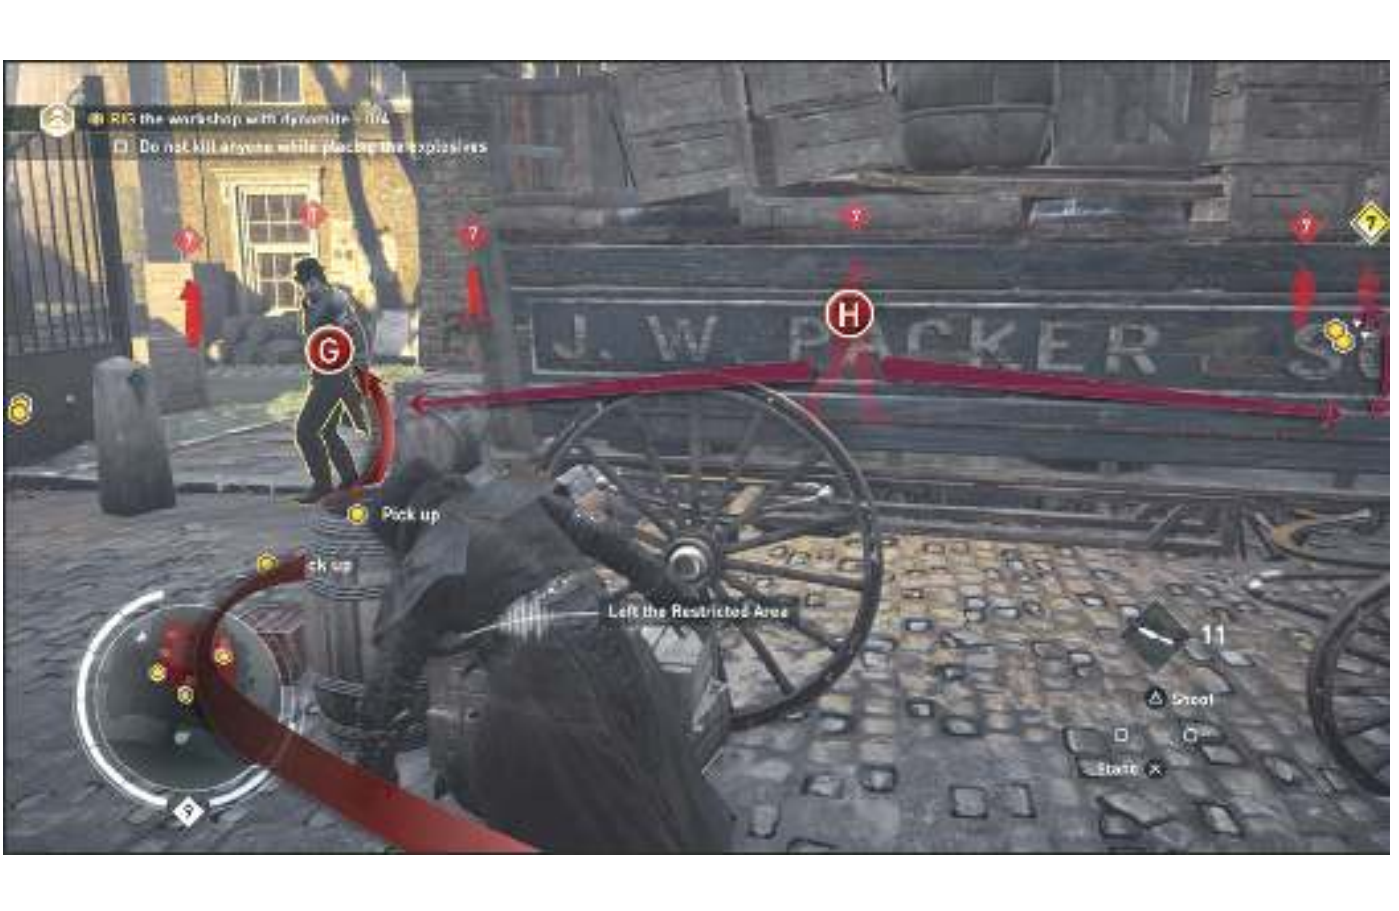
Get back to the rooftops and travel back to where Roth is standing (3). Rope Launch back to the rooftop of the small house (5) north of the workshop. Drop down to the red awning on the house's east side. Wait for the patrolling Templar (E) below to walk south toward the nearest dynamite cache. Drop down and knock him out before he reaches the cart where the dynamite is located (there's another Templar standing behind this cart at a gate entrance).



Now take cover at the northeast corner of this same house (5). While under the awning you dropped down from, look north for the patrolling Templar (F). He patrols from west to east and stops near the parked carriage near this house. When he turns back west on his route, sneak up behind him and knock him out.



Again, return to the east side of the house (5) and sneak up beside the cart (9) near the explosives. Use Eagle Vision to spot the patrolling Templars in the yard around the workshop. The Templar (G) standing with his back to you at the end of the cart near the explosives does not patrol. The Brute (H) closest to him in the yard patrols from just beside this Templar to a haystack next to the house (5). A Templar Leader (I) also needs to be watched, as he stops near the haystack at the end of his patrol. When the Leader (I) is far away from the haystack and the Brute (H) is walking toward the haystack, sneak around the corner of the cart and knock out the Templar Soldier. There's enough time to pick him up and hide his body behind the cart.



Do not interact with the explosives yet. Instead, get to the house (5) rooftop and perform a Leap of Faith into the haystack on the south side. When the Templar Leader (I) is walking away from the haystack and the Brute (H) turns and walks away from the haystack, silently exit the haystack and knock the Brute out. Hide his body behind the cart (9) so the Leader does not see it.

Renter the haystack when the Leader (I) is not looking and then wait for him to come and go again and sneak up behind him and knock him out. Do this quickly before he walks too closely to the Templar Soldier (J) guarding the small toolshed to the west. Hide his body behind the cart (9).

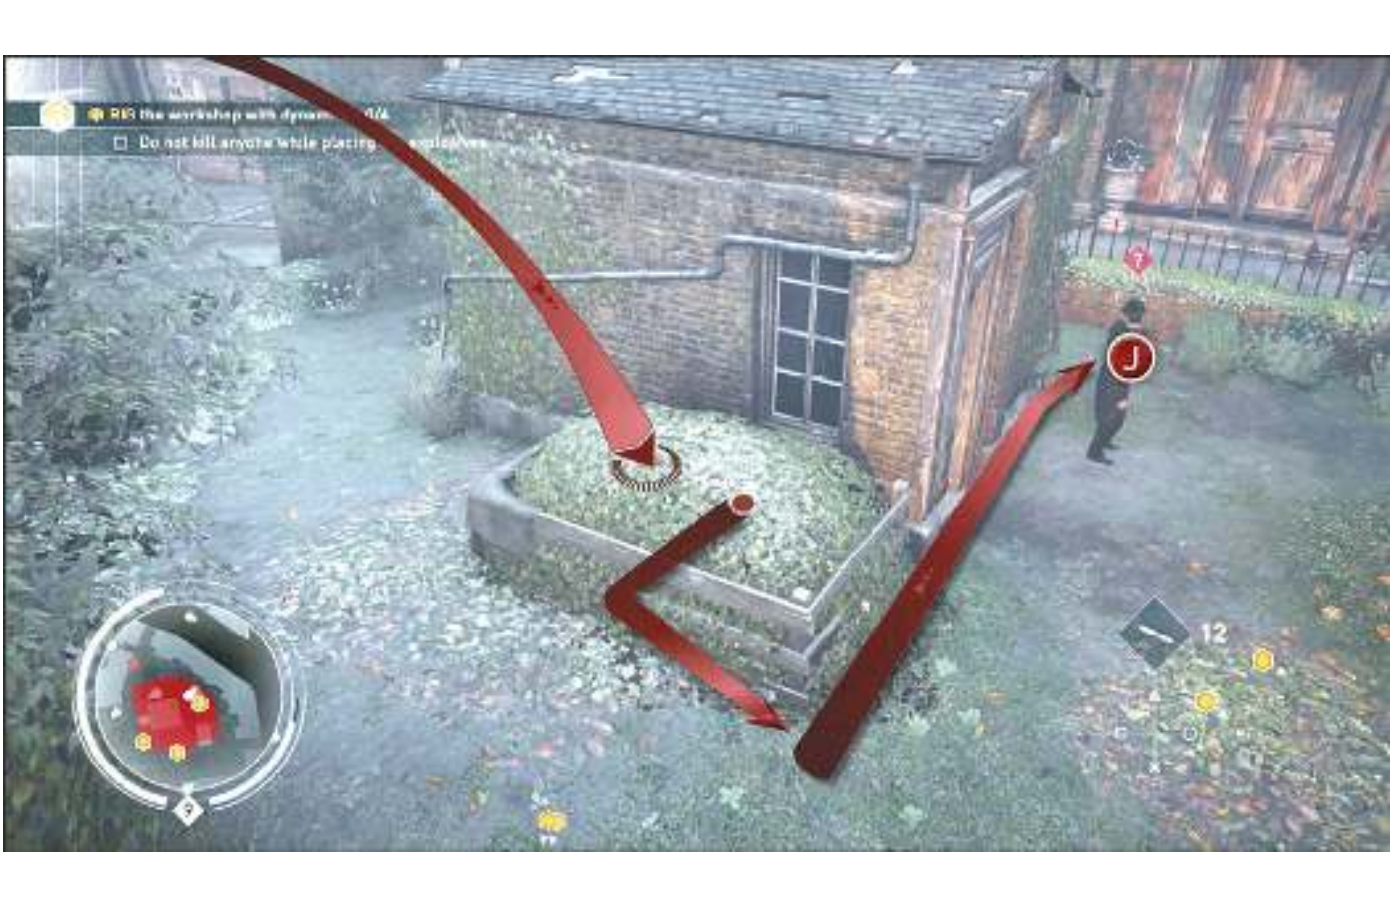
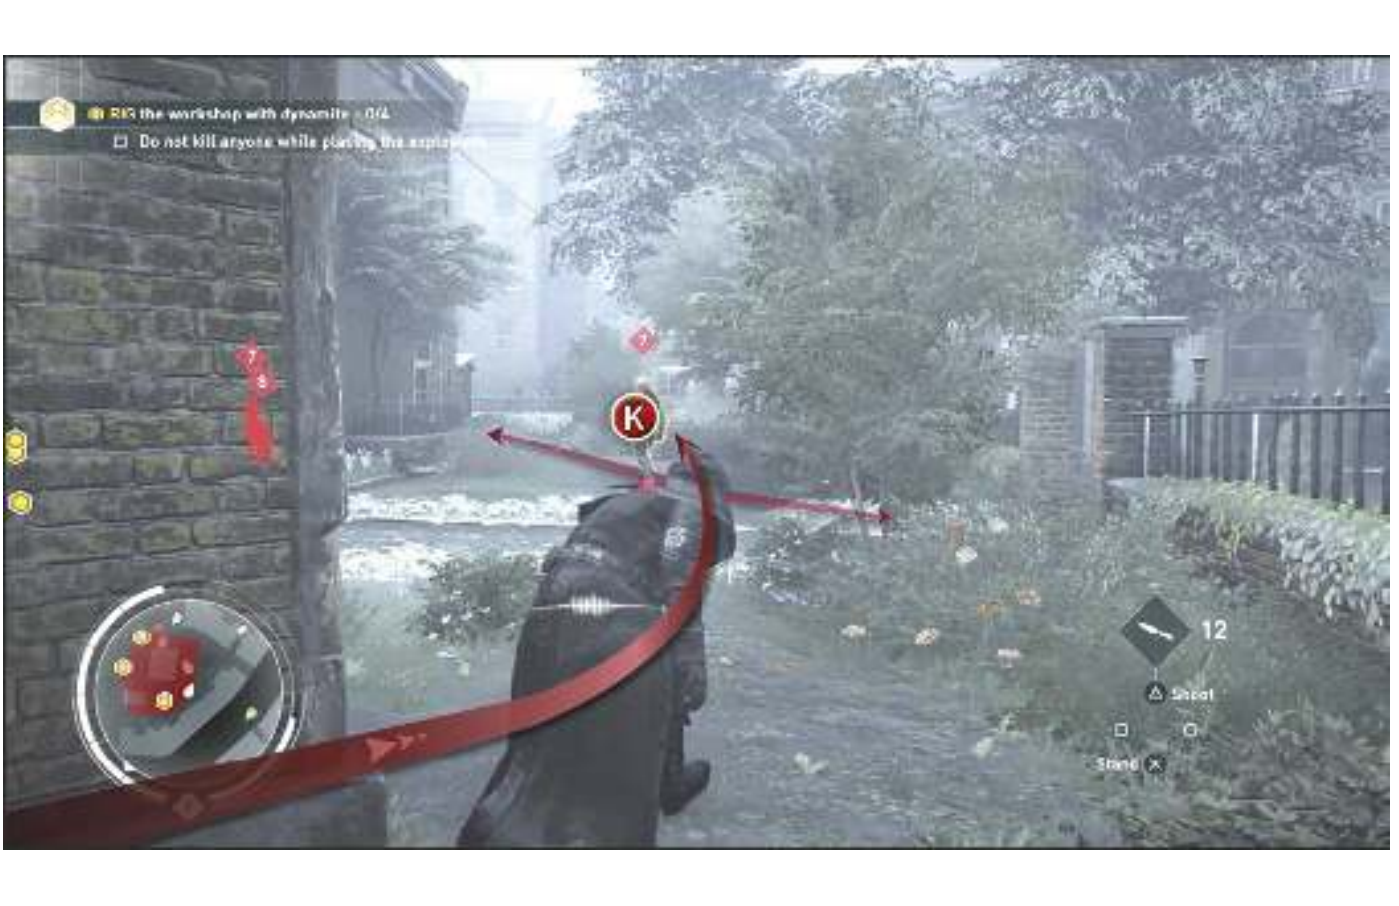
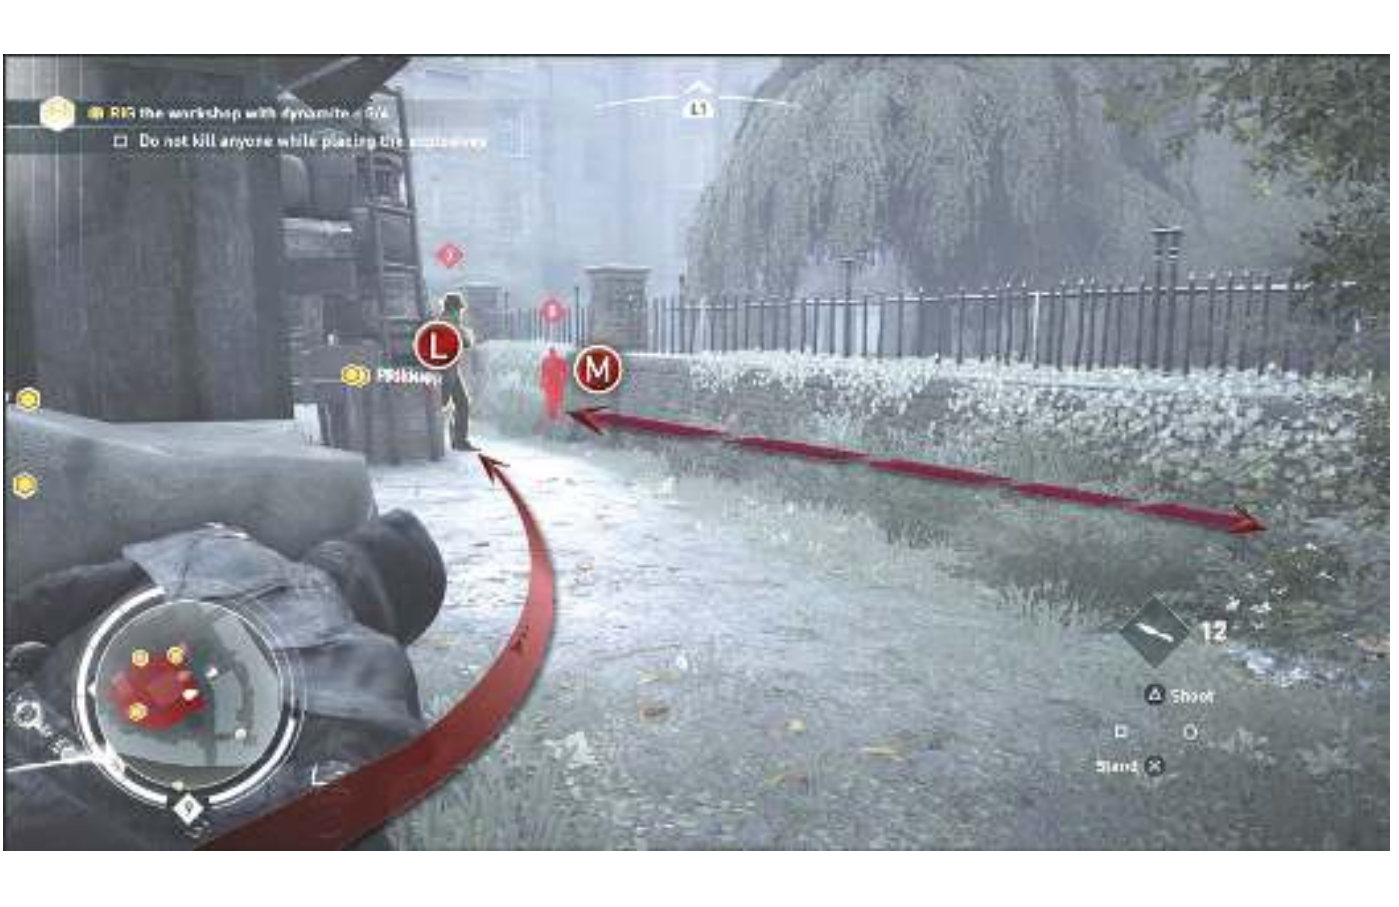
Rope Launch to the rooftop of the workshop (4) then Leap of Faith into the haystack (next to the toolshed). Exit the haystack and sneak around the north edge and come up behind the Templar (J) standing in front of the shed and knock him out.



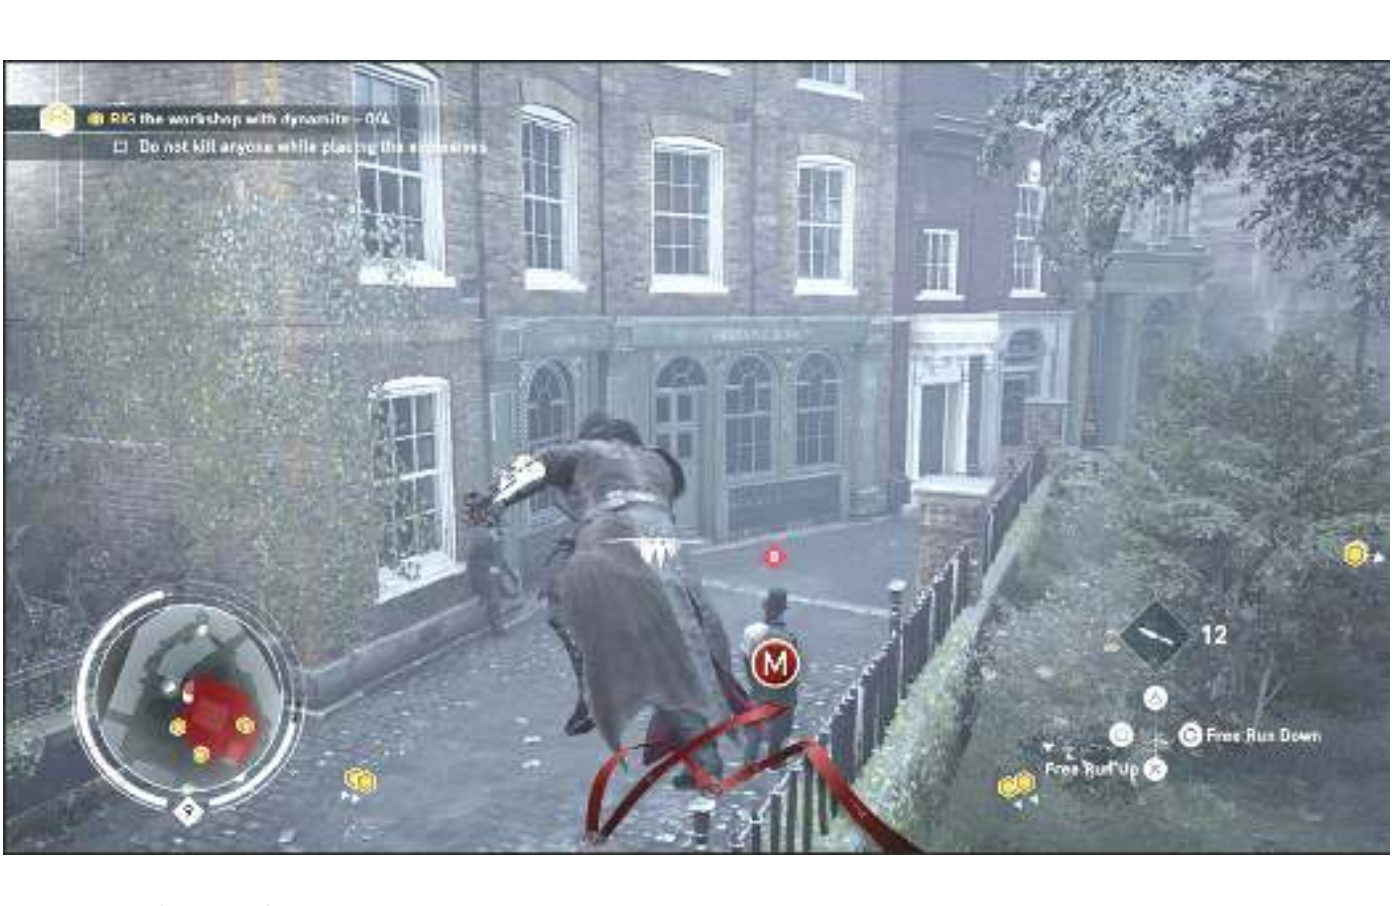
Cover beside the north fence and the toolshed (10) and watch the Brute (K) patrolling the yard to the south. When he walks away from you heading south, come up behind him and knock him out. You can leave his body where it falls. You're almost done; only a couple more to go.



Creep up and cover next to the southwest corner (11) of the workshop. Look around the corner and observe the Templar (L) leaning on the stack of barrels on the south side of the workshop. This Templar Soldier does not move unless alerted. Come up beside him and knock him out. The Templar (M) walking a patrol route on the other side of the nearby fence does not see you through the fence, so you do not need to wait for him to walk by.

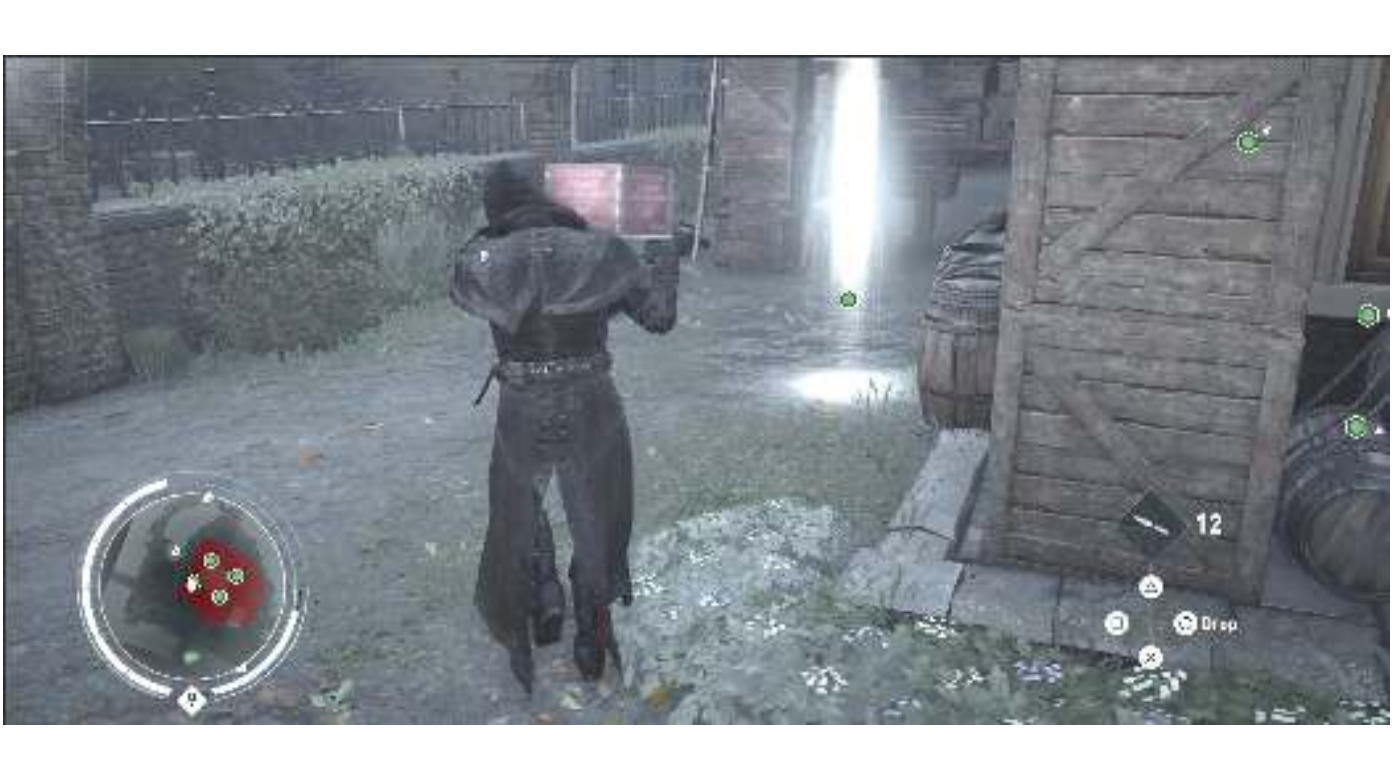


Hop up on the fence and then leap over when the patrolling Templar (M) walks by. Come up behind him and knock him out.

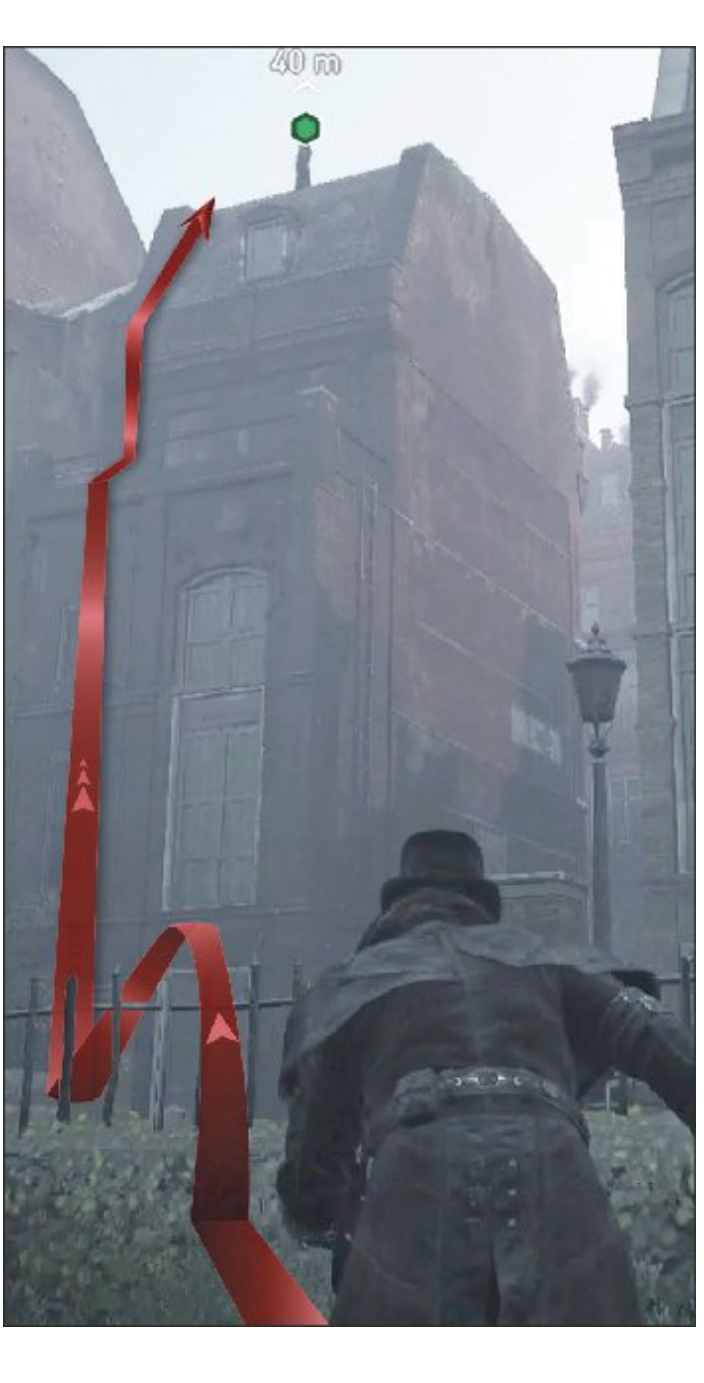


Place Four Crates of Dynamite in Four Locations

Now that all the enemies are knocked out, follow the yellow blips on the map around the yard to find the dynamite caches. When you pick up a crate of dynamite four green drop-off locations appear around the workshop (4). Place a crate of dynamite in each of these for locations (blipped green on the Mini-Map). Do not ignite or shoot the crates once placed.



Current Objective: Speak to Roth



Once you have delivered one crate of Dynamite in each of the four locations, return to Roth on the rooftop (3).

While talking to Roth on the rooftop, Jacob sees children entering the workshop that he just set explosives around to detonate. Jacob screams at Roth to stop his men from detonating the building. Roth has no concern for the children, so Jacob leaps from the rooftop and kills two of Roth's men headed for the detonation switch.

Face north in the hallway with Eagle Vision engaged. You see two Blighter guards (G) & (H) standing between you and freeing the Machinist (I), which you can see standing in a room through the nearby wall. The Brute (H) walks off the raised area where the prisoner is being held. You can throw a knife at his head when he stands at the bottom of the stairs. Unique Kill Opportunity: Cut the rope to assassinate Roth

Roth addresses the audience and shortly after commands his guards to light the stage and music hall on fire, trapping everyone inside his performance art of death. He then dares Jacob to escape.

This assassination is very easy if you have used the Machinist's help. Simply run to the back stage below the rafter platform and Rope Launch to the top. In the rush of things it's difficult to get a lock-on on the rafter so you may have to launch to the top of the background set pieces and jump from the top of those to the rafter platform.

Tensions between Evie and Jacob are at an all time high. Evie is tired of cleaning up the mess Jacob leaves in his wake. She tells Jacob that Starrick is making his move and that the Piece of Eden is somewhere inside Buckingham Palace. They begin to fight like children as Henry Green enters in time to break it up. He tells the twins he heard from his sources that Starrick plans to steal the Piece of Eden at the ball tonight and then eliminate the heads of church and state. The twins agree to work together one last time…then call it quits.

Mary Anne Disraeli enters the car. Jacob asks the Prime Minister's wife for entrance into the ball tonight. As Mary Anne starts in with how impossible that would be, her husband Benjamin butts in and guarantees them entry. Evie suggests that Jacob steal the Gladstones' invitations. Everyone agrees to that delightful plan.

Current Objective: Reach the Gladstones' house

Location: Gladstones, Westminster

Since you were on the train, there's really no telling where you will be when you begin this memory. Hop off the train and take a carriage to the Gladstone's (1) in Westminster. The carriage you were hoping would be outside their house is missing.

Current Objective: Steal Mr. Gladstone's invitation

Activate Eagle Vision to spot many policemen around the courtyard, maintaining order during the festivities. You also spot a yellow blip. This indicates the location of the invitation you are to steal. The Challenge is to not kill any coppers while stealing the invitation. If you have to get rid of a policeman, then knock him out.

Begin the task by Rope Launching to the rooftop on your right. There's a policeman (4) there facing the courtyard that needs to be dealt with first. Come up behind him and knock him out. There's a Helix Glitch nearby, but we suggest leaving it there as it seems it's ideally located to alert police as you attempt to retrieve it.

From the north edge of the rooftop (4), look down into the courtyard. You see a circus tent (7) in the middle; the invitation is under the tent. Acquire a Rope Launch lock-on on the rooftop of the building behind the tent. Zipline over the tent to that rooftop (5).

Jacob tells the detective that he has an invitation to the Queen's ball tonight and that there's to be an attack. He asks Frederick if he can smuggle some weapons inside to help him prevent it. He tells Jacob that he needs a Royal Guard's uniform in order to that pull off.

Evie meets Duleep Singh outside Buckingham Palace in Westminster. She apologizes to the Maharaja for not having Buckingham Palace's renovation plans. Duleep eases her mind, telling her that there are copies to be had. He asks her to quickly and stealthily acquire an official carriage, which they could use to deliver politicians to their destinations. Along the way, the Maharaja can hold political meetings with them. Do this for him and he will help you find the renovation plans you need.

Current Objective: Borrow a royal carriage

Challenge: Steal a carriage without entering the courtyard

Head west along the sidewalk to reach the heavily guarded compound on the corner (2). Make sure you have a smoke bomb before getting too far. There is a merchant a block away if you need one (3) or you can defeat some random Blighters walking around with hopes they're carrying smoke bombs. Walk past the open gate (4) with Eagle Vision activated and you see multiple royal guards around, including some on nearby rooftops. Through an open gate you can see a beam of light in the middle of the courtyard indicating the location of an official carriage (2) to hijack.

The following tips allow you to beat the Challenge of stealing the carriage without entering the courtyard. Walk up to the knee-high gate (5) between the front door of the southwest building and the column that connects the metal fencing to the large gate entrance (4). From this position you can acquire a Rope Launch lock-on to the rooftop of the building. The royal guard at the front door does not notice your activities.

Head to the northwest side of the rooftop, being careful not to attract the attention of the rooftop royal guards to your left. Jump to the next rooftop (6) to the northwest and sneak to the northern edge (7) and look for the carriages below (2).

BORROW a royal carriage

There are three carriages, each marked with an orange blip. Throw a smoke bomb at one of the three to spook the horse. The carriage typically takes off through the southeast gate (4).

The carriage does not go too far away if you end up chasing it. It is possible that the carriage will return to the courtyard again. In that case you must repeat the smoke bomb process and catch it more quickly the next time. Most of the time, the horse calms down and stops in a nearby street. Jump up onto the carriage and hijack it. If you acquired some attention from nearby Blighters, Police, or Royal Guards, become anonymous and the next objective occurs.

You are directed to meet Duleep a block from Buckingham Palace. The carriage's health gauge must not dive below 50% or you fail the current Challenge. During these cab rides, there will be timers counting down from time to time but you rarely need to use a speed boost. So there's no need to whip the horse.

SEQUENCE 9
A NIGHT TO REMEMBER

Jacob and Frederick Abberline roll up to Evie in the Gladstone's carriage. Tensions still surround the twins. Frederick is in his royal guard disguise and Jacob asks Evie to hand over her weapons; they must enter Buckingham Palace unarmed. Her bag of weapons is at her feet ready for the taking.

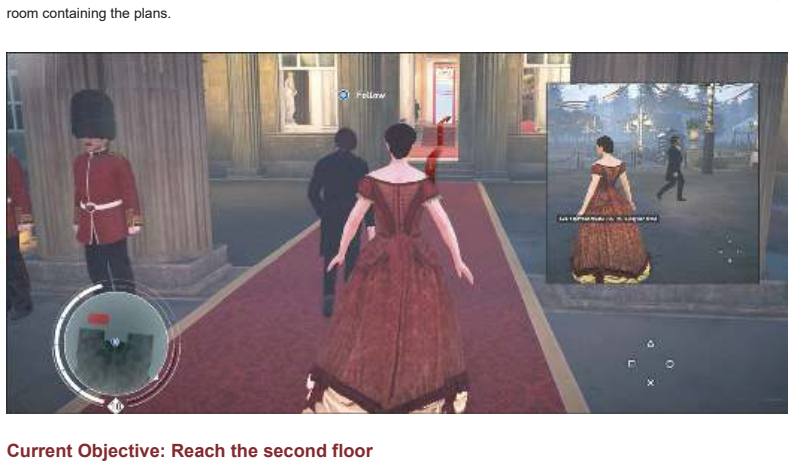
Location: Buckingham Palace, Westminster

They all enter the carriage together and roll through security at the palace. Security takes a look into the carriage and sees the nicely dressed Evie Frye. He waves their carriage through the gates. The Gladstones are seen having difficulty making it past the second guard at the gates as your team rolls through with their carriage and invitations.

Current Objective: Follow Jacob into the ballroom

You begin this memory as Evie Frye, who is dressed in a very beautiful, yet restrictive, ballroom dress. She cannot climb nor can she run. Follow Jacob straight into the palace, through the anteroom and out the backdoor to reach the festivities (2) in the backyard.

Once on the back porch (3), Jacob says he's off to meet Freddie to pick up their weapons. You are shown the locked drawing room containing the plans.



Current Objective: Reach the second floor

When you activate Eagle Vision you see blue glowing royal guards and red glowing royal guards. The red ones are Starrick's gang in disguise. Kidnap one of the two guards in front of you with a key icon above their head, which you can see while using Eagle Vision.

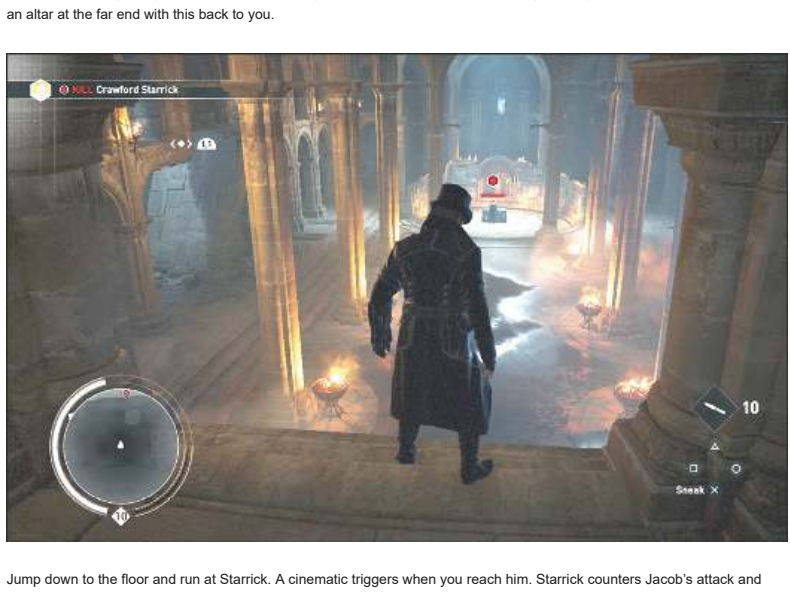
Current Objective: Kill Crawford Starrick

Location: Vault Interior

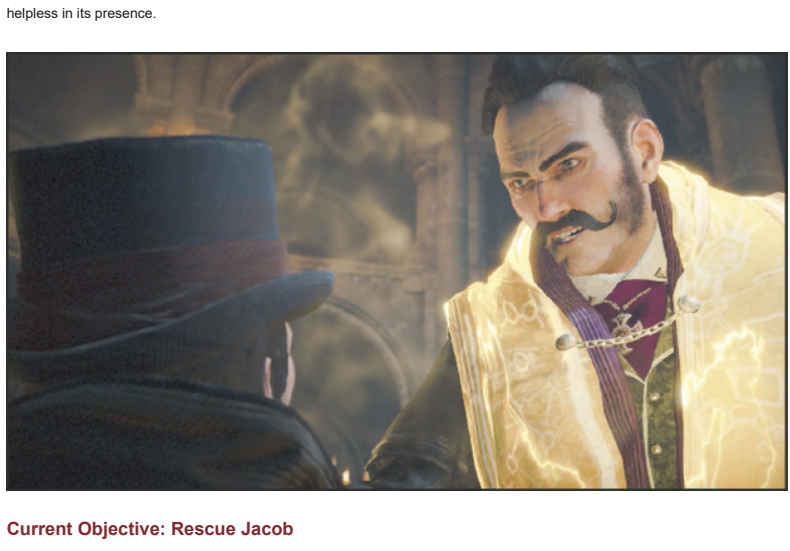
Stage 1: Jacob's Attack

You stand on a high ledge at the entrance to a large hall with many columns and a high ceiling. Crawford Starrick stands at an altar at the far end with this back to you.



KILL Crawford Starrick
Sneak

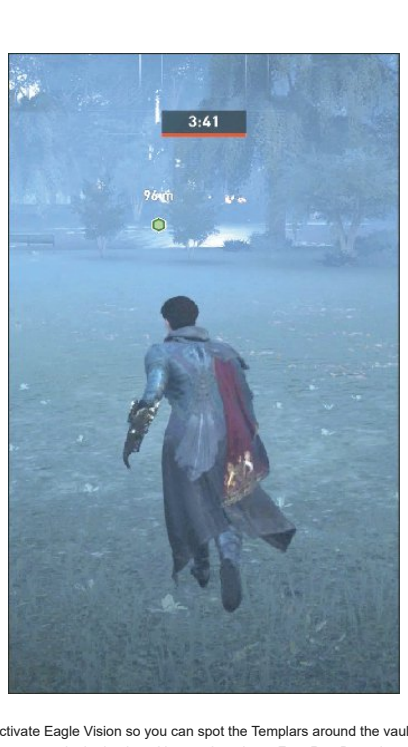
Jump down to the floor and run at Starrick. A cinematic triggers when you reach him. Starrick counters Jacob's attack and grabs him by the neck. The shroud draped around Starrick's shoulders glows with some mystical powers. Jacob seems helpless in its presence.



Current Objective: Rescue Jacob

Time Limit: 3:51

When the cinematic ends you find yourself in control of Evie who has just changed into her gear. She's behind Buckingham Palace and has to swim across the pond to reach the same vault entrance Jacob found. You have 3 minutes and 51 seconds to rescue Jacob.



When you reach the woods, activate Eagle Vision so you can spot the Templars around the vault entrance (12). Just stab the one crouched over at the vault entrance in the back and ignore the others. Free Run Down into the hole. Slide down the stairs as you did with Jacob.

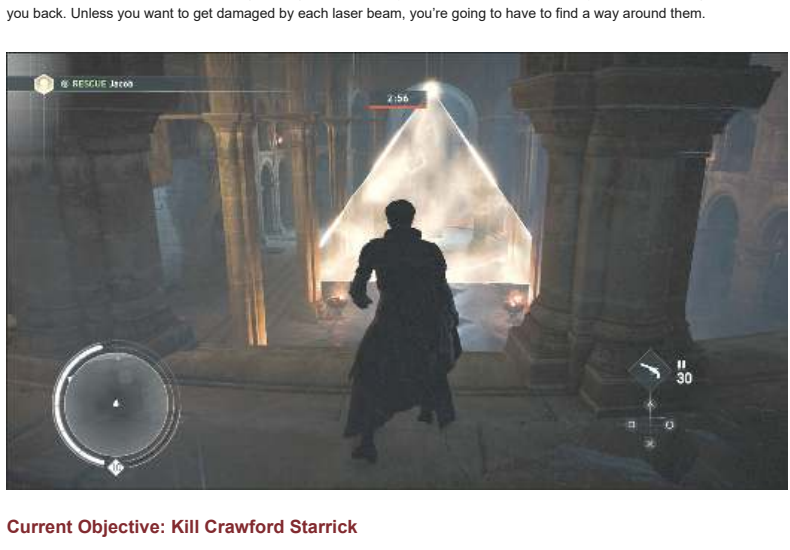
Inside the vault, you spot Starrick with Jacob in his grasp. A laser security system activates and a triangular beam of light shines down to the floor from the ceiling. The light approaches you as if on a rail. If it touches you, it does damage and throws you back. Unless you want to get damaged by each laser beam, you're going to have to find a way around them.



RESCUE Jacob

Current Objective: Kill Crawford Starrick

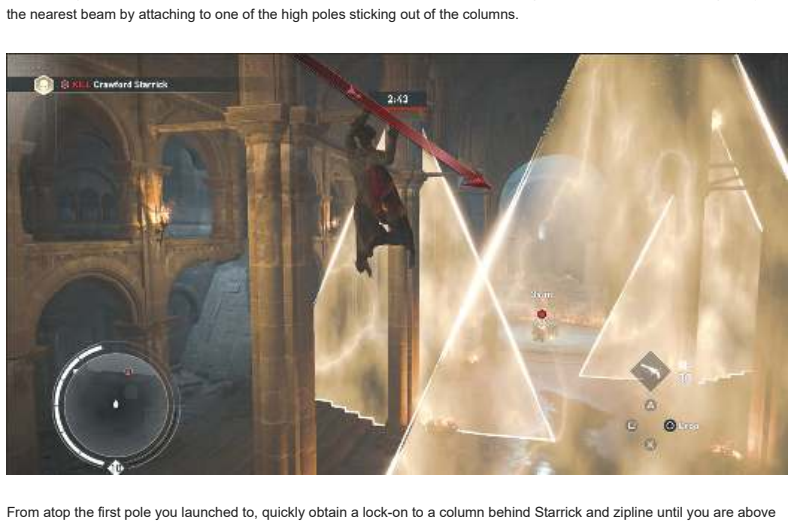
Location: Vault Interior

Stage 2: Evie's Attack

First Laser Grid Escape Plan

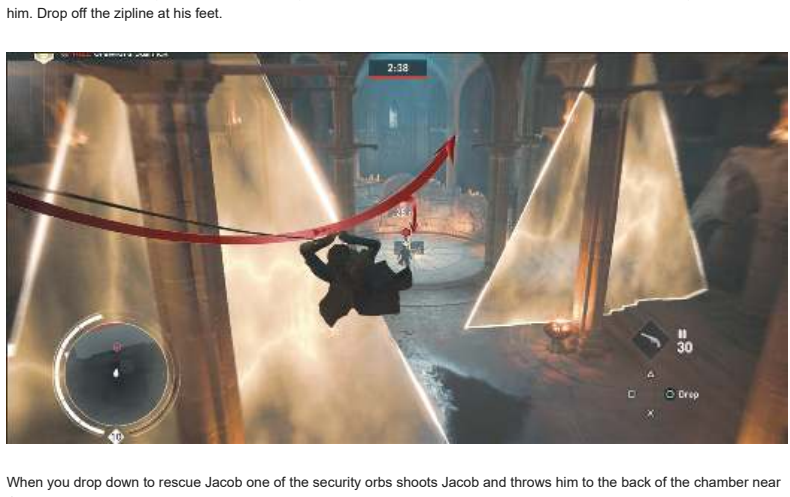
You can actually remain on the ground and just run around the first laser grid pattern and then rush to Jacob's rescue.

Three triangular laser beams shoot from three different locations from the vault ceiling. Use the Rope Launcher to get beyond the nearest beam by attaching to one of the high poles sticking out of the columns.



KILL Crawford Starrick
2:43

From atop the first pole you launched to, quickly obtain a lock-on to a column behind Starrick and zipline until you are above him. Drop off the zipline at his feet.



When you drop down to rescue Jacob one of the security orbs shoots Jacob and throws him to the back of the chamber near the entrance.

Control returns to Evie. Move in quickly and start throwing attack combos at Starrick. The Shroud of Eden protects the wearer from any firearm or ranged attack, so throwing knives or shooting bullets at Starrick is be a waste of time and ammo. Continue performing normal Attack combos and start countering as soon as Starrick breaks out of your combo. Counter and attack.

What happens next is reminiscent of the battle with Lucy Thorne. The camera pans in close to Starrick as he prepares to launch a volley of combos that you must block one after the other—similar to the attack sequence that Thorne used. His third swing is always a fake that is followed by a quick left swing. Counter all of these moves, then follow up with another attack combo, and then end your attack with as many rounds from your firearm as you can fit in.

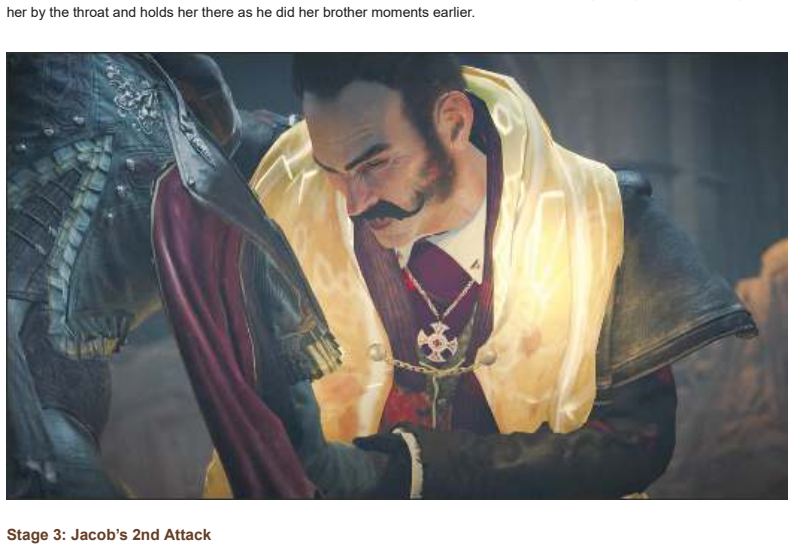
After the second round of attacks, Evie lands a stabbing attack. Blood pools around Crawford's wound but with the power of the Shroud of Eden, the wound miraculously heals. While Evie is completely shocked and caught off guard, Crawford grabs her by the throat and holds her there as he did her brother moments earlier.



Stage 3: Jacob's 2nd Attack

Time Limit: 1:30

Control switches to Jacob who's getting to his feet at the back of the vault. The beginning of this stage starts like the beginning of Evie's battle: three triangular laser beams sweep across the vault heading your way. Move to the extreme left or right side of the chamber and you see a clear path that you can run through to avoid the lasers while simply running along the floor.

When you reach Starrick, Evie gets laser zapped to the back of the vault just as Jacob was moments earlier.

As Jacob, tear right into Crawford with your best blades and pull off the longest attack combo possible. Within this combo a short cinematic is triggered and in it, Starrick gets hit with a very damaging knife puncture.

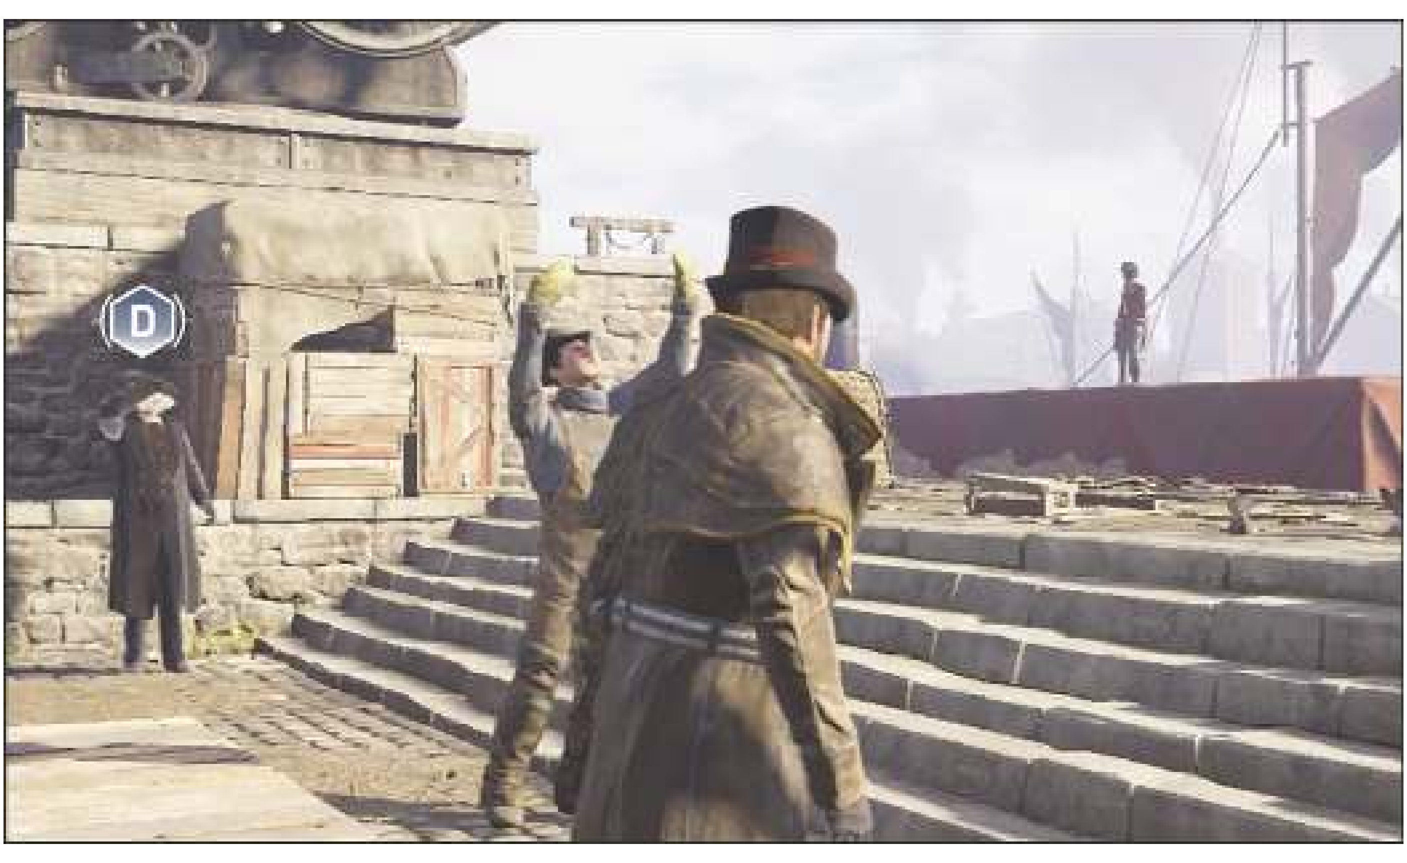
Charles Dickens Memories become available when you enter London in Sequence 3. Darwin’s Orchid is available after you complete the first of both Darwin’s and Dickens’ memories and only if you have pre-ordered the game. This is the first of the pre-order missions to unlock.

Follow the blue “D” (1) on the map to the bulkhead in The Thames with the two large cranes. This is off the shore of the City Of London. You can find Darwin standing near the east crane. A vital orchid specimen that helps validate Darwin’s theory of evolution is en route to London from Madagascar by boat. Darwin needs you to recover it. A rival colleague is collaborating with gang members and has been trying to ruin Darwin’s reputation. A gang of ruffians is trying to thwart his efforts by preventing the orchid’s safe delivery. They are on their way to intercept the orchid now.



Objective: Locate the orchid

Challenge: Reach the docks before the thugs

You have 1 minute and 36 seconds to make it to the docks (3) before the Blighters.

Jump from the dock (1), across the boats, and get to a bridge support so you can Rope Launch to the top of the bridge (2).

Run across the bridge for the green blip in the distance and hop over the other side of the bridge. Dive into the water or drop onto a boat and use the boats and floating objects to reach the destination marker on the bow of a parked boat (3).

Defeat the Blighters on the boat so you can search for the orchid safely.

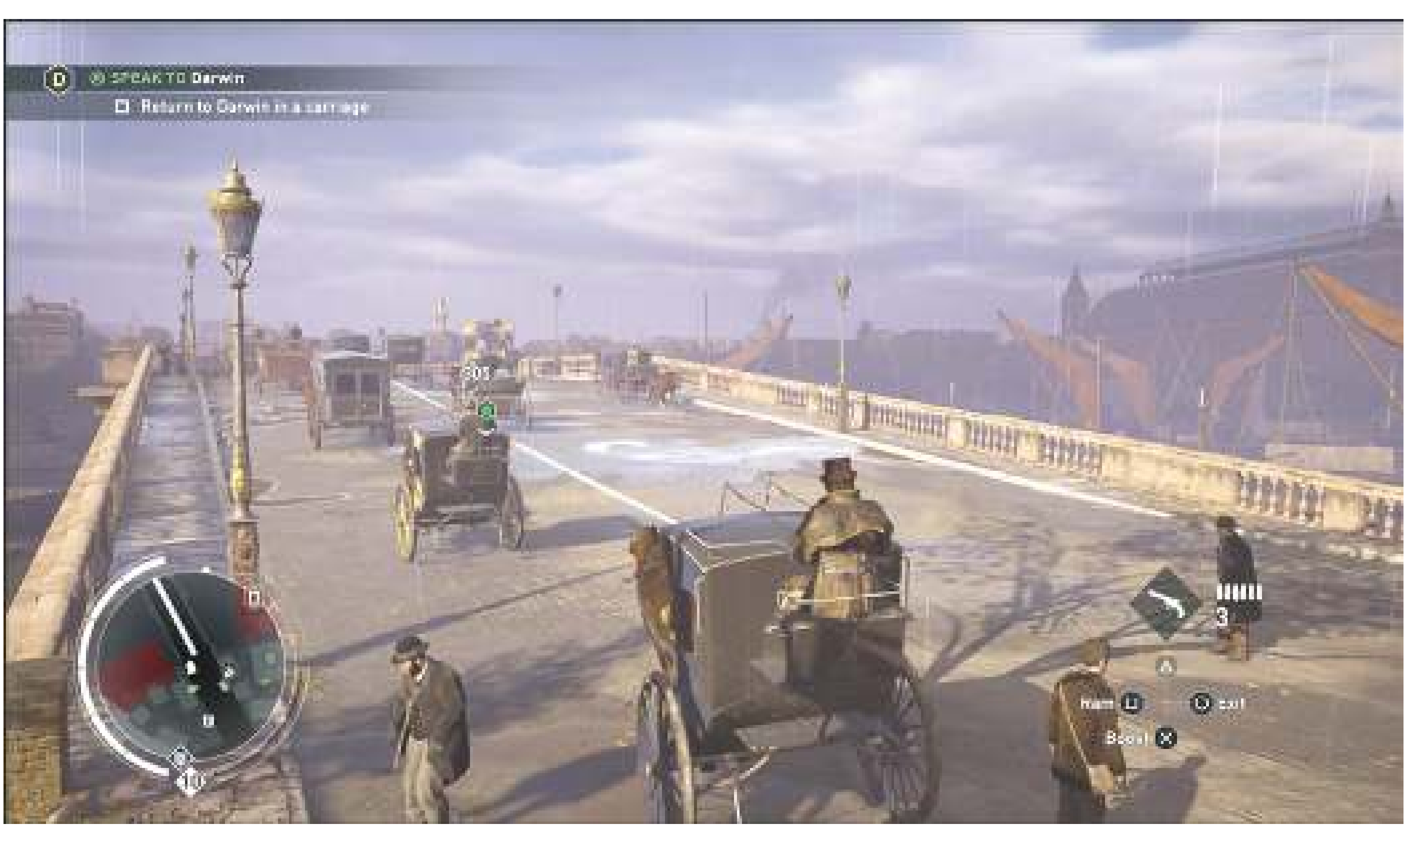
Objective: Speak to Darwin

Challenge: Return to Darwin in a carriage

Get to the nearby bridge and hijack a carriage to meet the Challenge requirement. Now take the Orchid back to Darwin who is now standing on the sidewalk (5) near the memory start location. Speak to him to complete the memory.



Charles Dickens Memories become available when you enter London in Sequence 3. Our Mutual Friend is the second of the pre-order missions to unlock.

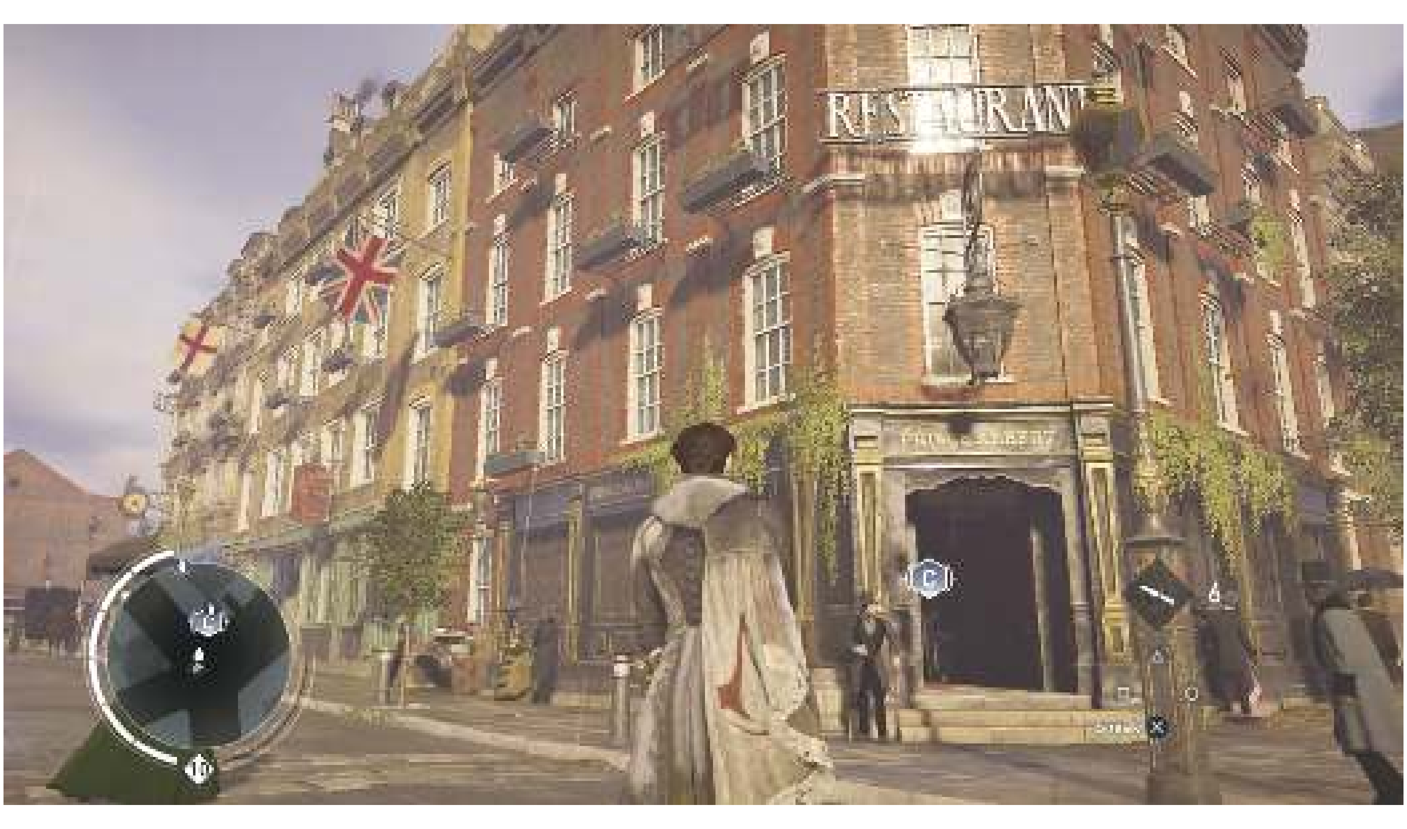
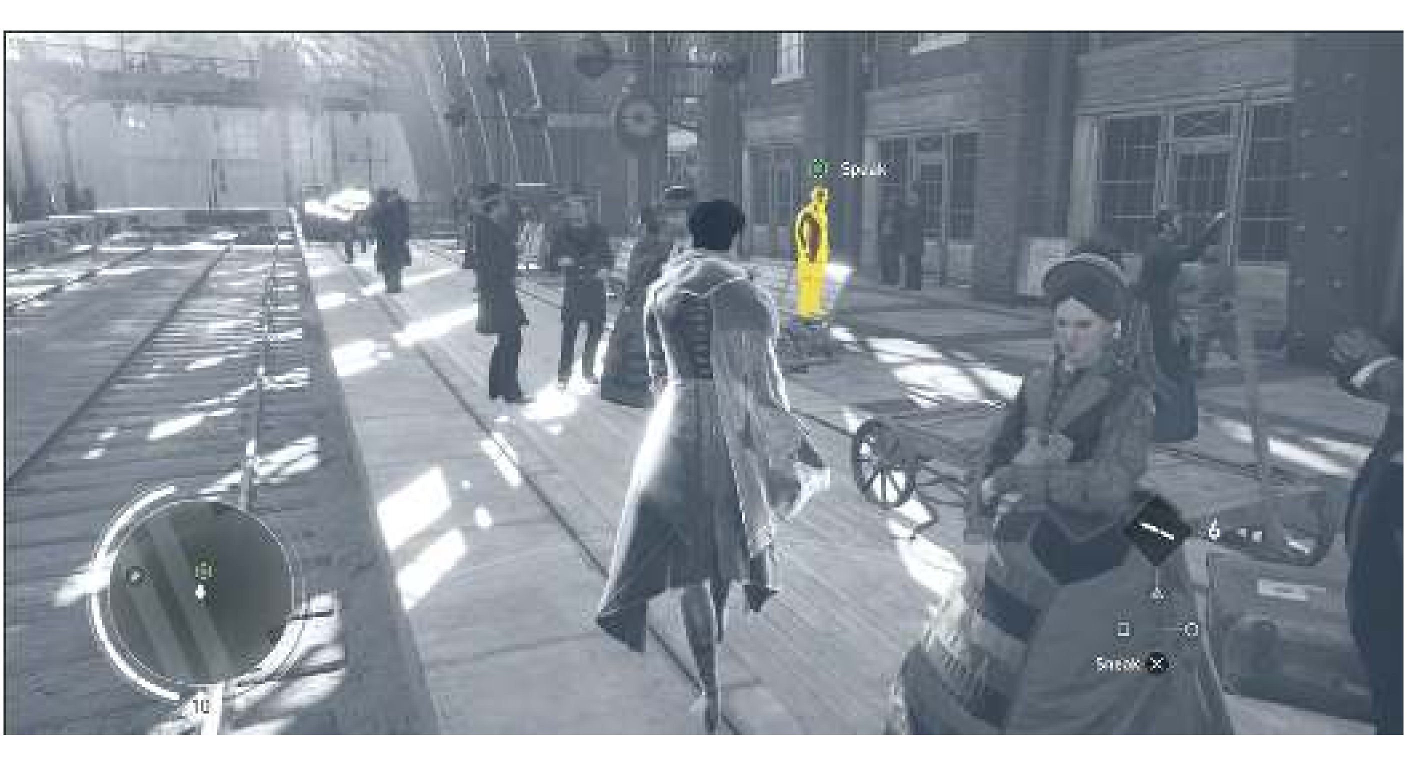
Follow the blue "C" icon to meet Charles Dickens and Charles Darwin inside the Prince Albert Restaurant in Westminster (1). A friend of Dickens' is arriving from South Africa and asks you to go and meet him at the train station. The young man is filthy rich, but he's never been to London. He's come to inherit his father's fortune and is to be married to a girl he's never met. The young man is worried that the girl will only love him for his money and asks Jacob to pas him off for dead in order to try and seduce her on his own merits.



Objective: Locate John Hammon

Exit the restaurant (1) and hijack a carriage to get to the train station (2) some 124 meters away. You can find Hammon in the passenger loading area on the north side of the interior tracks. Use Eagle Vision to find him quickly.

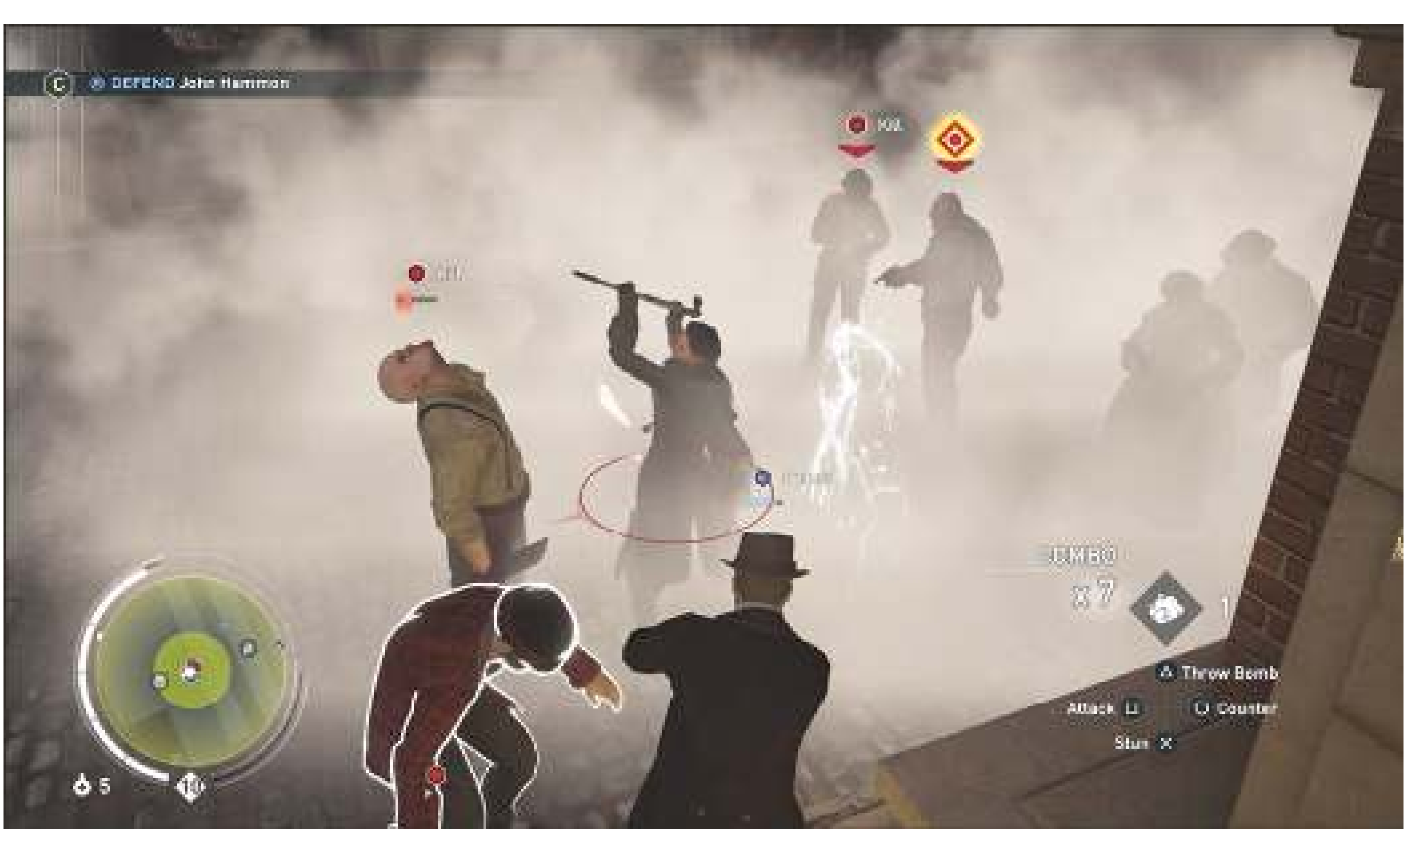


Objective: Speak to John Hammon

Tell John that Dickens sent you to pick him up. He shares his story as you walk out of the train station.

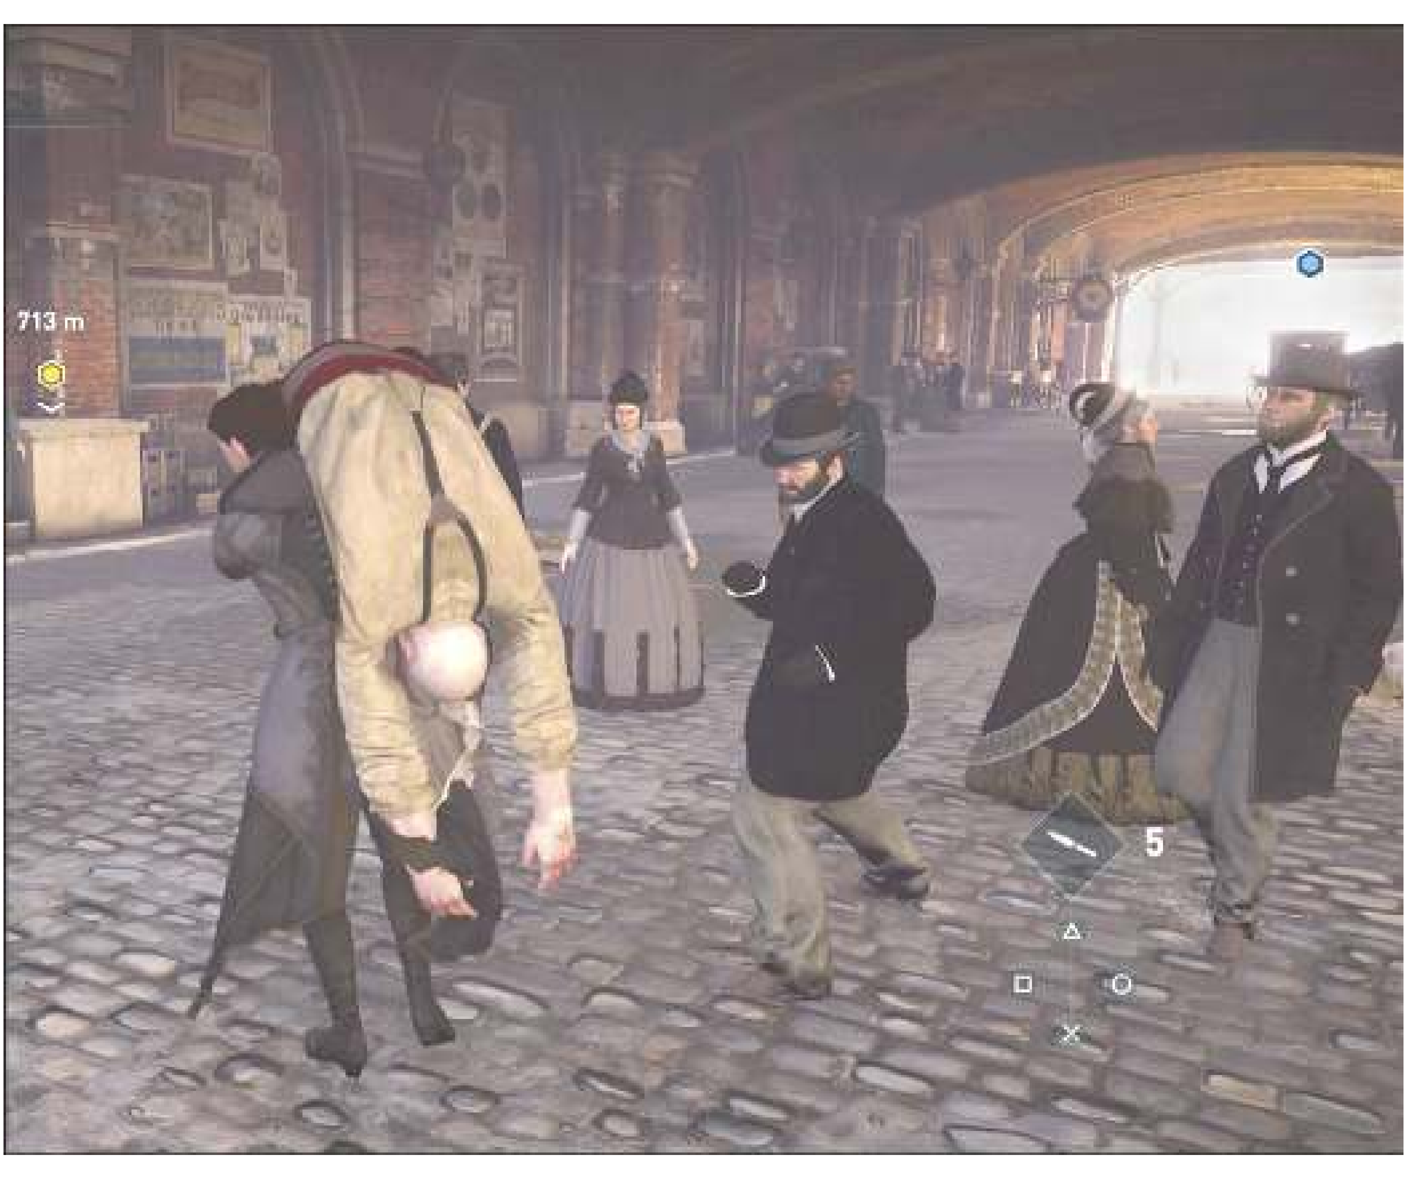
Objective: Defend John Hammon

Walk down the nearby stairs to the southwest to find a parked carriage…and a gang of Blighters. Defeat the four gang members to keep Hammon safe. Use a smoke bomb to even the odds.



Objective: Pick up body

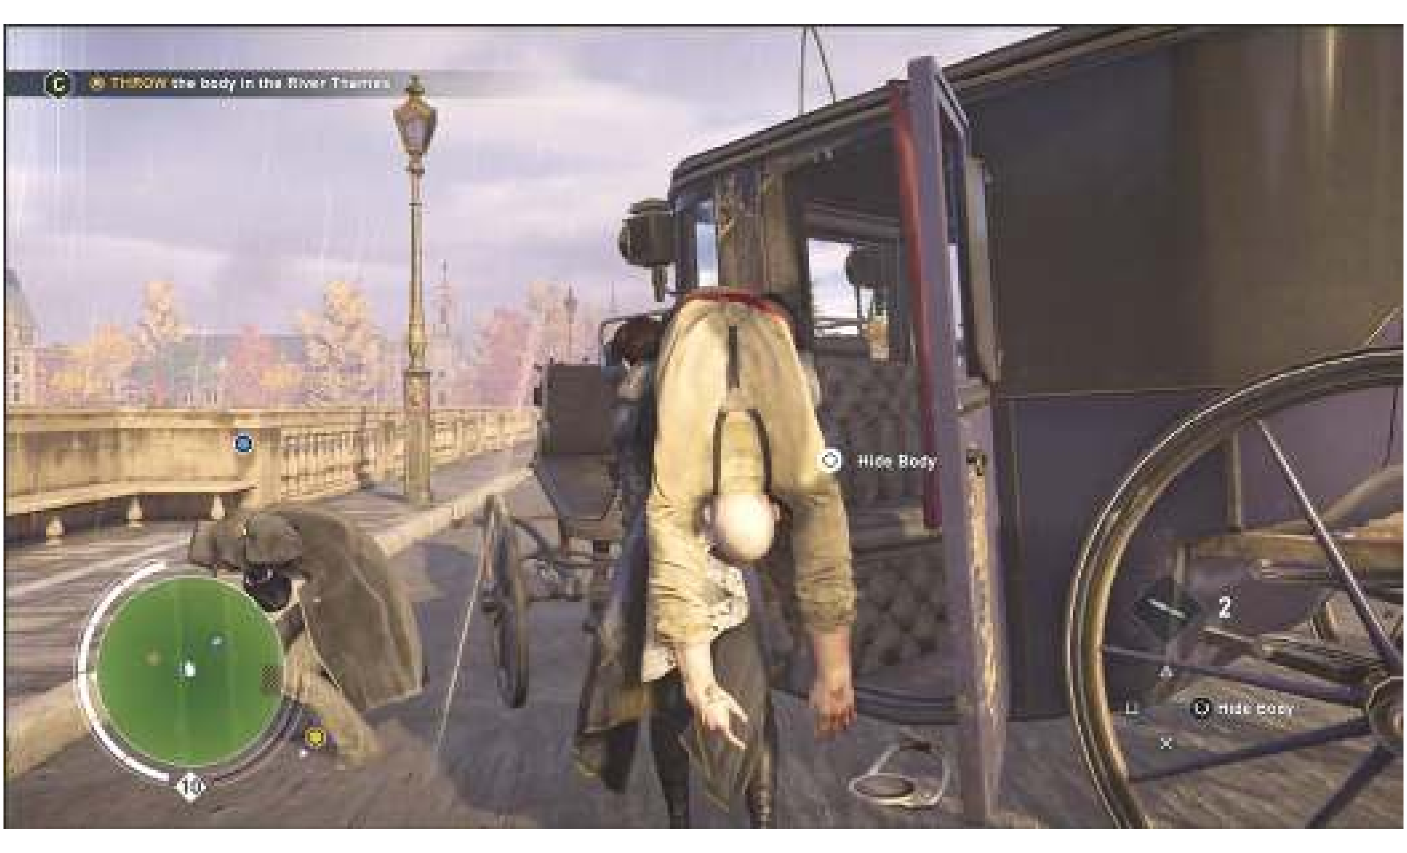
John places his identification on one of the dead bodies. His plan is to fool the future bride that John Hammon is dead to see if she will like him as a nobody. Pick up the body with the prompt over it and carry it to the carriage.



Objective: Throw the body in the River Thames

If you used smoke during the battle then it is likely the carriage is a few yards away; smoke scares horses. Hide the body in the carriage, get in the driver's seat and allow Hammon to ride along.

Follow the route marker to the halfway point across the bridge to the east (3). Exit the carriage, walk up to the carriage door and press the "Carry" button to open the door and lift the dead body.



Carry the body to the edge of the bridge and throw the body over the side and into The Thames.

Dreadful Crimes

Introduction

Sony Exclusive

The Dreadful Crimes are available exclusively for the Sony PS4 console.

Dreadful Crimes

Dreadful Crimes unlock after you complete Sequence 3. Follow the magnifying glass icon to the nearest murder scene to begin.

In this section, we have created the ultimate spoiler! All you need to know is “who done it” to solve these memories. We list all the clues in each area and tips to get through it, but we also reveal the name of the person to accuse of the crime. Every wrong guess costs you money and experience points when the reward is dished out at the end of the memory. One other point of interest: these replays disappear from the Progress Tracker after you play once. That means you only have one shot to get it right.

Crime Investigation Basics

To find the murderer, use Eagle Vision to search the investigation zones for clues. Clues glow yellow and, when you approach them, prompt an investigate button. Once clues are inspected, they glow white and descriptions appear near that person or object, but only while Eagle Vision is activated. In one case, Eagle Vision even allows you to see a bullet trajectory.

Interrogate every suspect. Unlocking more clues could add additional questions in a previously investigated suspect’s conversation options. So question them more than once if applicable. The suspects have a red exclamation point icon near them when there are matters to be discussed. Sometimes talking to suspects actually opens a larger investigation zone with important clues that could point you in a new investigation direction—one that makes the new evidence undeniable.

Press Options to enter the Progression Log and access your collected evidence. This view option keeps you from running back and forth looking for the Eagle Vision text labels around the clues when you need to review the case.

Accuse the guilty suspect to solve the case and collect your reward. Be careful though, as every false accusation reduces the reward. Or, read on and see “who done it.”

Disappearing Dreadful Crimes

Rewards

£: 1000 (Max)

XP: 800 (Max)

Cape: Country Cloak

Location: North Whitechapel

This is the mystery of the factory worker's death. You meet a young boy, Artie, and an author, Henry Raymond (1). Doyle is fascinated by the crimes Raymond writes about. And Henry Raymond escorts his little fan to many of the crime scenes.

Find All The Clues First

It's best to approach an investigation with all the evidence possible. So look for all the clues available in an area before speaking to any suspects. This is an efficient way of doing the work but also keeps you from having to go back and talk to the same suspect multiple times as more clues are found.

Objective: Follow Raymond and Artie

Follow your two guides to Mr. Freems (2), only a few yards away in the factory compound.

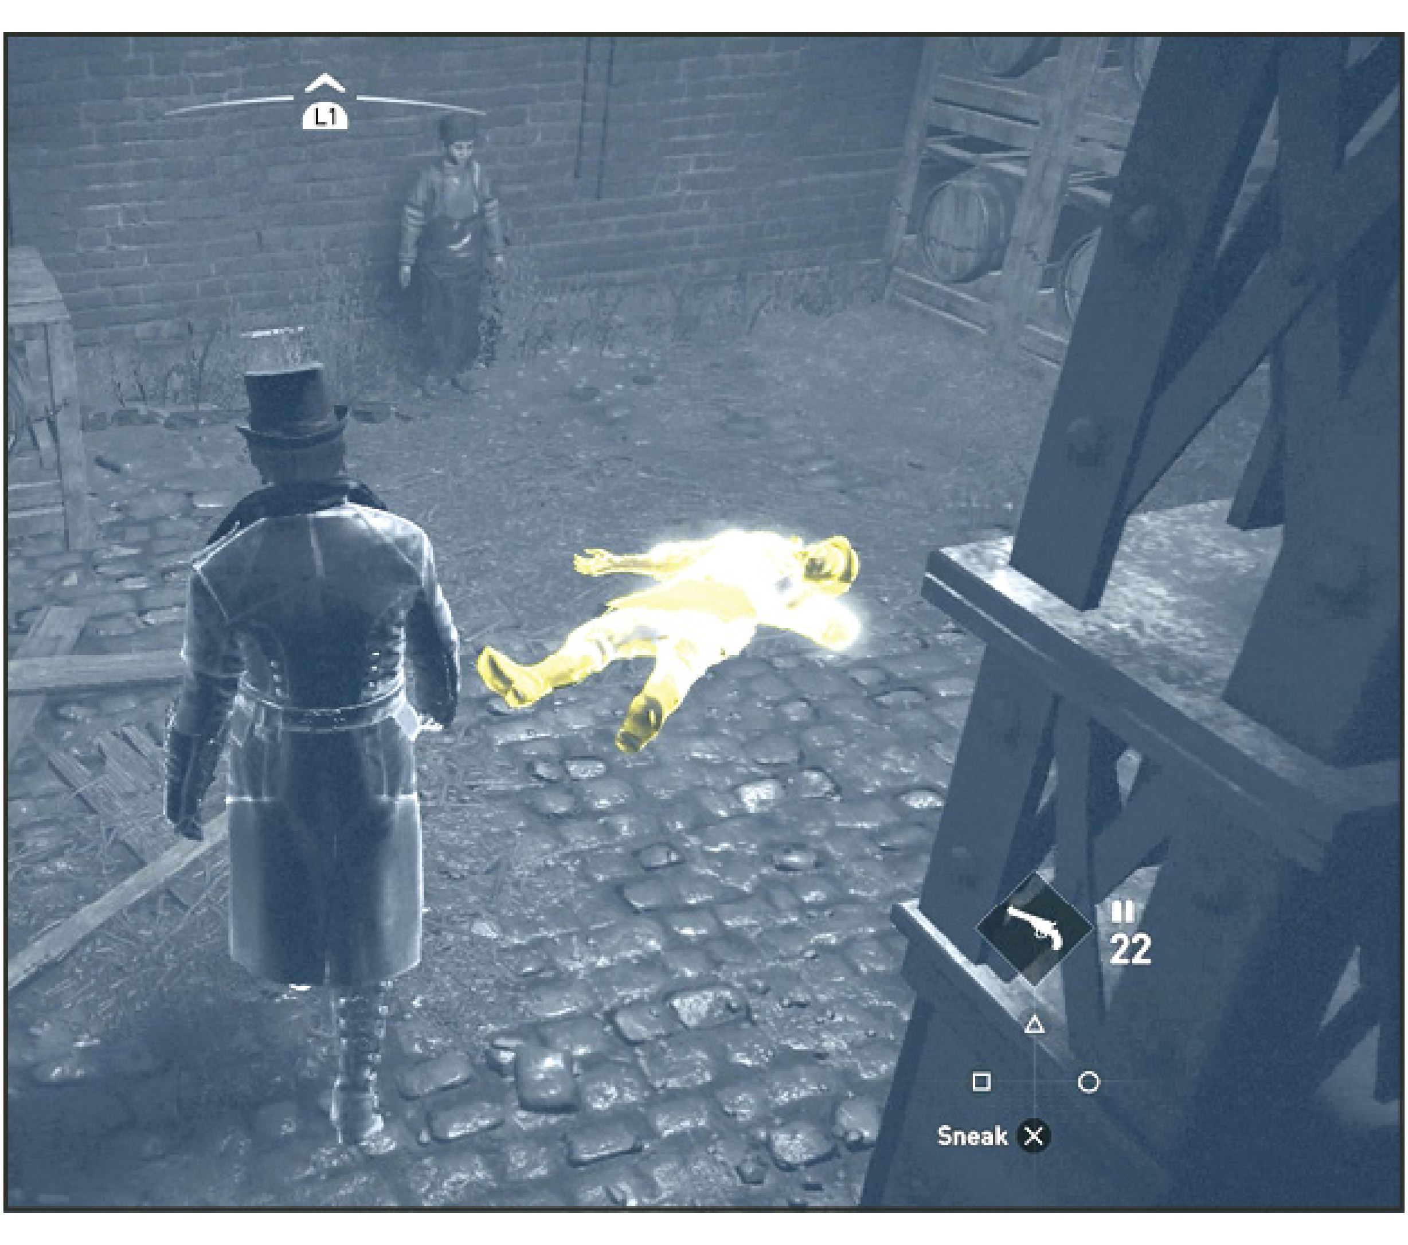
Clues: 3



Mr. Wilkins' Body: Head to the left of Freems and find the factory worker's body (3) on the ground (it glows yellow in Eagle Vision). Stand over the body and inspect it. He has a deep stab wound to the chest and a bandana obscures the victim's face.

Warehouse - Letter: This is located on the corner of the wall to Dooley's left, behind the barrel stack. The letter (4) states that workman, Mr. Coulton beats child laborers.

Warehouse - Knife: This is located on the ground to Buck's left, the small knife (5) has the initial "D" crudely scratched in the handle possibly linking the knife to Dooley.

Suspects: 3

Dooley: Speak to Dooley (6) after you find the three clues. This is the little boy the evidence points to. He is Buck's brother and a child laborer. Talk to him about Buck and the Body. He tells you he grabbed a fallen knife in self-defense before he was knocked out and then woke up to see the crime scene.

Buck: Speak to Buck (7), Dooley's brother, after you find the three clues. Talk to him about Dooley, the Body, and the Knife. He confirms the knife is Dooley's and that he saved him from being beat up by a worker. He also arrived on the scene when Wilkins was already dead and Dooley was holding the knife.

Mr. Freems: Mr. Freems is the first suspect and you spoke to him to start this investigation. If there are no red exclamation icons near any suspect's head and all clues have been found, you must then make an accusation.

The Park – Prudence Browne: Prudence (2) lies on the ground (glowing yellow with Eagle Vision) by a tree in the southeast corner of the park, a young woman with identifying papers. She has been stabbed many times in a highly violent manner. Wounds indicate a left-handed attacker. These types of wounds usually indicate a crime of passion.

The Park – Packet: This packet (3) can be found on the ground near Prudence's body. It contains powdered medication. Stamped "Dr. Trevor Alton" with an address.

The Park – Handbag: This bag (4) can be found on the ground behind the tree that Prudence is propped up against. It contains an appointment diary "10 A.M.: Trevor, park. Noon: Gilbert, his house." Gilbert's address is on the back of the agenda.

The Park – Knife: This standard kitchen knife (5) is on a curb near the park exit where a policeman is holding back a gathering crowd. It's the bloodied murder weapon.

Doctor Alton's Office and Gilbert's House become new investigation zones on the map after investigating the above clues. Go to either investigation zone now.

Objective: Continue your investigation

Investigation Area: Gilbert's House

Clues: 1

Gilbert's House – Letter from Prudence: This letter (6) is located on a bookcase on the second floor of Gilbert's house. In it, Prudence writes, "Dearest Gilbert, I have something of the utmost importance to tell you. I shall call tomorrow at noon…." And includes her address. Dr. Alton's Office – Baxter's Medical File: This file (12) is located in the same third floor office with the personal note. This note box is located on the desk on the north side of the room. It documents Baxter's overconsumption and addiction to his treatment drug. He's become alarmingly aggressive, has struck the doctor, and has seduced several women. This is why Shelby was taken off the medication.

Prudence's House – Unsent Letter to Dr. Alton: This letter (16) is located on the third floor of Prudence's house. It goes on to say that this lady shared shameful allegations involving Baxter. She ends the letter calling the doctor, "my love." This connects Prudence to an unprofessional relationship with Dr. Alton.

Prudence's House – Prudence's Diary: This diary (17) is located in the hallway outside the room where you found Prudence's unsent letter. The gist of the diary is that she can't imagine being married to Gilbert. The doctor made a pass at her in the park, but he starts to become moody, even tormented (a side effect of his experimental drug. Maybe he's taking the drug himself?). This diary is the second source confirming a meeting between the doctor and Prudence in the park. She thinks he's going to propose marriage.

Motive

Doctor Trevor Alton's experimental medication seemed to be so successful on one of his patients that he tried it himself, and created a monster! Going under the name of Baxter, this second, drug-altered personality lived a wild, scandalous life, seducing women as he went. The unsuspecting Prudence Browne, believing him to be Dr. Alton, fell in love with the passionate Baxter. Meanwhile, Baxter continued his seductions, which included the possessive Lulu, who later followed Prudence, planning to threaten her. Horrified by Baxter's actions, Dr. Alton resolved to marry Prudence in order to save her reputation. Baxter, however, would not have his freedom curtailed in any way, and arranged to meet Miss Browne in the park, where he viciously murdered her. A crime for which Dr. Alton will pay the price!

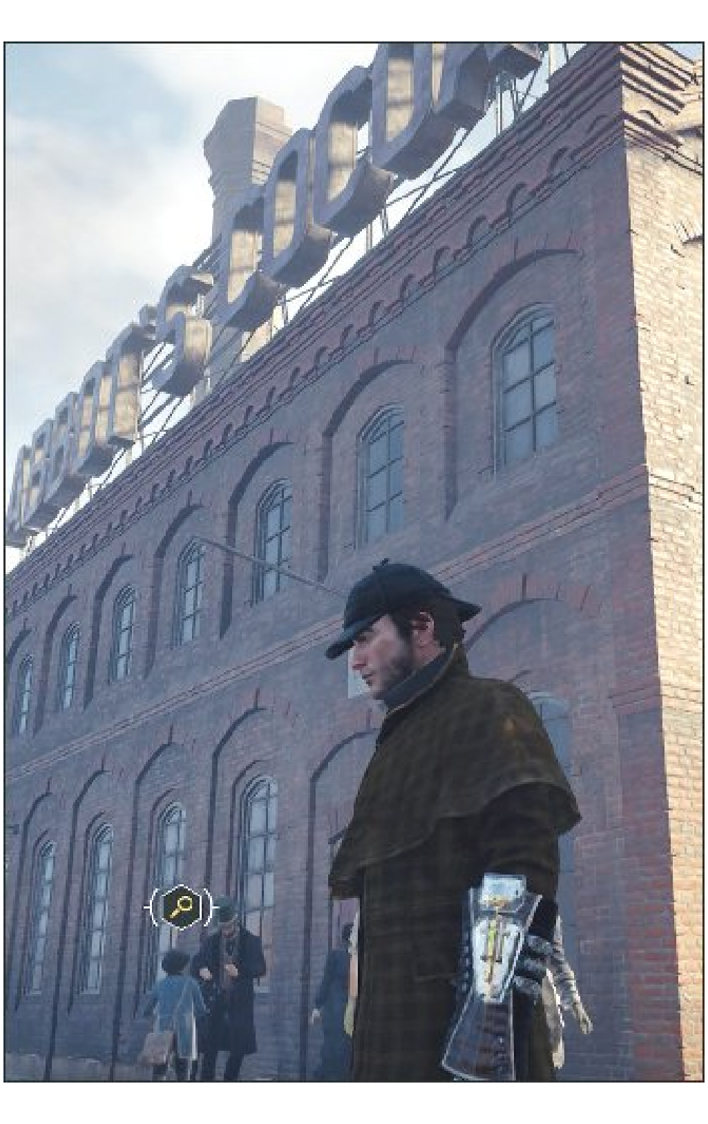
Find Artie and Henry Raymond (1) standing outside the Abbot's Cocoa factory in Southwark. In this case, you must determine which bullet struck and killed the former colonel.

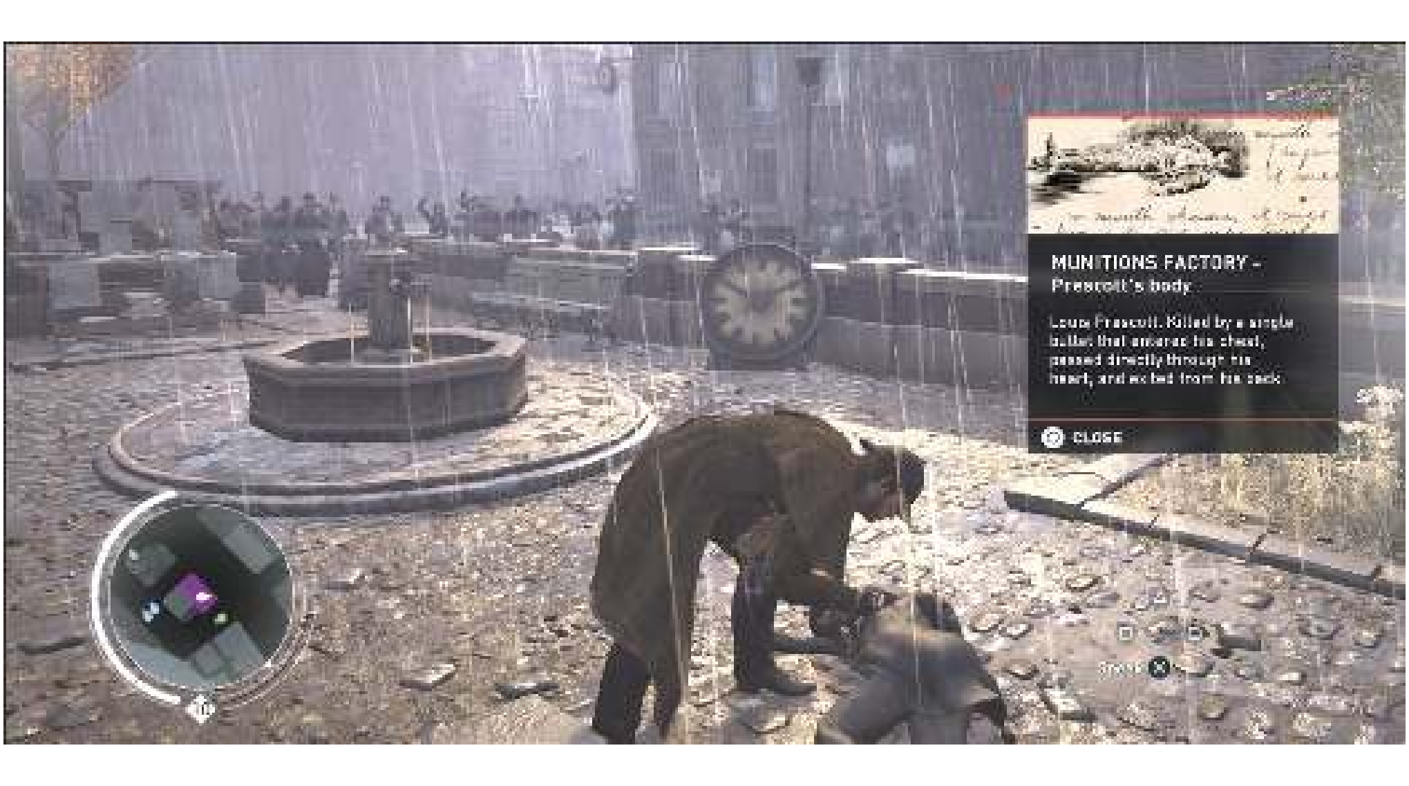


Objective: Inspect Colonel Prescott's body

Investigation Area: Munitions Factory

Clues: 7

Munitions Factory – Prescott's Body: Head to the east a block and find the colonel's body (2) near a fountain in a small, short-walled courtyard at the Munitions Factory. He was killed with high precision by a single bullet passing through his heart and exiting his back at 12 o'clock.



MUNITIONS FACTORY – Prescott's body

Louis Prescott. Killed by a single bullet that entered his chest, passed directly through his heart, and exited from his back.

Munitions Factory – Dynamite Crates: Find empty munitions crates (3) clearly marked "Prescott Munitions No. 408." These are located just outside the courtyard wall near the body.

Munitions Factory – Bloodstain: This bloodstain (4) is near the colonel's head. The spread is consistent with the direction of the bullet.

Munitions Factory – Banner: This banner (5) is located next to the blood spray and the body. The banner is for the 11th Regiment of Foot, marked "Gold Coast—Ashanti Campaign."

Munitions Factory – Feather: This feather (6) is located at the base of the fountain. It's a single white feather, which in WWI was a symbol of cowardice in the British army.

Munitions Factory – Clock: This clock (7) is leaning on the courtyard short wall in the trajectory of the bullet path. There's a hexagonal-shaped bullet lodged exactly below the numeral 12 and the clock is still running. With Eagle Vision you can see the bullet trajectory and where it originated.

Munitions Factory – Bullet Hole: This hole (8) is located in the park bench next to the clock. The second bullet and trajectory further confuses the case. Each bullet's trajectory crosses the victim's body. You need to determine which one killed him and which one missed.

He was proud to have served under the colonel. He heard two shots at the stroke of noon on his way to the factory. The banner was to honor those who fell under his command at an operation gone bad in the war. This story introduces motive to harm the commander. Possibly a disgruntled solder?

Frederick Abberline: Speak to Abberline (10) standing near the north entrance of the courtyard. Talk to him about the Shooting, Factory, the Clock, and the Suspect. He says some young lads were playing with a pistol they found across the street and a bullet went astray through the fence and possibly through the victim. He also says the factory was opened to give those soldiers that returned from the war a place to work.

He said the colonel and he used to joke insult each other every morning. He was a lieutenant under the colonel's command in Africa. After you investigate the rifle in his attic, ask him about the Attic. He admits to selling stolen rifles. Talk to him about the Whitworth (the brand of rifle). Attic – Whitworth Rifle: Enter the open windows at the top of the shop to access the attic. Find the rifle (18) on the floor near a gun case. It's the first sniper rifle with astonishing accuracy. It smells as if it's been fired in the past few hours. "11th Regiment of Foot—Gold Coast" is carved into the stock. Barrel Depot – Backpack: to the west of the barrel with the bullet hole is a backpack (20) with a flap that bears the insignia of the 11th Regiment. This is near the stairs that lead to the bulkhead where you can find the goose. This proves that someone in the colonel's regiment was here and near the source of a white feather.

Investigation Area: Bakery

Clues: 2

Bakery – Bills: Head north on the same block and find the bills (8) on the ground near a table full of baked goods. The bills are paid. There are several from George for meat delivery. This ties George to multiple types of deliveries (meat, fertilizer and handbags). Mrs. Moffat pays promptly and gets a good deal from George.

Bakery – Crate of Meat: Walk past the suspect and find this crate (9) near the building and the playing boys. There's no label. The meat smells a little odd.

Mrs. Moffat: Speak to the lady (10) near the table of baked goods. She is the baker of meat pies and those were her bills you found. Talk to her about Det. Murphy, Missing People, and Meat. She says George delivers the meat for the pies she makes. He gets his meat from the butcher (this unlocks the butcher shop for investigation). She also says the detective bought a meat pie and then went to the barber. This makes two people connecting the Detective to the barber.

John Tines: Find the butcher (11) to the west of Mrs. Moffat's bakery in the same shopping center and talk to him about Det. Murphy, Meat, and George. He says he only sells quality meat but someone is selling more cheaply because his sales have dropped. This coincides with the odd smelling meat found at the bakery. Mrs. Moffat thinks she's getting quality meat from George, but she is not. John Tines doesn't know George, which means he's not delivering his meat.

Clues: 2

Leather Shop – Leatherworking Tools: Go to the Leather Shop a block northeast from the other shops. Find the two clues on the second floor. The leatherworking tools (12) reveal awls, which would be used to punch distinctively shaped holes.

Leather Shop – Leather Scrap: On the second floor of the leather shop is a leather scrap (13) that has a diamond shaped hole in it. This connects the Leather Shop to the Leather Jacket found at the Flower Shop.

Drop offs are: Meat to bakery, Manure to florist, Leather to Tobias and to leather-worker. Totals show good business but the supplier is getting most of the money. You can come to the conclusion that something is up with the cheap meat, the manure has body parts in it, and the leather comes from a man who gets defensive when the name "George" is mentioned.

Accuse:

Tobias Jeffers: Speak to Jeffers (14), the leather shop owner. Accuse him of the murders to complete the mystery and the memory. The story of why he did it will interest you but won't surprise this super sleuth, right?

Motive

Even a detective can run adrift when a nefarious business is afoot! Was Detective Murphy getting too close to a secret source of "raw goods"? A leatherworker was in the habit of doing away with local folk, flaying them, and then chopping them up! He had the skin tanned for leather, the bones ground up to sell as manure, and the bloody flesh sold to supply pie-shops with cheap meat, all delivered by the unwitting carter, George. Thus did the fiend take macabre pleasure in seeing his victims happily consumed by the citizens of Fleet Street!

This is the mystery of the professor who, once buried, returned to die in his parlor! Meet Artie and Henry Raymond (1) in front of the Solicitors building in the City of London to start this memory.

Objective: Inspect Professor Byng's body

Investigation Area: Byng's Home

Clues: 7

Byng's Home – Prof. Byng's Body: Byng's house is to the northeast from where you started the memory. Byng's body (2) is on the floor at his open front door. His body shows evidence of having been in a violent struggle. There's a deep cut to the forehead that appears to be surgical—the cut goes into the skull. He also has a sting mark on his neck.

Byng's Home – Sculpture: This sculpture (3) is on a small decorative table in the second floor hallway. The sculpture is of African origin and there's a small recess area where something, like a spider, could have been hidden.

Byng's Home – Dead Spider: The spider (4) is on the floor at the top of the stairs on the third floor. It is a large, distinctive spider, curled up in death. Could it be venomous?

Byng's Home – Legal Letter: This letter (5) is in the same hallway as the spider and sits on the edge of a half-circular table with a gas lamp glowing nearby. It's a letter to Byng from his attorney. He is agreeing to amend his will to discourage the marriage of his son to an unnamed lady. His son's allowance will be suspended if he marries her. Byng believes that this woman is only after his money.

Byng's Home – Crate: The Crate (6) is in the corner on the third floor, not far from the dead spider. Shipped from London and marked: "To be opened only by Prof. Byng personally."

Byng's Home – Letter from Colleague: The letter (7) is on a candlelit table in the back of the room on the third floor. This letter is from a humbled and traveling researcher and admirer of the professor's writings on unusual tribal customs, signed "Prof. Silas."

Byng's Home – Personal Letter: This letter (8) is on a table in a nook on the opposite side of the first floor room from where Byng's body lies. This letter is to his son from his son's fiancée. She doesn't understand his father's antipathy towards her. And if she marries him or not, she wants to make sure he is rendered his due when the time comes.

Suspect: 2

Emmett Byng: Speak to Byng's son Emmett (9) who stands on the first floor facing the fireplace and to Angela, the maid. Talk to Emmett about Byng, the Crate, and the Will. He feels his father's death is a great tragedy, reveals that his father was an anthropologist, and his colleagues often sent trinkets from abroad. He's agitated when you talk about the will. He swears his father and fiancée would have become friends given the chance.

Angela: The maid, Angela (10) has all the answers. She explains that Professor Byng died of a heart attack a few days ago then showed up at the door and died again. She says a common statue was in the crate but doesn't know who sent it. When asked about Byng's last words she replies, "He kept repeating "Bagesu" over and over again."

University – Handkerchief: The handkerchief (11) is located on the first floor of the university. It's on a roll-top bookshelf next to the stairs. It is a lace handkerchief with red embroidery that matches the cemetery.

University – Receipt: The receipt (12) is located on the first floor of the university. It's non-descript and is for seven pounds.

University – Treatise by Prof. Wilson: This book (13) is located on a desk at the top of the stairs on the second floor. This treatise states that the Bolivian spider's venom produces a state resembling death and some Andean tribes use the venom during a rite of passage in which initiate boys experience a symbolic death lasting two or three days. It sounds like Byng was first "killed" by the spider and then by some other means.

University – Small Box: This empty box (14) is located on the floor near the window on the second floor. It's labeled "Arachnid Harpadectus."

University – Pedestal: The pedestal (15) is located on the third floor. There's nothing on it. A descriptive label reads: "Bagesu tribal mask: a jackal." Bagesu is the word the maid said Byng was repeating over and over just before he died a second time.

University – Spider Illustration: The spider drawing (16) is on the east wall of the second floor, not far from the stairs. It resembles the dead spider found in the Byng home. A note describes it as a rare spider found in Bolivia whose venom is a strong tranquilizer.

University – Bookcase: The bookcase (17) is located on the third floor near a window. It's well-stocked with anthropological books. Many are from Prof. Byng.

University – Book Written by Prof. Byng: The book (18) is located on the floor of the third story. A chapter is torn from this book named: "The Intriguing Customs of Deepest Africa."

Cemetery – Money: The money (23) can be found on the curb behind the suspect. Seven pounds sterling. Why would this university transaction amount be here? Was someone purchasing cadavers from the cemetery?

Cemetery – Byng Family Vault: The vault (24) is not far from the suspect. It glows yellow with Eagle Vision on. You must interact with it from the north side. The lock is broken and the door is ajar. Prof. Byng's casket is empty.

During this crime scene investigation you must solve the perplexing locked-room murder. Artie and Henry Raymond (1) stand in a backyard in The Strand. This is where you start the mystery.

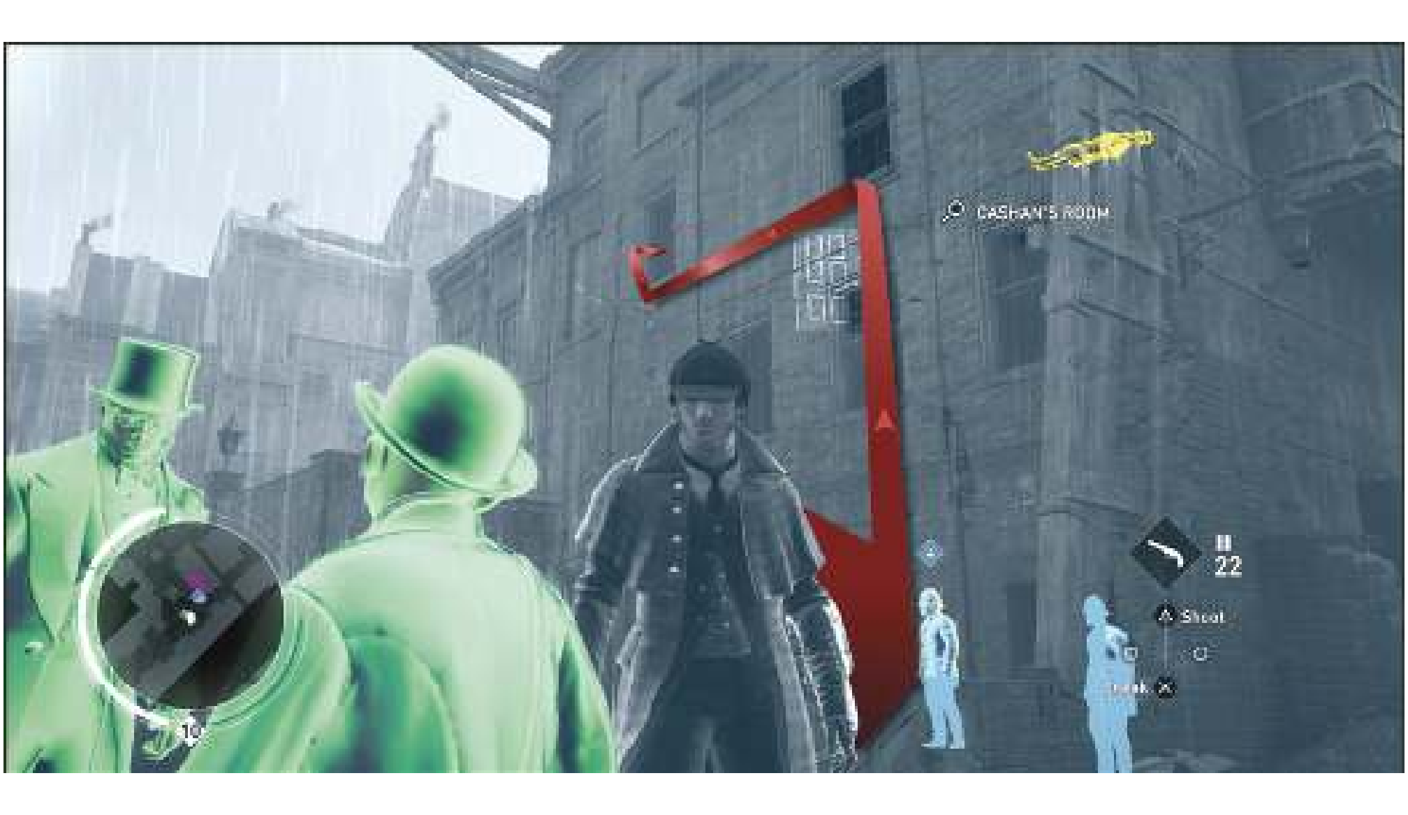
INSPECT Byron Cashan's body

Objective: Inspect Byron Cashan's body

Investigation Area: Cashan's Room

Clues: 10

Cashan's Room – Cashan's Body: Byron Cashan's body (2) is located on a bed in his room on the third floor of the apartment building. Pivot northeast from Doyle and Raymond with Eagle Vision on and you see his glowing body in the building beside you. Climb the window and enter the third floor window. Inspect the body to find no signs of a struggle and no wounds.



Cashan's Room – Editor's Letter: This letter is on the desk beside Cashan's bed. It's a congratulatory letter from his editor about how much readers love his music reviews and how the ensembles in town live in fear of his harsh criticism.

Cashan's Room – Candles: The yellow candle on the bedpost at the foot of the bed is burned down to the nub. The gas lamps in the building went out last night and everyone used candles for light.

Cashan's Room – Gas Lamp: The gas lamp is on the wall beside the desk with the letter. It's a common fixture but the light won't turn on. This is a common clue found throughout the apartment building.

Cashan's Room – Air Vent: the vent is on the wall below the chair rail. This could allow communication between neighboring apartments.

Cashan's Room – Review: Bryon's review is on the desk behind the open door in the room. It's a crushing review to the Aldwych Chamber Orchestra with a focus on the first violin solo, which he said was a disaster.

Cashan's Room – Window: The window in Byron's room is shut and locked from the inside. No sign of a break-in.

Cashan's Room – Anonymous Letter: The letter is on the desk near the window. It's written with a feminine hand. A lady is asking for another adventure with Byron and it is signed, "Florence."

Cashan's Room – Concert Program: The program is stuck on the filing cabinet near the doorway. It's a ticket for a chamber orchestra that performed a series of Mendelssohn pieces a few nights ago.

Cashan's Room – Door: The door into Byron's room is a standard door with lock and hinges in a normal state.

Mrs. Henman: Speak to Mrs. Henman (3) the housekeeper who stands out in the hallway outside of Byron Cashan's room. Talk to her about Cashan, Last Night, and the Concert Program. She says he was a dear friend and each morning she brings him coffee. His door was locked shut this morning. Her husband is the caretaker; they live upstairs. They have the keys to all the apartments. She let herself in and found Byron dead. The lights weren't working last night and she and her husband retired early as not to waste anymore candles. She confirms Cashan was a music critic.

Objective: Continue your investigation

Investigation Area: Bloomfield's Room

Clues: 6

Bloomfield's Room – Key: This key (4) is located on the edge of the desk just inside the Bloomfield's room, which is adjacent to Cashan's apartment. The key is labeled "Basement."

Bloomfield's Room – Gas Lamp: The gas lamp is on the wall beside the desk with the key. It's a common fixture but the light won't turn on. Mrs. Henman confirmed that, starting last night, the lights were not working.

Bloomfield's Room – Air Vent: the vent is on the wall below the chair rail between the chalkboard and the gas lamp on the wall. Allows communication with Cashan's flat.

Bloomfield's Room – Sheet Music: The sheet music is on the edge of the mail-sorting desk in the back of the room near the chalkboard. It's Andante for Violin and piano in D minor by Felix Mendelssohn. Could the violinist who plays this be the same one Byron crushed in his review?

Bloomfield's Room – Newspaper: The newspaper is on the mail sorter in the back of the room. One of the three articles in it is about the Aldwych Chamber Orchestra, which has disbanded for lack of funds. Byron's reviews crushed all hope of attracting an audience. If someone were involved with that orchestra, they would have a motive to kill.

Bloomfield's Room – Candelabra: The candelabra between the windows on the east wall has partially burned candles.

She's surprised he's dead, stating he was in the peak of health yesterday but paid too much attention to the caretaker's wife, Mrs. Henman, seeing her nearly every day. Mrs. Bloomfield was knitting last night and started feeling sickly so she opened the window. When the lights went out Mr. Golden handed out candles to everyone.

Mr. Bloomfield: Speak to Mr. Bloomfield (6) in the middle of his apartment. Talk to him about Cashan, Bon Vivant, Last Night, and Sheet Music. He said Byron would come home late from his concerts drunk and singing at the top of his lungs—drove his wife nearly crazy. Mr. Bloomfield says he's an amateur chemist and was fiddling with his experiments in the cellar last night. The sheet music is Mr. Golden's, he rehearses in their apartment during the day while they are out. This connects Golden to playing violin and to the sheet music by Felix Mendelssohn for the violin, which received a bad review by Byron.

Golden's Room – Clothing: This clothing is on the coat stand to your right as you enter Golden's room. Men's clothes, dirty with soot, are hanging on it.

Golden's Room – Gas Lamp: The gas lamp is on the wall behind the coat rack. It's a common fixture but the light won't turn on.

Golden's Room – Candle: The candle is above the fireplace mantel. This candle is white and comes from the nearby box.

Golden's Room – Shavings: The shavings are on the desk in the back of the room. They appear to be white candle wax shavings. Looks like someone was carving a candle.

Golden's Room – Box of candles: The box of candles is on the floor below the open window. Almost all are gone.

Basement – Chemical: A small beaker of yellow liquid, half full, sits on a table near the chemist worktable. It could be poison used inside a candle that is activated when burned.

In this murder mystery you must deduce which of all the potential murderers actually killed Ashton. You meet Artie and Henry Raymond (1) outside an open industrial yard in southeast City of London. They discuss how a crate just crushed the most hated man in London. Raymond says something almost so off key that it had to be damning…but quickly changes the subject.

Objective: Inspect John Ashton's body

Investigation Area: Street

Clues: 5

Street - Mr. Wilkins' Body: Find Mr. Wilkins' body (2) on the sidewalk a block east from your starting position. Upon inspection you find the body is definitely crushed under a crate. But there's also a puncture wound in the back and the victim's skin has an odd, green pallor along with yellowing around the eyes. Inspection of the bullet wound indicates that such a wound would have caused death in 12 minutes. This one will test your math skills.

PUB - Revolver

A Webley Boxer revolver. One chamber is empty.

Suspect: 1

Mr. Hendricks: Mr. Hendricks (12) stands facing the door at the pub—a prime target for questioning. Ask him about Ashton, Sabotage, and the Gun. He said Ashton stopped in every day to check on business rumors. Hendricks tells you Ashton had "a little jam on the side." Interpret that how you wish. The wife didn't know about it but now the jam wants out of the relationship and he won't let her. When asked about Sabotage, he says Ashton paid workers to wreck his machines. "As long as Ashton was around I'd never prosper," he ends with. He also admits to carrying a revolver with him at all times when pressed about the gun.

Pharmacy – Medicine Box: While following Ashton's footprint path from the pub to the pharmacy, you can find this medicine box (13) on the sidewalk just before you reach the entrance to the pharmacy. There's proof by prescription that these are Ashton's blue pills. There's only a few left in the bottle when it was dropped at 1:03pm.

PHARMACY

Pharmacy – Pharmaceutical Cabinet: Enter the pharmacy and turn left as you enter and look back out the window. There's a cabinet (14) there. Search it. It contains chemicals labeled "Warning! Not to be ingested!" One of the drugs is bluish in color, causes erratic movement after 10 minutes, and death after an additional 16 minutes. It also causes jaundice about the eyes and has an extreme anesthetic effect. The second chemical is pinkish in color (like the apple) and is listed as causing erratic movement after two minutes and death after nine. It yields a green tint to the skin.

Pharmacy – Letter: This letter (15) is located in the back right corner beside the drug counter. It's addressed to the pharmacist from his brother. It says John Ashton was responsible for the foreclosure on their family farm. This gives Mr. Reese motive to kill the victim.

Mr. Reese: Mr. Reese (16) is the neighborhood pharmacist standing behind the drug counter. Talk to him about Ashton, Mary, and the Letter. He doesn't want to talk about the letter and says John Ashton came for his blue medication. This medication bottle was found on the sidewalk outside the pharmacy.

MISSION OVERVIEW

Memory Type: Dreadful Crimes / London Stories

Assassin

Jacob or Evie Frye

Rewards

£: 2500 (Max)

XP: 1000 (Max)

Location: Lambeth

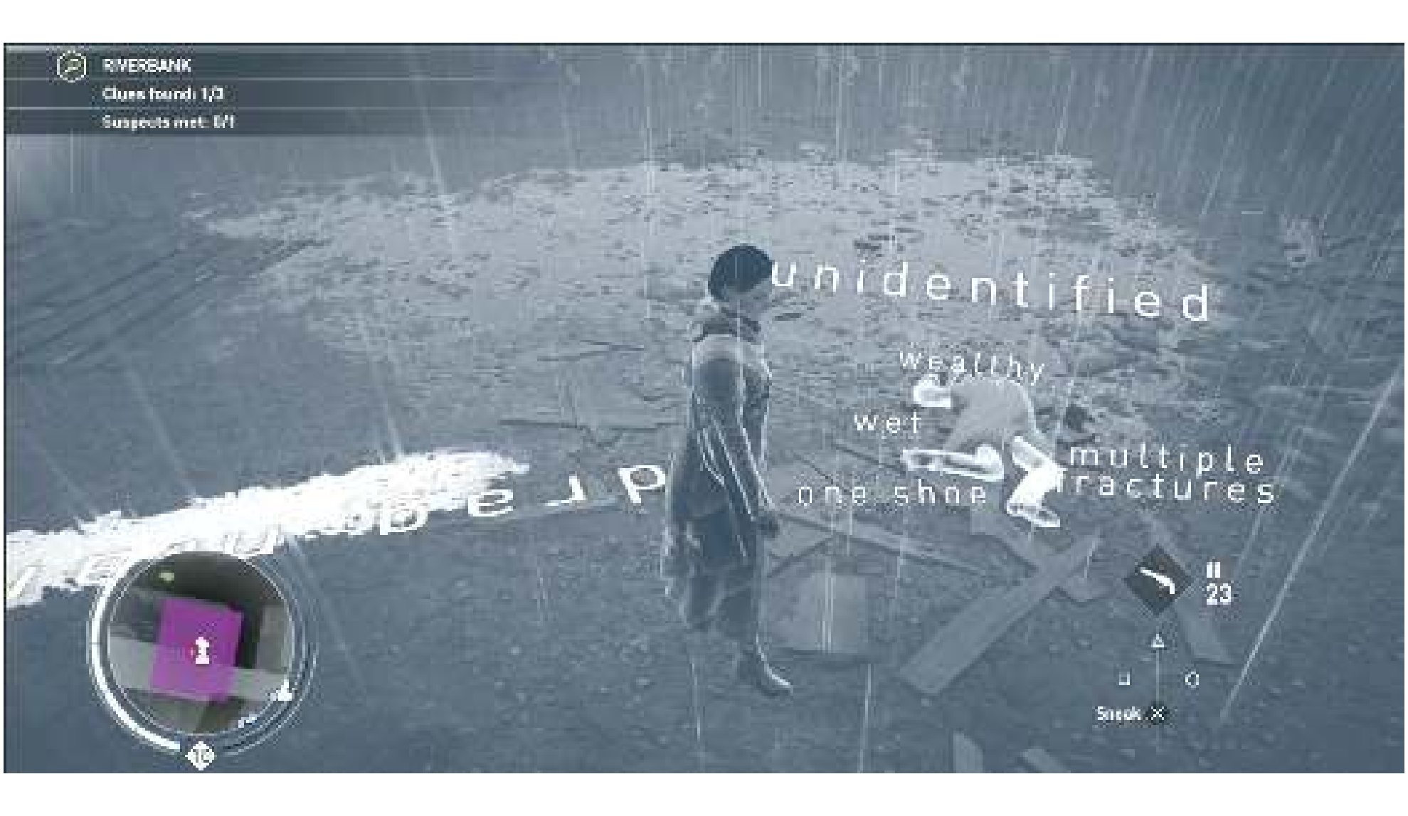
Solve the mystery of the body found on the banks of The Thames. This time, Artie and Henry Raymond are nowhere to be found; you're on your own. Meet the worker on the corner (1) in Lambeth near The Thames. He screams for help and something about foul play and then walks off.

Objective: Inspect the unidentified body

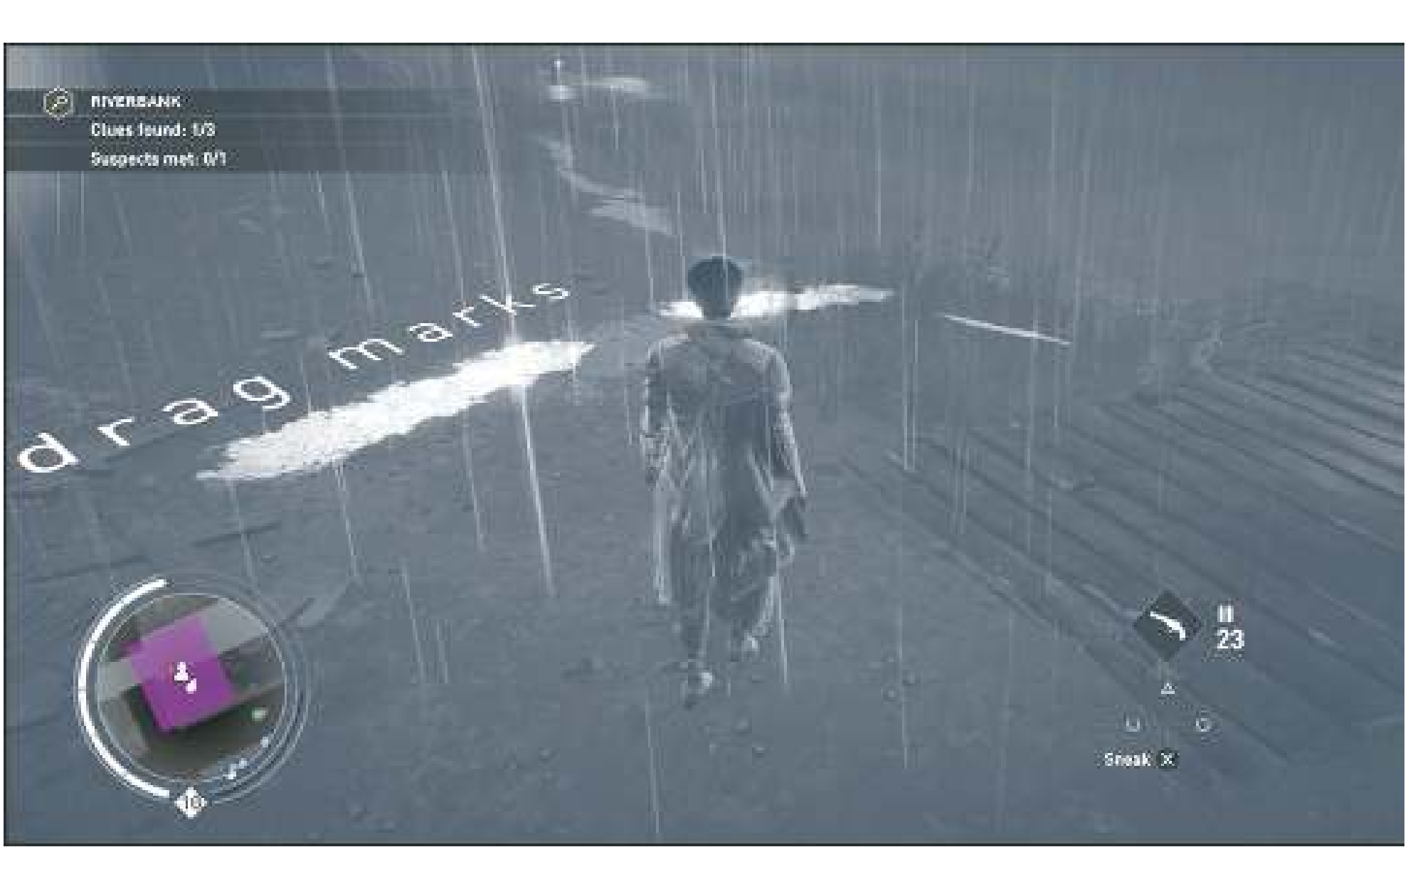
Investigation Area: Riverbank

Clues: 3

Riverbank – Body: Find the dead body (2) to the southwest from where you start the mystery. Jump down off the road wall to the riverbank below. You can find the body in the mud near a small dock. It's a male body dressed in the manner of a wealthy businessman. He is wearing one shoe. He has sustained multiple fractures indicating a fall from a great height. There's nothing on the body that can identify him.

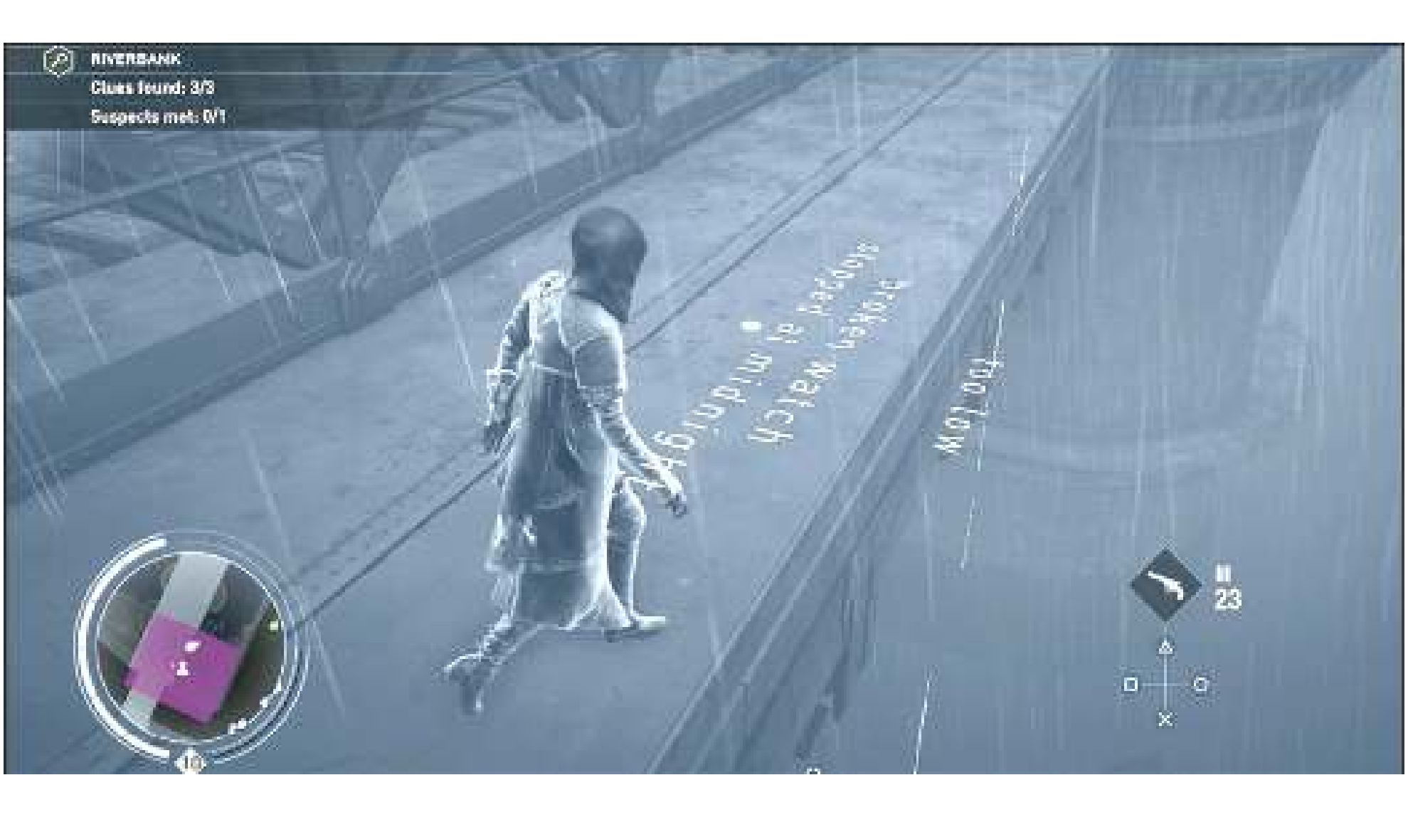


Near the dead body are drag marks that lead toward the water but stop at an impact mark. If you look up with Eagle Vision from the impact mark you can see a "fall" trail from the rail bridge above.



Riverbank – Coat: Directly under the rail bridge, near the road wall and a small campfire is the discarded coat (3). It is a rich man's coat with a name sewed in the lining: Matthew Killian. You can assume this is the victim's coat and name.

Riverbank – Pocket Watch: Climb to the top of the rail bridge and find this silver watch (4) on the north edge from where the body possibly fell. With Eagle Vision, you see a clue that says the edge of the rail bridge was too low for the impact mark made. So the body had to be higher, which means it came from a passing train. The watch is broken and the hands have stopped just after midnight, marking time of death.



Suspect: 2

Vagrant: Talk to the vagrant (5) under the bridge standing near a tree. Talk to him about the Body, Shelter, and Midnight. He heard a splash so he pulled the body out of the shallow water. He was dead. After asking him about Shelter, ask him about the Coat. He admits to stealing it since the dead man no longer needed it. He says the midnight train is the 616 and stops in the station down the road. Hurry and it might still be there.

Objective: Continue your investigation

Investigation Area: Victoria Train Station

Suspect: 1

Trainmaster: Talk to the trainmaster (6) inside Victoria Train Station near the north stairs. Talk to him about train 616. He tells you to hurry; the train is leaving now. Check out your Mini-Map and you see five more investigation areas (the train cars) become available to the east.

Objective: Continue your investigation

Investigation Area: Sleeper 2

Clues: 2

Sleeper 2 – Handbag: Race to the train to the east before it leaves the station. Once on the train, make your way to the southernmost car, Sleeper 2 and begin your investigation with the Handbag (7) on the floor next to the suspect. It contains a letter from Viv's sister. She talks about a nice scheme Viv is pulling off and is interested in pulling off a similar scheme.

Sleeper 2 – Note: The note (8) is located on the other side of the suspect from the handbag and near a door. It's a handwritten note, "Come to the restaurant carriage quickly." This note becomes key to the investigation so keep this in the front of your mind as you continue.

Vivian: Talk to the lady (9) on Sleeper 2 about Last Evening, Killian, Letter from Sister, and the Note. She says last night she had some drinks with some gents and then retired to her suite and someone slipped that note under her door a few minutes before midnight. Only Ryan and Wolf were there and both were drunk. She said she did talk to the rich fellow and wonders if something happened to him. When asked about the letter, she admits to flirting with rich folks and that the barman colludes by sliping them a mickey. She takes them back to her room and they nod off before she has to do anything shameful.

Sleeper 1 – Letter: This letter (11) is located on a seat on the right side of the train in Sleeper 1. "Killian will be on the 616 train to Cardiff to sign the papers. You must prevent him from signing them at all costs or we shall be ruined." This looks like good motive to kill someone.

Sam: The valet, Sam (12) stands in a corner on the left on Sleeper 2. Ask him about Last Evening and Killian. He says that Mr. Wolf had a few to drink with Mr. Killian then Vivian invited herself over to have a glass with them. Mr. Wolf was buying many drinks for Killian and they started to argue but Killian ended up leaving with Vivian around 11:30pm. Mr. Wolf became very tired but only had one drink and retired well before midnight. Sam stayed in the dining car for a few drinks with the barman.

Angus Wolf: Mr. Wolf (13) stands in a corner on the right, not far past the letter on Sleeper 2. Ask him about Last Evening, Valet, and Killian. He said it was a surprise to see Killian on the train; they've had previous business dealings. He confirms they had a few drinks together and they argued a bit over business and money. He confirms that Killian and Vivian hit it off famously. He also raises the point that Sam, the valet, is very strong, making him useful in many situations. However, do not jump to conclusions, there are several men strong enough to lift a man to the top of a train.

He acts like he didn't know Killian is on the train, but he used to work for Killian at the foundry and that none of the workers have ever seen what he looks like. He confirms that Vivian has a scam going on with the bartender. Talk to him about Midnight and he says Vivian had another one of her visitors in her compartment then.

Investigation Area: Restaurant Carriage

Clues: 3

Restaurant Car – Sleeping Pills: The restaurant carriage is actually two connected carriages. The first car you enter has no clues, but one suspect. Continue to the second car to find the pills (16) on a corner shelf on your right next to the entry door. The bottle is half empty.

Restaurant Car – Newspaper: On the second restaurant car you can find this newspaper (17) on a chair at a dining table. It's an article about Matthew Killian's efforts to close an enormous business deal. Killian is well known for replacing workers with machinery. There's a likeness of Killian that matches the victim.

Peter: Peter (20), the train steward, is standing at the end of the second restaurant car. Talk to him about Last Evening, Killian, and Vivian. He said nothing was unusual until you arrived with the story of a murder. He was tiding up in the passenger cart when Vivian ran by him at midnight. She thought someone was looking for her, prompted by the letter she received.

Spoiler Alert: Suspect Accused

Read no further if you want to figure out "Who Done It" on your own.

Investigation Area: Restaurant Car 2

Accuse:

Peter: Peter (20) is big enough to have lifted Killian to the rooftop. Peter was a former employee of Matthew Killian, put out of work by Killian's mechanization. It was a last minute crime as he didn't know he was going to be on the train but recognized him from the photo in the newspaper.

Motive

Industrialist Matthew Killian was drugged and thrown from the top of a moving train by his former employee, Peter Jespers! Put out of work by the mechanization of Killian's factory, Peter found employment as a humble train steward. However, one evening Peter realized that Killian was on his very train (prior to this journey Peter had never seen Killian, but now recognized him from a recent newspaper article). Peter, knowing that frequent passenger Vivian often swindled wealthy fellow passengers, waited until she lured Killian to her compartment. He cunningly arranged for her to be called away by means of an anonymous note. Peter then used his considerable strength to lift the drugged magnate and drag him to the top of the train, whence he threw him to his death at midnight! Killian's rival, Angus Wolf, had hoped to get Killian so inebriated as to prevent him from participating in a business meeting on the following day, but Wolf himself fell afoul of the drugged brandy and slept through the entire episode! As for Peter the murderer…perhaps he meted out justice, in turn he will now meet justice himself!

In this mystery you must solve the murder of spiritualist Thaddeus the Amazing. Meet Charles Dickens (1) near the park and train station in southwest Westminster.

Objective: Reach the séance

When you reach the Psychic's House southwest from where you meet Charles Dickens, you walk in on a séance in progress. The lights flicker out, a "bang" is heard and the Psychic is found dead when they flicker back on a second later.

Objective: Inspect Thaddeus the Amazing's body

Investigation Area: Psychic's House

Clues: 7

Psychic's House – Thaddeus' Body: Find Thaddeus Smith's body (2) slumped over in a chair at the séance table on the first floor of his house. His hair and clothing have been slightly scorched from the "explosion." A bloody knife is stuck in his torso. There are five suspects (the séance attendees) about the room.

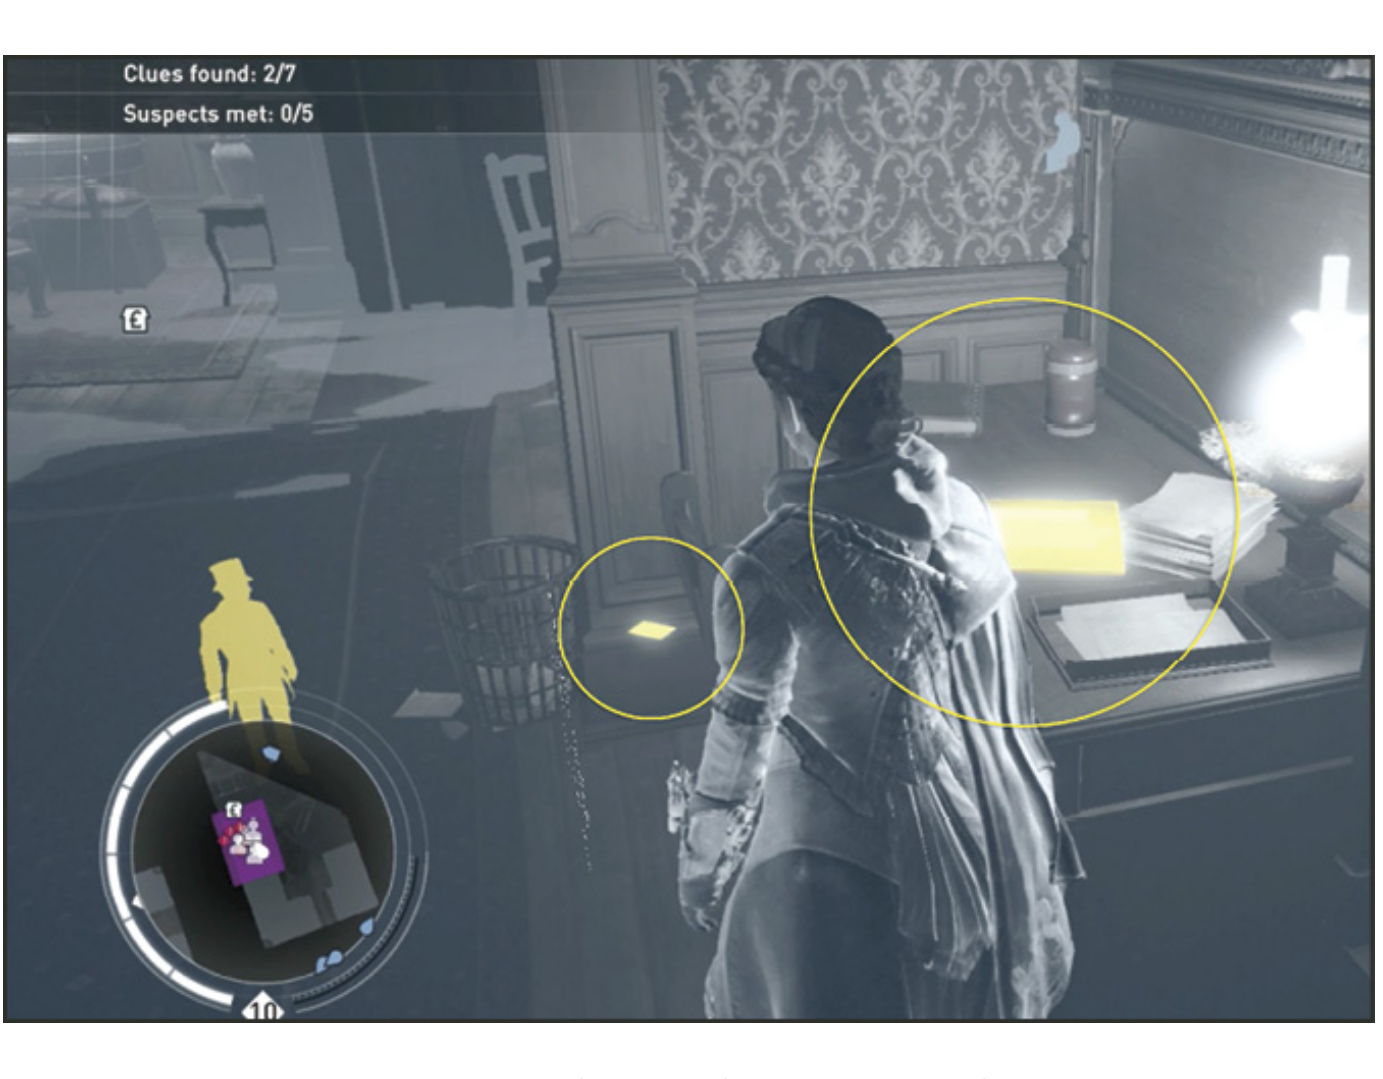
Psychic's House – Timer and Flashpot: This item is found on the floor to the right of the body. It is a rudimentary timer with the charred remains of a fuse. The fuse leads to the empty plaster cylinder of what contained a non-lethal amount of gunpowder to produce a flash and smoke. This is evidence that the Psychic may not be legit and used props to enhance his show.

Psychic's House – Client List: The list is found on a desk in the hallway at the top of the stairs on the second floor. All that is important is that Dr. Wilburn is missing from this list of clients, their addresses and a money amount per séances. It is unclear what a second column of money refers to. Why is the doctor not on the list?



Clues found: 2/7

Psychic's House – Threatening Note: This item is found on the floor on the other side of the doorway near the desk and client list. "For the love of God, get his signature at the next session, or I swear I'll expose you! —A. R." Keep these initials in mind as you meet new suspects.

Psychic's House – Old Note: The Old Note is found on the floor at the foot of the bed in the room on the second floor. It looks to be a week old. "I've found a tramp who lives on the street near one of the pigeons. The fellow smokes like a chimney and for the price of a few cigarettes he supplies me with all the information we need." Sounds like the Psychic's source for finding details on his clients, fooling them into thinking his information comes from beyond.

Psychic's House – Receipt: Find this item on the second floor in the northeast corner under a small table near the fireplace. Theatrical Supply: Flash pot, 8 shillings. Proof that the flashpot was purchased by the "Psychic."

Psychic's House – Legal Papers: The Legal Papers are found on the second floor on a table near the windows, along the north wall. It's an unsigned paper, which would enable Thaddeus Smith to act as Howard Roberts' legal representative. Was the Psychic in cahoots with someone to swindle one of his clients?

The article describes another story exactly like your mystery unfolding only it happened a year ago. There was also a doctor present at this event attending as a client.

Interrogate

Billy: Follow the cigarette scent from the Asquith House to Billy (22), the vagrant (heavy smoker) on the street corner to the north. Ask him about Tramp and he admits that's him. He says some bloke comes about so often and gives him a silver sixpence to tell him everything about the people in that house. Ask him Who. He said a regular looking fellow that he's seen go into the office down the street. This opens the last investigation zone.

Objective: Continue your investigation

Investigation Area: Office

Clues: 4

Office – Note: All of the clues are on the top floor of the office. The note (23) is on the floor below the window on the right as you enter the only room on the top floor. "She says the account number is A72 at Kentish Bank."

Office – Business Cards: Several business cards (24) are on a piano stool beside the piano. They're for a medical doctor. All are identical except each is printed with a different name. Sounds like the doctor is suspect.

Office – Thaddeus' Note: This note (25) is on the floor under the window on the southeast corner of the room. It reads: "W. Arrive after the others as usual. It will deflect suspicion. Also, make certain that we get a big flash this time—they must be convinced it's enough to kill me! —T. the Amazing." Sounds like the doctor was in cahoots with the Psychic, which could explain how his death was declared at other séances, but the Psychic continues onto the next town to pull another scam.

Office – Client Files: The damning files (26) are on the table on the west wall of the only room on the top floor. They contain details regarding Thaddeus' clients. For example: —"Wants cat to tell he should inherit." —"Janice's sister called her 'Sissy.'" —"The cat loved to play with Lady U's teaspoons." —"Wants you to tell her that her sister approves of the marriage." —"Knows acct number. Needs his signature to access." Information, no doubt, obtained by the paid spy, the Vagrant.

Murder At The Palace!

Memory Type: Dreadful Crimes / London Stories

Assassin

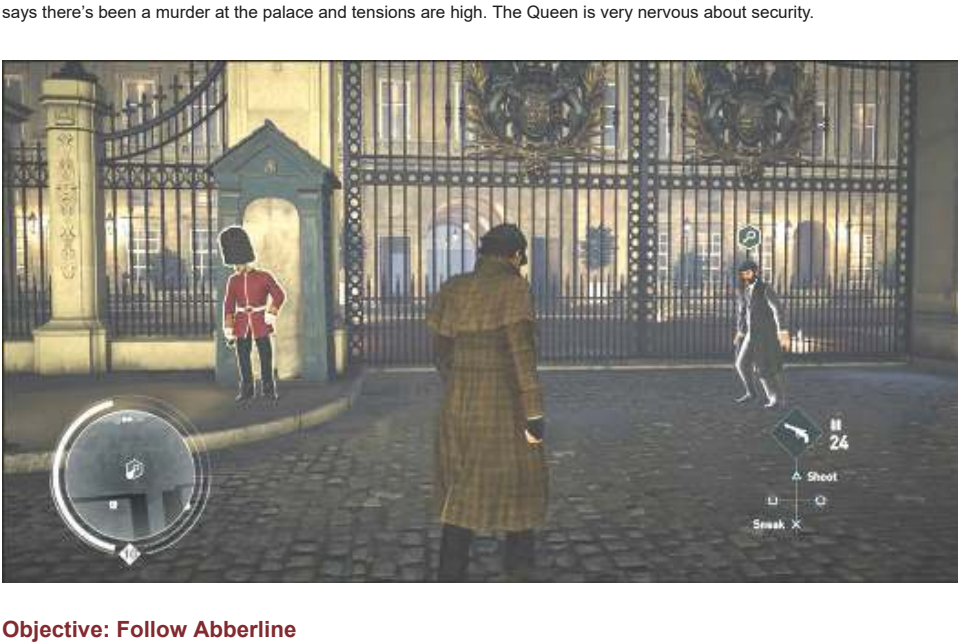
Jacob or Evie Frye

Rewards

£: 2750 (Max)
XP: 1500 (Max)
Cane-Sword: Dove Cane-Sword

Location: Buckingham Palace, Westminster

Solve the perplexing murder of a palace guard. Meet Frederick Abberline outside the palace (1) to start the investigation. He says there's been a murder at the palace and tensions are high. The Queen is very nervous about security.



Objective: Follow Abberline

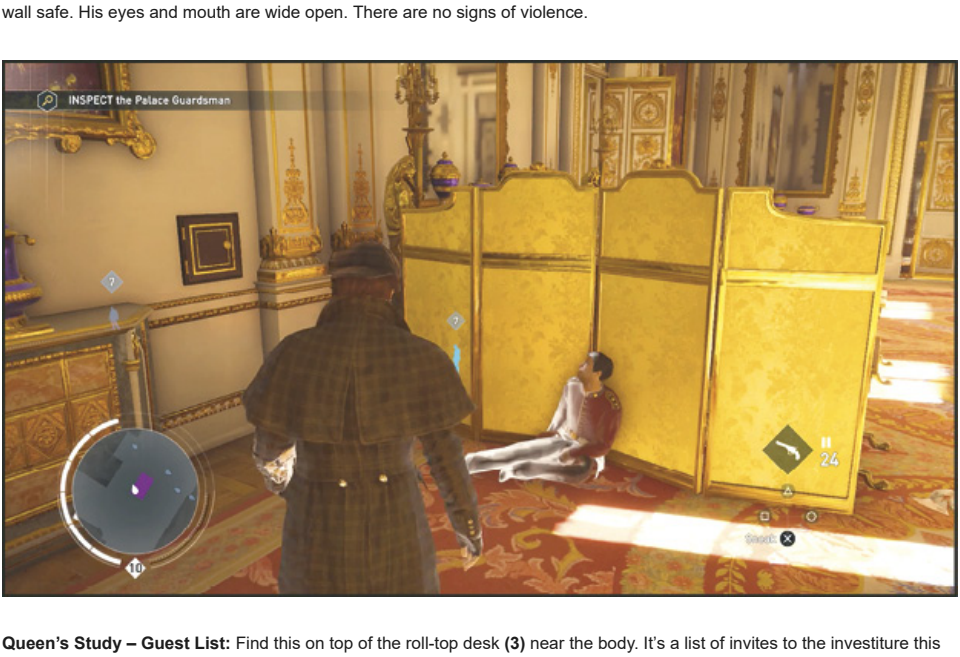
Follow Abberline from the front of the palace (1) to the Queen's Study (2) on the second floor of the palace.

Objective: Inspect the Palace Guardsman

Investigation Area: Queen's Study

Clues: 6

Queen's Study – Guardsman's Body: Find the guardsman's body (2) on the floor propped up against the screen near the wall safe. His eyes and mouth are wide open. There are no signs of violence.



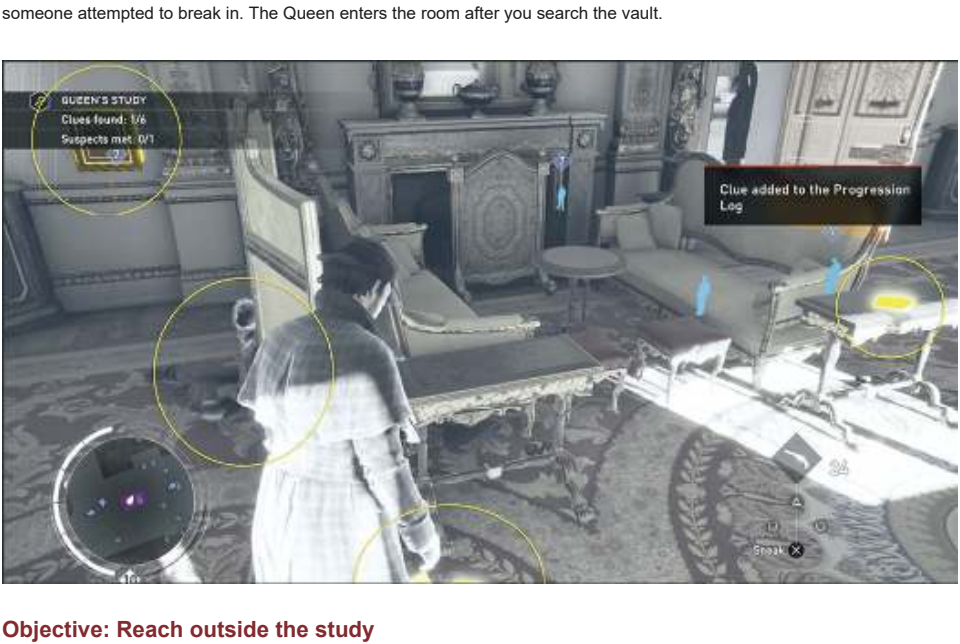
Queen's Study – Guest List: Find this on top of the roll-top desk (3) near the body. It's a list of invites to the investiture this evening. The Queen will knight several industrialists who oppose child labor.

Queen's Study – Vase: A broken vase (4) is on the floor beside the guardsman's body. This is a sign of struggle.

Queen's Study – Letter from Scotland Yard: This letter (5) is on a small table near the chairs in front of the fireplace. It's a letter to Her Majesty's Private Secretary, Sir Henry Ponsonby. He warns the secretary of a young boy (Artie!) being abducted and they think there's a connection to disrupt tonight's ceremony at the palace.

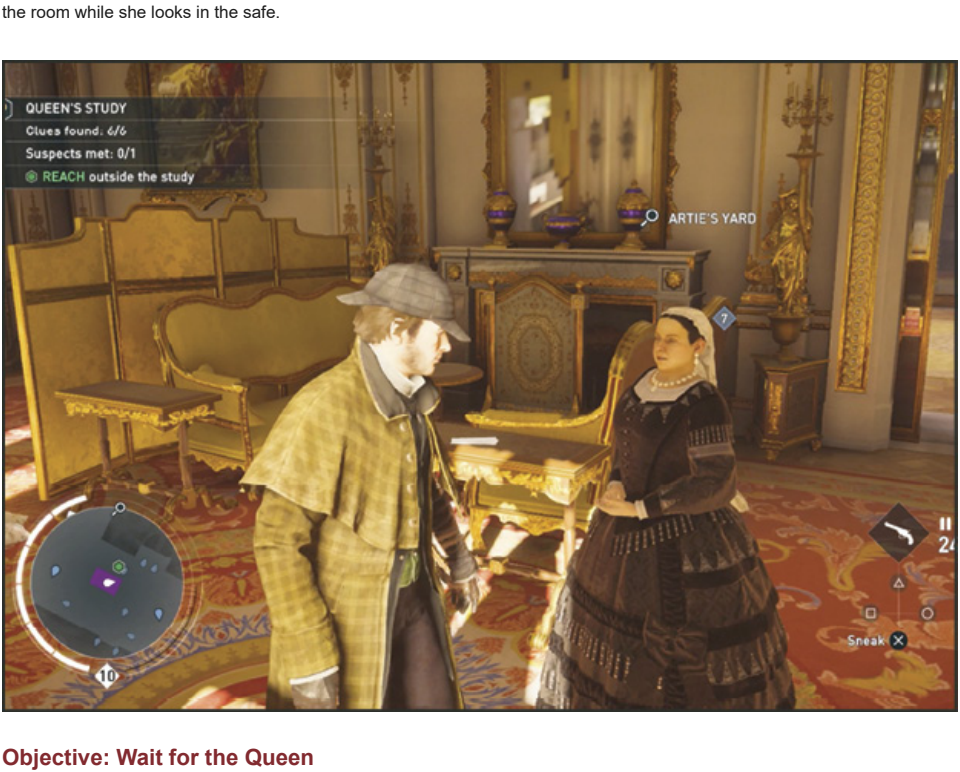
Queen's Study – Window: Discover the broken window shards (6) on the floor below the west-facing windows. The broken area is large enough to allow access to someone.

Queen's Study – Vault: Find the vault (7) on the wall next to the dead guardsman's body. It's marked by deep gashes as if someone attempted to break in. The Queen enters the room after you search the vault.



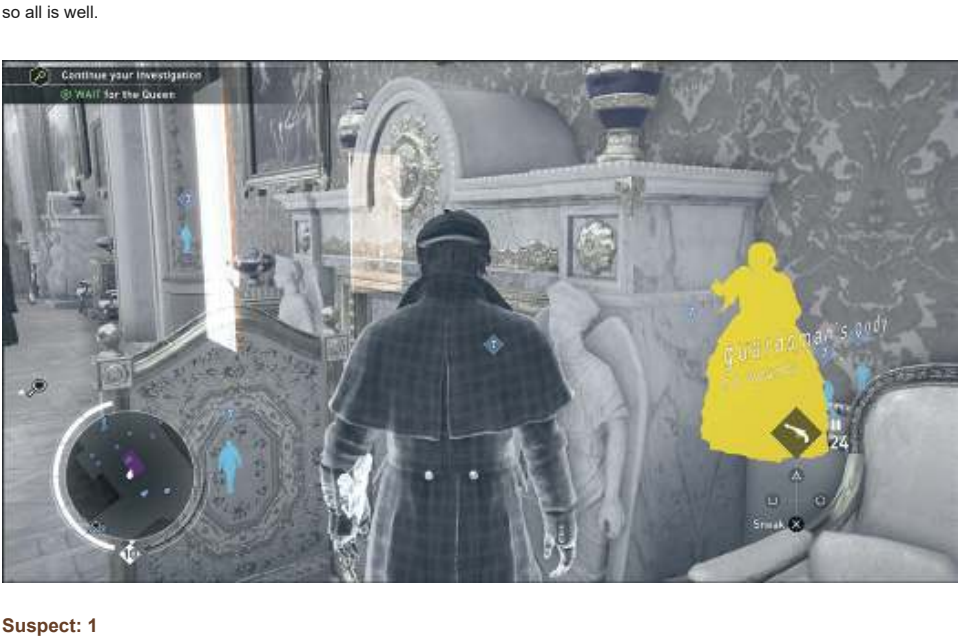
Objective: Reach outside the study

When you have inspected the vault in the Queen's Study, the Queen enters the room and requests some time to be alone in the room while she looks in the safe.



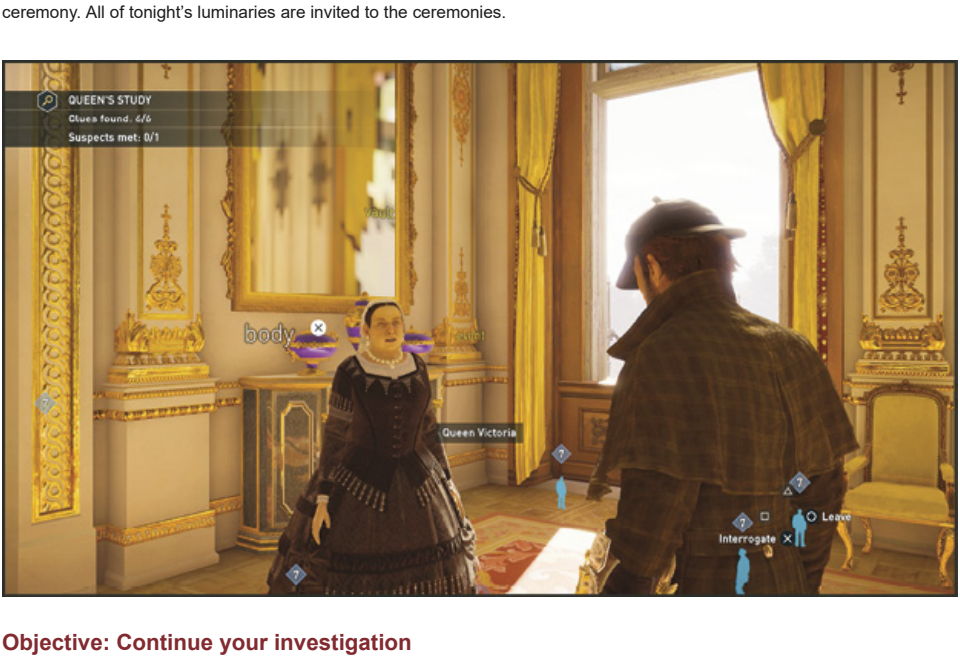
Objective: Wait for the Queen

You can hear the Queen talking to herself while opening the safe if you activate Eagle Vision while out in the hallway waiting. She's concerned someone is after the scepter and has to see it with her own eyes to know it's safe. She says it's "untouched" so all is well.



Suspect: 1

Queen Victoria: When the Queen opens the door to her Study, reenter the room and interrogate her. She becomes the first suspect. Ask her about the Body, the Vault, and the Event. She said the guardsman was dead when she arrived. She is the only one with the vault combination and knowledge that it contains the dove scepter to be used in tonight's knighthood ceremony. All of tonight's luminaries are invited to the ceremonies.



Objective: Continue your investigation

Investigation Area: Artie's Yard, The Strand

Clues: 2

Artie's Yard – Evidence Wall: Your little buddy, Artie has been abducted. His backyard is your investigation zone. Get a carriage and make the long haul northward. In his backyard you find two suspects and an evidence wall (8). Here you find that Doyle made clue connections from all the mysteries you've solved together, links from one murder to the other. And the final scrawl is unfinished: "Leading to… Raymond—".

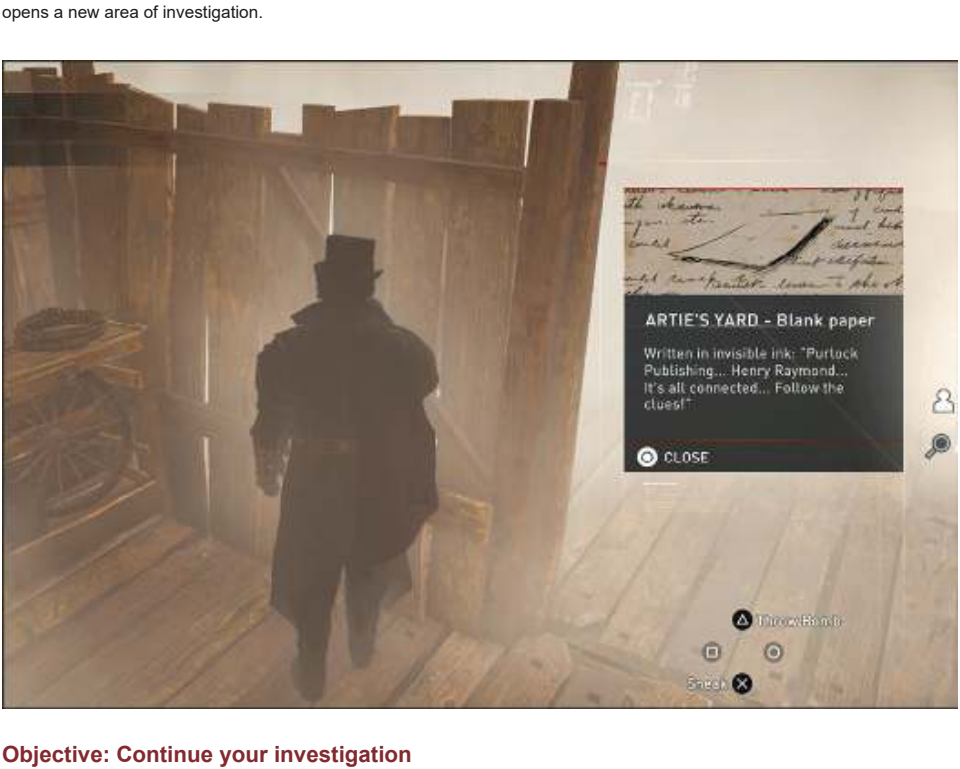
Artie's Yard – Blank Paper: Pivot around from the evidence wall and find this apparently blank notepaper (9) on the opposite wall.

Suspect: 2

Buck: Talk to the little boy (10) closest to the evidence wall. Ask him about Artie, and the Evidence Wall. He thinks there's a master criminal on the loose by how Artie was acting. He said Artie went missing in the morning. He said he was going on about the Queen for the last day or two…thinks she's in some sort of trouble.

Dooley: Ask the second boy (11), Dooley, about Artie, the Evidence Wall, and Henry Raymond. He said Raymond had come by on the way from his publisher with his latest penny dreadful and was pretty excited about it. Dooley never liked him much. The most important thing is to ask him about the evidence wall. He tells you he writes the important stuff with invisible ink. Ask about the Blank Paper next. He tells you if you have smoke, you can see what it says.

Return to the Blank Paper (9) on the wall facing the evidence wall. Throw a smoke bomb at the ground and re-examine the blank paper. This is written in invisible ink: "Purlock Publishing…Henry Raymond… It's all connected…Follow the clues!" This opens a new area of investigation.



ARTIE'S YARD - Blank paper

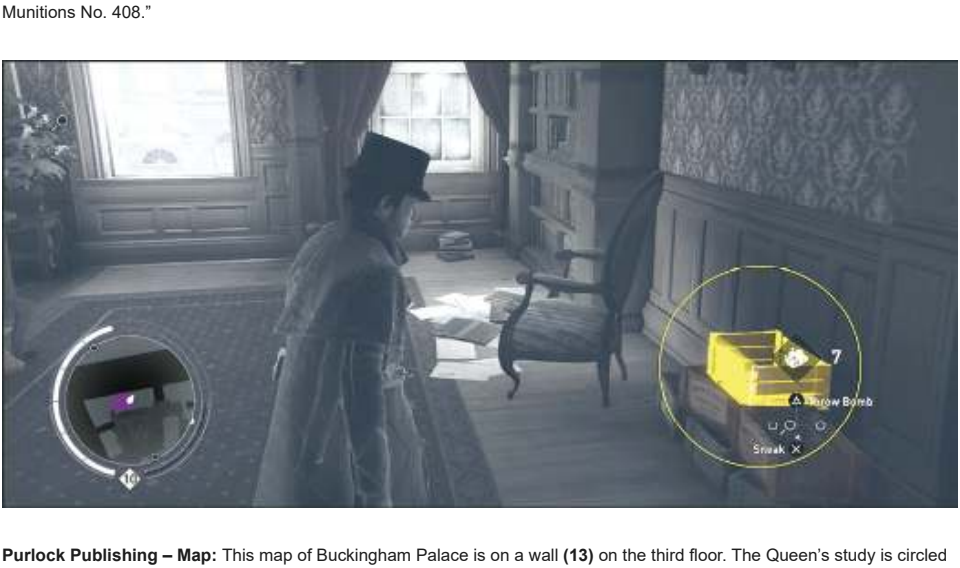
Written in invisible ink: "Purlock Publishing... Henry Raymond... It's all connected... Follow the clues!"

Objective: Continue your investigation

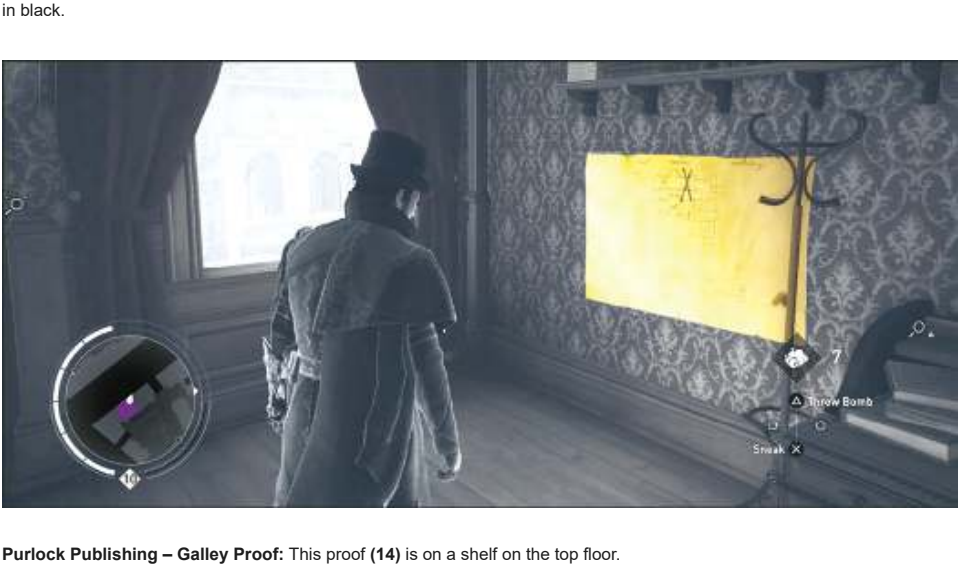
Investigation Area: Purlock Publishing, The Strand

Clues: 4

Purlock Publishing – Dynamite crates: Head southwest a block to Purlock Publishing. The front door is open. There are no clues on the first floor. Dynamite crates (12) can be found on the second floor hallway. They are empty but marked "Prescott Munitions No. 408."

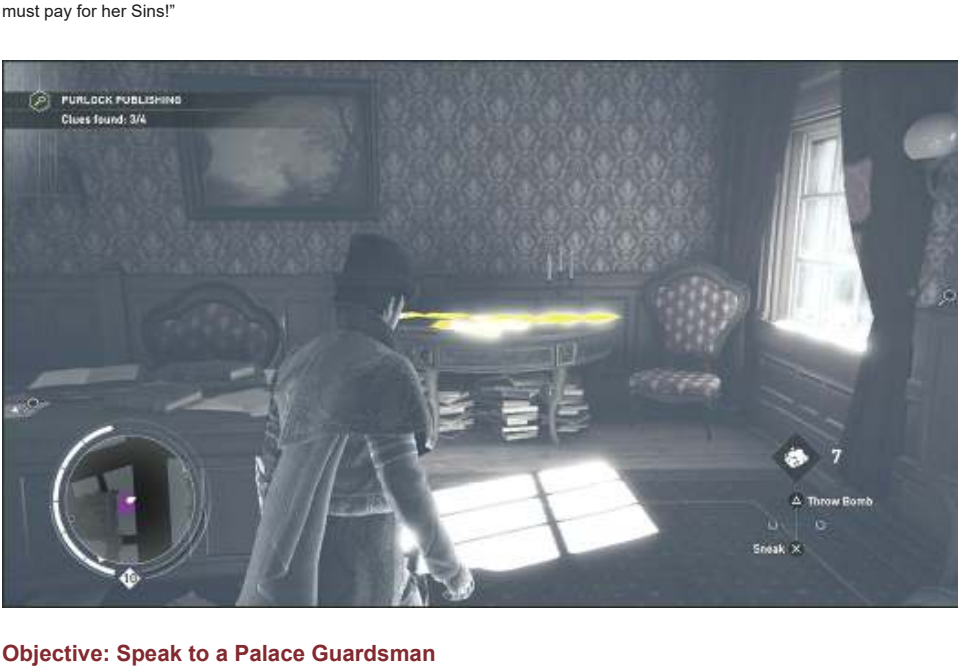


Purlock Publishing – Map: This map of Buckingham Palace is on a wall (13) on the third floor. The Queen's study is circled in black.



Purlock Publishing – Galley Proof: This proof (14) is on a shelf on the top floor.

Purlock Publishing – Anti-royalist Pamphlets: Find these pamphlets (15) in the same room with the galley proof, on a table near the south corner window. It reads: "Down with the Monarchy!" "An End to our Suffering under Victoria!" "The Queen must pay for her Sins!"



Objective: Speak to a Palace Guardsman

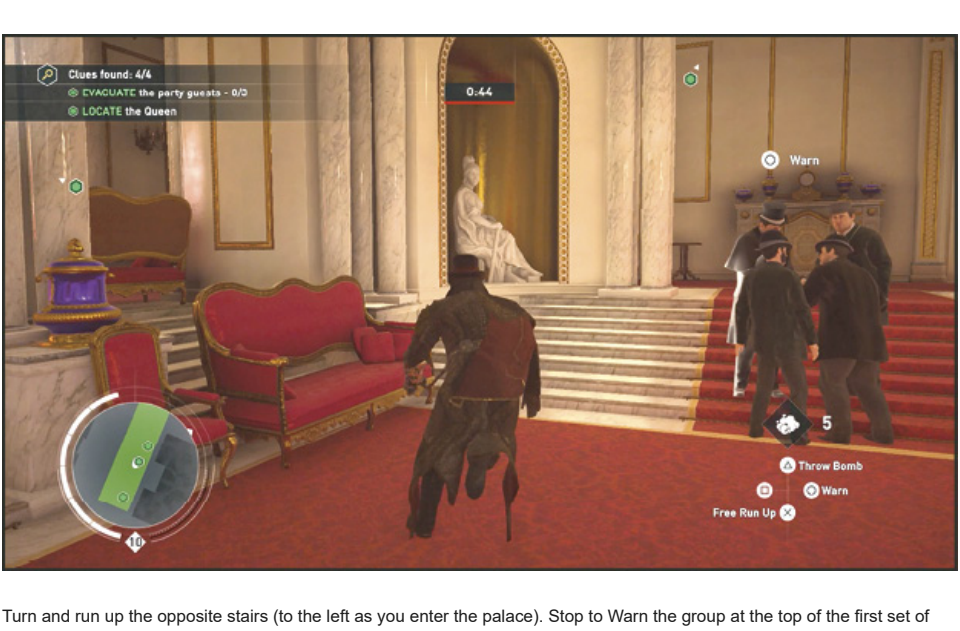
Investigation Area: Buckingham Palace, Westminster

Return to Buckingham Palace and talk to the guardsman (16) in the middle of the long walkway to the palace entrance.

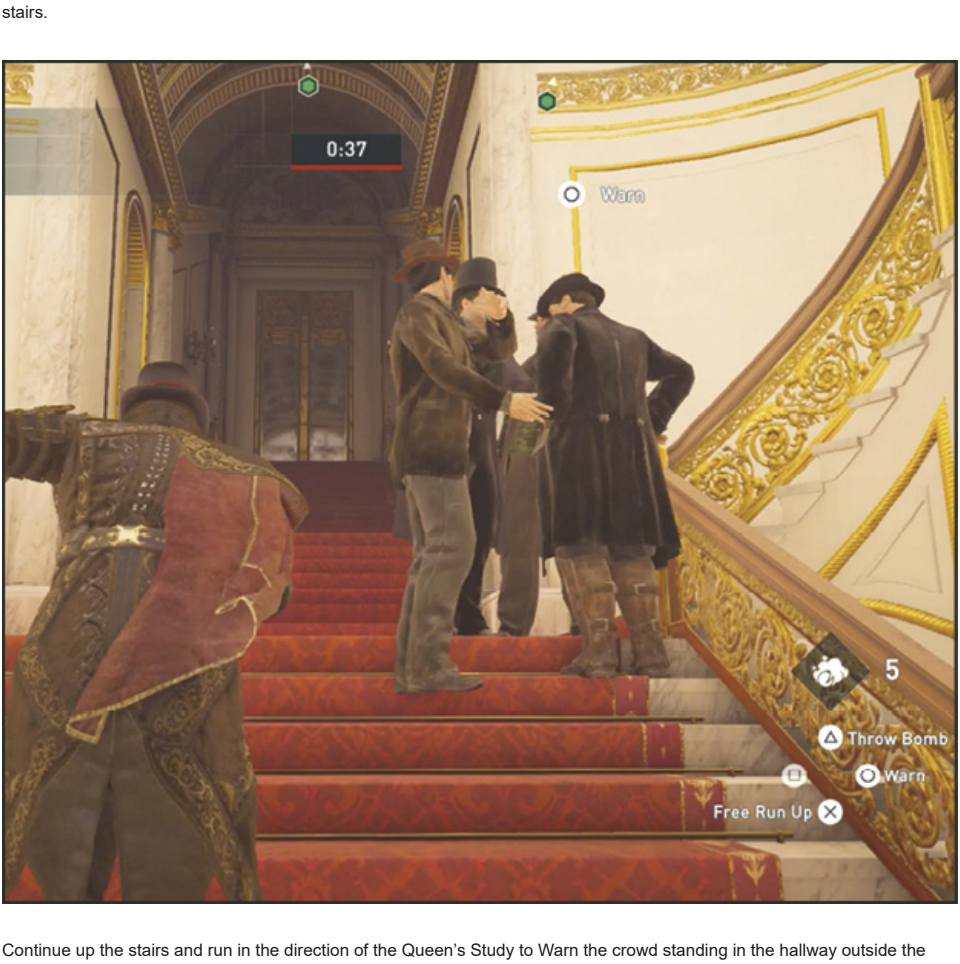
Objective: Evacuate the 3 party guests

Objective: Locate the Queen

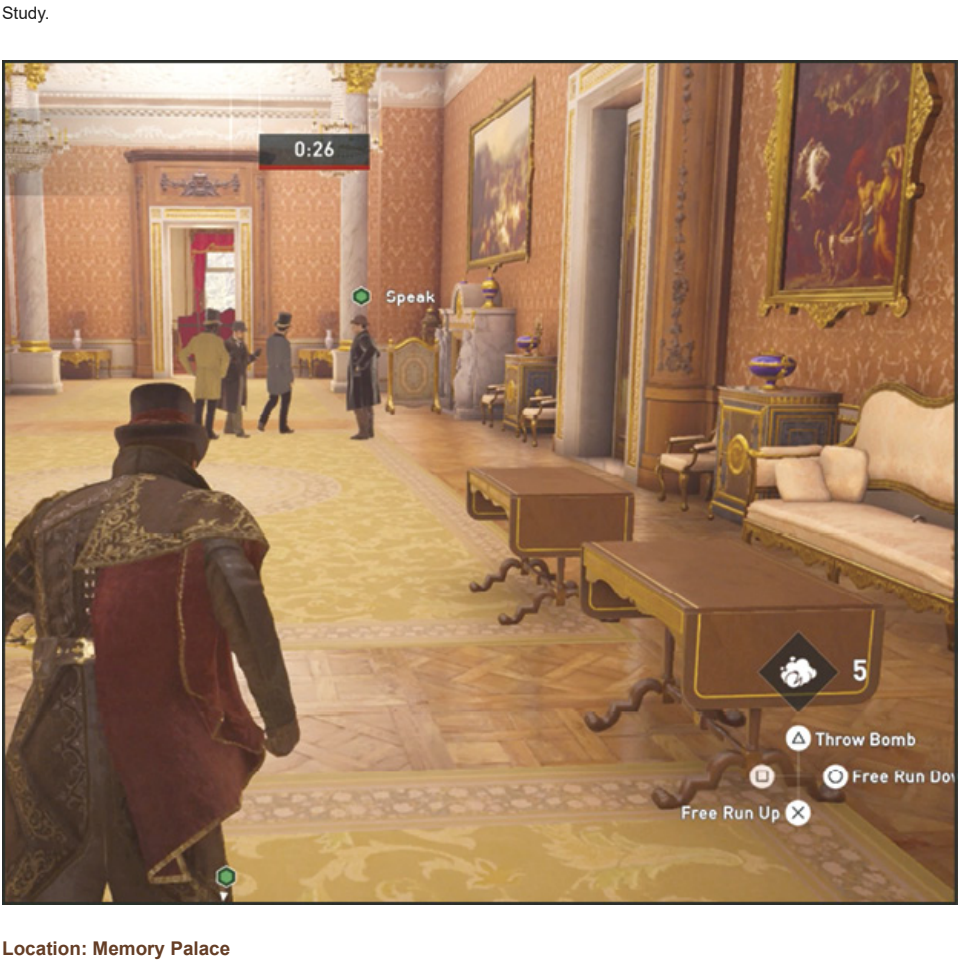
You have one minute to evacuate three party guests. Stop talking to the guard if he's still yappin' and rush into the palace towards the green blips representing the party guests. Run into the palace and turn right to Warn the crowd standing near the stairs. Press and hold the ○ / B button.



Turn and run up the opposite stairs (to the left as you enter the palace). Stop to Warn the group at the top of the first set of stairs.

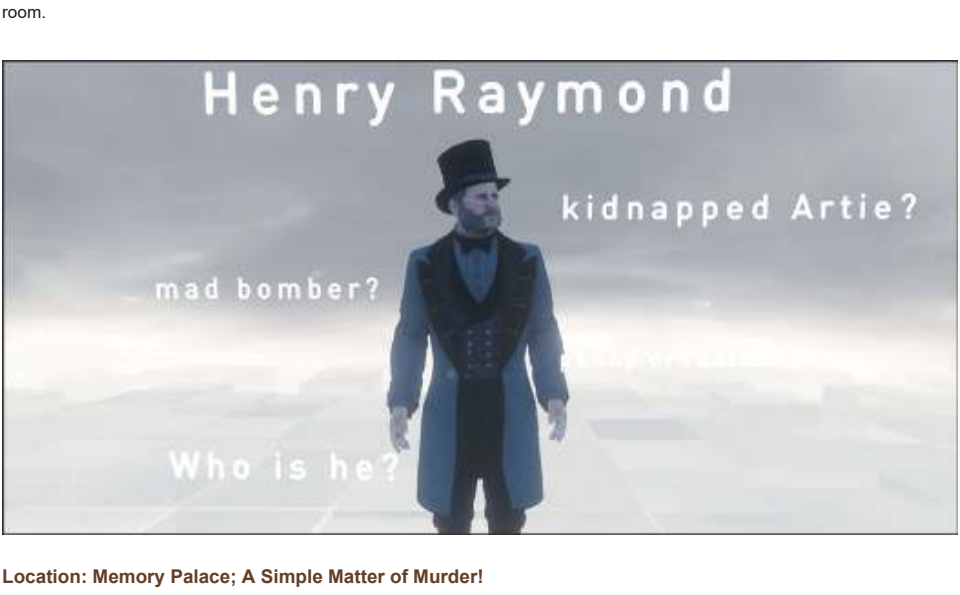


Continue up the stairs and run in the direction of the Queen's Study to Warn the crowd standing in the hallway outside the Study.



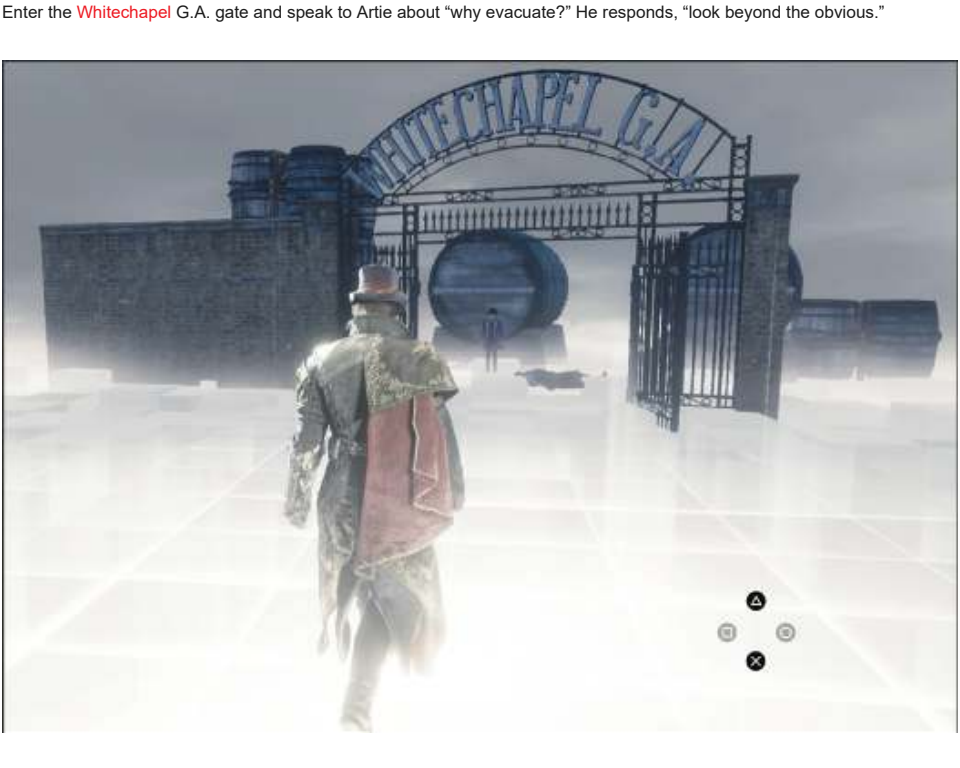
Location: Memory Palace

After freeing the guests you discover Henry Raymond has tricked you. There's no explosion. You enter the Animus white room with Henry Raymond. Labels surround him: "Kidnapped Artie?Mad Bomber?Penny Dreadfuls, Who is he? and He is the key!" At this point you revisit the key areas of all the murder mysteries you worked on but this time they appear in the white room.



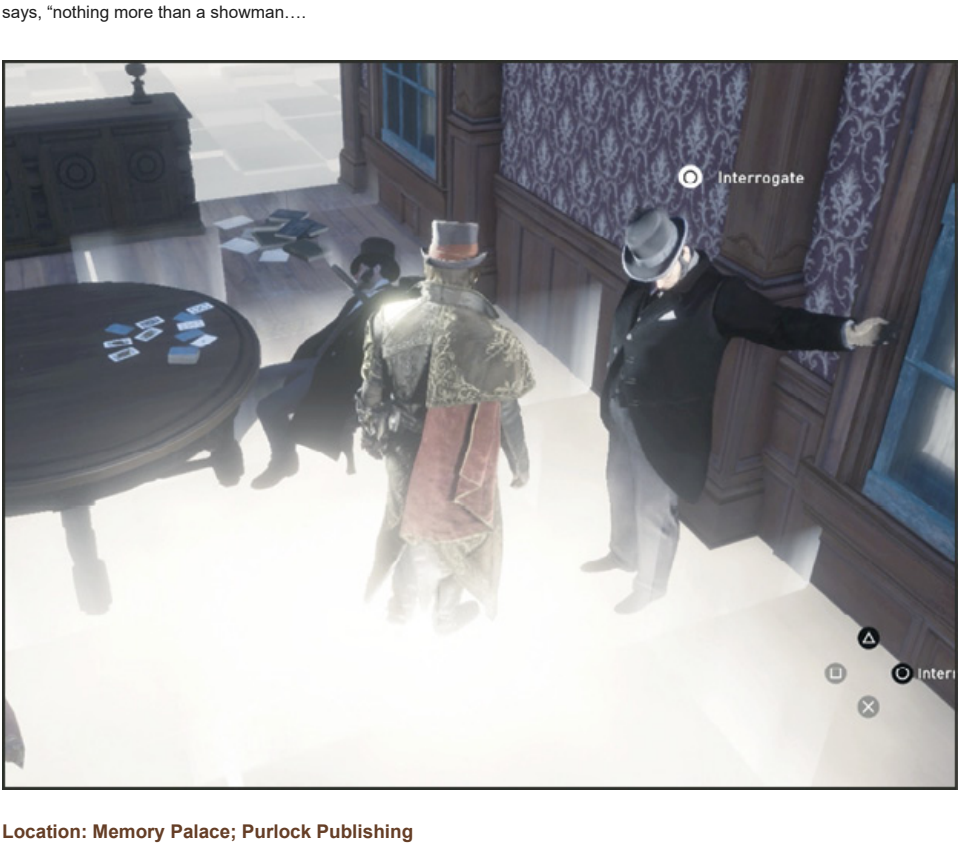
Location: Memory Palace; A Simple Matter of Murder!

Enter the Whitechapel G.A. gate and speak to Artie about "why evacuate?" He responds, "look beyond the obvious."



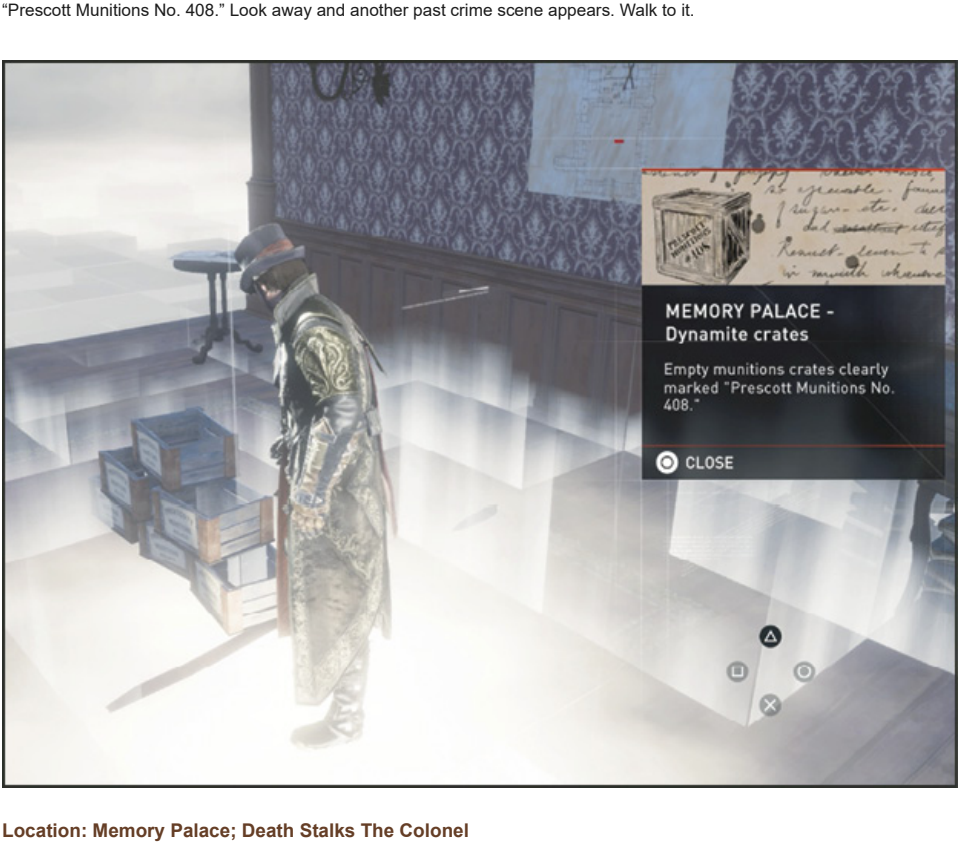
Location: Memory Palace; Conjuring Up A Killing!

Move away from the Whitechapel murder scene to the psychic's séance table and interrogate Douglas—the accused. He says, "nothing more than a showman…."



Location: Memory Palace; Purlock Publishing

Move away from the séance scene and Purlock Publishing appears nearby. Inspect the dynamite crates clearly marked, "Prescott Munitions No. 408." Look away and another past crime scene appears. Walk to it.

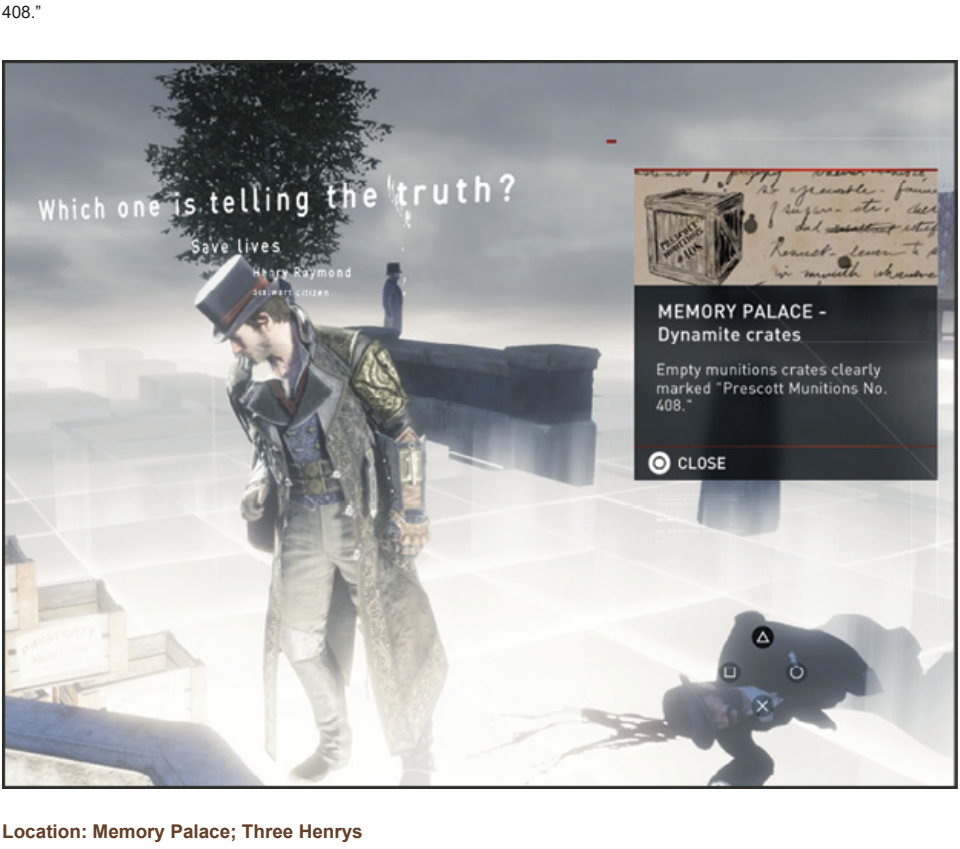


MEMORY PALACE - Dynamite crates

Empty munitions crates clearly marked "Prescott Munitions No. 408."

Location: Memory Palace; Death Stalks The Colonel

When you enter the new scene you recognize it from your earlier crime scene, Death Stalks The Colonel. Prescott's body lies at the Munitions Factory. Inspect the dynamite crates, empty munitions crates clearly marked, "Prescott Munitions No. 408."



MEMORY PALACE - Dynamite crates

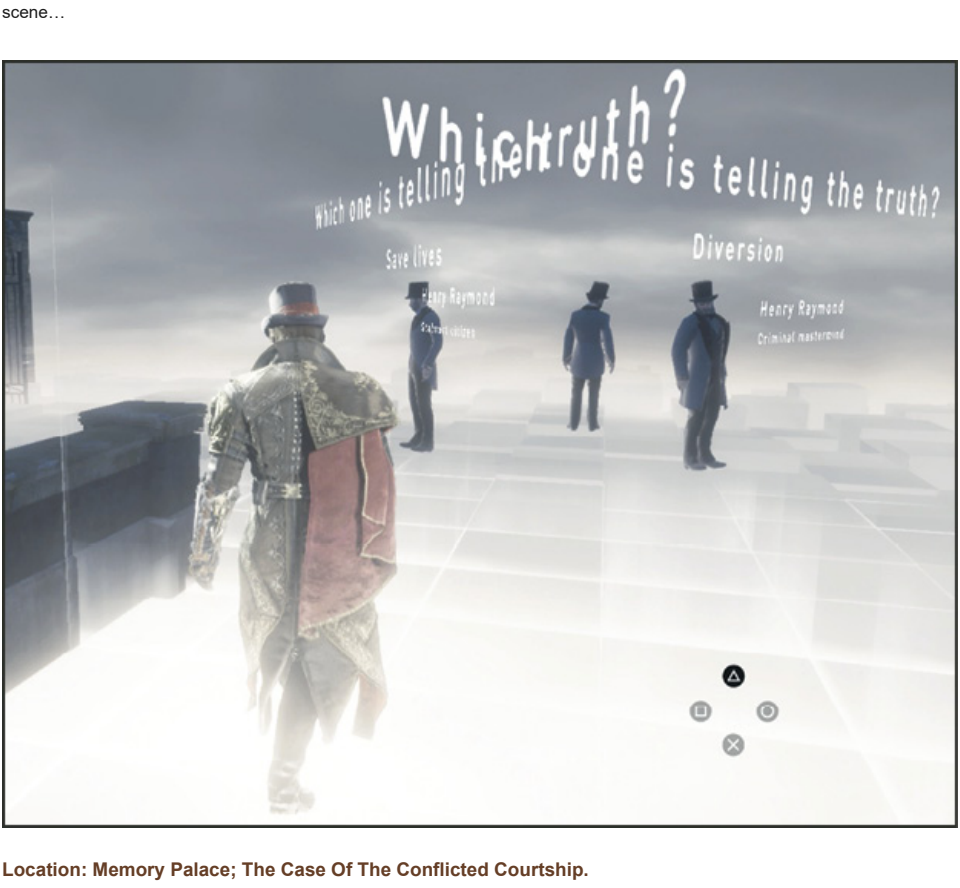
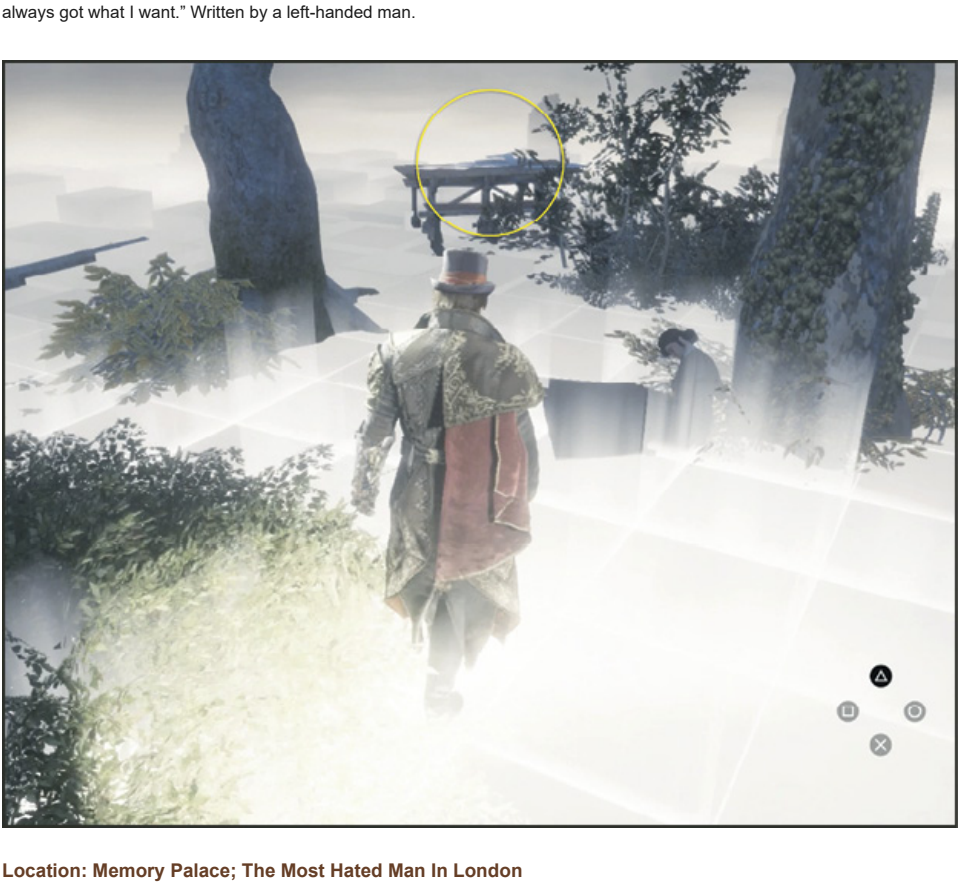
Location: Memory Palace; Three Henrys

Walk out of the crime scene, heading toward the three Henry Raymonds standing back, to back, to back. You must choose which Henry is the Henry that did the crimes. Which one is telling the truth? You must choose between the Diversion, Save Lives, or the Terrorist Henry. Talk to them all or just go straight to Diversion and "Accuse" him. This unlocks another, old crime scene…



Location: Memory Palace; The Case Of The Conflicted Courtship.

After accusing Diversion Henry, walk into the next crime scene simulation. It's Prudence Brown from the Conflicted Courtship. She is not the focus here; continue past her to the picnic table. Inspect the scattered papers on the table. They read: "I always got what I want." Written by a left-handed man.



Location: Memory Palace; The Most Hated Man In London

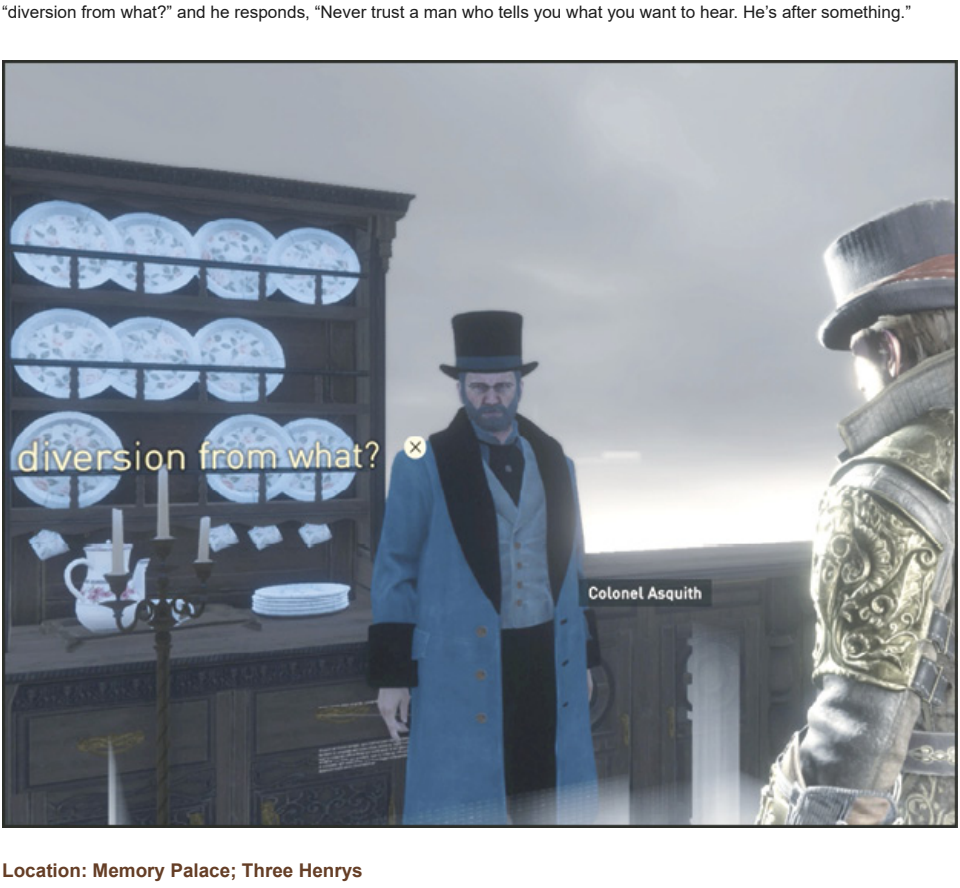
Now walk to the corner where the crate has crushed Mr. Ashton. Walk past him and talk to his wife you accused. Talk to Mrs. Ashton about "Diversion from what?" She says she brought him the invitation to the knighthood ceremony, the one with the special scepter.

Location: Memory Palace; Locked In…To Die

Now go into the Locked In…To Die set and inspect the newspaper next to Cashan's bed. There are several articles, one about the coming ceremony wherein the queen will use the storied Scepter with the Dove to knight an industrialist.

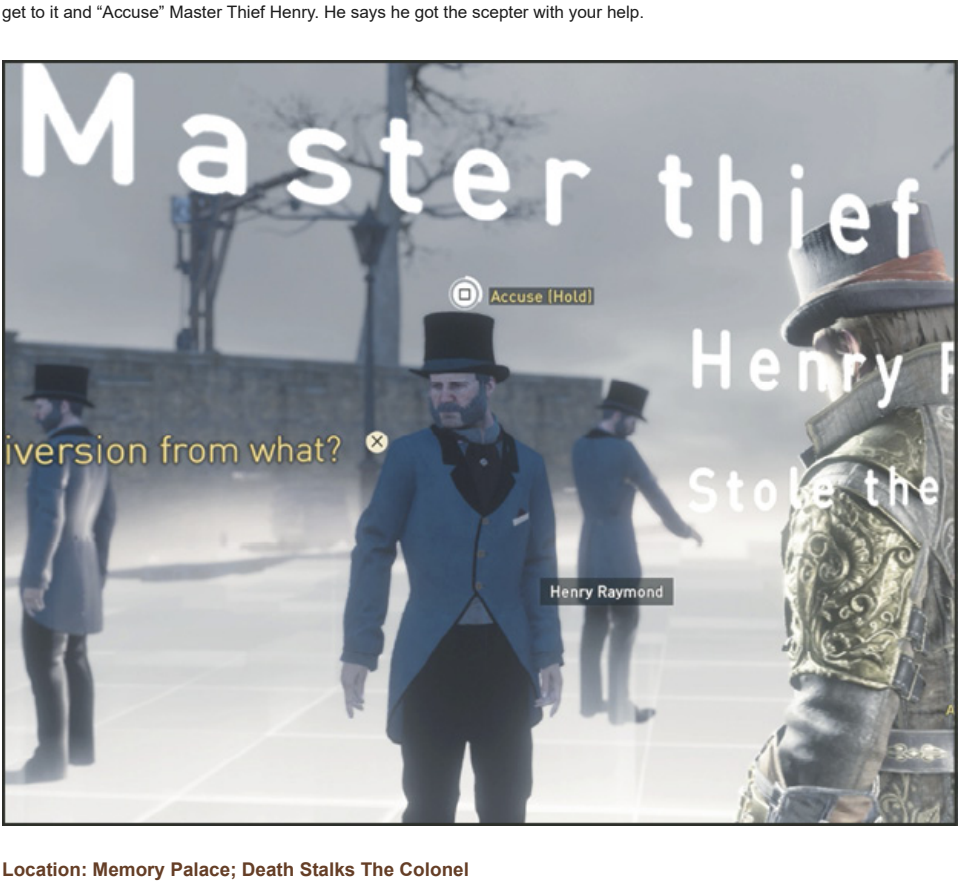
Location: Memory Palace; Conjuring Up A Killing!

Head back into the psychic's set and interrogate Colonel Asquith who is now standing near a china cabinet. Talk to him about "diversion from what?" and he responds, "Never trust a man who tells you what you want to hear. He's after something."



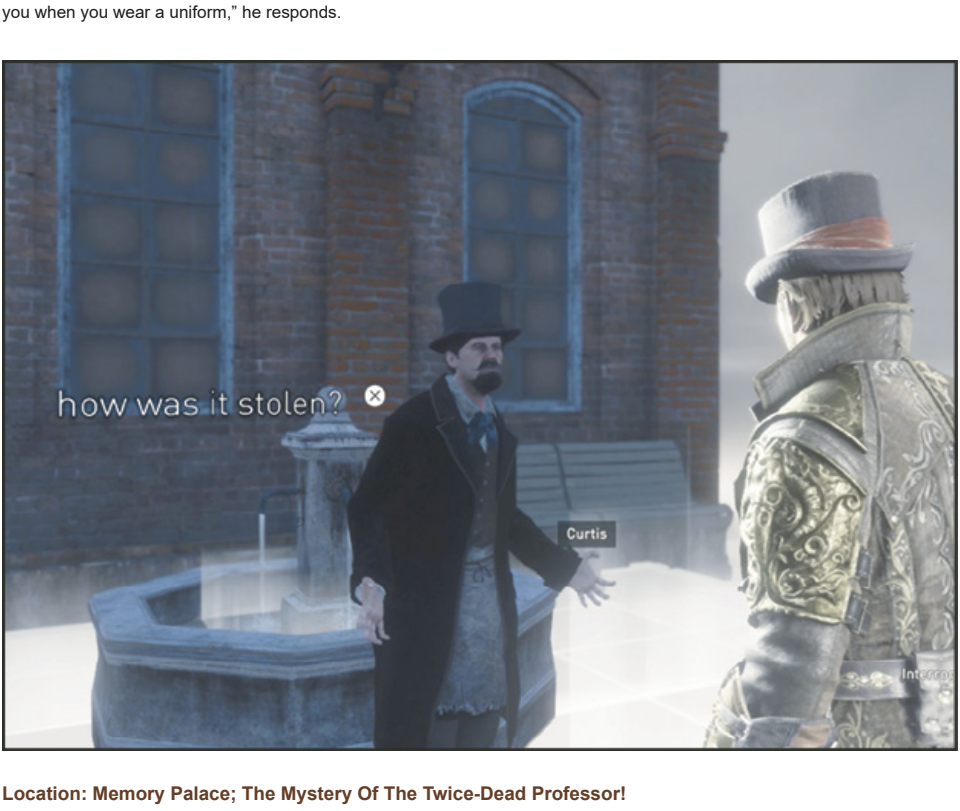
Location: Memory Palace; Three Henrys

Confront the three Henrys again. This time there are: Kidnapper, Murderer, and Master Thief Henrys. Talk to them all, or just get to it and "Accuse" Master Thief Henry. He says he got the scepter with your help.



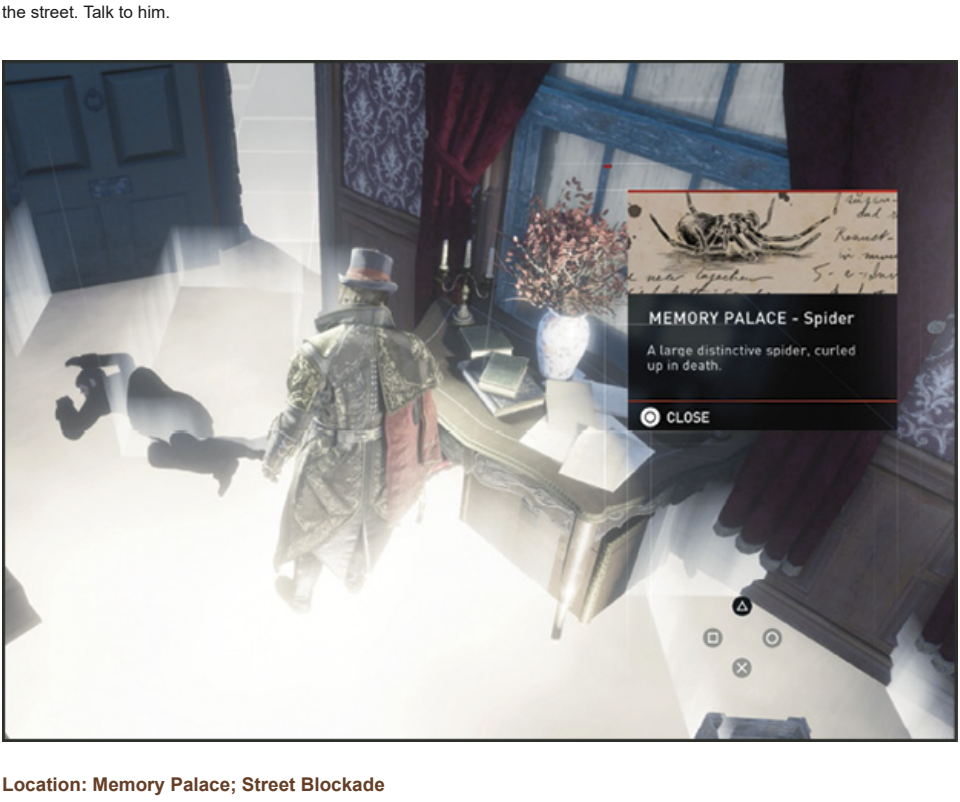
Location: Memory Palace; Death Stalks The Colonel

Now return to the Death Stalks The Colonel set. Curtis is there now. Talk to him about "how was it stolen?" "No one questions you when you wear a uniform," he responds.



Location: Memory Palace; The Mystery Of The Twice-Dead Professor!

Enter the professor's house and inspect the spider on the edge of the table by the professor's dead body near the front door. It is a large distinctive spider, curled up in death. If you walk up the stairs here and drop off the end of the set you find Artie in the street. Talk to him.

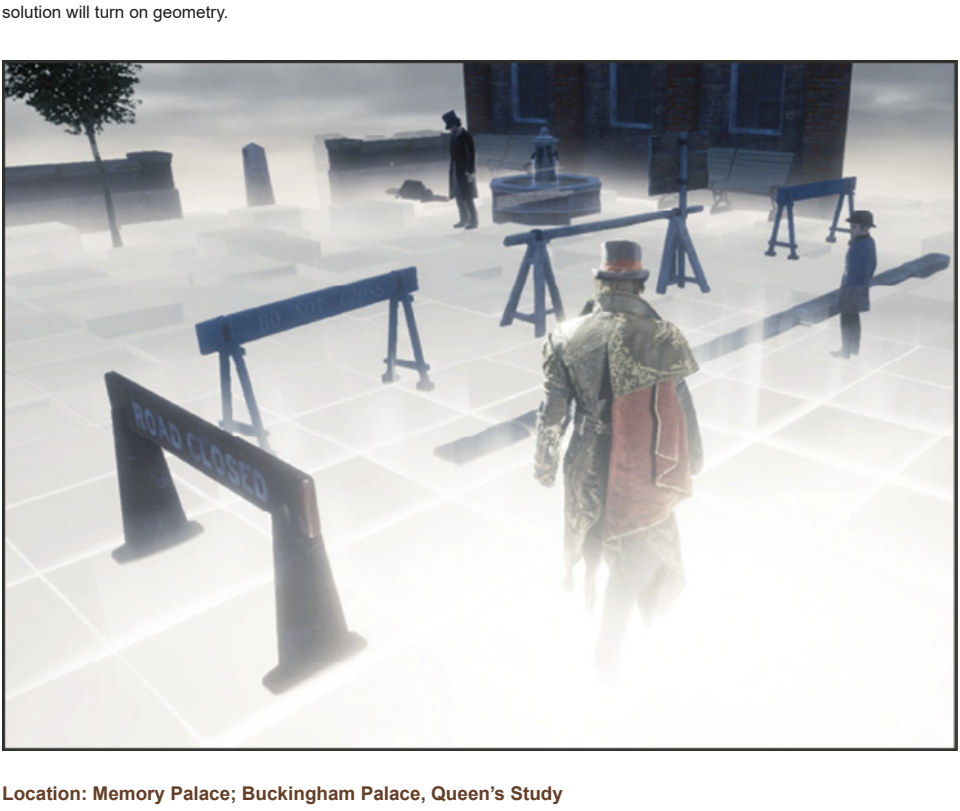


MEMORY PALACE - Spider

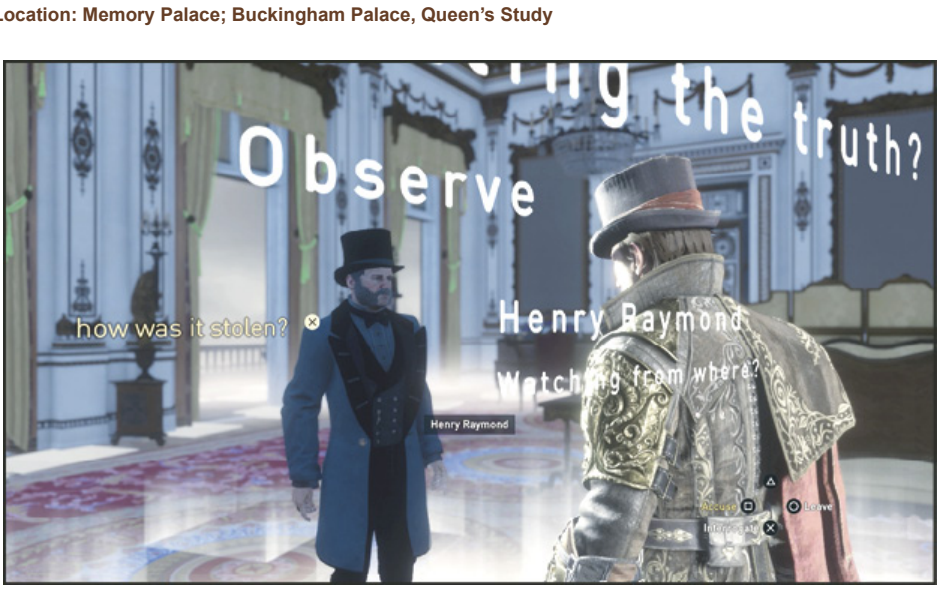
A large distinctive spider, curled up in death.

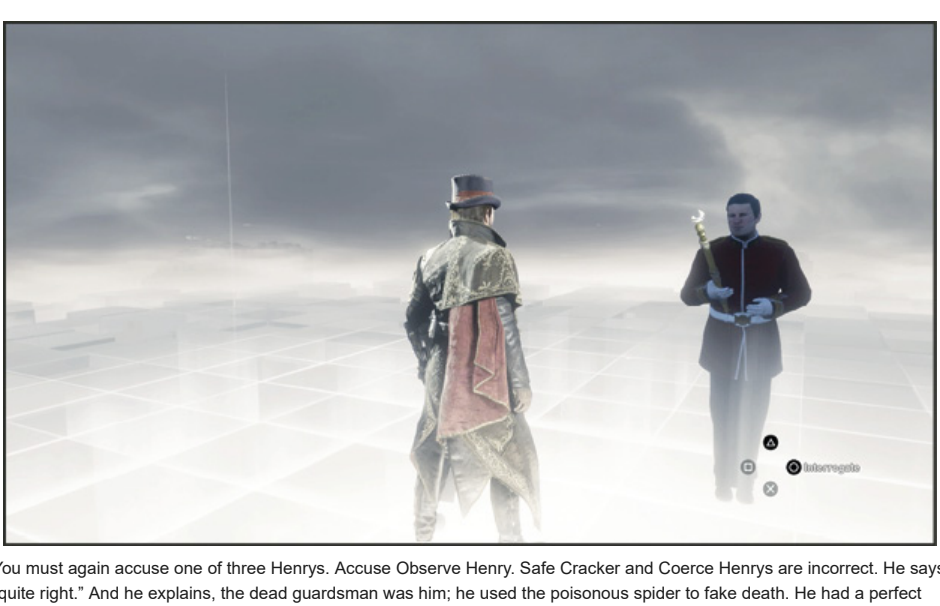
Location: Memory Palace; Street Blockade

Talk to Artie in the blocked-off street set next to the Death Stalks the Colonel set. Ask, "How was it stolen?" He suspects the solution will turn on geometry.



Location: Memory Palace; Buckingham Palace, Queen's Study





You must again accuse one of three Henrys. Accuse Observe Henry. Safe Cracker and Coerce Henrys are incorrect. He says "quite right." And he explains, the dead guardsman was him; he used the poisonous spider to fake death. He had a perfect view of the safe when the queen opened it to check on the contents. He has stolen the scepter. He says he left clues for you at every turning point. He feels accomplished that he has outwitted you.

Location: Buckingham Palace; Entryway

You exit the Animus white room and you spawn with Frederick Abberline screaming at you to wake up. He says Raymond has taken Artie hostage, they're on the roof, and your twin is here to help you. You see a green blip coming from the palace's rooftop. Rope Launch there now.

Enter the Reach marker (17) on top of the palace. Here you see Raymond holding the scepter with Artie as his hostage at the edge of a rooftop. You hold a gun on Raymond and then control switches to the other twin assassin.

As the other Frye twin, get to the rooftops but come up behind Raymond from the backyard side of the palace and silently execute Raymond, who now has a "Kill" icon over his head.

You killed Henry Raymond and saved Artie. That completes the Dreadful Crime memories. Unfortunately, they are no longer repayable in the Progress Tracker, because now you know who done it. Enjoy the happy ending and enjoy the reward: the Dove Cane-Sword.

Motive

Little Artie Doyle helped his friends solve several murders, all under the eye of Penny Dreadful author Henry Raymond. But Raymond was mad! All along, Raymond was plotting a final crime to demonstrate to the world his fiendish cleverness. Taking a uniform and some venom from the sites of previous murders, he entered the palace and feigned death in order to gain access to the precious Sceptre with the Dove! But all came to naught, and Raymond himself was slain!

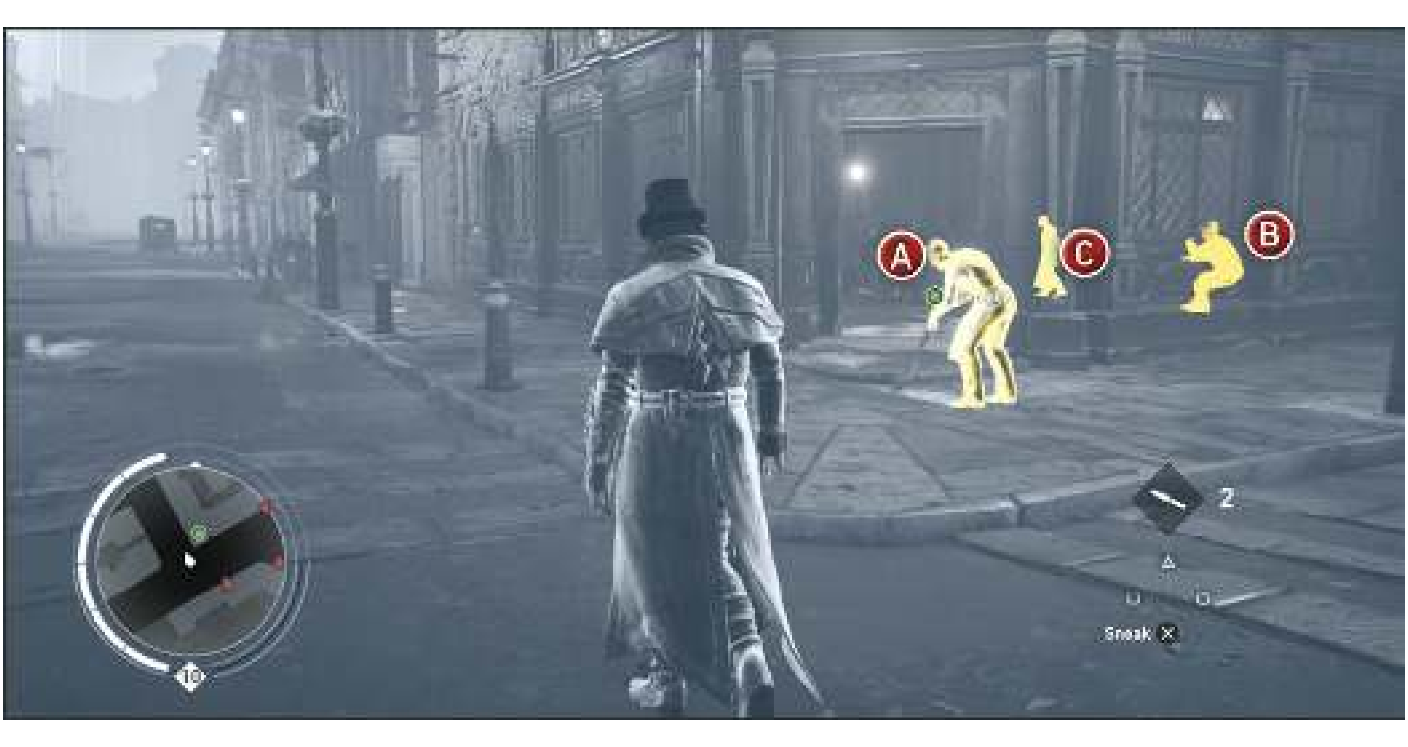
To start this mission you must talk to the engineer on the engine section of the Train Hideout. The engineer complains about his apprentice, Bob, who is a hardcore drinker and once again nowhere to be found. He needs Bob to help with some work, so he asks you to find him and bring him back.

Objective: Investigate the bar clues

Location: Lord Nelson Bar, The Strand

Where the train hideout was located when you started this memory determines how far you have to travel to get to the Lord Nelson bar (1) in The Strand. Consider using a fast travel point if you are across the map.



The clues to investigate in the bar are the three people that glow yellow when Eagle Vision is activated. There's an employee (A) cleaning up vomit on the sidewalk at the front door, a drunk patron (B) sitting in a booth inside, and a bartender (C) behind the bar.

Talk to them all or, if you're in a hurry, just talk to the bartender (c). He tells you Bob went to throw up in the alley. This opens the new investigation area.

Objective: Locate Bob

Exit the bar and run northeast along the sidewalk to reach an alley (2) to the left. Kill any Blighters you see along the way to clear them from the area.

Suggested Level: 3

Assassin

Evie Frye

Challenges

Avoid fire damage

Rewards

£: 830 + 75 (Full Synch Bonus)
XP: 400 + 100 (Full Synch Bonus)

Location: Train Hideout

You start this memory on the Train Hideout's dining car, which is the second car from the back. This is an Evie-only memory.

Objective: Speak to the merchant

Leap off the train and hijack a carriage or do a quick trip to the City Of London. Follow the green blip to the merchant (1) in the northeast side of town behind the Stockbrokers Bankers building.

Evie asks the merchant for a 7-inch flywheel when all of a sudden a man runs up behind her yelling for her help. He says the train won't stop!

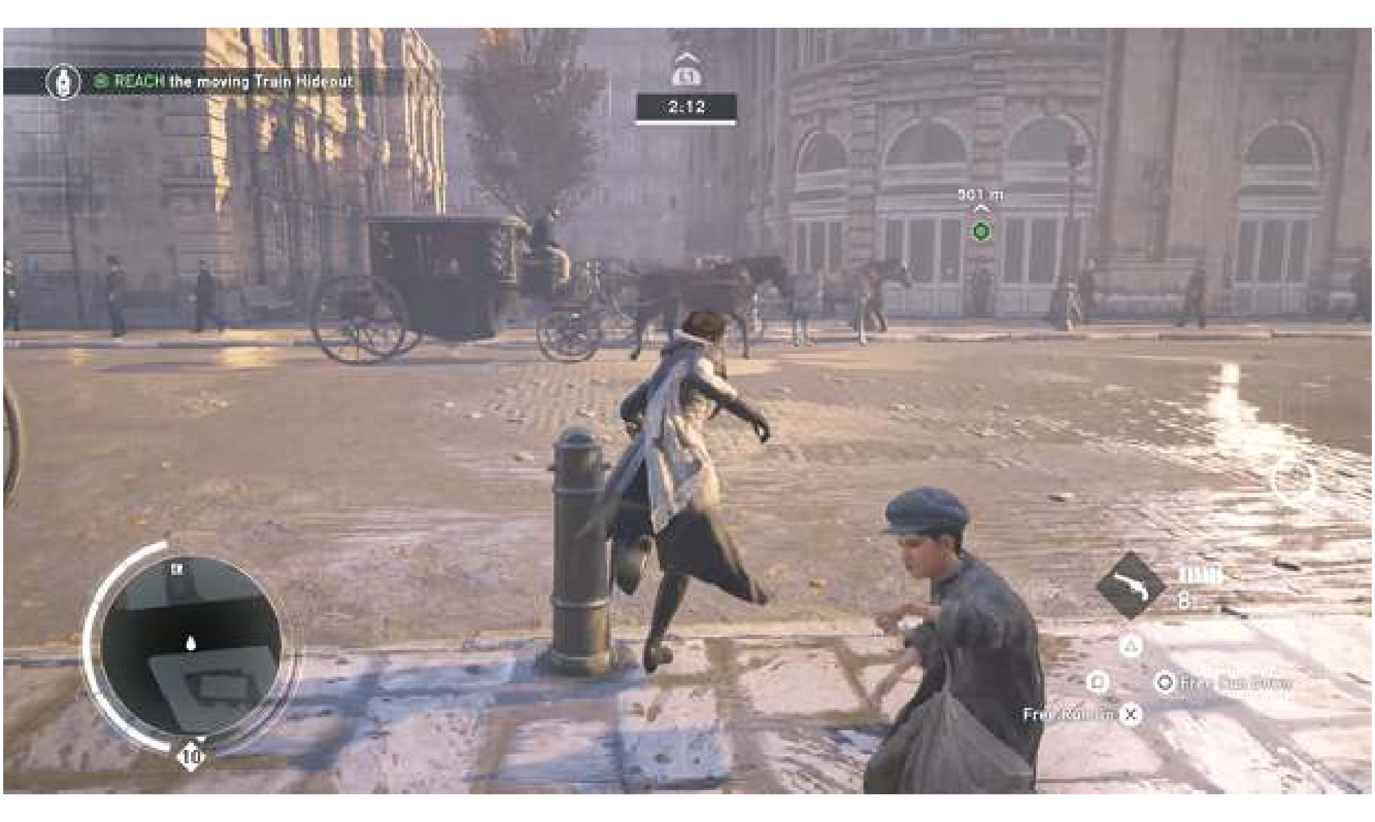
Objective: Reach the moving Train Hideout

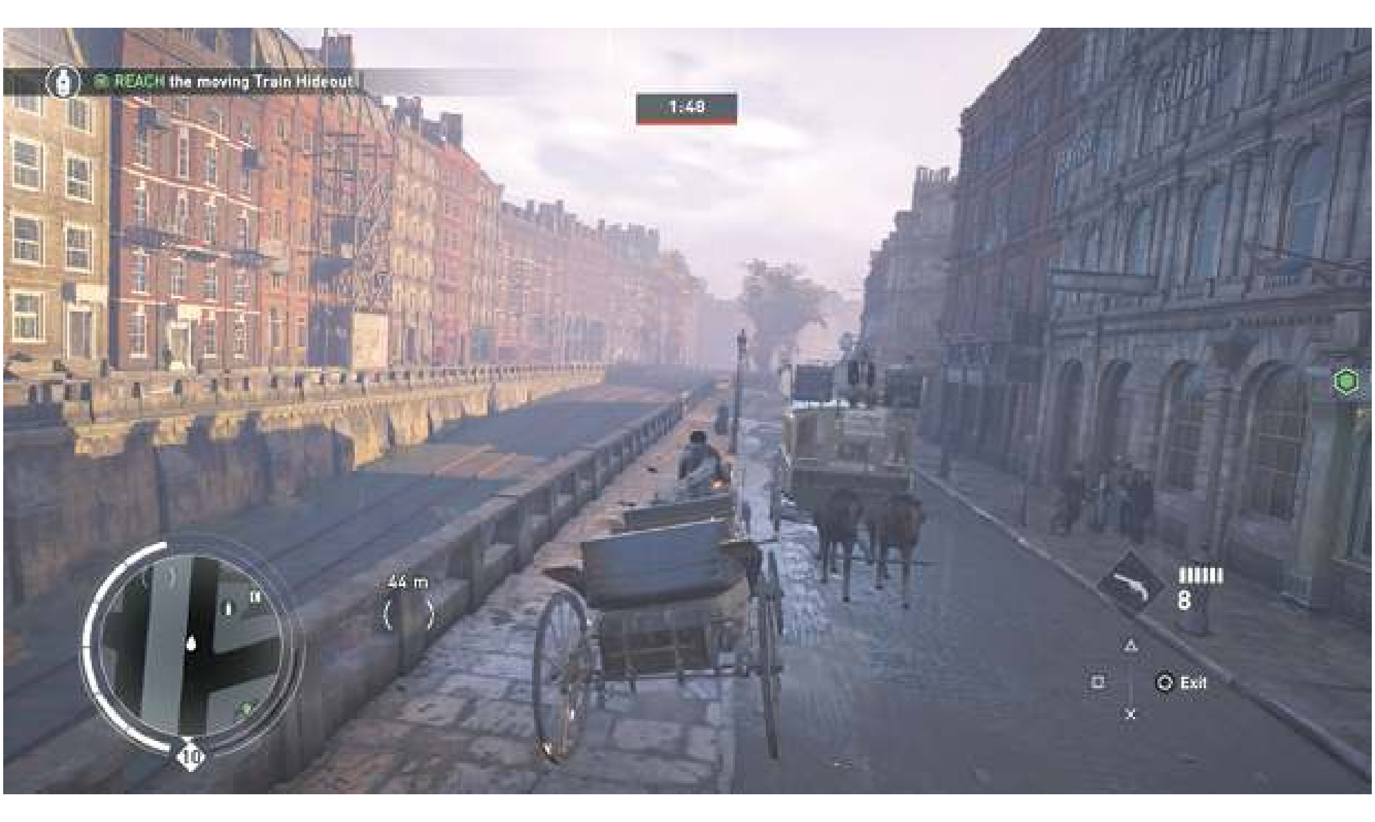
You regain control of Evie as she is running south through a nearby alley. You have 2 minutes and 12 seconds to reach the train. Enter the nearest parked carriage in the street (2).

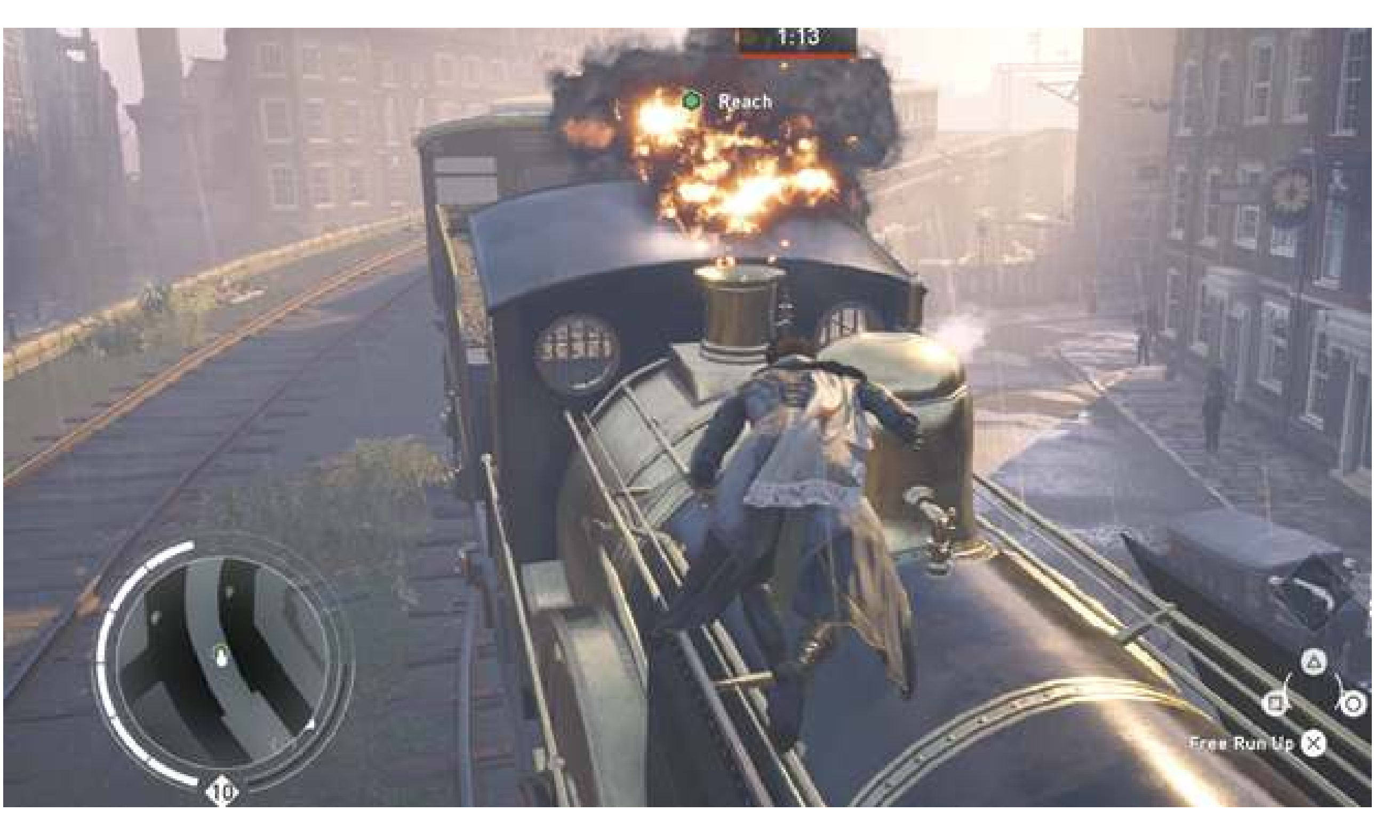
The train is headed your way (north) and is crossing The Thames. The easiest thing to do is not to head for the train but to drive quickly for the nearest tracks (3).

When you reach the tracks, hop out of the carriage and stand between the two sets of tracks while facing south. Wait for the train to arrive and then jump onto the engine as it rolls by.

Run through the Reach marker at the cabin area of the engine to complete the objective and stop the clock.

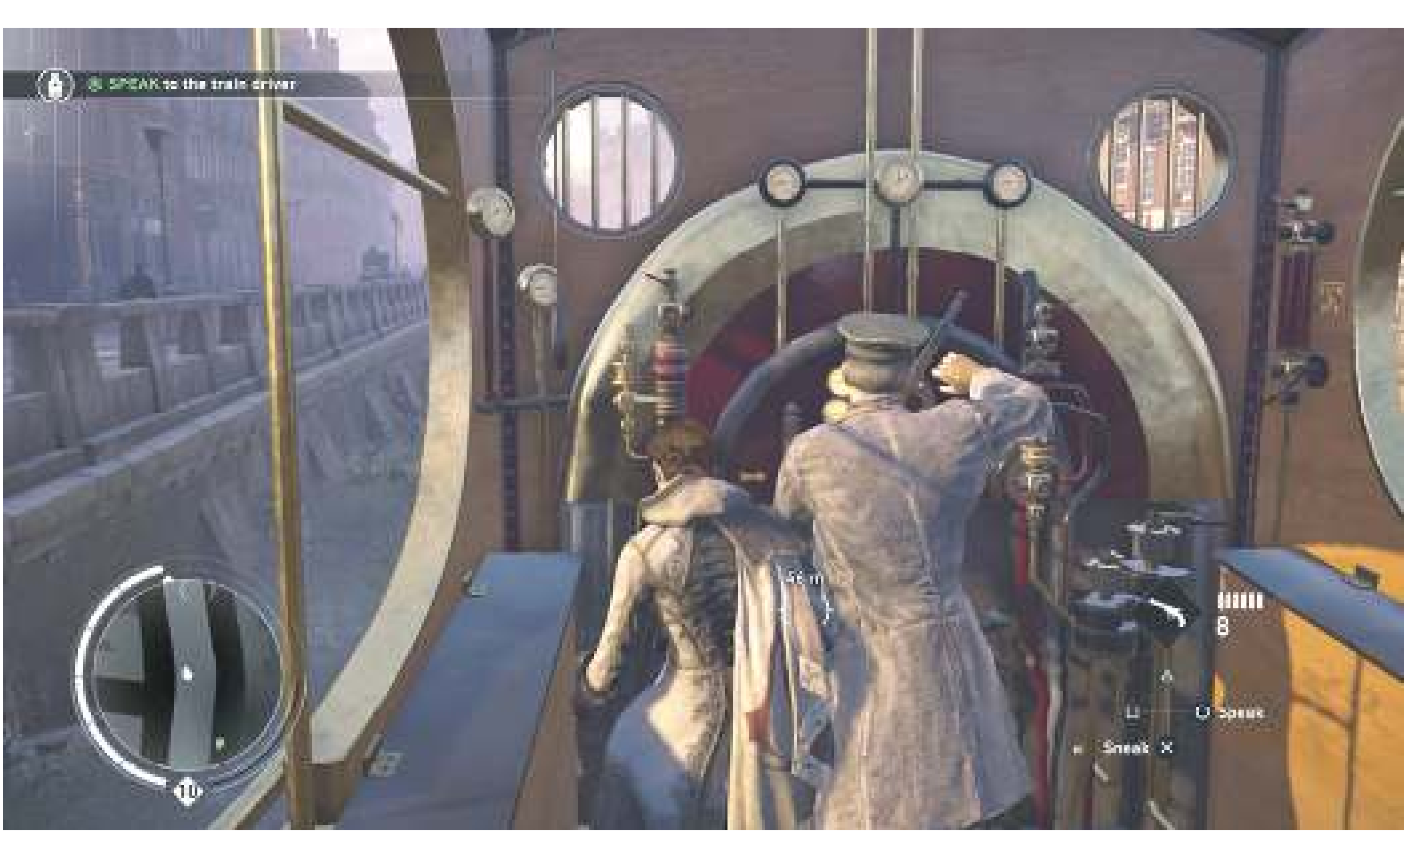






Objective: Speak to the train driver

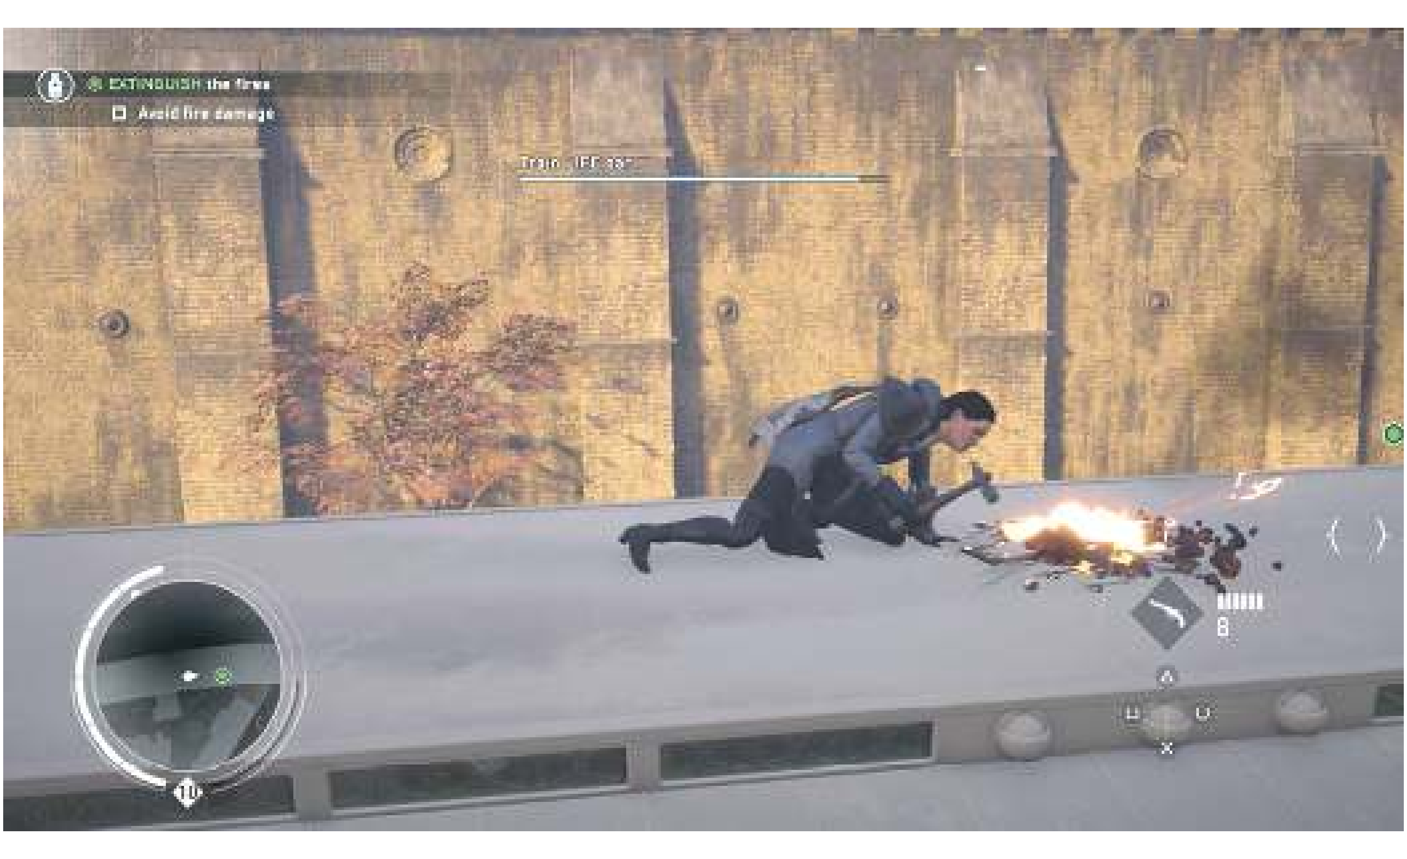
Drop down into the engine cabin and speak to the train conductor. He yells that the brakes are gone and it's bursting into flames. He asks you to put out the fires while he fixes the brakes.



Objective: Extinguish the fires

Challenge: Avoid fire damage

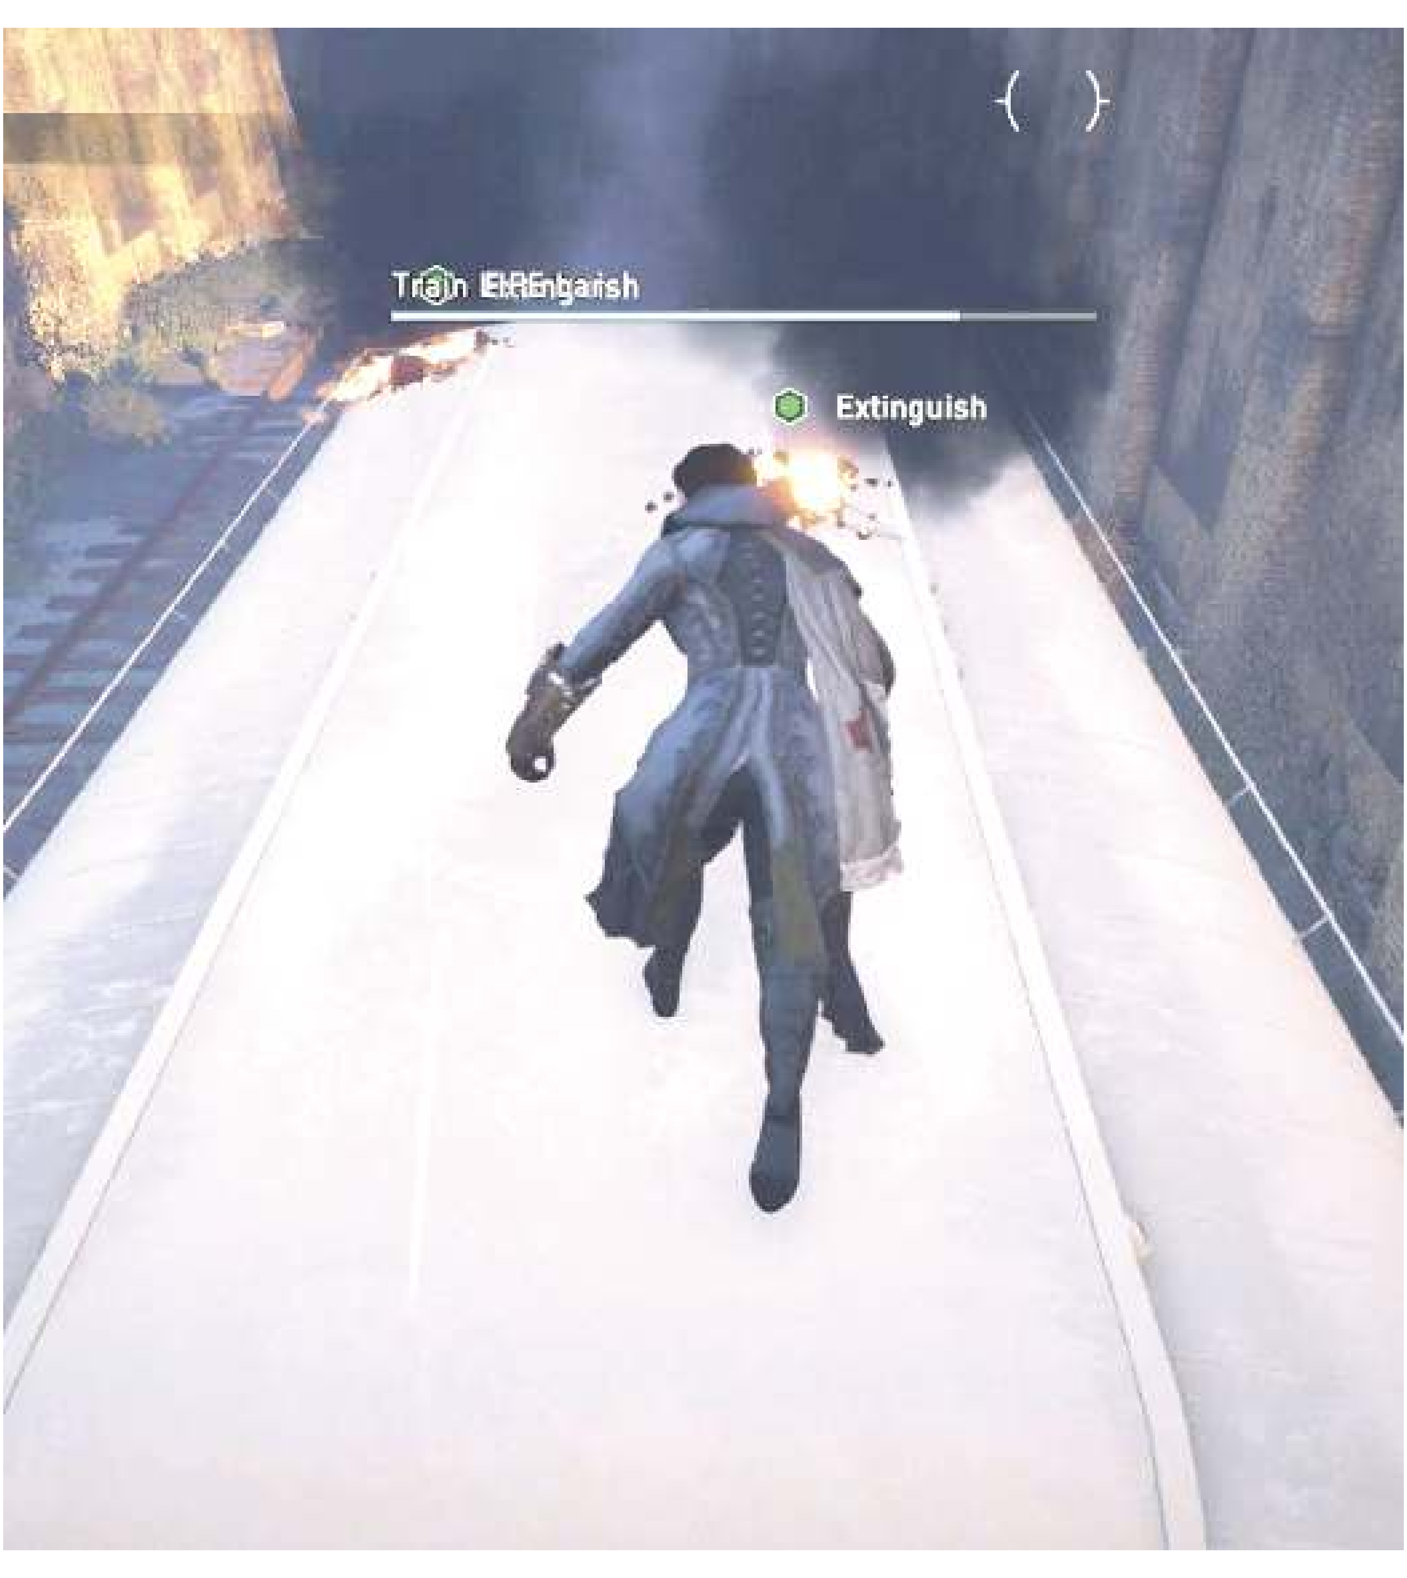
You must extinguish all fires before the train is engulfed. Do not let the Train Life bar at the top of the screen drain completely or you fail the memory.



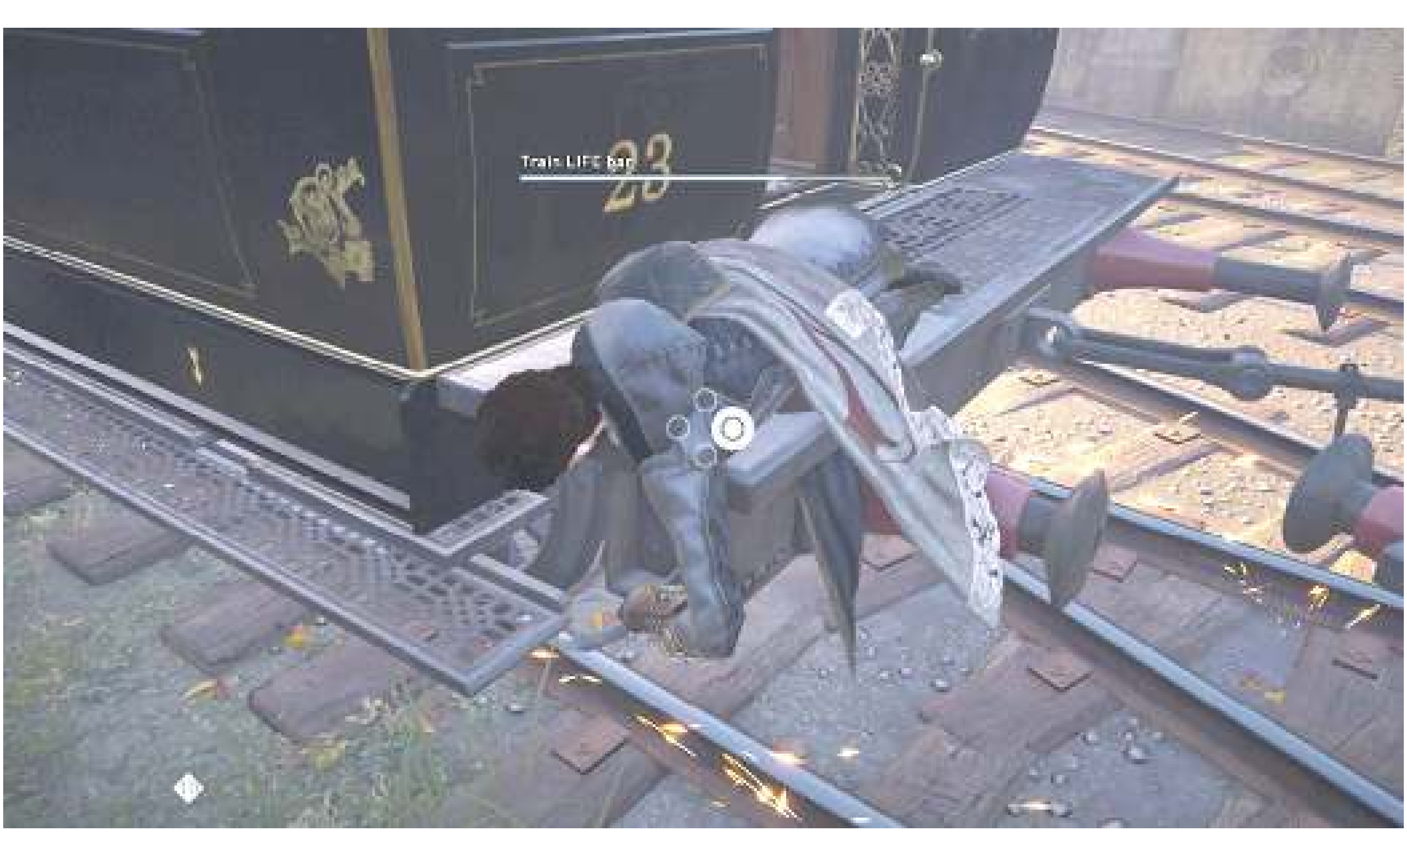
To meet the Challenge and not get burned, avoid running through the fire spots on the rooftops of the cars. Also avoid approaching or putting out fires upwind. Always face downwind so the fire is blowing away from you and not toward you. In other words, always face the back of the train when you kneel down to stamp out a fire.

To put out a fire, approach it (downwind) and complete the button press prompt that appears. Mash the buttons that appear until the fire is out. Evie pulls out a hammer and stamps out the fire. Quickly move onto the next.

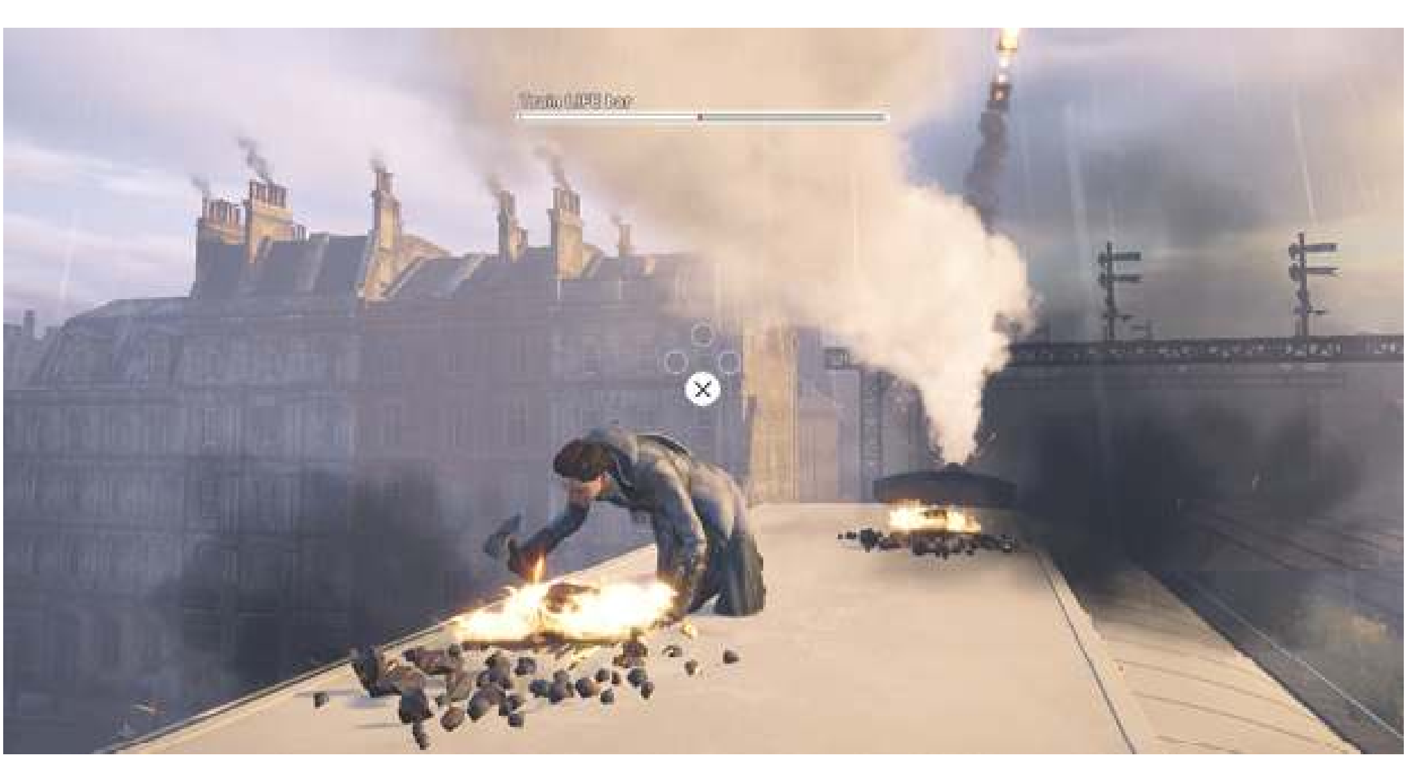
You must work swiftly and move quickly from one fire to the next. Each fire is marked with a green blip and an extinguish label.



Once you put out four fires on three train cars, turn back toward the engine and drop down between the last two cars to make a repair. Press ○ or Ⓑ to start the repair on the left side of the platform on the second car from the back. This is a brake repair so it's very low. Mash the buttons that are displayed to complete the repair.



Quickly get back to the rooftops heading for the engine and extinguish three more fires. Again, moving in front of the fire so you are stamping it out downwind.



Objective: Repair the train part

Two last fires appear on the rooftop of the second car from the back. Quickly put them out and run back for the engine. Leap over the conductor's cabin and head for the Repair blip on the second smoke stack. Follow the button prompts to repair the part.

Challenges

Reach a safe place in less than 80 sec

Rewards

£: 2000 + 350 (Full Synch Bonus)

XP: 1200 + 400 (Full Synch Bonus)

Location: Buckingham Palace, Westminster

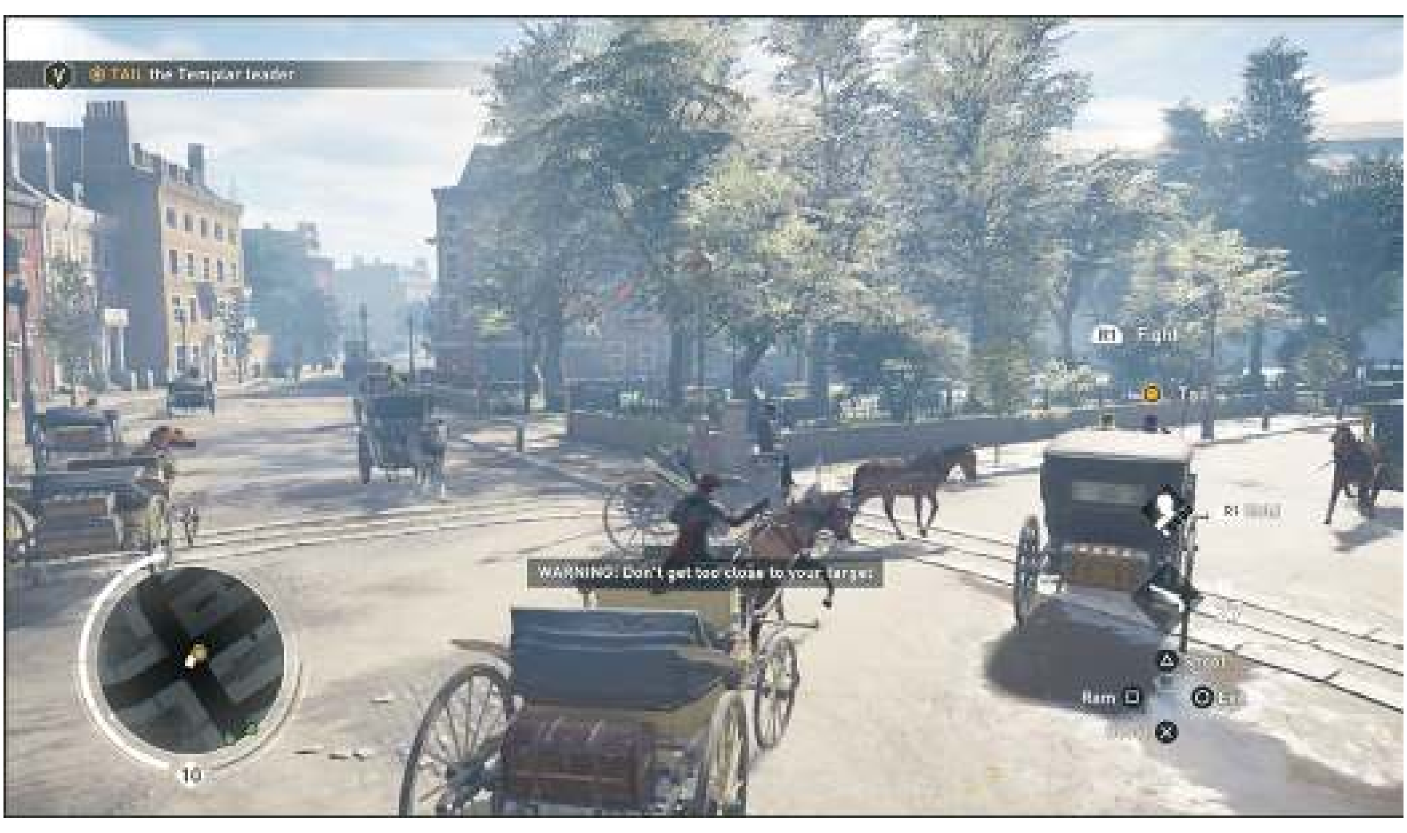
You can find Queen Victoria (1) out for a walk on the pathway behind Buckingham Palace in Westminster. She tells you that Mr. Fleming has found out from the Templar leader you captured in the last memory that an attack is imminent. He escaped custody and is thought to be hiding in Westminster.

Objective: Locate the Templar leader

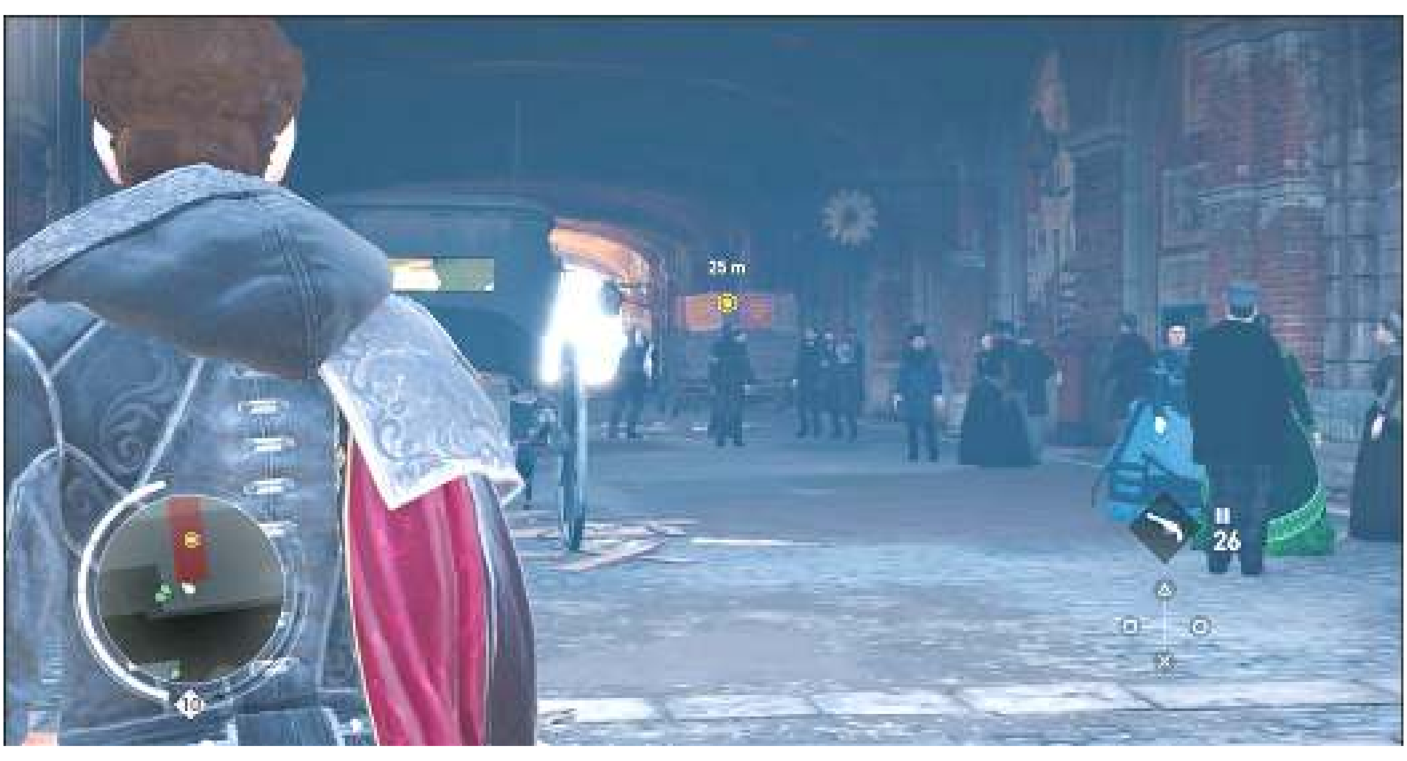
Follow the green blip two blocks to the south. When you near the corner (2) you spot a carriage with the Templar leader inside (still marked with a green blip).

Objective: Tail the Templar leader

Hijack a carriage and pursue the fleeing Templar. His route is marked on our map. If you lose sight of him a timer counts down from 15 seconds. If it reaches zero you fail the mission. If you get too close to the leader then you also fail the mission.



Follow the Templar leader to London Victoria Station. He pulls into the tunnel running through the station. Exit your carriage and watch the Templar exit his to interact with more Templars in the tunnel.



Objective: Hijack the carriage

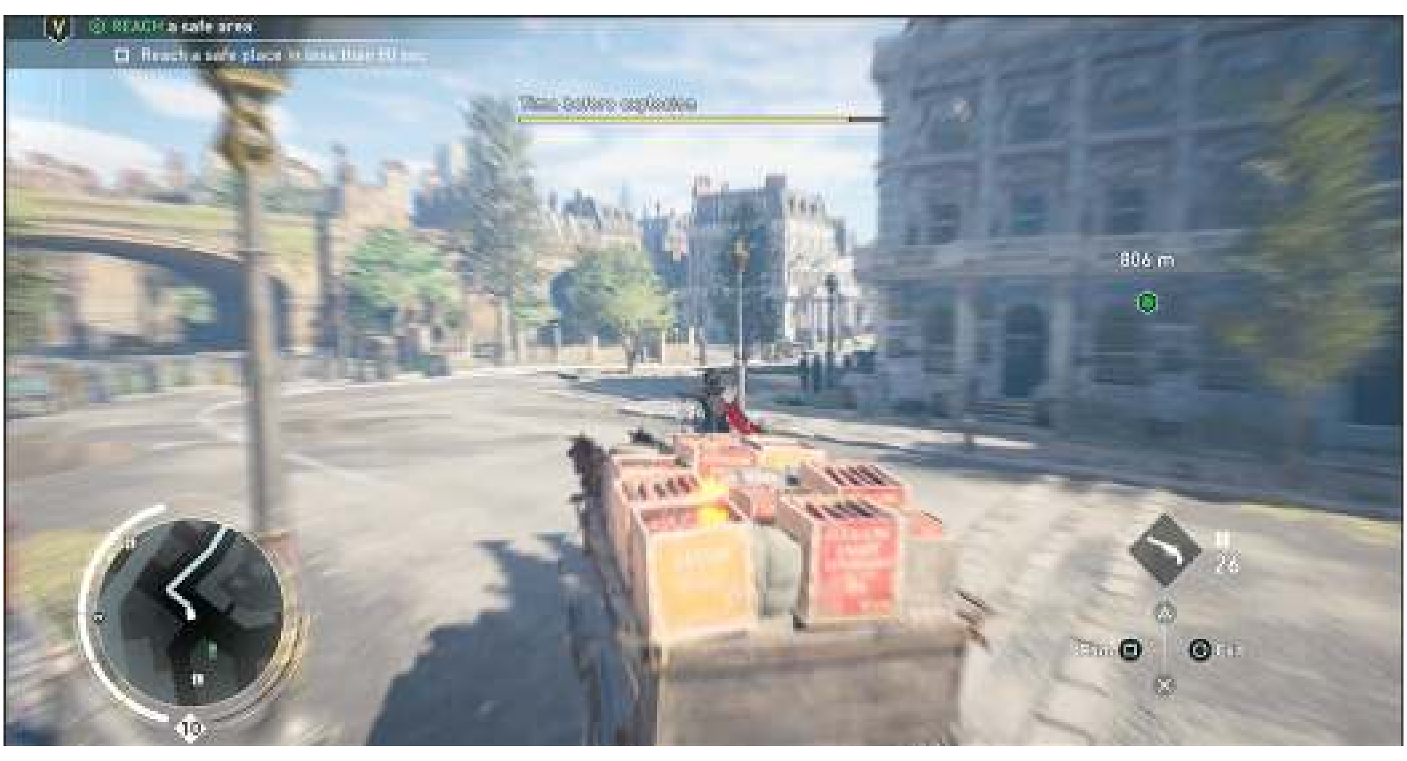
Once the Templar Leader is out of the carriage you can rush into the tunnel staying to the far left side and rush to the driver's seat of the carriage and jack it without a fight. Drive off quickly.

Objective: Reach a safe area

Challenge: Reach a safe place in less than 80 sec

Before you could leave, a Templar ignites the explosive crates in your carriage. There is a "Time before explosion" meter at the top of the screen. If this drains, you blow up and fail the memory. Running into objects takes time away from the explosion meter so drive fast, but carefully.

Speed eastward away from the train station and across the bridge following the route indicated on the street and your Mini-Map. You have to deal with an unusually high volume of traffic along the way as well as some carriage-driving Templar aggressors. Use Quickshots to fend them off while focusing on your driving. Just beyond the first right over the bridge you see the Reach marker. Quickly pull into it and get out of the carriage.



Objective: Escape the area before the carriage explodes

After parking the carriage in the reach marker you can see a little red restricted zone around the carriage on the Mini-Map. Run away from this zone to avoid the explosion and to complete the memory.

Find and Kill the Spy

Head back out the window and stay to the south side, eventually putting yourself on the lower wall to the south of the courtyard containing the assassin. There will be one guard on this wall, kill him with a throwing knife quickly so you don't draw any unwanted attention.

Use Eagle Vision to locate the spy as he runs around the courtyard. Get your Hallucinogenic dart ready! Once the spy is in range, your crosshair turns red. Hit him with a dart

He pauses for a moment before running directly into the combat with the nearest set of guards. The spy is no match for the guards. As soon as they kill him, head south over the wall you are standing on, then out the front gate of the area to finish the mission.

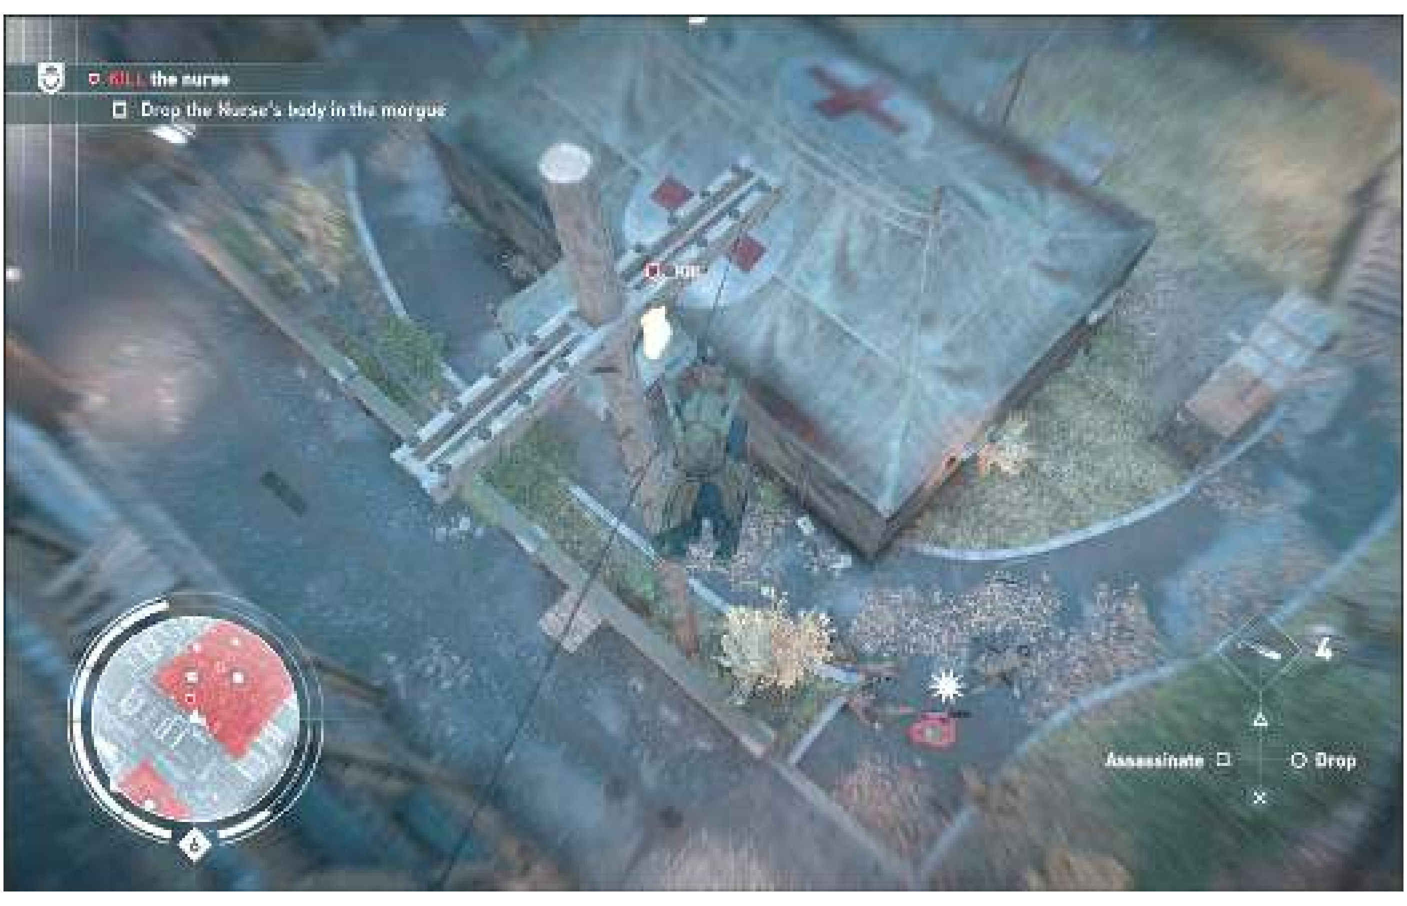
Locate the Associate and Nurse



Climb to the top of the roof to the northwest corner of this medical camp. The Associate is walking with three guards around the courtyard.

Wait for him to get close enough to be hit by a hallucinogenic dart, then hit him with it. The Associate is strong enough to kill all three guards before dying from the effect of the dart.

Move to the power pole within jumping distance of the roof. The nurse comes outside of the north tent and directly into range of an Air Assassination.

Jump down and kill her, pick up her body, and run it through the center of the courtyard. Go past the guard at the door of the south tent, and quickly toss the body of the nurse onto the marker.

The enemies know of your presence now, but with both the Nurse and Associate dead, all you have to do is escape. Continue out the south door of the tent, then grapple up the building immediately in front of you. Jump down the other side of the building and run as far as you need to become unnoticed and complete the mission.

Clarence Stock House

Memory Type: Spy Hideout

Suggested Level: 6

Challenge: Destroy the spies' military equipment (3)

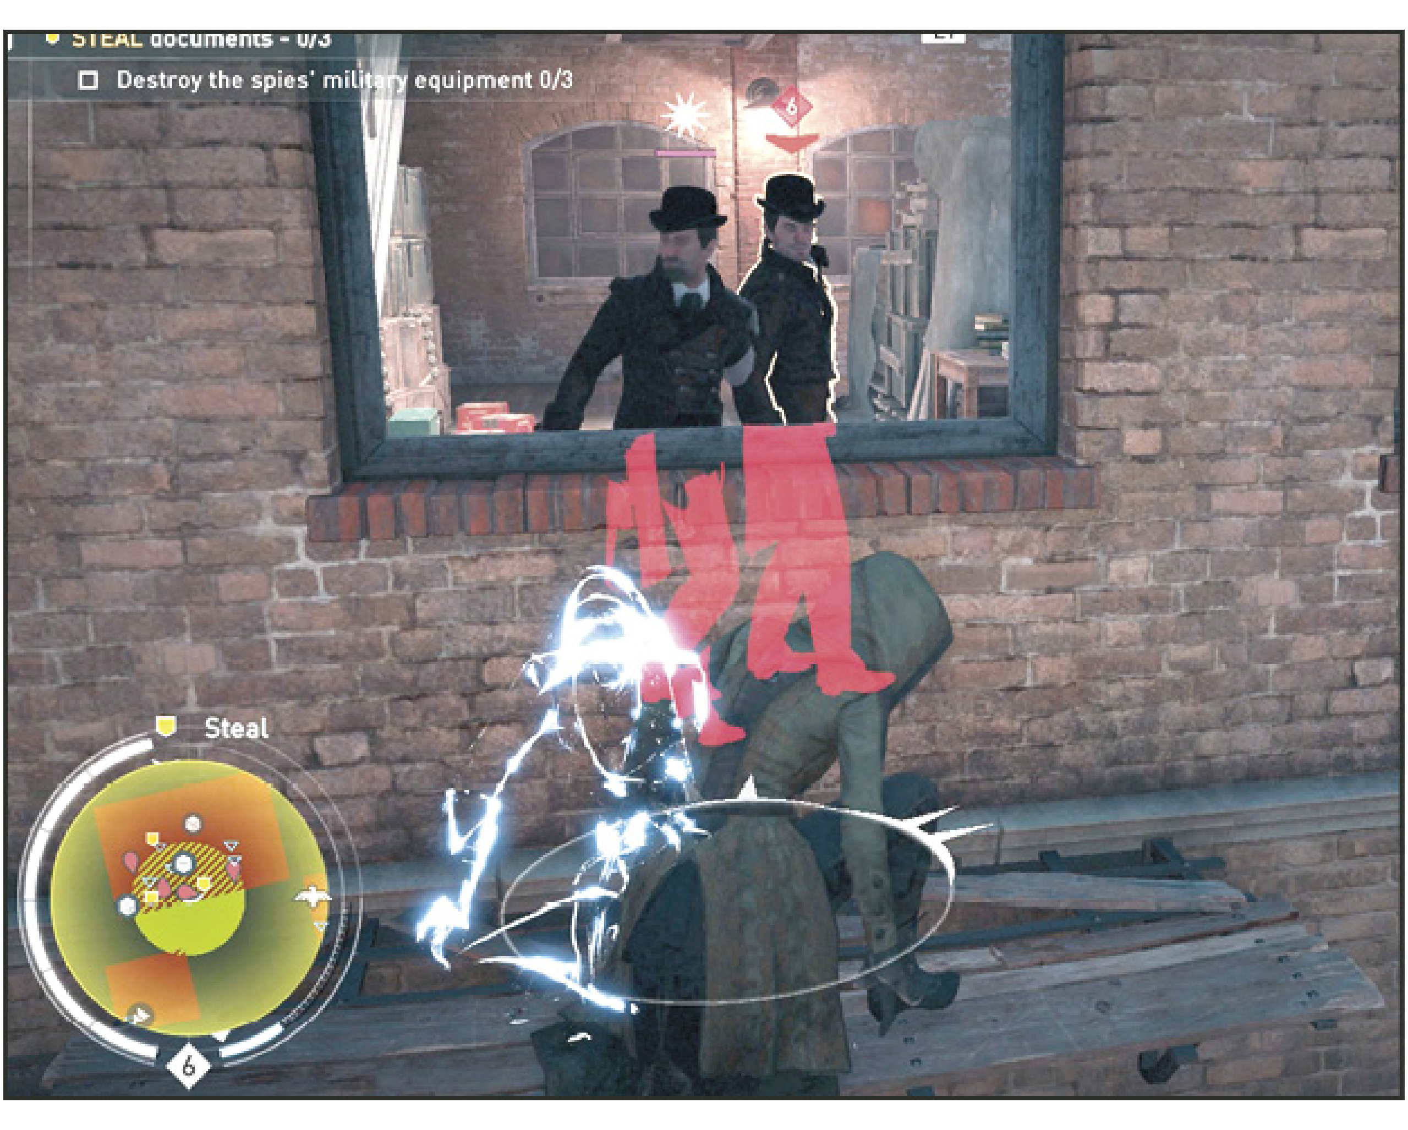
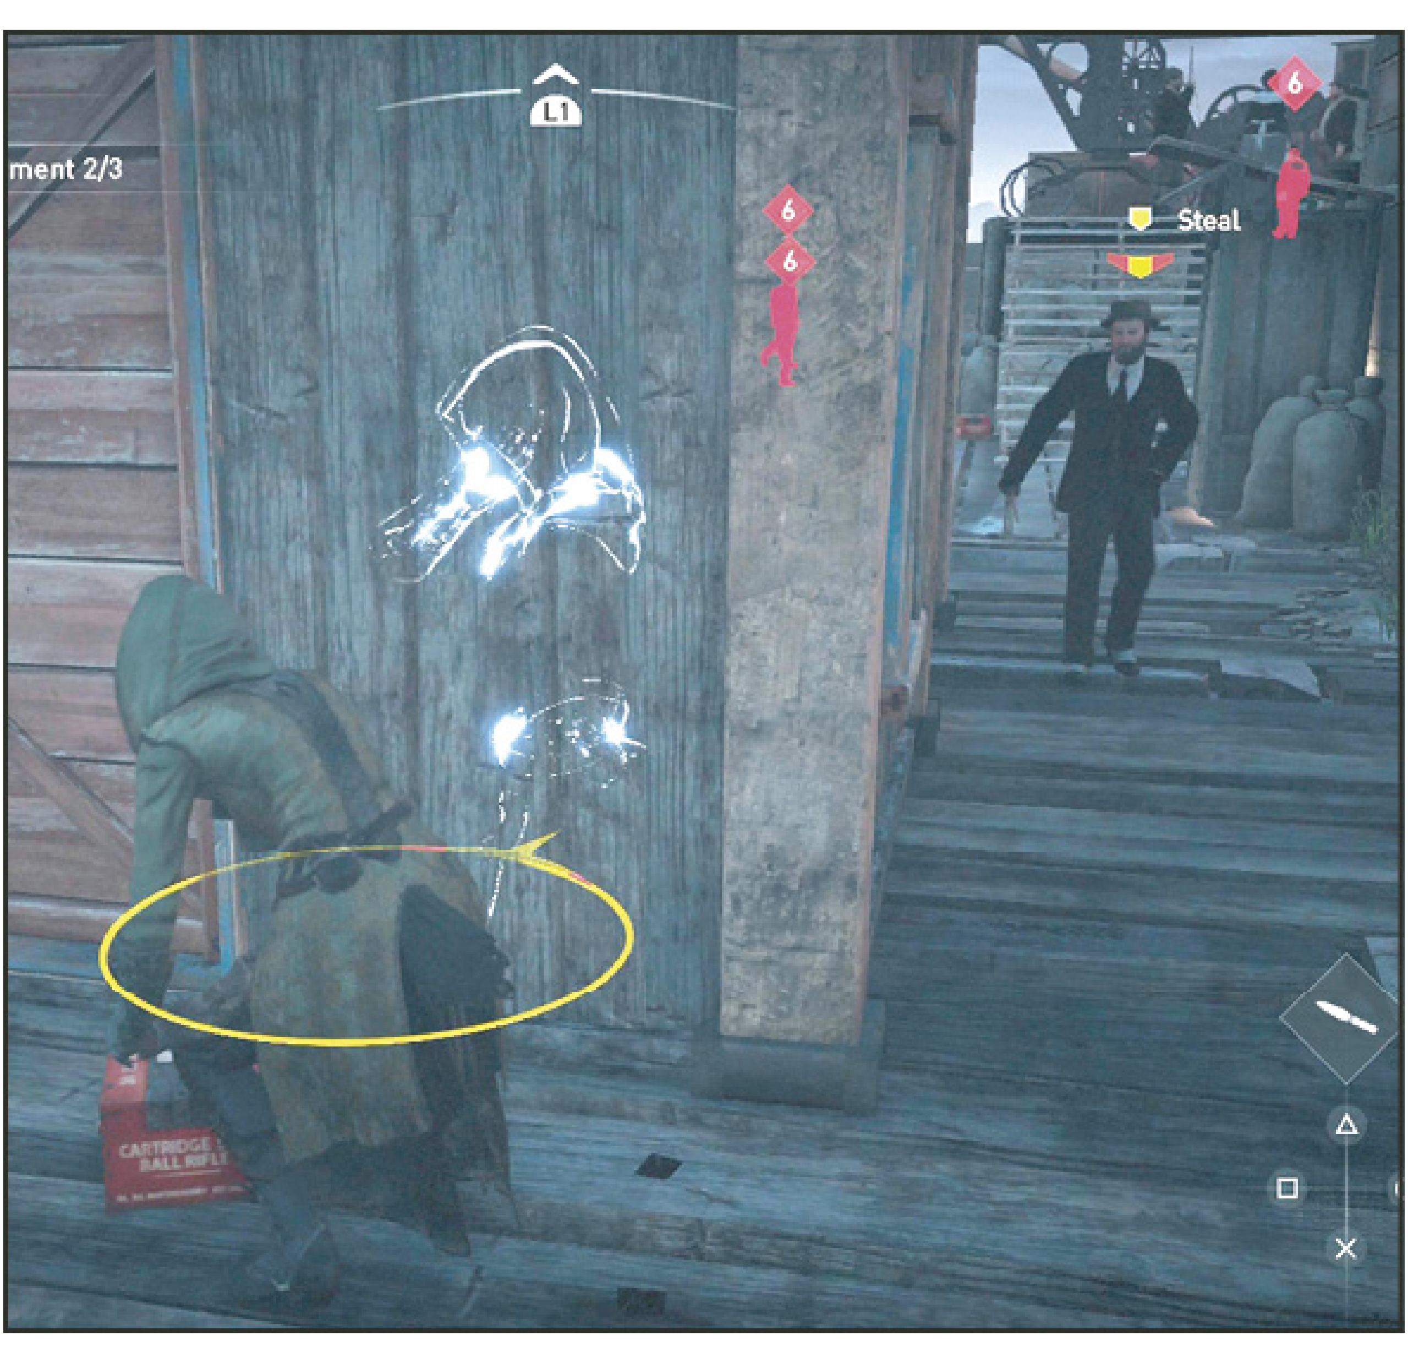
Steal Documents (3)



Enter from the window facing the street to the north of the stock house. Wait on the small ledge until the Spy is close, then use a hallucinogenic dart to force a fight among the enemies inside. This fight should kill all of the enemies on the top level making it easy for you to loot the body of the first spy.

Stay on the top floor and head east across a small bridge that connects the two buildings in the complex. In the room across the bridge, there is one spy and one other enemy. Throw a smoke bomb and run in to kill them quickly, loot the body of the spy, then head back to the bridge.

Jump down from the bridge and work your way to the east side of the dock. This can be done without alerting an enemy. Use throwing knives to clear a path if you don't want to take a full stealth approach.



Once you're on the docks, get behind the small building on the east side, then whistle to grab the attention of the last spy. If he is out of whistle range, stand out in the open to grab his attention. Move back into cover and assassinate him as he comes around the corner.

Destroy the spies' military equipment (3)

In the first warehouse (the west building) that you entered, there are two pieces of military equipment, an emplaced gun and an armored car. On the top floor of this building there are plenty of ammo boxes that you can use to destroy the equipment. Ammo boxes function exactly like TNT boxes. They must be ignited to explode.

There are two enemies in the bottom floor of this building. Take them out before attempting to move ammo boxes as you cannot attack them while holding a box.

Move the boxes near each item, the gun in the northwest corner of the room, and the armored car parked in the center facing towards the open garage door.

Challenge: Plant false information (1)

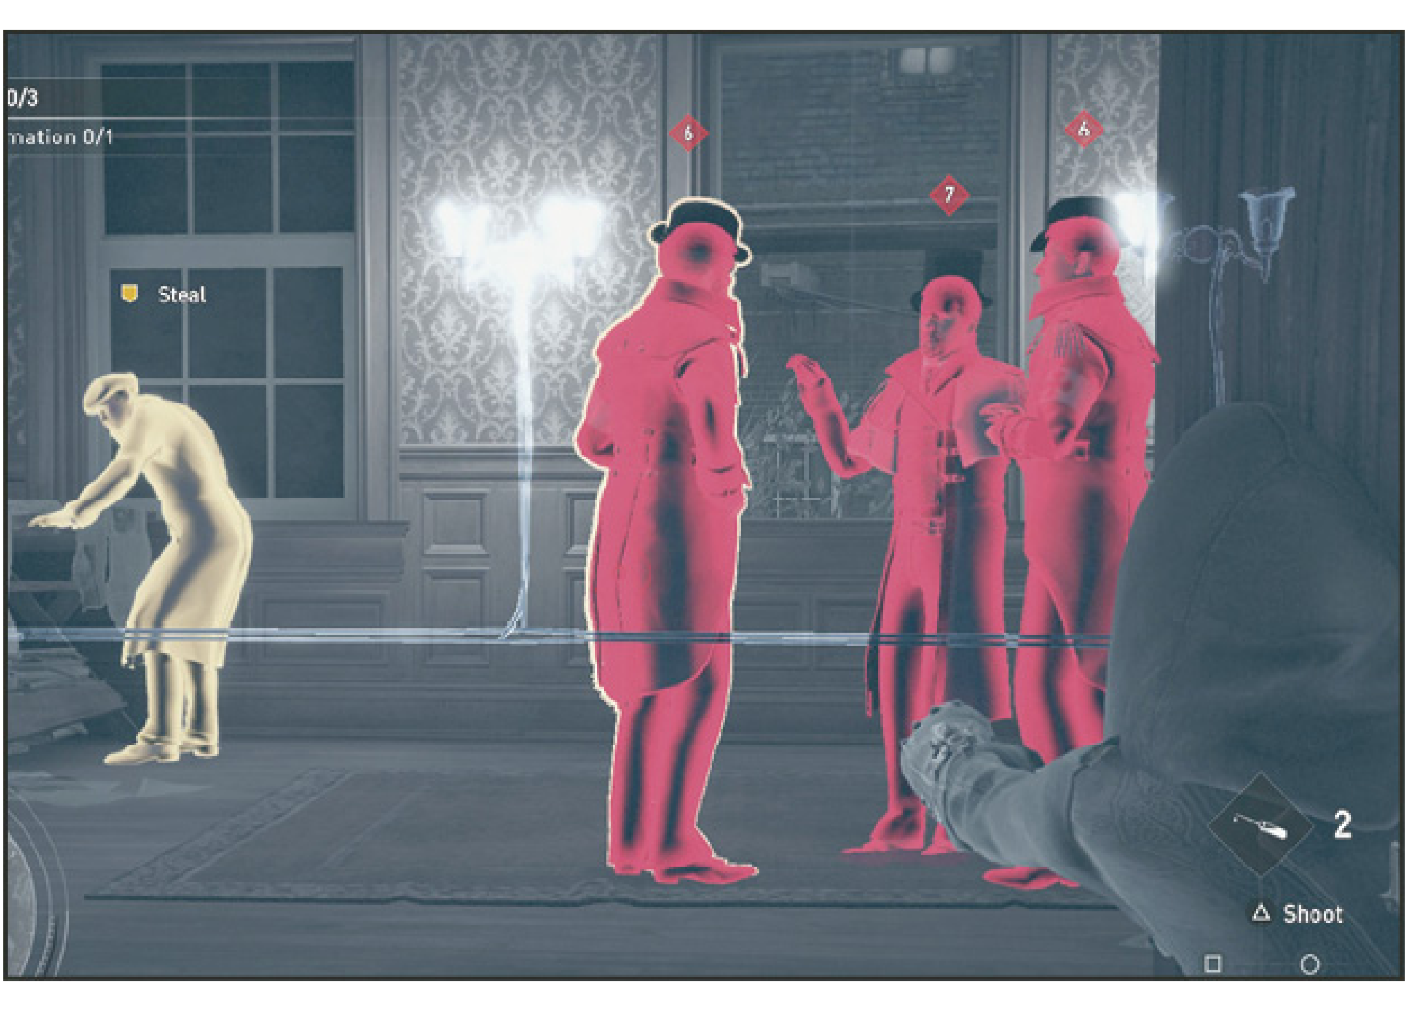
Steal Documents (3)

There is only one scout on all of the roofs in the area. Zipline to the roof with the scout and kill him. Continue to the west of the roof to the small room containing one enemy and the first spy. Do not ledge assassinate this spy as his body falls into the road below, putting the police on alert.

Use a hallucinogenic dart on the spy. Doing this causes him to kill the other enemy and then eventually drop dead from its effects. Loot the documents, then focus on the spy in the top floor of the center building.

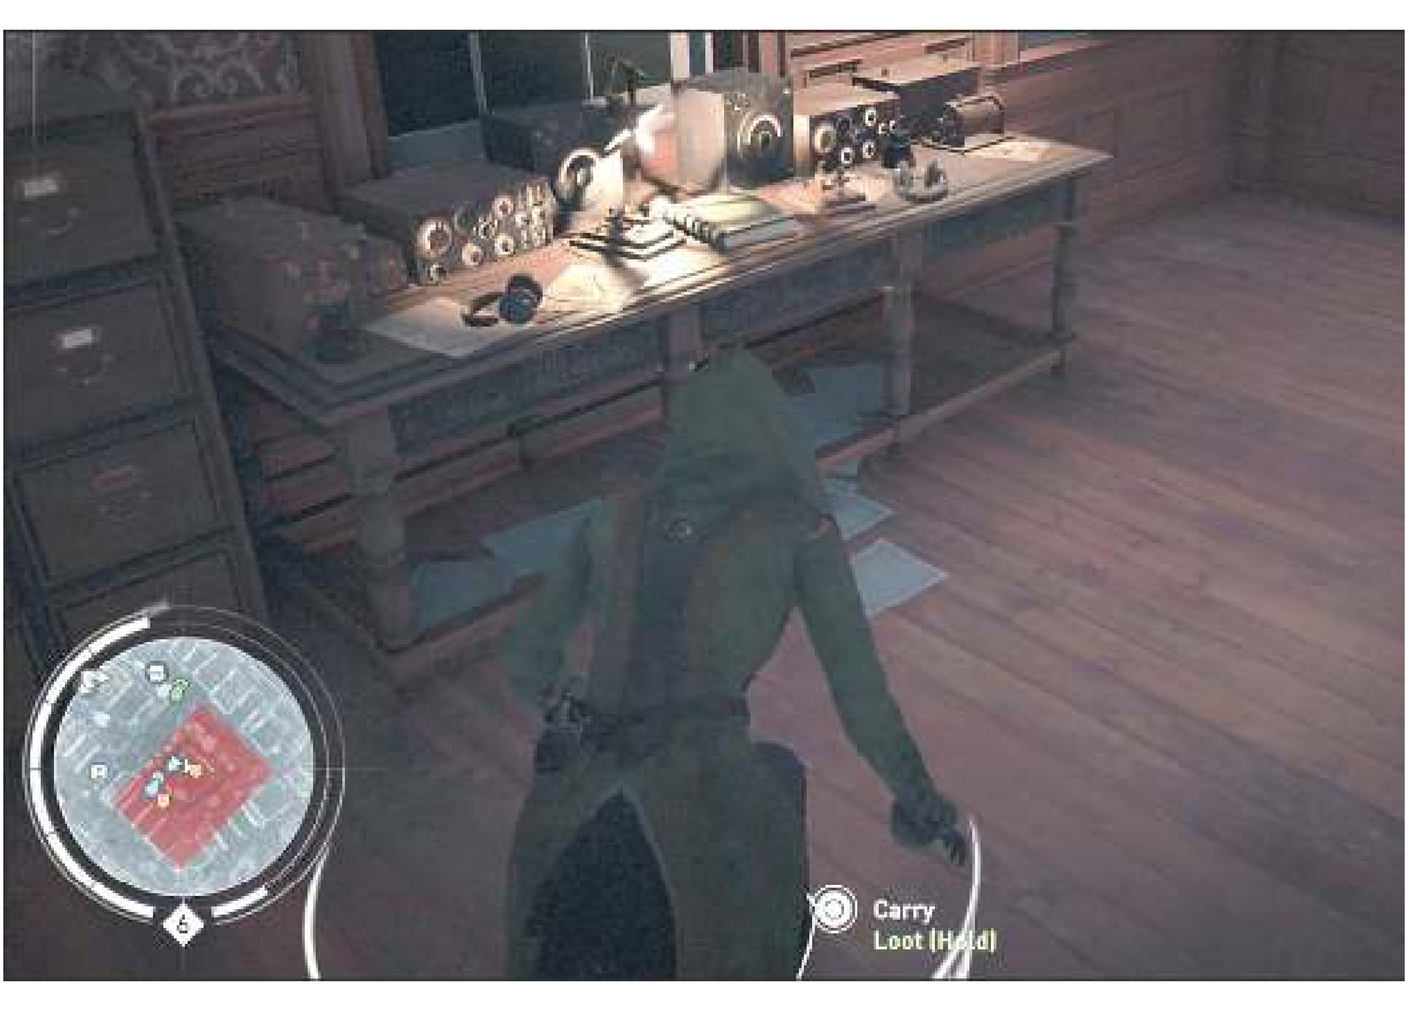


Your target is in a room with three other enemies. Throw a smoke bomb in the room when they are all grouped up. Under the cover of smoke, run in and quickly kill all of the enemies.

The third spy is on the bottom floor of the building. Continue down the stairs, then use a throwing knife to quickly kill the spy and any other enemies that may notice you when you go to loot the body.

Planting False Information (1)

As you are working your way down from the top level of the house, stop off at the second level. In a room behind a door, one enemy guards a book on a desk. Open the door, kill the guard, and plant the information in the book. Eagle Vision shows the book as a white square on the table. This helps you locate the correct area as you descend towards the bottom floor of the house.



17 Walpole Lane

Memory Type: Spy Hideout

Suggested Level: 6

Challenge: Free allies (2)

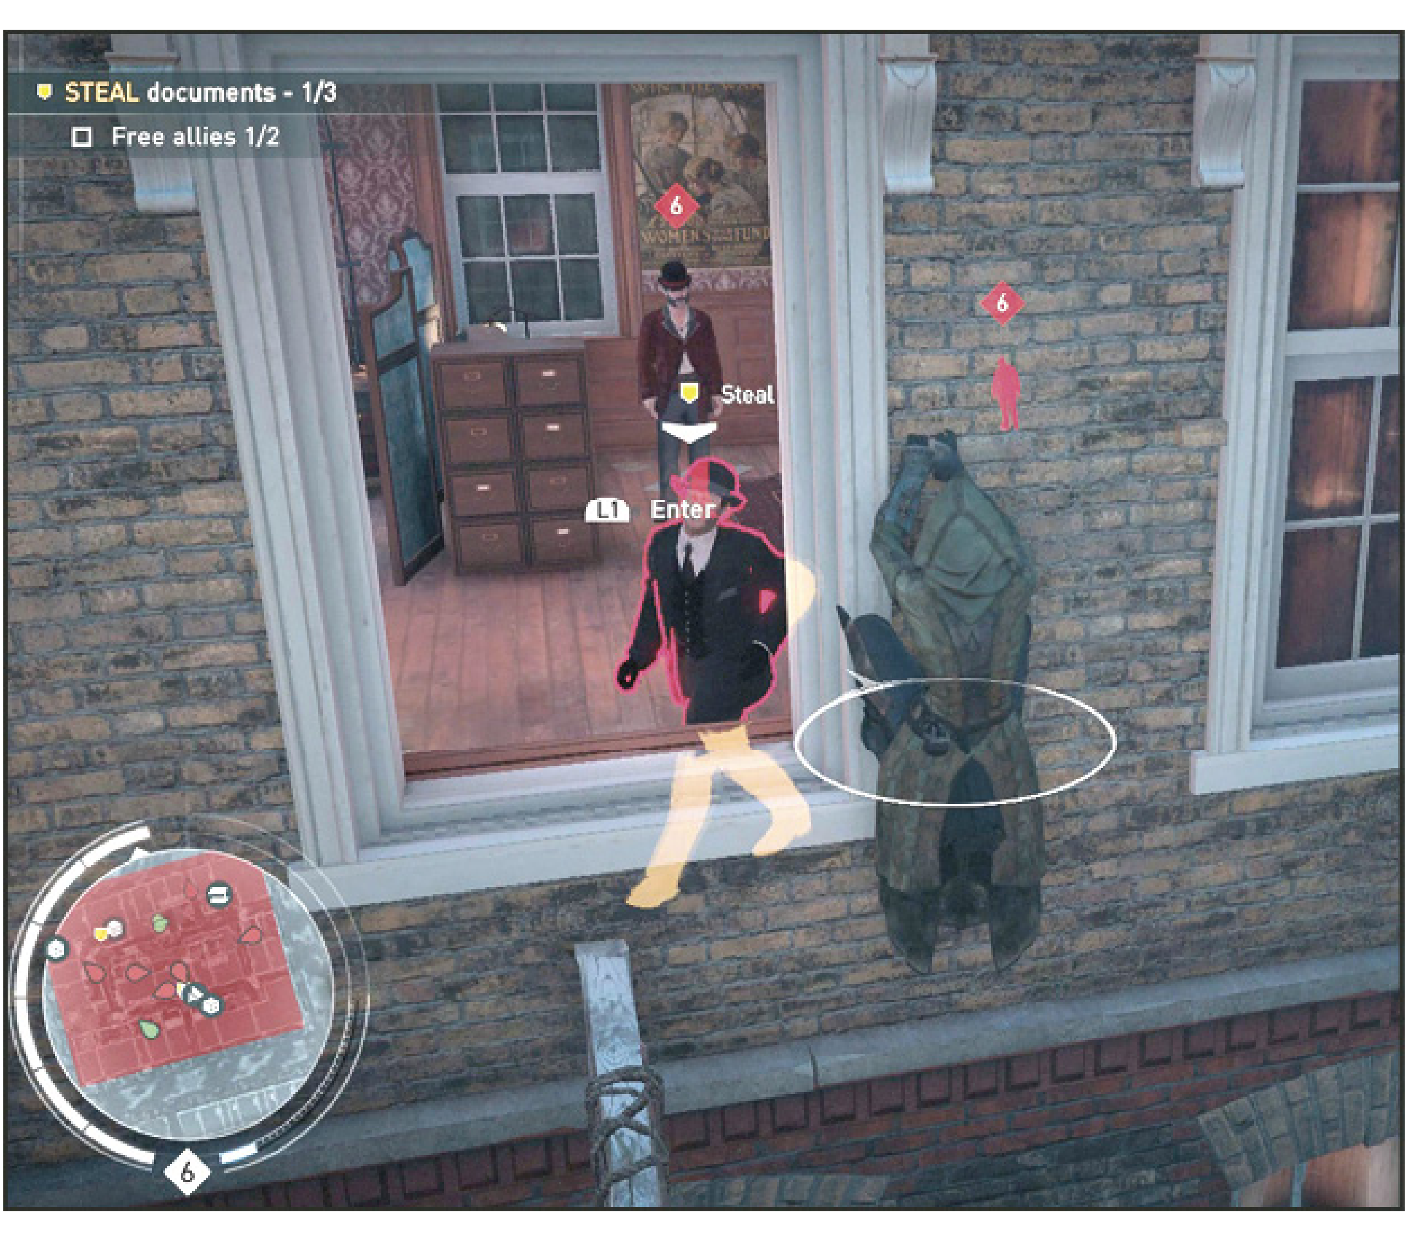
£: 400+150 (Full Synch Bonus)

Steal Documents (3)

Enter the area from the north, killing the one scout that inhabits the roof. Work your way around the roof towards the east, following it as it curves to the south. Once you are lined up with the roof of the center building, zipline across. Two scouts are on the roof: one on the north side, one on the south. Kill the scouts before locating the spies.

Two spies roam the courtyard while the third is inside the center building. Police also walk the courtyard. Use your hallucinogenic darts on fuel sources to quickly turn some enemies against each other on the south side of the center building.

This pulls other nearby enemies, and at least one spy back behind the building. Once you see a spy come around, hit him with a dart, or go for a headshot with a throwing knife. The spies do not need to be alive for you to obtain the documents.

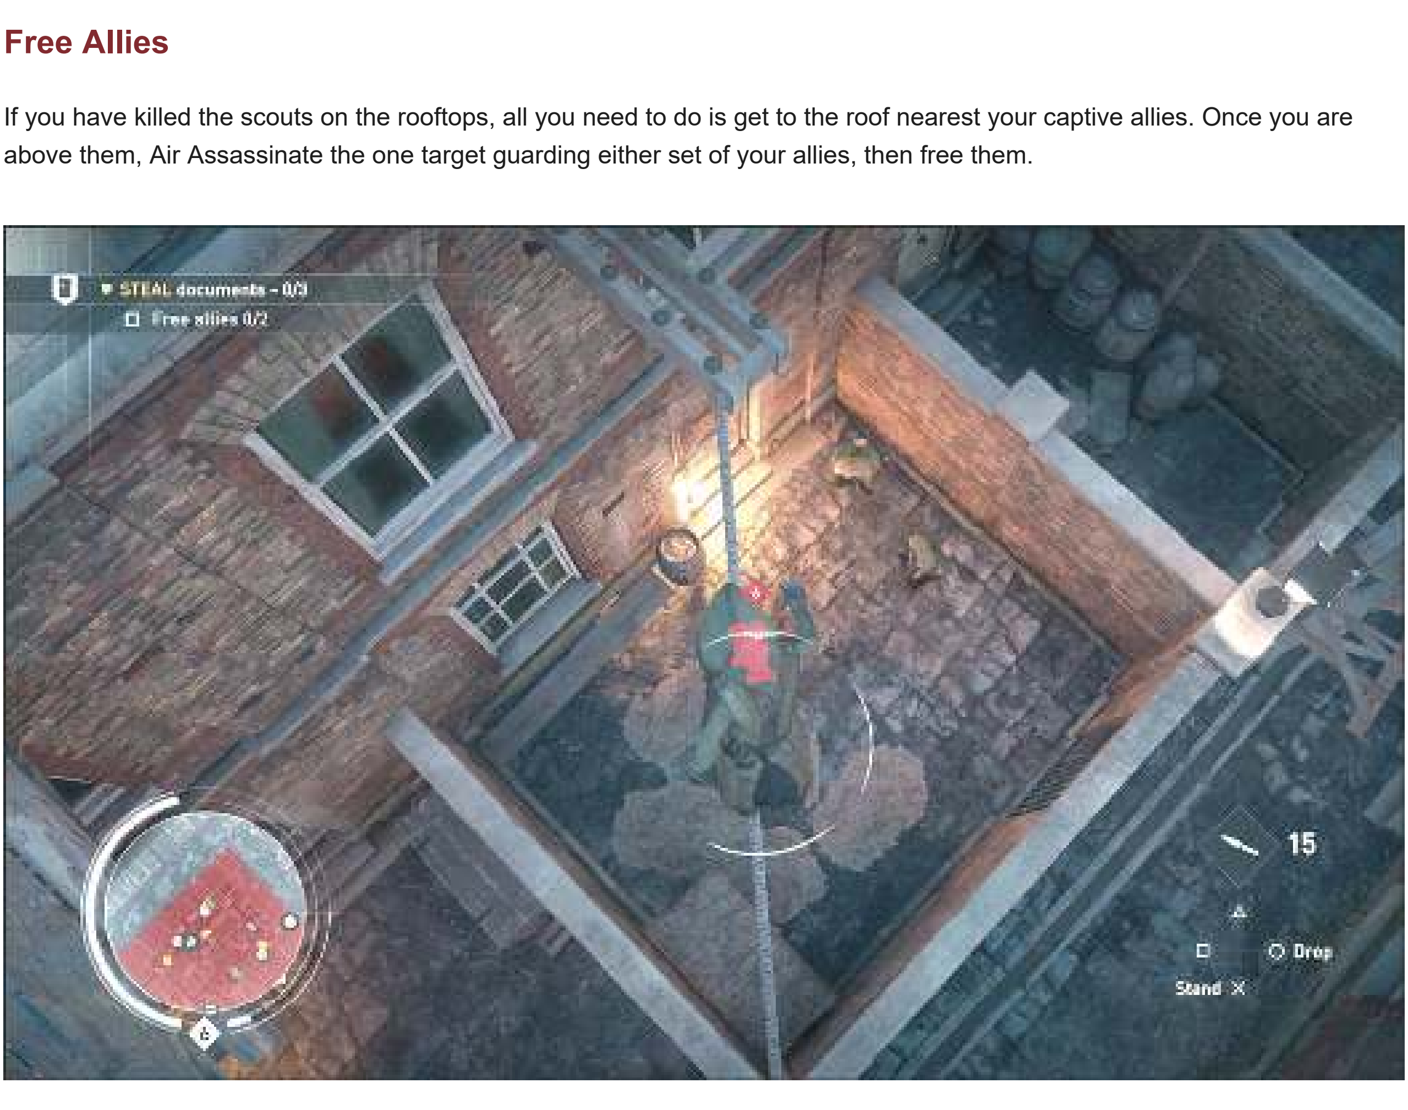


Keeping the fight behind the building lessens the chances of the enemies on the north side being alerted, making the fight much easier. Once you've grabbed the first file, hunt down the second spy that is in the courtyard if they haven't already been pulled back behind the building by the fight. Use a throwing knife or dart to take them down then grab the documents from their corpse.

There is a small window with a post just below it on the south side of the center building that is home to the third spy. Simply climb to one of the sides of the window and whistle when the spy is closest to the window. Use a cover assassination to pull him out of the window, then loot the documents from the corpse below.

Free Allies

If you have killed the scouts on the rooftops, all you need to do is get to the roof nearest your captive allies. Once you are above them, Air Assassinate the one target guarding either set of your allies, then free them.



Open the door for them before heading out of their small enclosure. If there are any enemies in the area, they begin to fight. Your allies do not need to stay alive after you have freed them, so don't worry about protecting them.

Once inside, head upstairs and pick the lock of the door to the right. Using your Eagle Vision, follow the footsteps toward a suspicious bookcase. Examine the bookcase to reveal the entrance to the secret spy HQ.

Kill the Spies

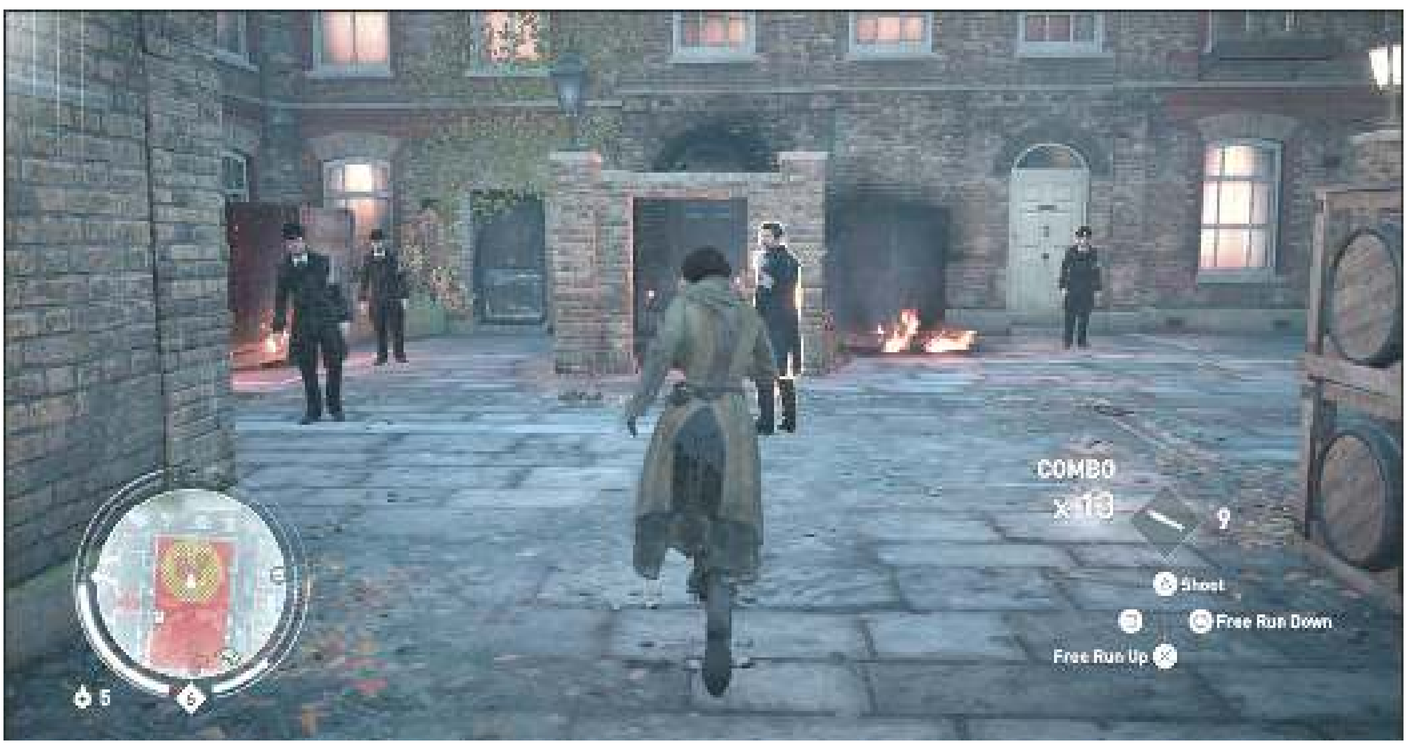
After gaining entry, you need to kill four spies. Shoot one with a hallucinogenic dart, then pick off the rest with throwing knives while they attempt to fight the hallucinating spy.

Kill the Master Spy

With four spies dead, your focus shifts to the Master Spy. You have a short fight with him in the room, however he uses a device to stun you and then escapes out the window.

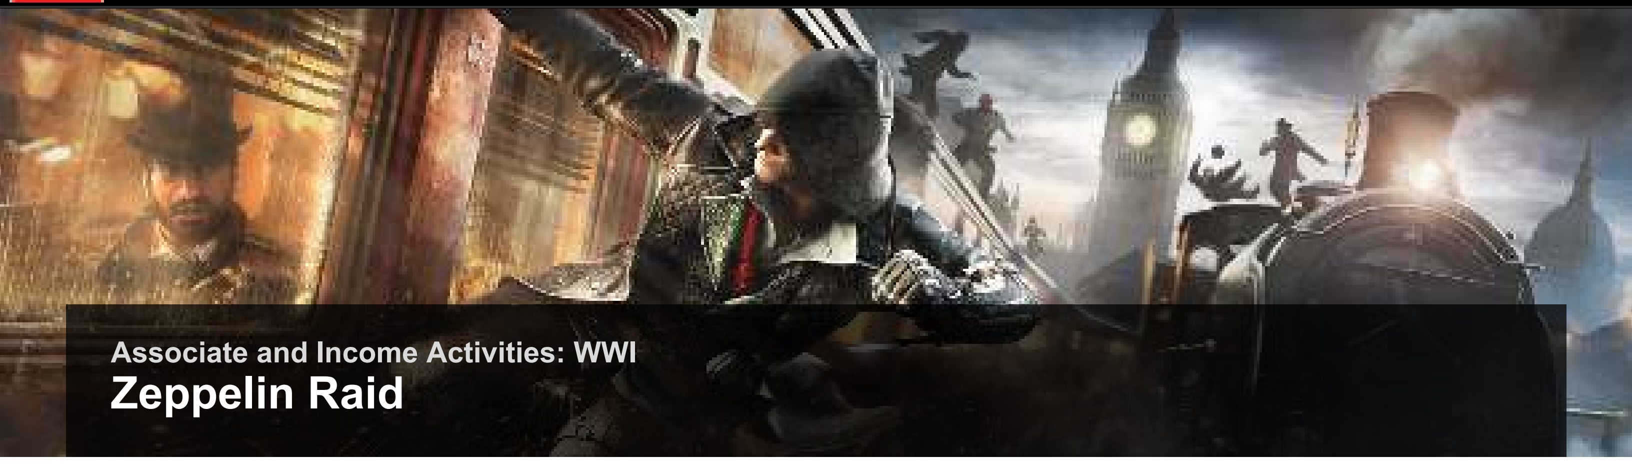
Locate the Master Spy

Chase the Master Spy through the streets. There is no need to stop and fight the enemies that you encounter along the way, just be ready to press △ / Y to counter their ranged attacks as you run. Keep your smoke bombs equipped to quickly get through the enemies that try to slow your chase on the target before eventually cornering him in a courtyard.



There are a large amount of enemies nearby. However, most of them will be fighting Rooks so they do not pose much of a threat. Focus your attacks on the Master Spy. Throw a smoke bomb down on the ground before attacking to disorient any enemies around you.

Once the Master Spy is dead, flee the area. You do not need to kill the remaining enemies for completion. If you flee to the north, you can climb up and over the building before jumping in the water and swimming to safety.



Zeppelin Raid

Zeppelin Raid

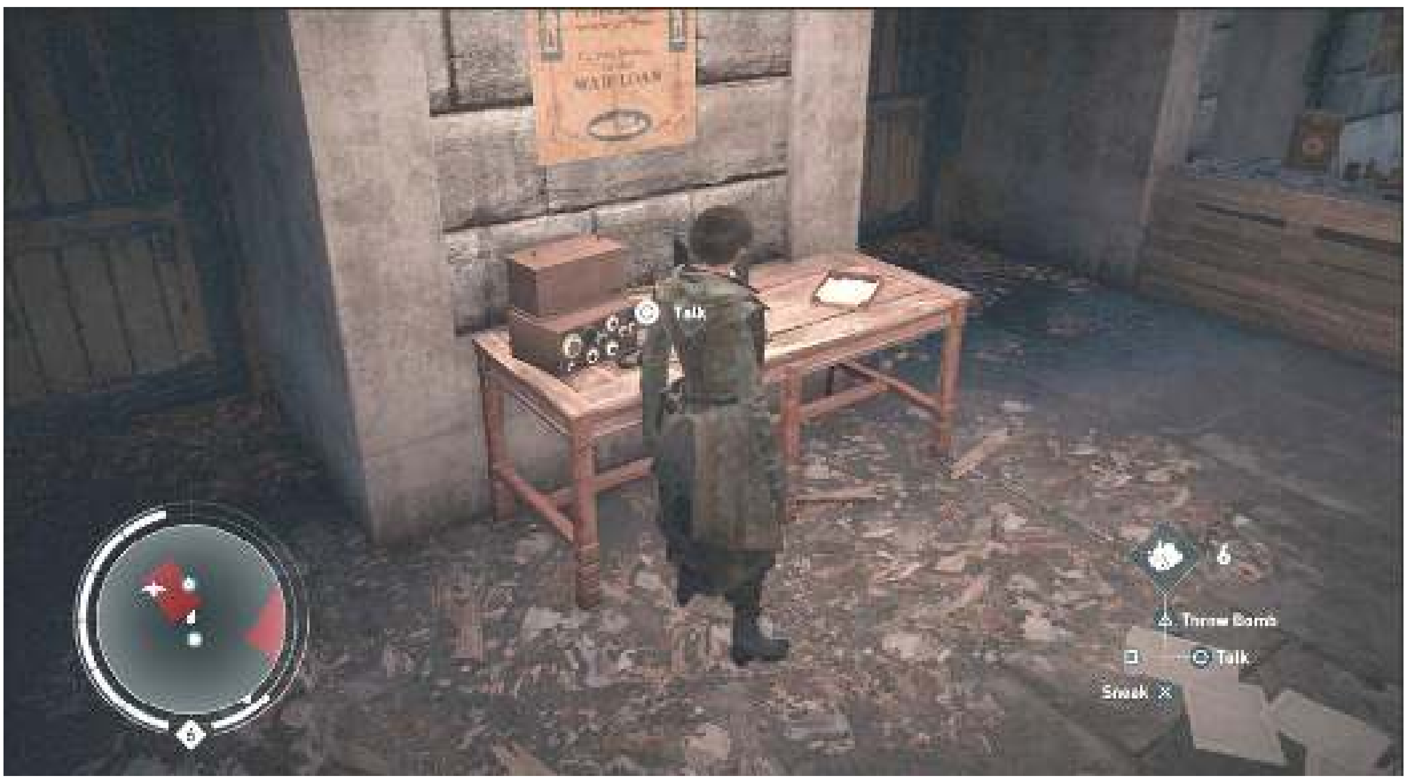
Memory Type: Zeppelin Raid / Income Activity

£: 500

Shifting Location

The Zeppelin Raid shifts between locations 1 and 2 on the map. It is never in both at the same time.

Begin a Zeppelin Raid by using the Radio located underneath the bridge. Once you've used the radio, you need to head straight for the water, looking for the boat that has the Anti-Aircraft gun mounted on the front.



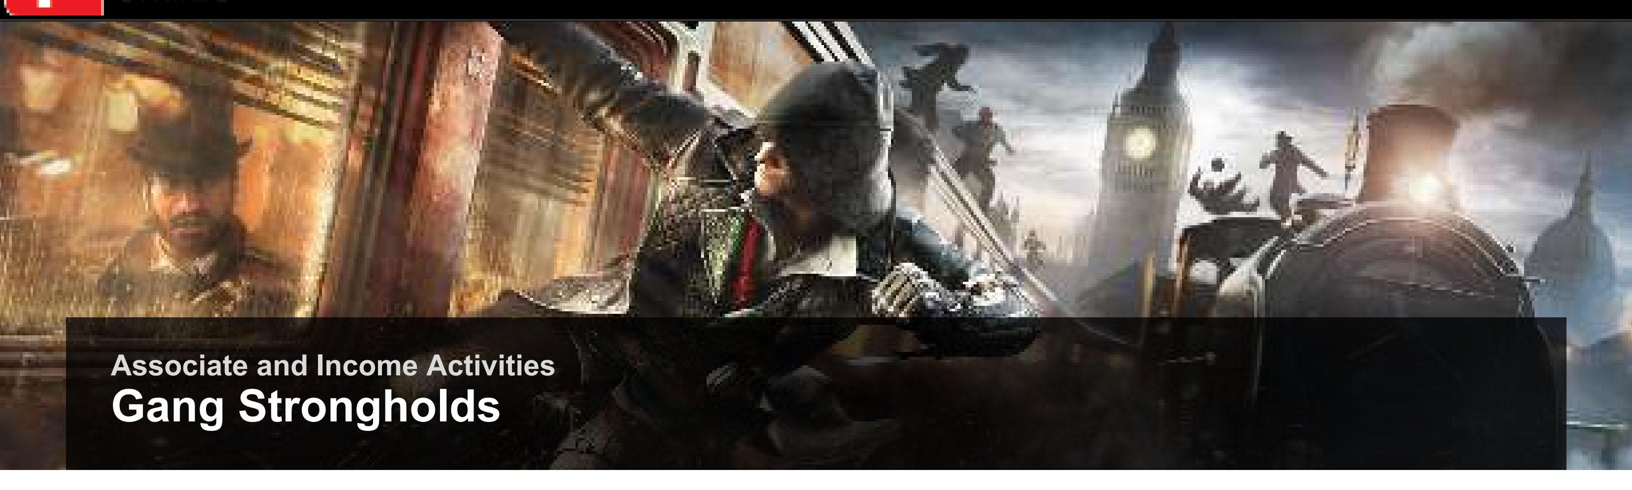
This plays out the same as the introductory mission to this chapter so it should be fairly easy to accomplish

Smoke Them Out

Before hopping into the gunner seat, have your smoke grenades equipped. This makes the fight against the enemies who board your ship much easier.

Use the Anti-Aircraft gun to take out the first two planes using R2 / RT to fire the gun and X / A to take cover when the planes dive-bomb you. After destroying the two planes, the ship begins to relocate and a wave of enemies hops aboard.

If you have your smoke bomb equipped quickly throw one down. This stuns the enemies, making them easy targets to be quickly killed. One more wave of two planes awaits. Upon destroying them, the activity ends.



Gang Strongholds

While the main objective of every stronghold is to clear out the Blighter presence, 100% completion of the memory requires you to complete a few Challenges that differ between each stronghold. For a general completion, stealth is not necessary, but it is recommended to always enter from the top of the buildings surrounding the strongholds. If you are looking to get 100% synchronization on each of these activities, use the tips below to complete the required Challenges. Each Challenge can be completed separately so if you are having trouble completing two Challenges at once, try to complete one, then complete the memory, and then play it again to complete the other Challenge. While completing each Challenge separately rewards 100% synchronization for the memory, you do not get the 100% completion bonus.

Burn Blighter Heist Plans

Blighter Heist plans can be located with Eagle Vision. This usually requires searching the open floors of different buildings in the stronghold. There are often guards in the same room as the plans. Make sure to eliminate any enemies before destroying the plans as the action performs a small cut scene, making you extremely vulnerable.

You can locate and burn the plans at any time, but it is much easier to just kill all but one enemy and then search for them, allowing you to get around without much effort.

4	8	The Strand	St. Giles Rookery	Free and protect captured Rooks.	£: 532 + 1330 XP: 360 + 600

Do not let the Lookouts call reinforcements

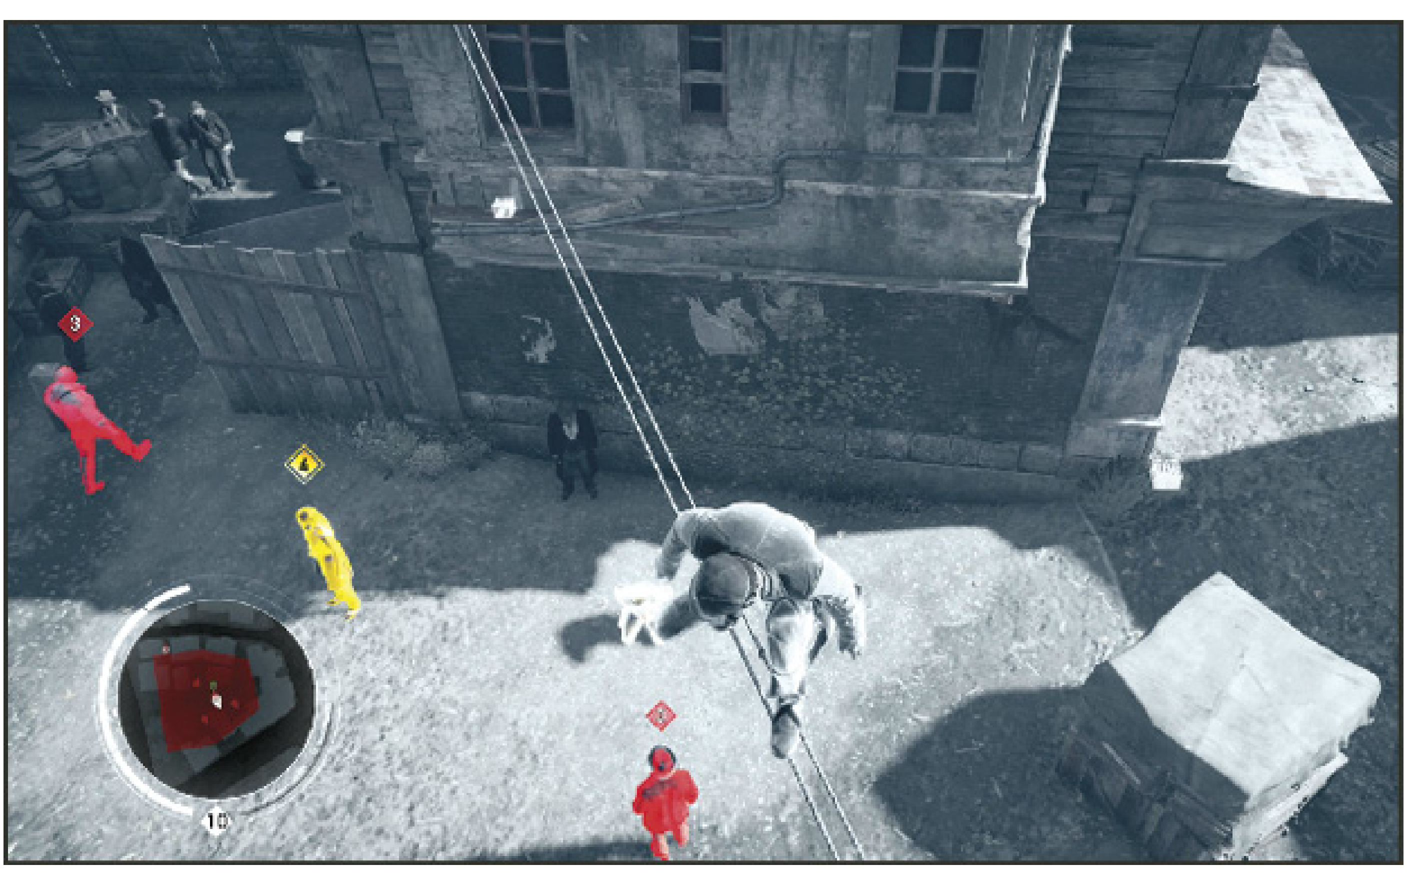
The easiest way to prevent lookouts from calling reinforcements is by killing them before they catch wind of your actions in the stronghold. When using Eagle Vision you will notice that Lookouts have a different Icon above their heads which lets you single them out of the crowd quickly. If you are spotted by a lookout the icon above their head changes colors; quickly kill them before they can get to a door to summon more enemies.

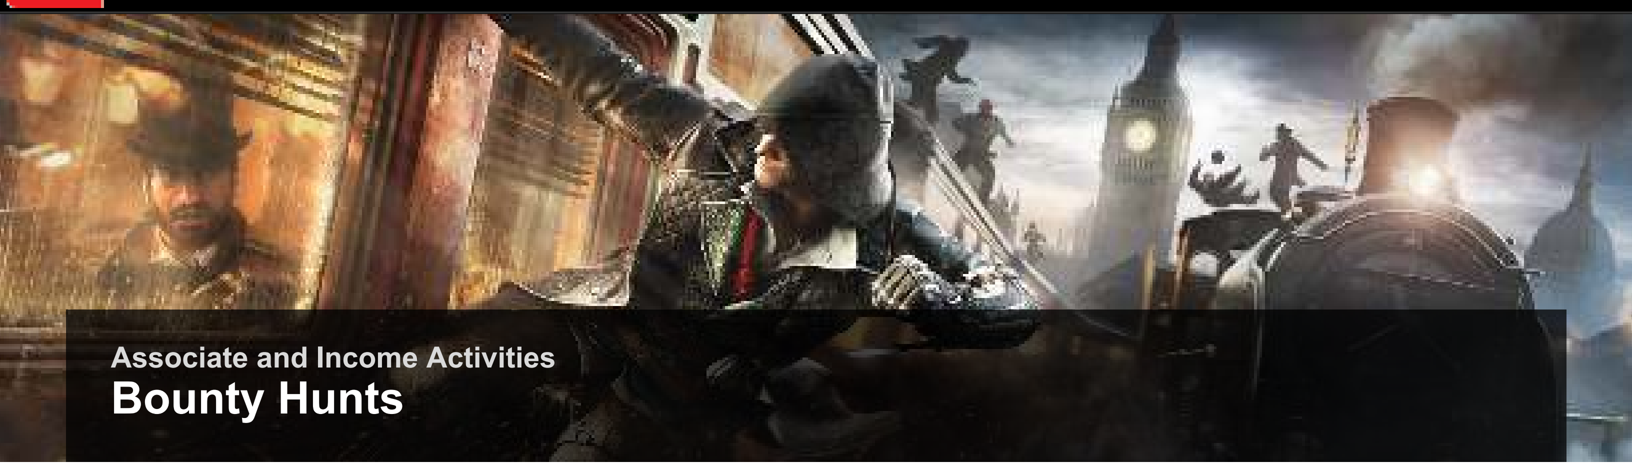
Free and Protect Captured Rooks/Clinkers

There are groups of Rooks being held hostage in the stronghold. Stealthily kill the enemies guarding them and they join your cause, immediately fighting any enemies in the nearby areas. Make sure to kill off any rooftop enemies before dropping down into the areas with the Rooks, as Scouts can easily pick off the Rooks (and you) with their heavy ranged attacks. If any Rooks die, this bonus objective fails, so be sure to stay near them after freeing them.

Kill the Leader Undetected

Locate the Leader with Eagle Vision. They are outlined in yellow while the rest of the enemies are the standard red color. The easiest way to accomplish this early in the game is to stick to the rooftops, eliminating any enemies that inhabit the area. Then either use your Throwing Knives or a quick Air Assassination to kill the Leader. Once you've eliminated the Leader, you no longer have to worry about the Challenge as it is already complete. This may be the easiest Challenge to accomplish once you unlock hallucinogenic darts after Sequence 4. Hallucinogenic darts allow you to effectively "recruit" any enemy in the stronghold, so aim for the ones closest to the Leader. Once affected by the dart, they break into a blind violent rage, and begin to attack the enemies next to them. Use this to your advantage by targeting a Brute as they have high enough health to easily outlast the Leader. It's also important to note that killing the Leaders in a stealthy way causes any witnesses to flee.





Bounty Hunts

Bounty Hunting requires you to bring the target back to a secure location dead or alive. The target is surrounded by his allies and attempts to run if you are detected.

Locating the Target

Use Eagle Vision to locate your target. Enemies appear as red, while your target appears as yellow. Ziplining from roof to roof over the Bounty Hunt area helps you quickly locate the target. Locating the target before making your approach is crucial as this helps you plan the escape and prevents you from killing them accidentally.

Choosing your approach

Murderers get a bad reputation in prison, Mister Backus. You stole a couple diamonds. You'll make out all right.

For 100% completion you must bring the target back alive. This leaves you with two general ways of going about securing the target and then extracting them to the specified location. Killing the target only grants you 90% completion.

Grabbing the Target

When deciding to grab the target you have three options.

- Killing the target and moving their dead body into the carriage is easy, but you do not get the 100% synchronization bonus, so avoid this if at all possible.
- Knocking the target out is the easiest way to move them. This allows you to engage in combat with any enemies that may be in between you and your way out. This also leaves your target incapacitated so you don't have to worry about them running away during any accidental combat.
- The last option is kidnapping the target. While this may help you navigate through the maze of enemies, it can get complicated when exiting one of the small alleys on the way to the carriage.

The Loud Way

Going in "Loud" favors the gameplay of Jacob as you are going to be inviting all of the enemies in the area to fight you. Once the target learns of your presence they begin to flee the area. Quickly run and tackle them, being careful not to assassinate them. To kidnap or knock out the target you must not be in combat mode, which makes this method a little bit complicated. Wandering too far from the target during the fight may let the target begin to run away again so try your hardest to stay near the target. Knock out the target quickly before the main fight begins by utilizing hiding spots and high ground to get in close.

Keeping it Quiet

Evie is the best option for this approach, as her skills are more stealth oriented. Use high ground and throwing knives to pick off lone enemies, making an effort to clear your way to the target. Once you have a path to the target set, plot your exit before making contact. Make sure no enemies are between you and your way out as they are likely to spot you with the target. If you've eliminated a good amount of enemies, kidnapping the target makes it easy to work past the remaining enemies.

The Getaway

Once the target is either kidnapped and walking with you, or you have their body slung over your shoulder, you need to head for the nearest carriage. Luckily for you, the Rooks always have one parked nearby. Locate the cart by finding the small green icon on your map. If you are confronted you need to kill off any enemies in the area before you can put the target in the cart. Once the target is in the carriage, follow the GPS to the drop off point. Make sure to either wreck or lose any of the enemies chasing you as you need to be out of combat to complete the memory.

If you have enemies closing in on you, drop a smoke bomb while sitting in the cart at the drop off. If enemies followed you all the way to the drop off, get out and kill any who dared to follow you all the way. Once they are dead the memory completes.

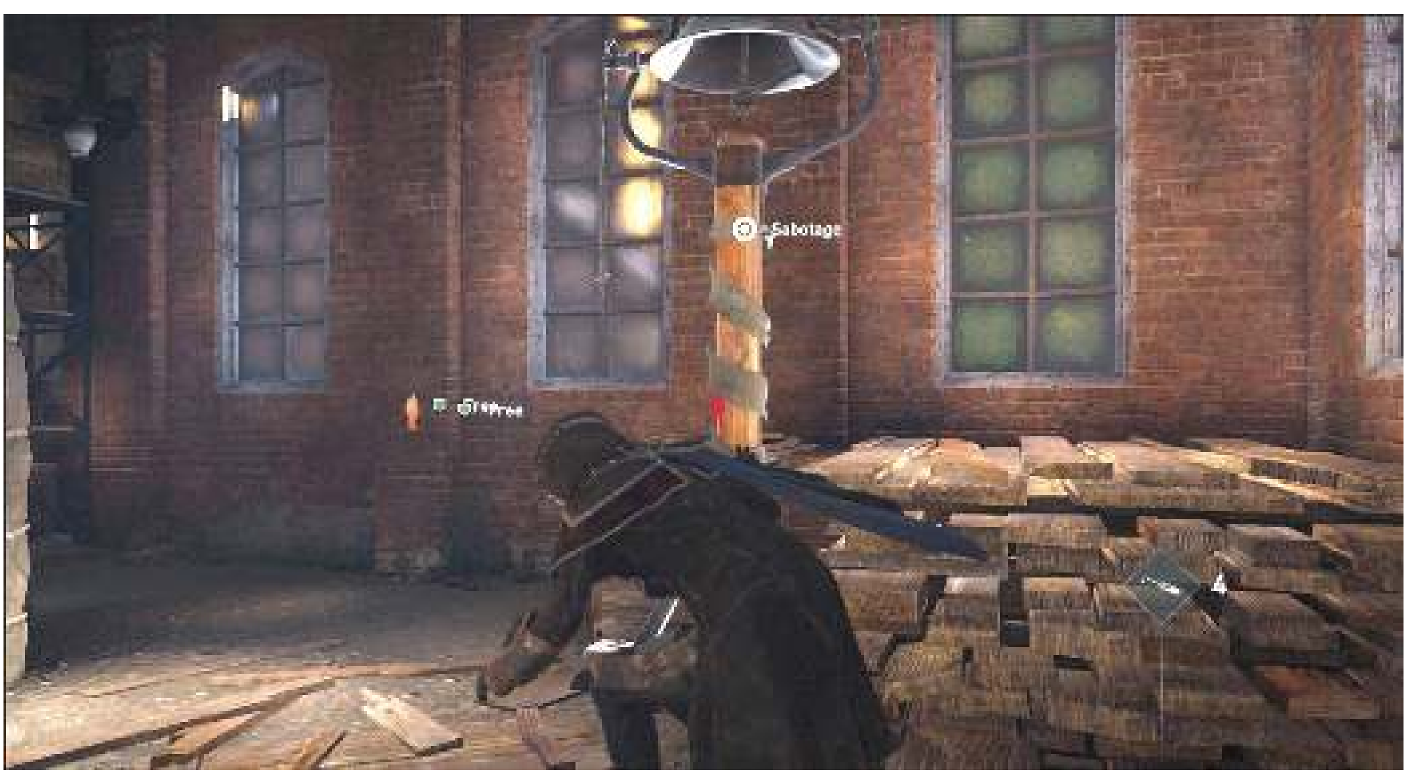
Child Liberations

Child Liberations task you with assassinating the Foreman and freeing the children inside a factory.

Gaining Entry

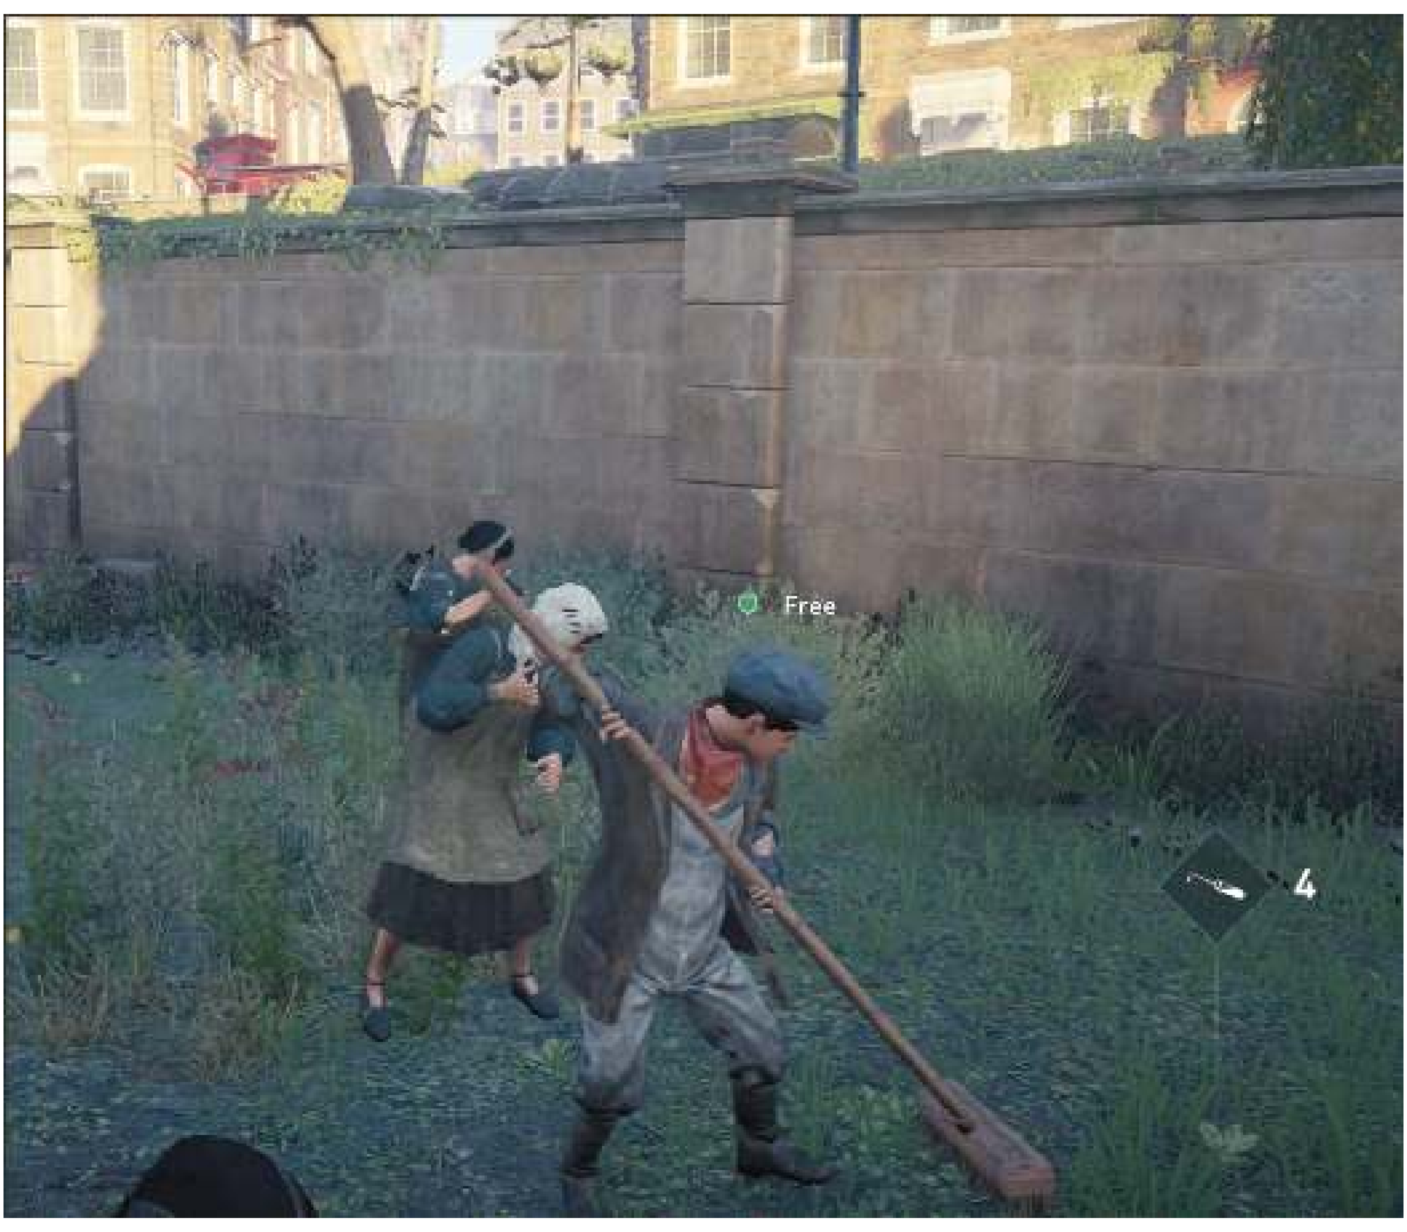


Each factory has a roof entrance that might be guarded by a scout, so use Eagle Vision and a bit of caution before haphazardly using your Rope Launcher to get to the top of the building. Use throwing knives to clear out the top level to make the jump down into the building easier. Don't knock any bodies off the roof or down into the center of the factory as that is a sure way to set off the alarm.

Keeping the Alarms Quiet

If you alert an enemy, all is not lost if you act quickly! Once they have a bell appear above their head, they begin to run for the Alarm Bell. Use throwing knives to quickly stop them if they are out of reach, as using your pistol results in other enemies noticing you.

Another option is using a hallucinogenic dart on an enemy on the main floor. This pulls some enemies from the surrounding area, giving you the opportunity to sneak in and disable the bell. With the bell disabled you are free to move around without risking the alarm being raised.



Freeing the Kids

The kids may be guarded by enemies, though often there is only one nearby. The majority of the enemies are located on the main floor of the building near the Alarm Bells. When you free a group of children, they do not trigger alarms or raise attention as they run away, so don't be afraid to stealthily release them when an enemy has their back turned.

The groups of children are usually crouched down and show up as green when you are using Eagle Vision to locate them.

Killing the Foreman

There are a variety of ways to kill the Foreman. As in the Gang Strongholds, killing the Foreman in a stealthy manner causes any witnesses to flee.

Use the Environment

Factories are a dangerous place regardless of age. Hanging crates and dynamite are commonly found around the factory. If the opportunity presents itself, use objects in the environment to kill enemies as well as the foreman.

Throwing Knives

Depending on your level and upgrades, you may not be able to headshot kill the foreman on the first try, so be ready to land a few follow up shots if need be.

Hallucinogenic Darts

Hit one of the enemies near the Foreman and let them do the dirty work for you. The hallucinating enemy will either kill the Foremen or injure him enough to make your follow up attacks lethal.

Assassination

The easiest way to assassinate the Foreman is to hide behind one of the stacks of crates nearby, and then whistle to attract him over. Once he is just around the corner form you, jump out and assassinate him.

Templar Hunts

Templar Hunts

Templar Hunts require you to eliminate the target, using specific methods to complete the Challenges successfully.

Harold Drake

Memory Type: Associate Activity / Templar Hunt

Suggested Level: 2

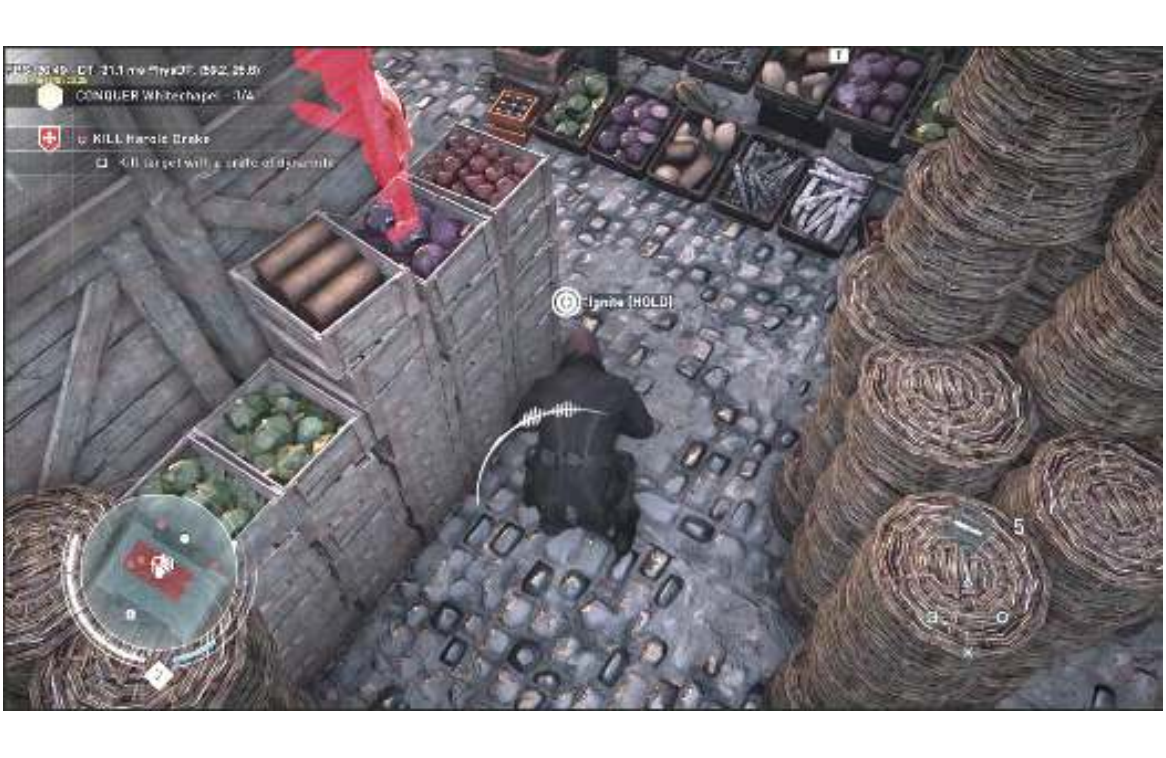
Challenges: Kill Target with a crate of dynamite.

£: 132 + 75 (Full Synch Bonus)

XP: 200 + 100 (Full Synch Bonus)

Location: Whitechapel

Sneak into the market, working your way toward Harold. You find him in a secluded area walled in by pallets of food and other supplies. On the outside of this small area are some boxes of dynamite.



Ignite one of the boxes and then run away as fast as you can out the exit of the market. Harold is killed by the explosion and you can almost clear the area to complete the mission by the time the crate detonates.

Martin Church

Memory Type: Associate Activity / Templar Hunt

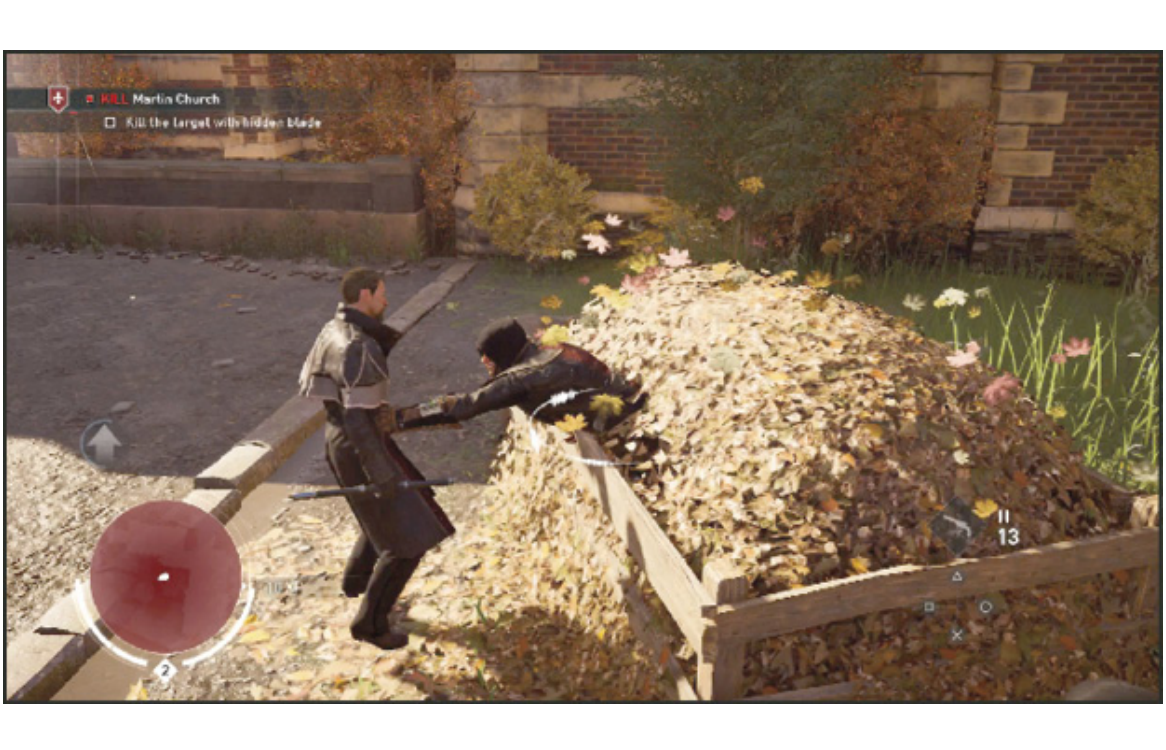
Suggested Level: 3

Challenges: Kill Martin with the Hidden Blade

£: 400 + 75 (Full Synch Bonus)

XP: 300 + 100 (Full Synch Bonus)

Location: Lambeth



Climb the wall nearest the church and then continue up to the top of the church building. A scout is perched on the roof. Sneak up behind him and assassinate him before taking a dive into the cart full of leaves below. Wait for the target to come close to the pile of leaves and then whistle. Once he is within range, quickly grab him to kill him with the hidden blade and pull him into the pile.

Whistle Wisely

When using whistle make sure that your target is the closest enemy to you, preventing you from accidentally calling the wrong enemy over.

Run back out of the pile and back up to the rooftop of the church and out of the church's complex to escape and complete the memory.

The Lambeth Bullies (Clyde and Ada)

Memory Type: Associate Activity / Templar Hunt

Suggested Level: 3

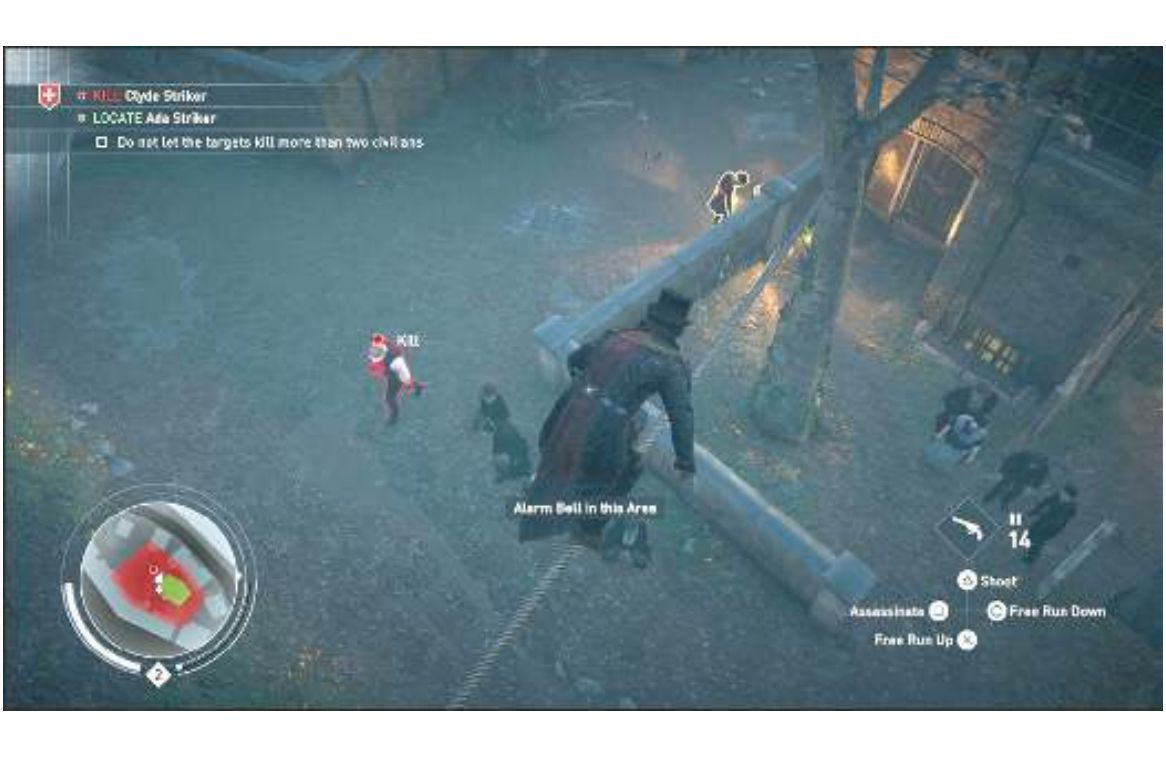
Challenges: Do not let the Bullies kill more than two civilians.

£: 264 + 75 (Full Synch Bonus)

XP: 250 + 100 (Full Synch Bonus)

Location: Lambeth

Get on top of the buildings that surround the courtyard containing the Bullies. From there jump onto the connecting buildings. The rope allows you to drop down and kill Clyde before rushing over to kill Ada. They are the only two that kill civilians. If you act quickly, the enemies can't join the fight before you've killed both targets.



Once you've killed the targets there's no need to stick around; the captured civilians are no longer at risk. Quickly flee the area to complete the mission.

The Fletchers

Memory Type: Associate Activity / Templar Hunt

Suggested Level: 3

Challenges: Kill both targets at the same time.

£: 264 + 75 (Full Synch Bonus)

XP: 250 + 100 (Full Synch Bonus)

Location: Lambeth

Stick to the roofs, moving from roof to roof when needed to keep track of the Fletchers. Eventually they move to the south side of the area. If you are on the roof you have two options, use the Nitro crate provided to kill them with an explosion, or attempt to perform a double assassination.

Killing them with the Nitro is a safer bet as they can be further away, however it attracts a lot of attention if you fail, so be ready for a fight if you didn't take out both of the Fletchers in the blast. With both Fletchers dead, jump the fence and escape.

The Jekyll Brothers

Memory Type: Associate Activity / Templar Hunt

Suggested Level: 3

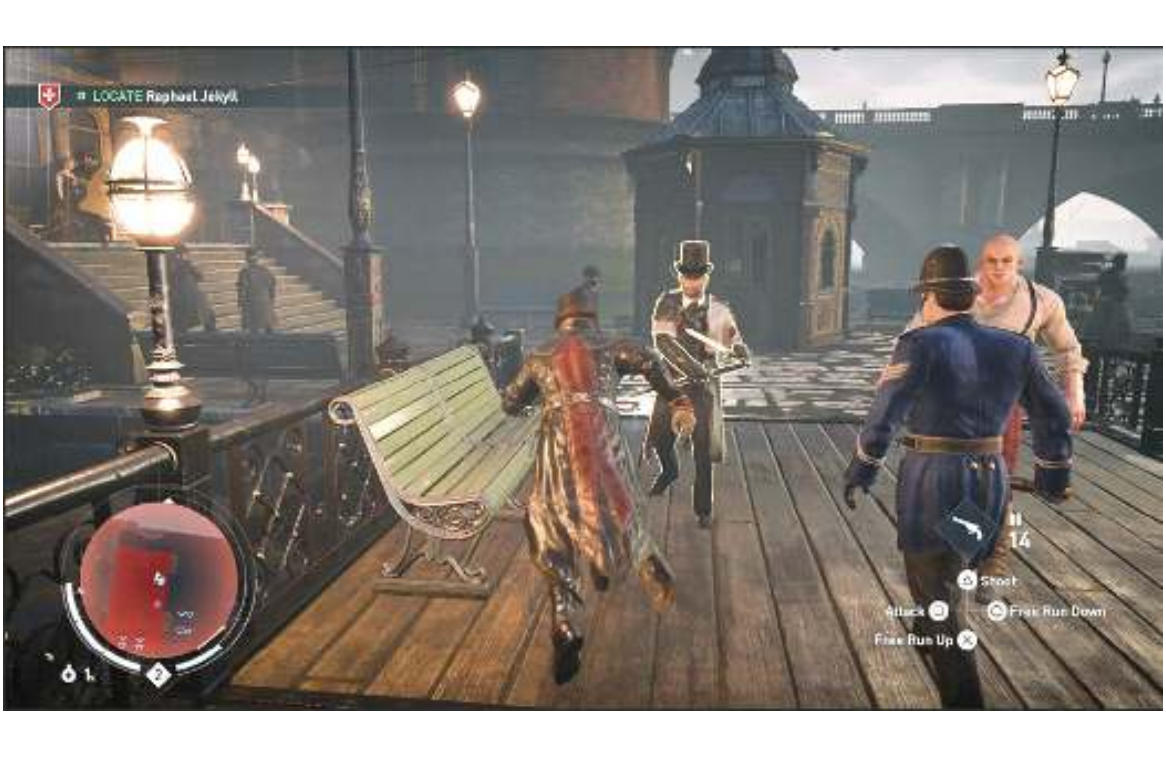
Challenges: Have a police officer kill one of the targets.

£: 132 + 75 (Full Synch Bonus)

XP: 200 + 100 (Full Synch Bonus)

Location: The Thames

This fight takes place down on the docks, so high ground is out of the question. Before running in, use your Eagle Vision to pick out the target. Make a dash straight for them, bumping into them and forcing them to chase you. With one of the brothers chasing you, head straight for a police officer.



Make sure to avoid attacking anyone or bumping into the police officer until he has started fighting the Templars. With one brother now tied up in a losing fight with the officer, locate the other brother and kill him. For an easy escape, jump into the water and swim away.

Tom Eccleston

Memory Type: Associate Activity / Templar Hunt

Suggested Level: 4

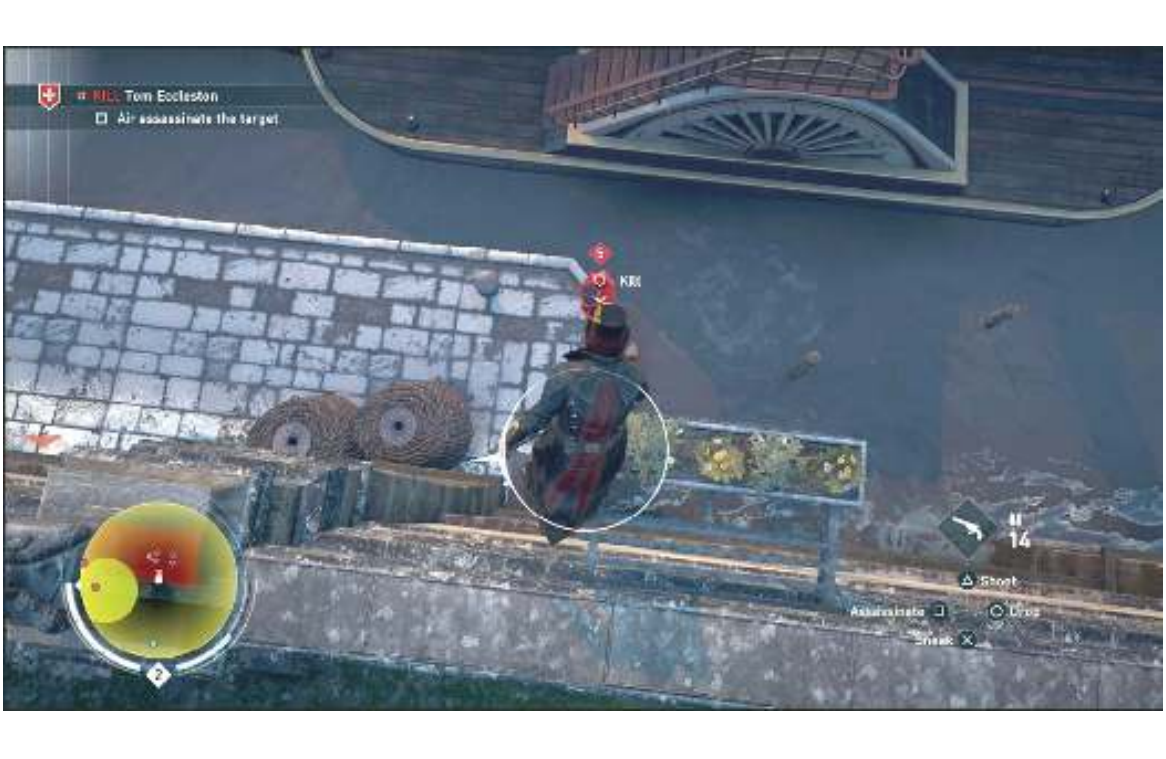
Challenges: Kill the target by performing an Air Assassination

£: 264 + 100 (Full Synch Bonus)

XP: 250 + 125 (Full Synch Bonus)

Location: The Thames

Stay on the upper walkway near the road and head south to the end of the restricted area before jumping up on the ledge. Once on the ledge look for the end of the dock below. It should line up with a planter box that is hanging from the ledge.



Use your Eagle Vision to spot Tom, and then wait for him to walk into range for an Air Assassination. Once you've killed him, head back up the wall and run across the street to get away.

Captain Hargrave II

Memory Type: Associate Activity / Templar Hunt

Suggested Level: 4

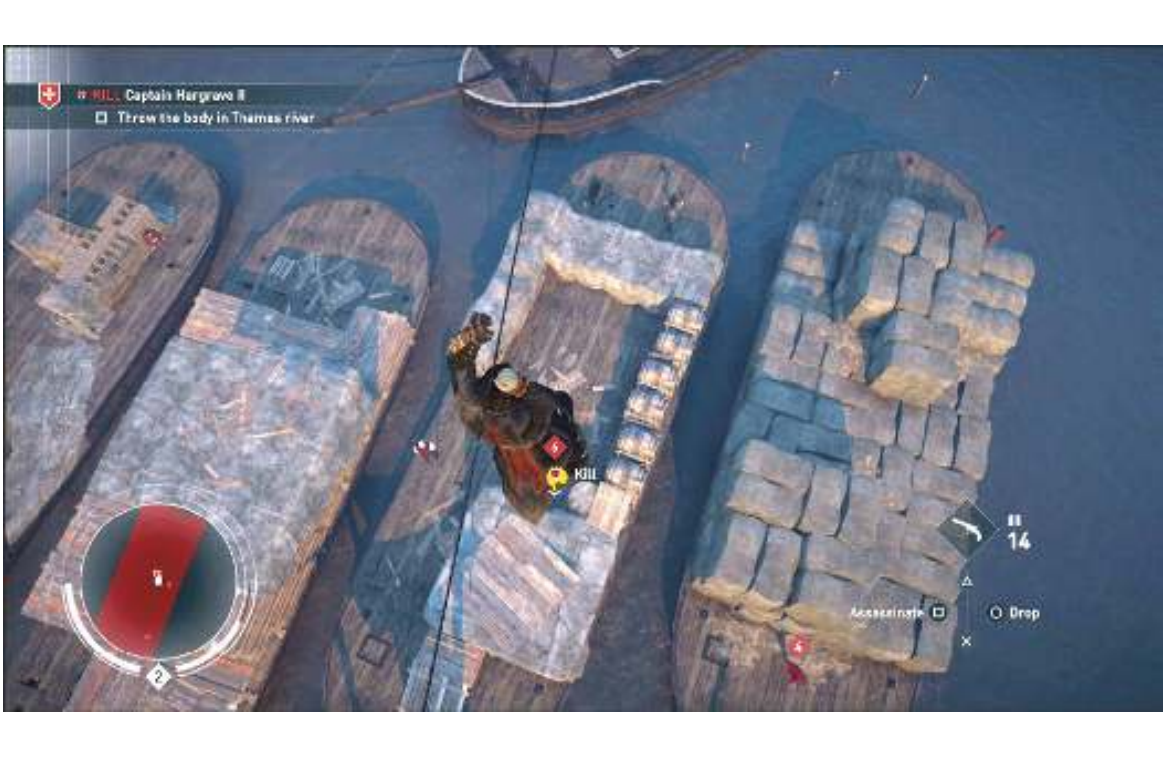
Challenges: Dispose of the target's body in the Thames River

£: 264 + 100 (Full Synch Bonus)

XP: 250 + 125 (Full Synch Bonus)

Location: The Thames

Captain Hargrave II is aboard his ship in the center of the Thames. Get to the high mast of one of the ships surrounding him. Use the water to help you sneak to a good lookout point. Once you have some high ground take a look down into the mess of ships, noting the location of Captain Hargrave. Set up your Rope Launch to cross directly over the top of him.



Assassinate Captain Hargrave from above. Quickly kill the other enemy on his boat before throwing the Captain's body into the river. Once you've tossed the body, swim away and nobody is able to chase you.

The Slaughterhouse Siblings

Memory Type: Associate Activity / Templar Hunt

Suggested Level: 5

Challenges: Have Charlie kill her brother.

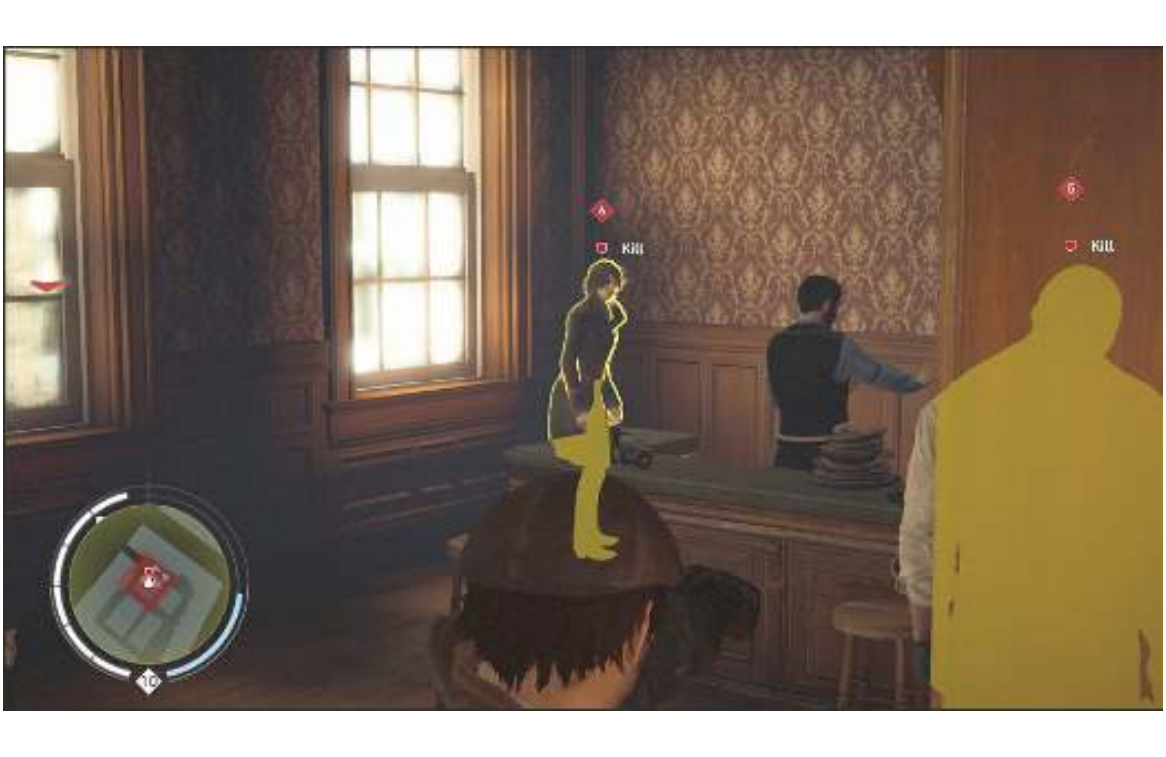
£: 264 + 125 (Full Synch Bonus)

XP: 250 + 150 (Full Synch Bonus)

Location: City of London

Start at the top of the house in the center of the courtyard, killing the scout on the roof, then the one on the outside balcony. After they are dead, use ledge assassinations to kill a few of the enemies inside, leaving the Siblings alive. Be warned that there are police patrolling below. If they spot you after seeing a dead body, they begin to attack.

Once you've cleared some room in the house, head in with your hallucinogenic dart ready. Shoot the woman, Charlie, then exit the house and let the dart do the rest. She freaks out and her brother runs up into the room from the floor below if he wasn't already in the room by the time you shot her.



Once her brother is dead, hop back in and finish her off with a quick attack or use a ranged attack to kill her through the window. Head back out to the streets to get away.

Myrtle Platt

Memory Type: Associate Activity / Templar Hunt

Suggested Level: 5

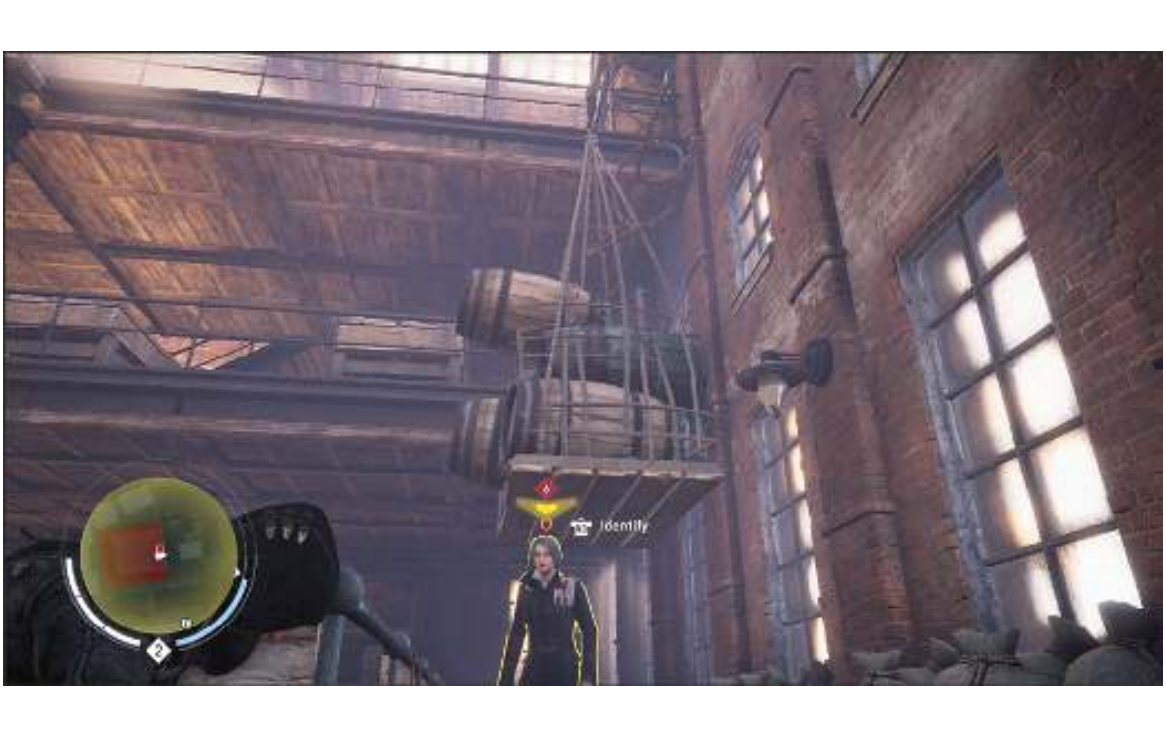
Challenges: Kill the target using hanging barrels

£: 400 + 125 (Full Synch Bonus)

XP: 300 + 150 (Full Synch Bonus)

Location: Southwark

Rope Launch to the top of the factory. Enter through the door on the roof that leads into the top floor. There is one enemy there; kill him and then move down to the next level. Here you also encounter one enemy; use a throwing knife or sneak over to kill him.



The next level contains two enemies and Myrtle. Myrtle does not walk underneath the hanging barrels, so you need to take out the two other enemies on the level before moving into position to whistle Myrtle over to the barrels.

To release the hanging barrels use a throwing knife or your gun. Once you've crushed Myrtle, run out the open window onto the pipes, following them across the street to freedom.

Phillip Beckinridge

Memory Type: Associate Activity / Templar Hunt

Suggested Level: 5

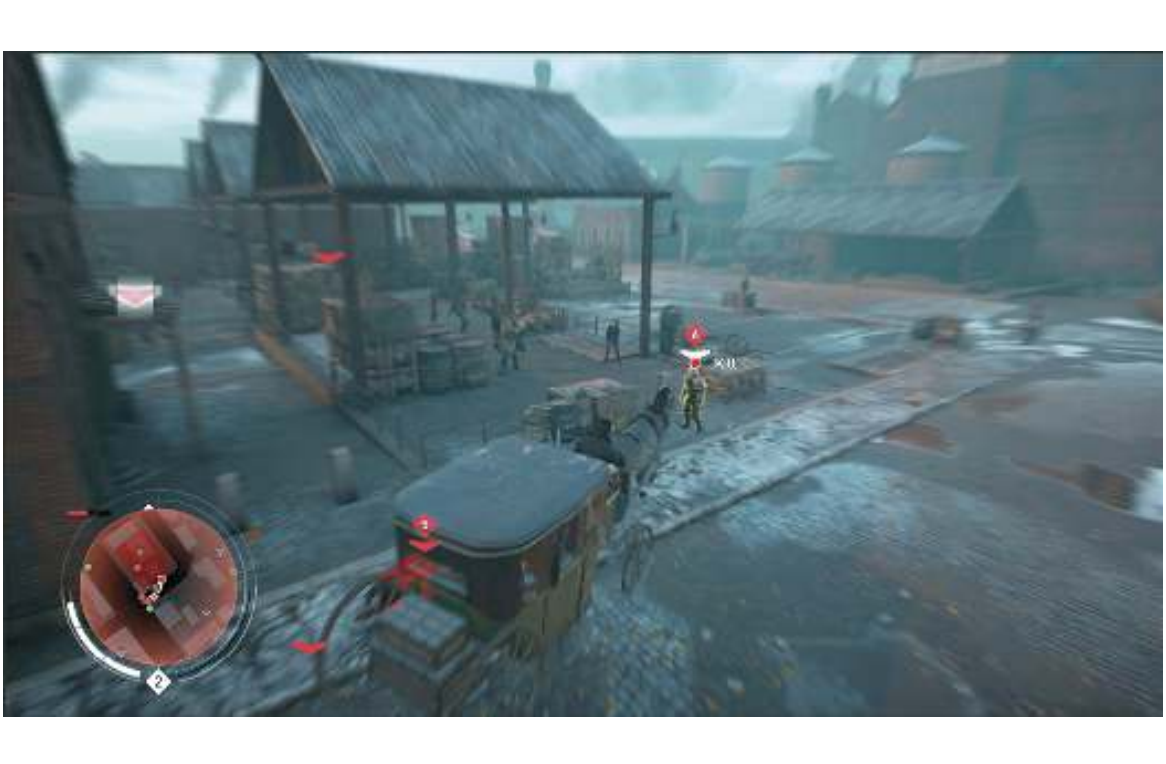
Challenges: Run over the target with a carriage

£: 400 + 125 (Full Synch Bonus)

XP: 300 + 150 (Full Synch Bonus)

Location: Southwark

Grab a nearby carriage and slowly drive on the road. The road is not in the restricted area, so driving on the far side does not draw an attack.



Use Eagle Vision to find Phillip, wait for him to come to the lower level of the small market. Once he is there, line up your cart and run him over at full speed. Don't worry about missing, he stays on the low ground and the enemies slowly gather around him. Keep taking runs at him until you kill him, then stay in the carriage and ride away.

Eveline Dipper

Memory Type: Associate Activity / Templar Hunt

Suggested Level: 6

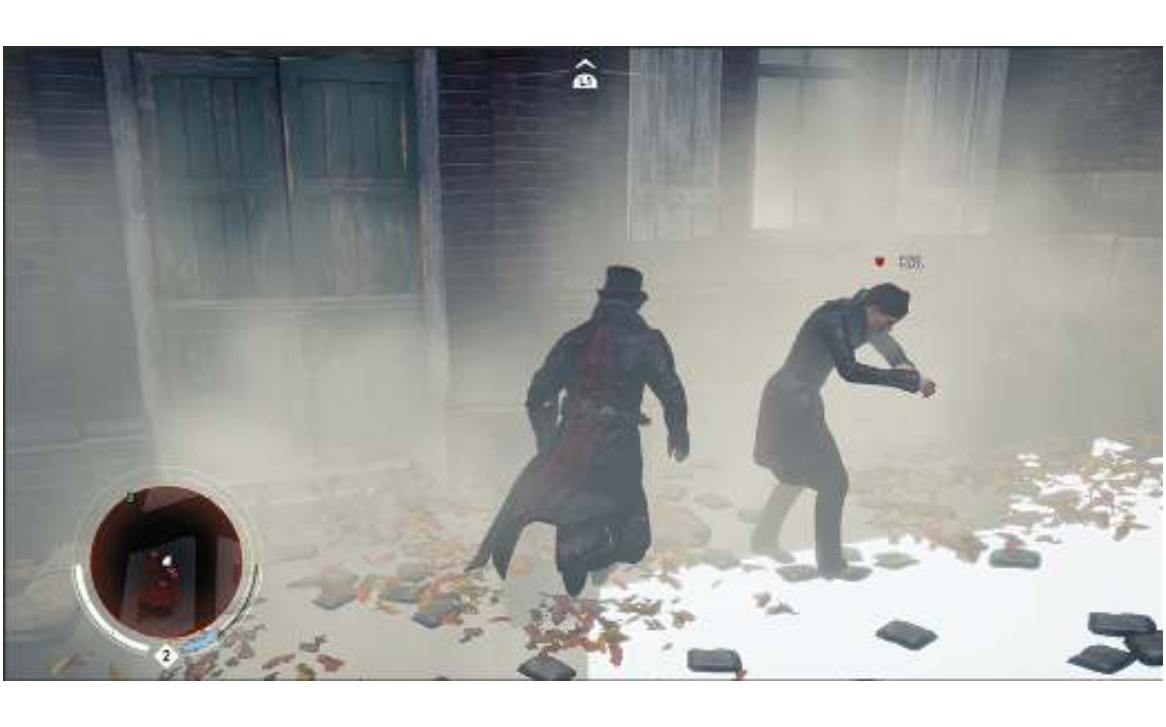
Challenges: Kill the target while she is under the smoke bomb effect

£: 400 + 150 (Full Synch Bonus)

XP: 300 + 150 (Full Synch Bonus)

Location: City of London

Rope Launch to the top of any of the surrounding buildings from the street. There is one enemy lookout on the rooftop; quickly kill them and then focus on the courtyard below. Using Eagle Vision, locate Eveline, and line yourself up for a Leap of Faith down into the cart below. Once you're lined up for the jump, aim and throw the smoke bomb down onto Eveline.



Take the Leap of Faith, quickly hop back into action, and run over to assassinate her while she is under the effect of the smoke. Quickly Rope Launch back up to the nearest roof, then zipline to a building across the road for a quick getaway.

Thomas Blackroot

Memory Type: Associate Activity / Templar Hunt

Suggested Level: 6

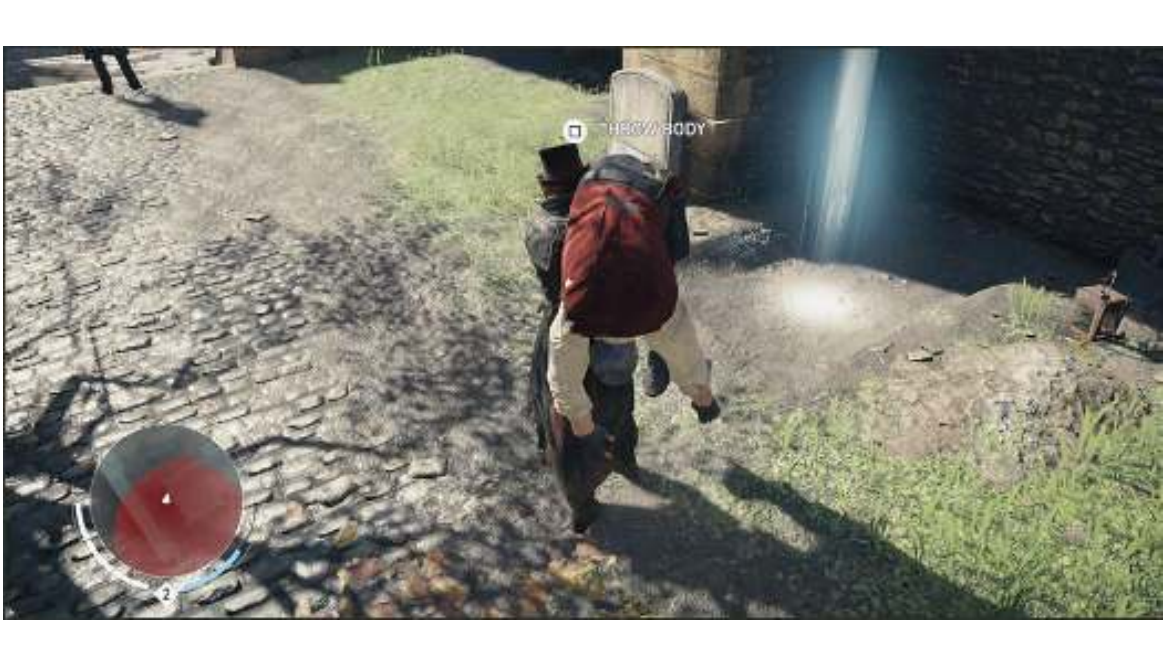
Challenges: Bury the target in a nearby grave

£: 400 + 150 (Full Synch Bonus)

XP: 300 + 150 (Full Synch Bonus)

Location: City of London

A few scattered enemy patrols pace around the outside of the small graveyard. You have the choice of killing them off, or sneaking past them and into the graveyard containing Thomas. Once in the graveyard eliminate Thomas. This may cause the nearby enemies to attack, so be ready for a short fight as there are only five other enemies in the area.



One of the graves near the building is marked with a floating Glitch. Simply pick up Thomas's body, walk over to the grave, and drop it in. You do not need to actually bury the body. If there aren't any enemies remaining, walk out of the zone to finish the mission. If you are being attacked, Rope Launch quickly to the top of the church to get away.

Peter Needham

Memory Type: Associate Activity / Templar Hunt

Suggested Level: 7

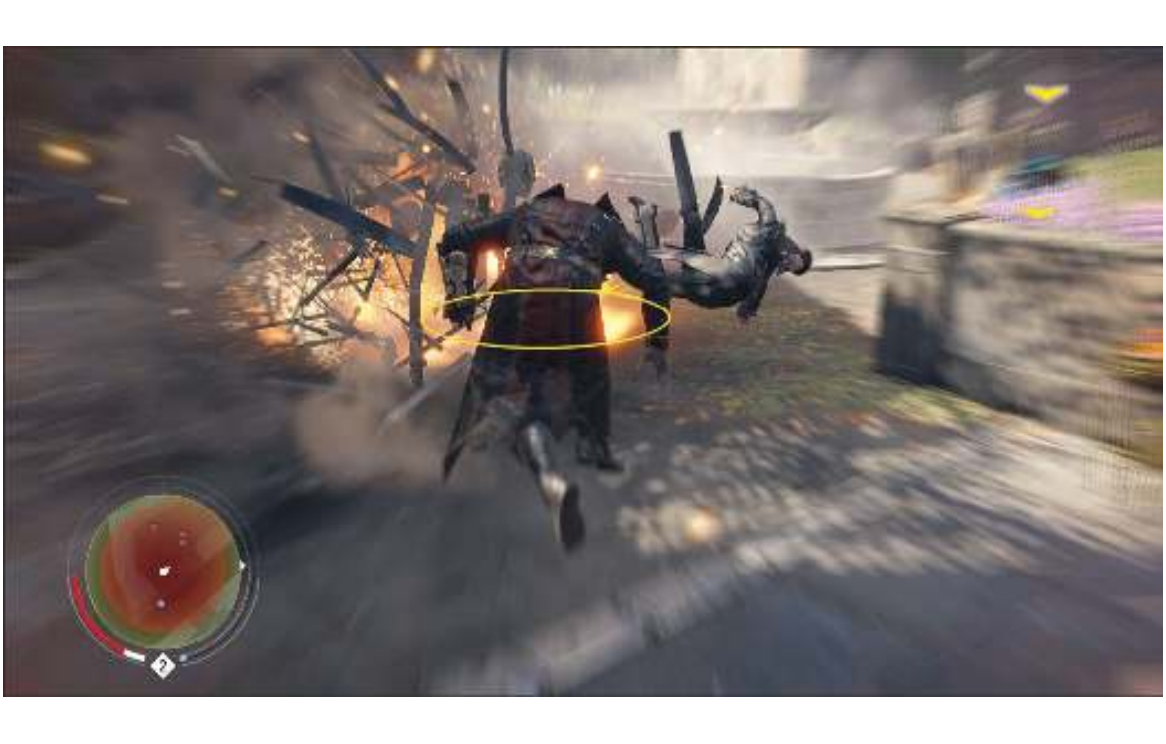
Challenges: Kill the target using explosives.

£: 400

XP: 300

Location: The Strand

Rope Launch to the top of the yellow brick building on the south side of the Templar Hunt area. Drop down into the courtyard behind the tree. You see Peter making his rounds up and down a set of stairs. Wait until he walks away from you toward the set of stairs that he walks up. Move into position, grabbing the Nitro bottles. Make sure that you have the explosive crate full of Nitro bottles and not the crate with TNT sticks. The sticks do not explode on impact.



When Peter comes down the steps, throw the explosives at him to kill him. This attracts all enemies in the area, so Rope Launch back up to the roof you entered from, then across the road to freedom.

Louis Blake

Memory Type: Associate Activity / Templar Hunt

Suggested Level: 8

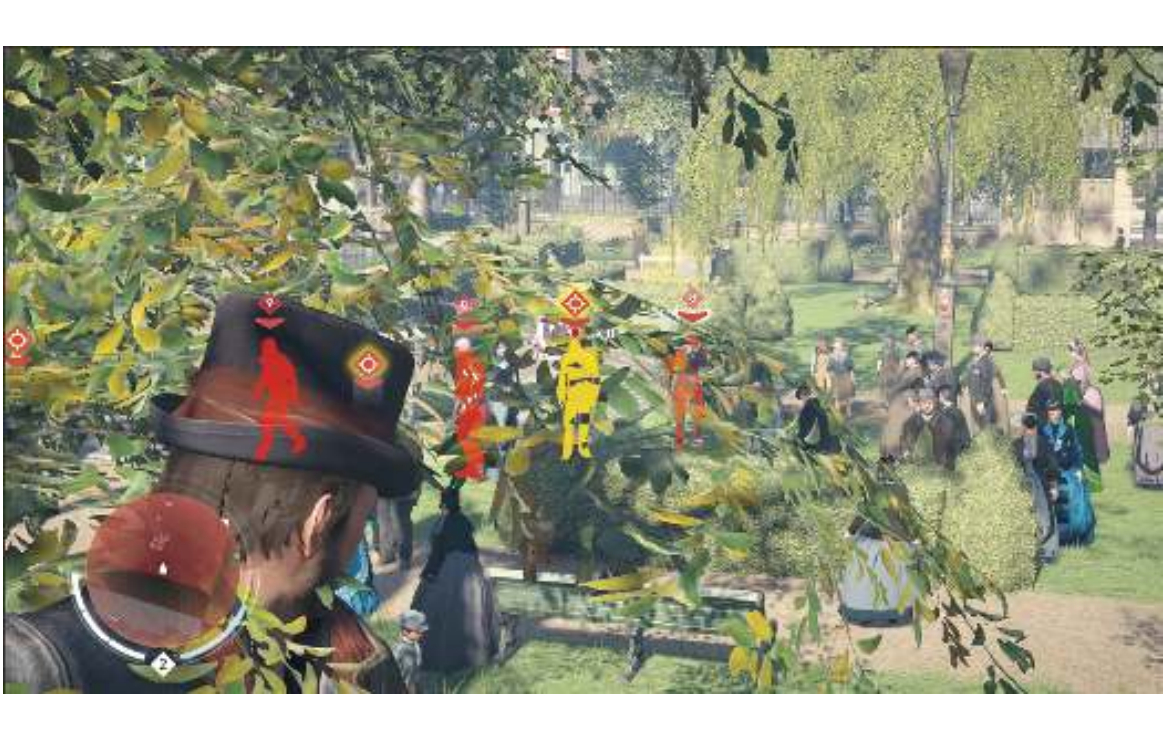
Challenges: Kill the target by headshot

£: 532 + 250 (Full Synch Bonus)

XP: 360 + 250 (Full Synch Bonus)

Location: The Strand

Before running straight into the park to take on Louis Blake, walk around the outside fence with Eagle Vision active. You find Louis flanked by two guards, with a scout blended into the crowd.



While you are still on the outside of the fence you find a part of the fence near a tree that is almost in line with him. Make sure you are in stealth mode and climb onto the fence, moving in toward Louis. With your throwing knife equipped, use Eagle Vision and aim for his head.

Once he's dead, quickly turn around, cross the street, and Rope Launch to the rooftops. Any enemy that was alerted to your actions can't keep up, making your escape incredibly easy.

Argus and Rose Bartlett

Memory Type: Associate Activity / Templar Hunt

Suggested Level: 8

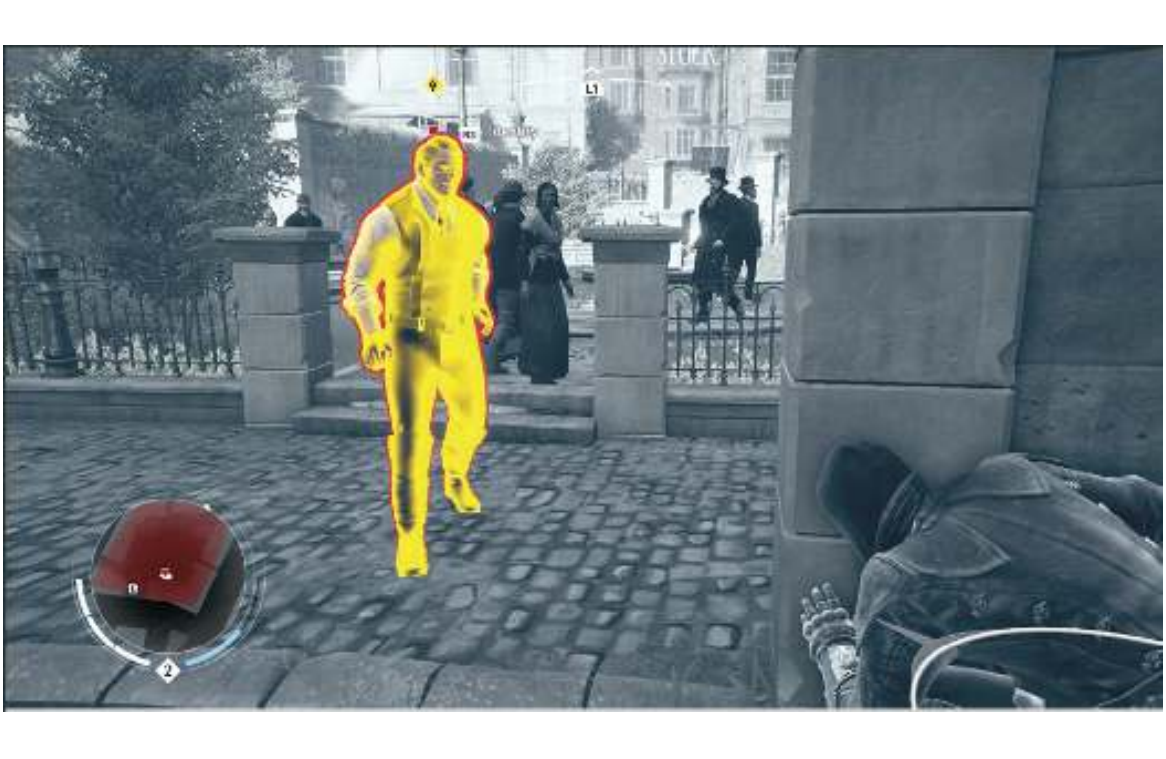
Challenges: Perform a cover kill on one of the targets

£: 532 + 250 (Full Synch Bonus)

XP: 360 + 250 (Full Synch Bonus)

Location: The Strand

Enter through the North alley. From there slowly work through the maze of small walls and scattered cargo. Kill enemies while working your way clockwise around the courtyard. When you near Argus or Rose, watch their route and try to cut them off while hiding behind a wall. If they are close to your cover spot, whistle to pull them the rest of the way to you. Be careful though, whistling may attract a different enemy.



Throwing knives are a good way to pick off enemies in this courtyard, making it easier for you to focus on the targets. If you missed the cover kill on the first attempt, don't worry, you only need to kill one of the targets from cover! After you've killed the targets, Rope Launch to the nearest roof and begin your escape.

Wallace Bone

Memory Type: Associate Activity / Templar Hunt

Suggested Level: 8

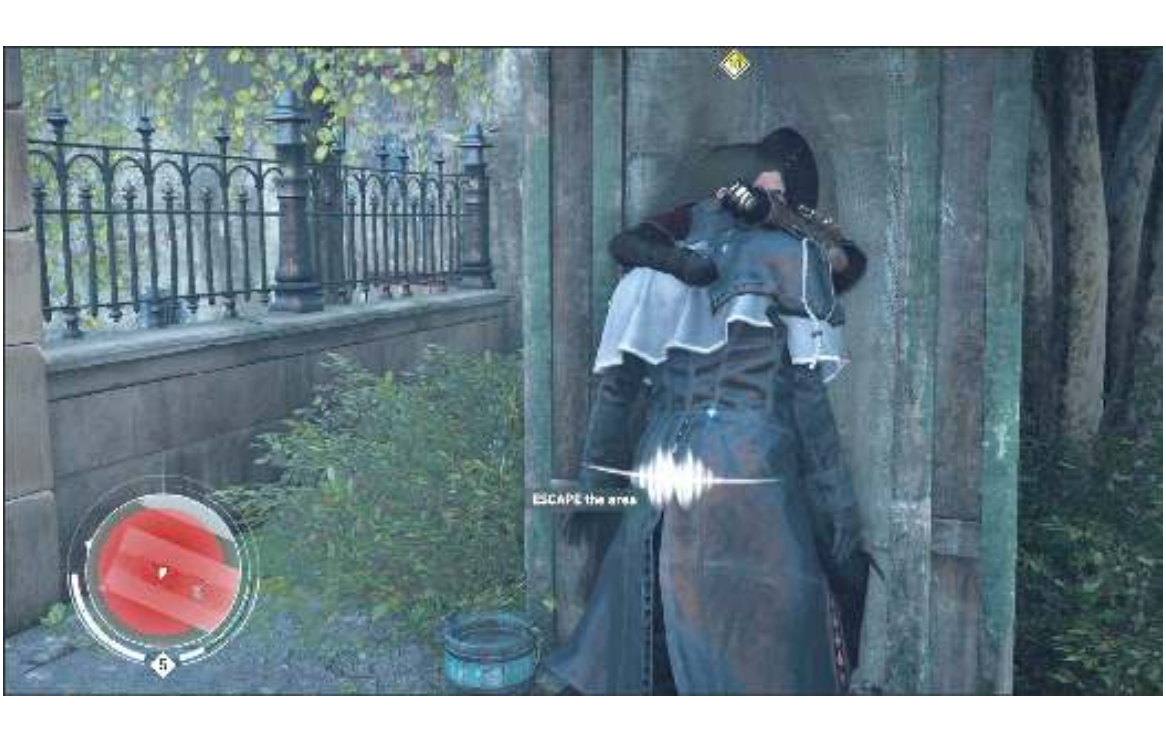
Challenges: Kill the target from a hiding spot.

£: 532 + 250 (Full Synch Bonus)

XP: 360 + 250 (Full Synch Bonus)

Location: Westminster

Get onto the east rooftops and locate Wallace. There is one enemy looking directly at a hiding spot, while two groups of enemies flank the north and south sides of the alley. From the roof use a hallucinogenic dart on the Brute in the north group of enemies. When doing this, make sure that Wallace is at the farthest south end of his walking route. If Wallace is not as far south as possible, he also joins the fight where he can potentially die, preventing you from getting 100% synchronization.



The fight between the north group of enemies pulls the foe guarding the hiding spot away from his position. If you're lucky he will die in the fight.

Wallace begins to walk his route back toward the north side of the alley and directly in front of the hiding spot. Quickly grab him and pull him in to assassinate him, then head for the rooftops to escape.

Beatrice Gribble

Memory Type: Associate Activity / Templar Hunt

Suggested Level: 9

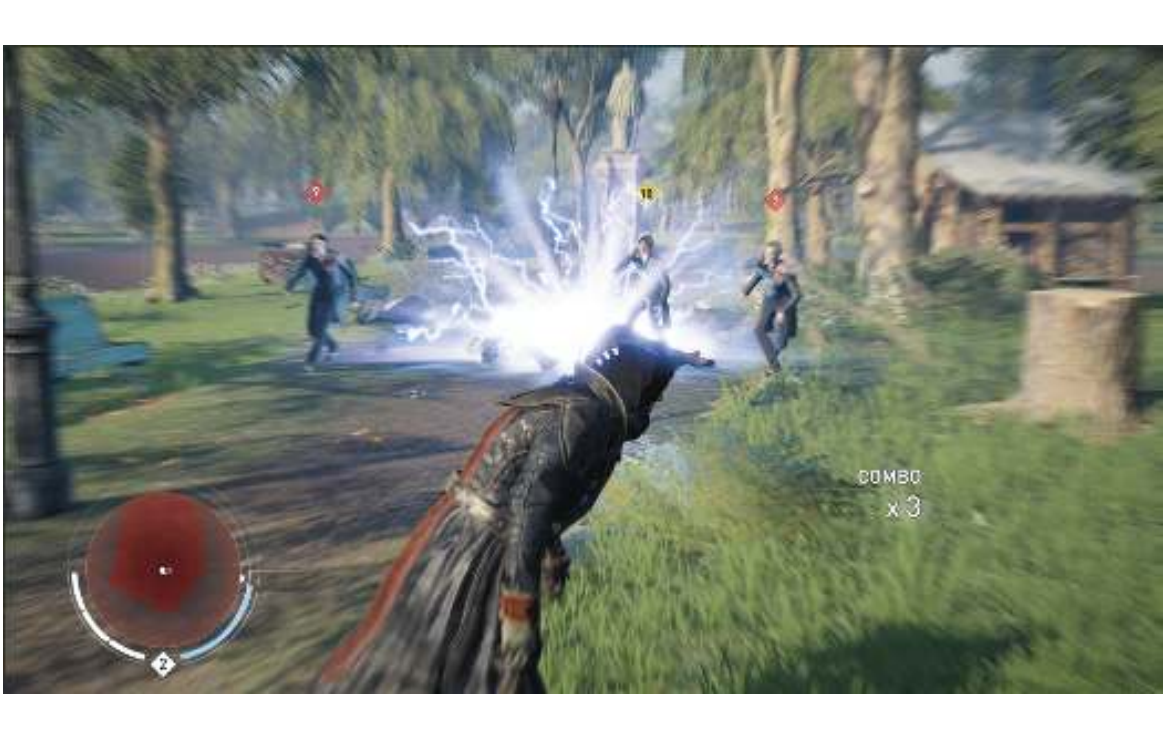
Challenges: Kill the target with a Voltaic Bomb

£: 600 + 350 (Full Synch Bonus)

XP: 430 + 300 (Full Synch Bonus)

Location: Westminster

Beatrice is located in the back of the small park. You can sneak around on the side near the edge of the water until you locate her. You need multiple voltaic bombs to kill her from a full health state. Voltaic Bombs also stun enemies around the point of impact. Use this area attack to stun any other groups of enemies who approach.



Due to the lack of high ground and buildings, you are likely to encounter open conflict with the enemies in the park, so be ready for a fight but keep your eye out for the target. If you accidentally bring Beatrice near death, quickly switch to the Voltaic Bomb to finish her off. The killing blow is what counts to complete the Challenge.

Edgar Collicott and Bodyguard

Memory Type: Associate Activity / Templar Hunt

Suggested Level: 9

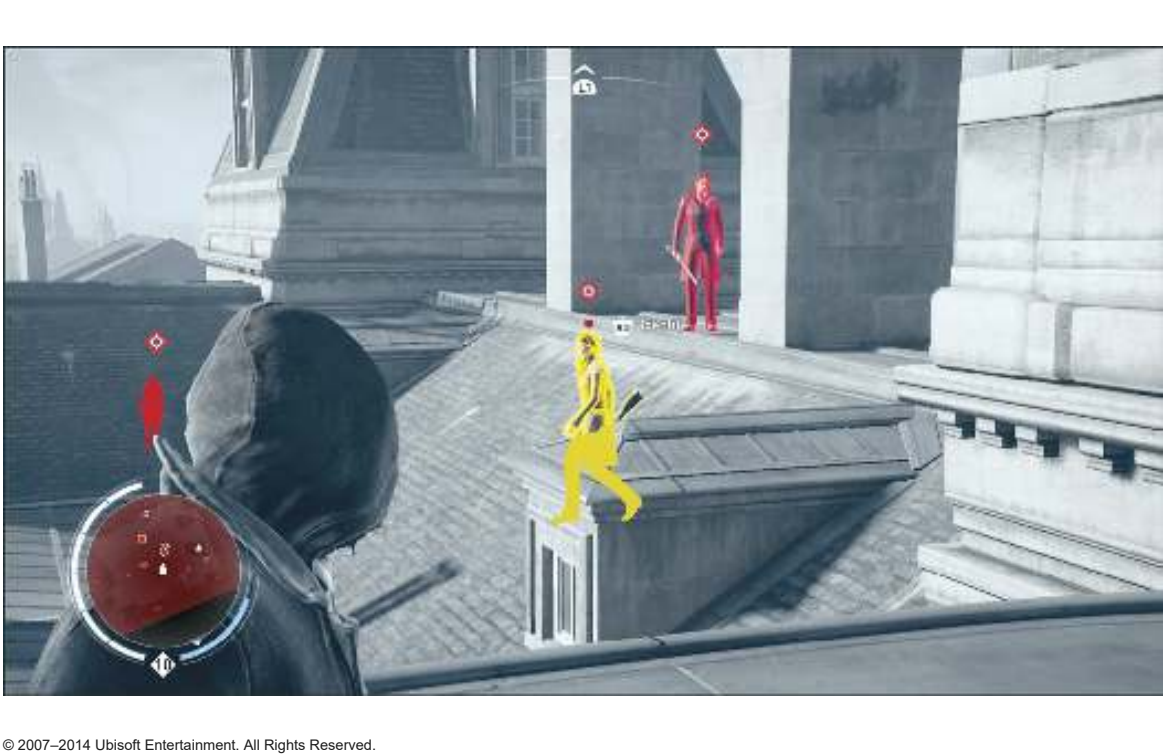
Challenges: Kill Edgar or his bodyguard by Air Assassination

£: 600 + 350 (Full Synch Bonus)

XP: 430 + 300 (Full Synch Bonus)

Location: Westminster

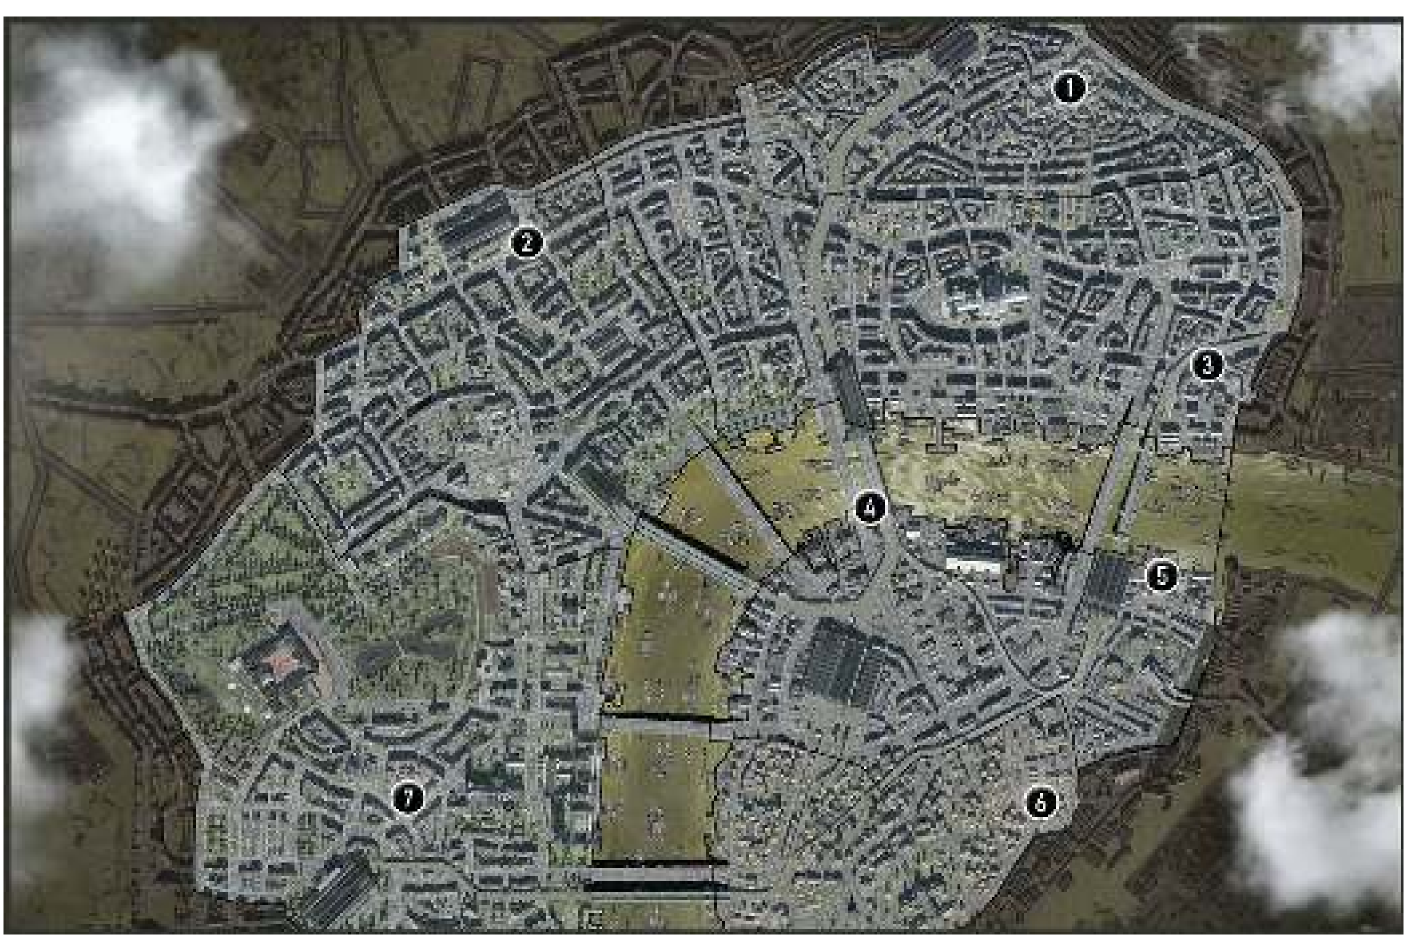
Edgar and his bodyguard are located on the rooftop surrounded by five scouts. Use your Rope Launcher to get to the rooftop before assassinating the scouts. Edgar's Bodyguard is female; use this fact to differentiate her from the other nearby male enemies when using Eagle Vision. Get above Collicott or the bodyguard and perform an Air Assassination. To complete the Challenge you only need to get one of them with this move, then you can finish the other one off however you choose.



Gang Wars

Ladies and gentlemen! We are Jacob and Evie Frye! And as of this moment, you all work for us!

Want to be the Boss of the Borough? Once you've completed all of the conquest activities in a Borough, a Gang War unlocks. Gang Wars pit you against the toughest Crime Bosses and their crews. Fight side by side with your Rooks until you've earned your one on one showdown with the Boss.



Stock Up!

Make sure that you are topped off on all of your consumables (Medicine, Bullets, Throwing Knives, Smoke Bombs…)

Winning the Fight

Unlike other activities, there is no challenge requiring you to complete this memory a specific way. All you have to do is kill all of the Blighters, then kill their boss. This leaves you to rely heavily on your combat abilities to get through this fight.

Smoke Them Out

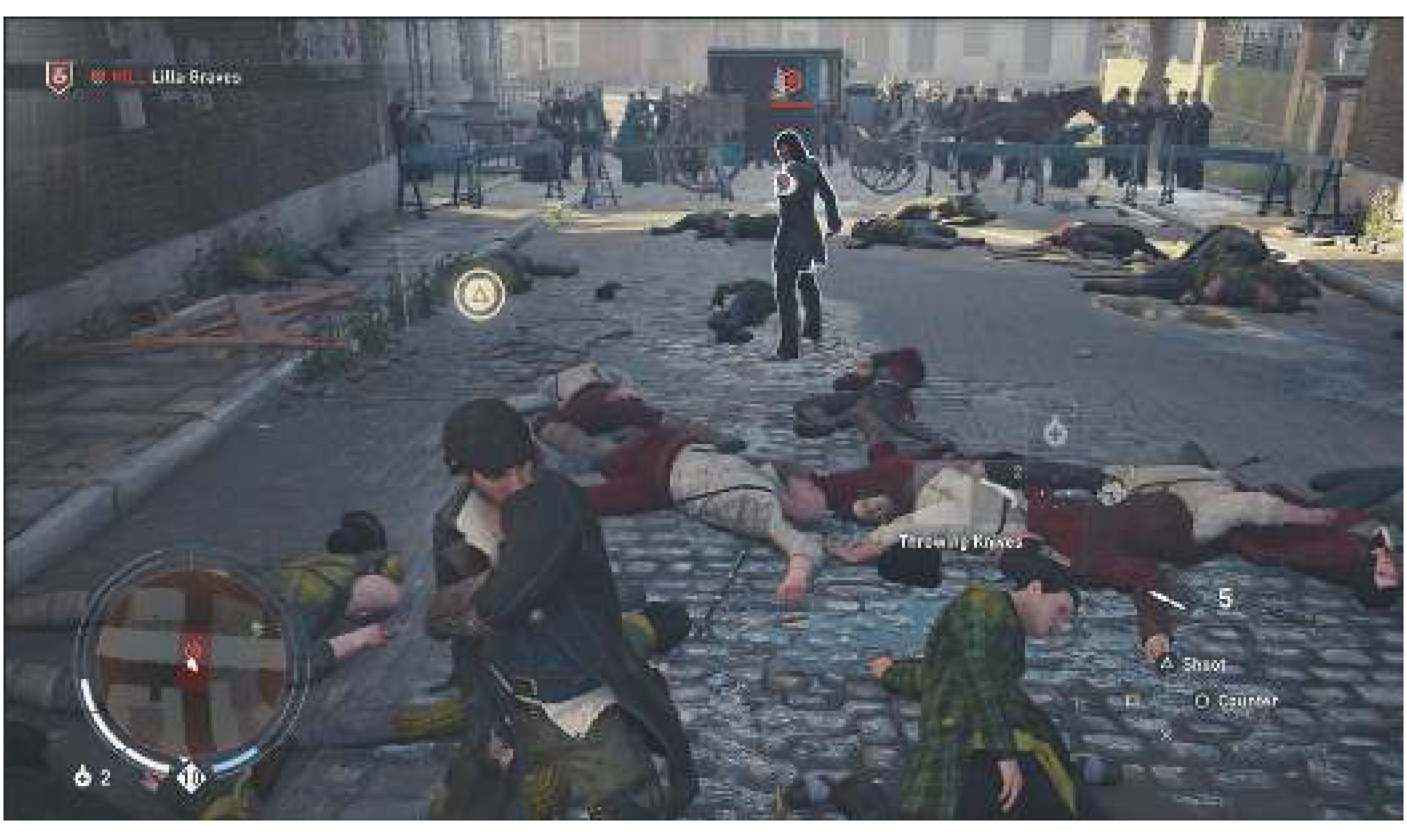
During the initial confrontation, your gang of Rooks throws some smoke bombs putting up a wall in front of the advancing enemies. Run in and assassinate as many enemies as possible before the smoke dissipates.

Upgrades

Gang upgrades within the Ringleader tree help strengthen your Rooks. Other upgrades in the tree take health away from the Blighters, as well as make their ranged attacks much less effective.

Keeping your distance

If you are facing the Gang Leader and you aren't doing much melee damage, resort to you ranged weapons. Circle around your foe, keeping yourself far enough away to force them to range attack you. Use Counter-Shot to either fire your pistol or throw knives at the target. When they are stunned from the counter, quickly aim for a headshot and deal some extra damage.



Up Close and Personal

Be ready for a fight. Gang bosses hit incredibly hard, so you need to be ready to counter their attacks at all times. The counter window is much shorter with gang bosses. Throw in some Guard Breaking moves while comboing on the boss. This keeps them from regaining their composure and allows your onslaught of attacks to continue.

End of the Fight

With the exception of the first Gang War, discussed during Sequence 3 of the Story Walkthrough, the boss comes to fight you in the same arena as the initial battle. Once the boss is dead, that's the end; the turf is yours. Rook presence increases in the area as now most of the Blighters in the area have decided to join.

Cut Off the Head

Though it is often difficult, you can choose to take out the Gang Boss before Gang War starts. If you succeed at taking them out, you only have to clean up the remaining Blighters to secure the territory.

Fighting

0
△
Attack □
○ Counter
Stun ✕

No Weapons or Consumables

The only thing you can bring into the ring is your fists. This means no medicine to heal you when you are injured, no quickshots to hit enemies at a distance, and no smoke bombs to disorient groups of enemies.

No Hiding

Since you can't retreat from combat, you cannot heal. No health is gained between rounds, so try and keep your face pretty by countering opponents' attacks.

Odd Man Out

While there are other competitors in the ring with you, they do not fight each other. This means you fight multiple enemies at once. Focus on killing one enemy at a time, but don't let this stop you from countering other enemies who try to attack you.

When deciding on which enemy to attack, chose an enemy who is not in a guarded stance. While you attack one of the other enemies in the ring he will most likely try to attack. Once he begins his attack, counter then attack. This breaks his guarded stance without you breaking your combat flow to take an enemy out of a guarded stance.

If you're fighting just one enemy, let them swing first. Counter the first attempt at an attack and then unleash a fury of punches to debilitate them.

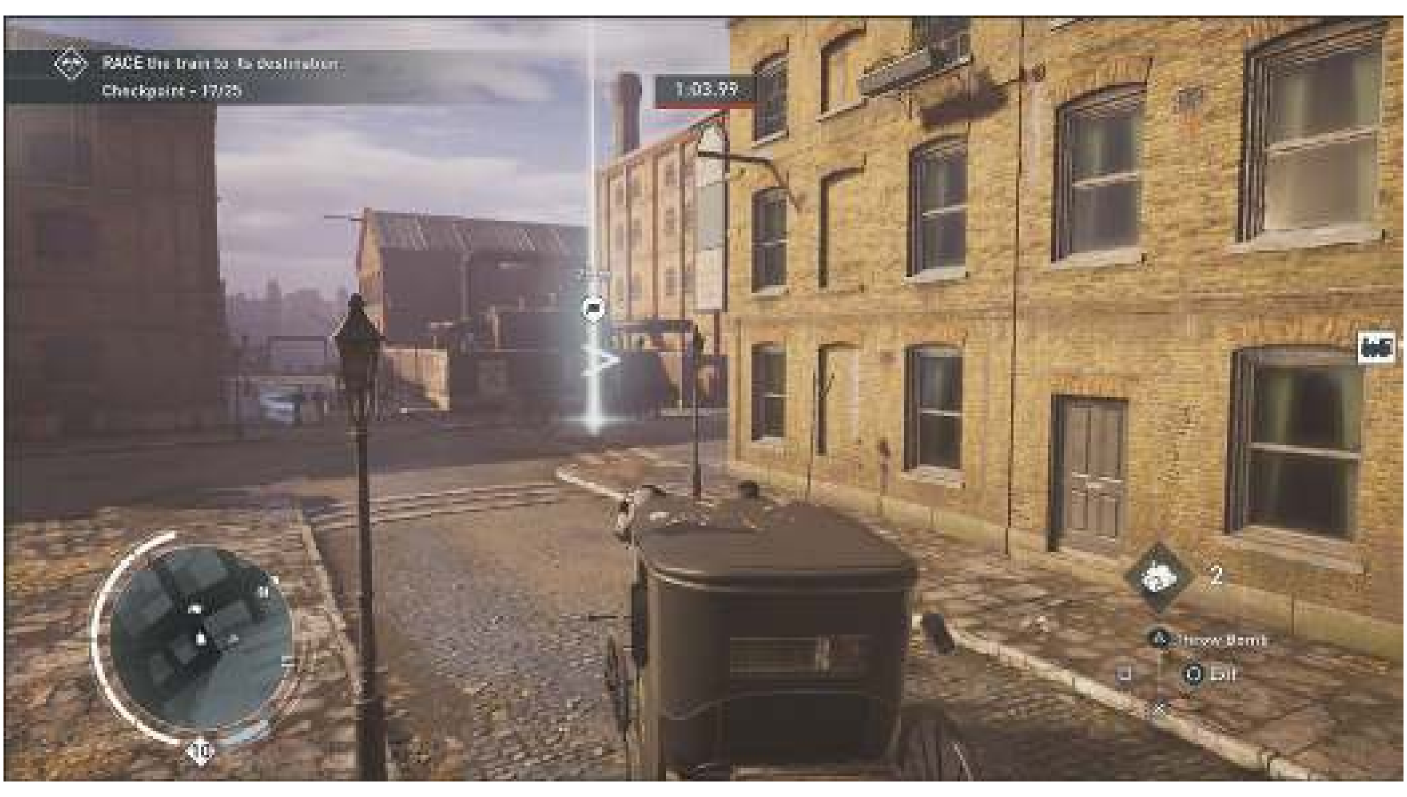
Street Racing

Each race, you are either racing against other drivers, trains, or the clock. No matter what you are racing against you want to have the lead.



Taking the Lead

In Lap and A to B races, you start in the back of the starting lineup. Use a well-timed boost to split the two front runners right away, using your cart to ram them to the left or right if necessary.

Taking the inside of the turn and then ramming the other carts outward is extremely effective. When taking corners, don't be afraid to hit a small post or other small object, these won't slow you down enough to make them worth avoiding.

Keeping the Lead

Once you are in the lead, watch the Mini-Map to get a sense for how close the other drivers are. Don't get too locked in on the map, doing so may cause you to crash, a surefire way to give up your lead. When you begin to see the front of another driver's horse at the bottom of your screen, try to force them into a carriage on the road, or cut them off at the turn.

The Races

There are four different types of races. While there is no level suggestion for completing the races, you still gain a benefit from being higher level and having upgrades researched for your carriage.

Exotic Race

Starting out in a cart, you race down the road, until you have to jump off. Then you'll be free running, climbing, and taking Leaps of Faith to follow the check points. When approaching the start of a running checkpoint, climb to the roof of your carriage, then free run off of it and into the checkpoint.

An A to B race is a non-looping race, going from one point on the map to the other. This is a competitive race, so you will be racing against three other carriage drivers. View the amount of checkpoints left on the top left of the screen to keep track of how close you are to the finish line.

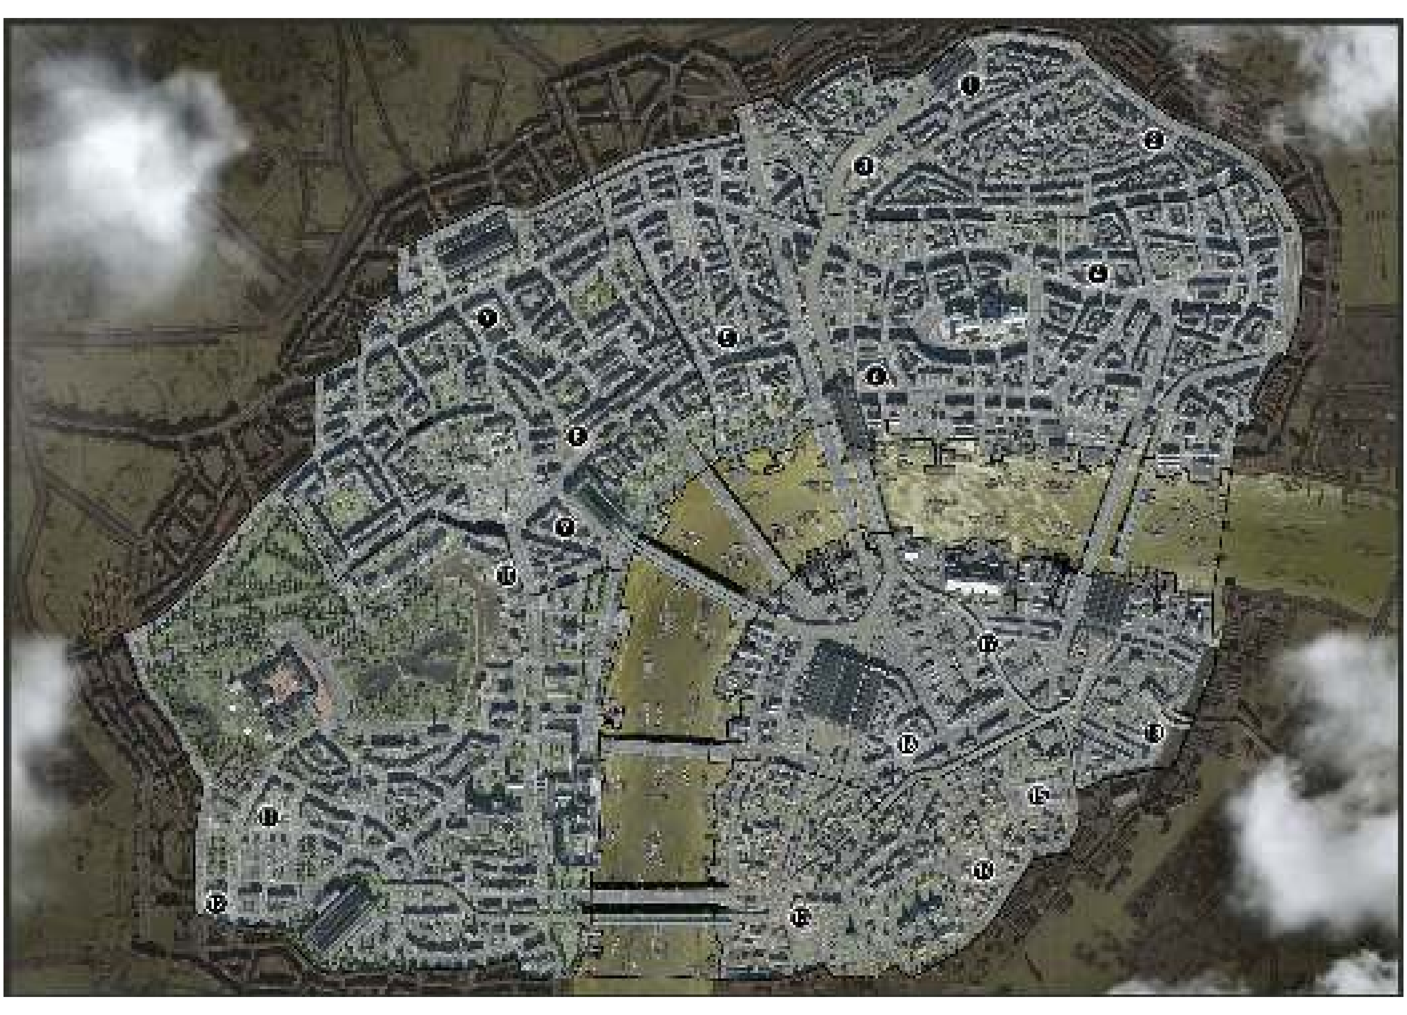
Cargo Hijack

Cargo Hijacking is simple: get in, get the cargo, and get out. There are static Cargo Hijack Activities that can be played once only in each of the land-based Boroughs.



However, there is also a chance that you find a random Cargo Carriage with Blighters at the helm. These do not have a level suggestion and the reward is much lower. The non-static Cargo Hijacks appear frequently, allowing you to gain more Influence with Ned Wynert, while providing you with bits of resources and money. The resource reward can be viewed by hovering over the Icon on the map.

There are multiple ways to secure the cargo carriage that is being guarded by the Blighters. While a stealth approach is possible, the more action oriented “smash and grab” technique speeds up completion drastically while offering the same rewards.

The Stealth Approach

Seek the highest ground near the restricted area, using Eagle Vision to scout it out. Look for enemies that are either between you and the cart, or enemies that you have to get through once you have the cart secured. In most cases all of the enemies in the area need to be eliminated, and unlike strongholds, there aren’t usually many Blighters lining the roofs.

When killing enemies from a rooftop, be extra careful not to raise the alarm of any remaining enemies. If they are alerted and you are not near them, they grab the cart and begin to drive away. If the enemy drives off with the cart, the mission does not end until they gain enough distance from you to count as a failure.

Smash and Grab

If the Cargo Carriage is in a courtyard, use your zipline to line yourself up with the carriage. Once you are above the carriage, drop down and quickly take the driver’s seat. Throw a smoke bomb down to immediately send your horses running, and obscure the view of any enemies that are close by.

For carts that are in a lumberyard or outdoor area not surrounded by buildings, scout the area, finding the fastest way to get to the cart. This often requires jumping a fence. Once you have your route set, free run as fast as you can to get inside. Jump into the driver’s seat, throw a smoke bomb, and get the heck out of there.

Smoke Them Out

If you’ve got a carriage of your own, line yourself up so you are blocking a nearby exit. Hop on top of your carriage and then throw a smoke bomb at the horses leading the cargo cart. This causes the horses to run off by themselves. Then all that’s left is to chase the cart down.

Once you’ve caught up to the cart, either cut it off, forcing it to stop, or jump from the roof of your carriage, landing on the cart and then taking the driver’s seat.

The Delivery

Once you have the cart in your possession, follow the GPS to the Rook’s drop off location. On the way you may attract the unwanted attention of some Blighters who try and stop you from stealing their cargo.

Keep going toward the drop off point. Although you cannot drop off the cargo until you are incognito, the nearby Rooks help you kill off any Blighters who dared follow you the entire way there.

If you have a cart on your tail when you pull up, use a Smoke Bomb to frighten the horses of the other cart, forcing them to pull the enemy away and masking your location which, in most cases, makes you incognito instantly and allows you to deliver the cargo immediately.

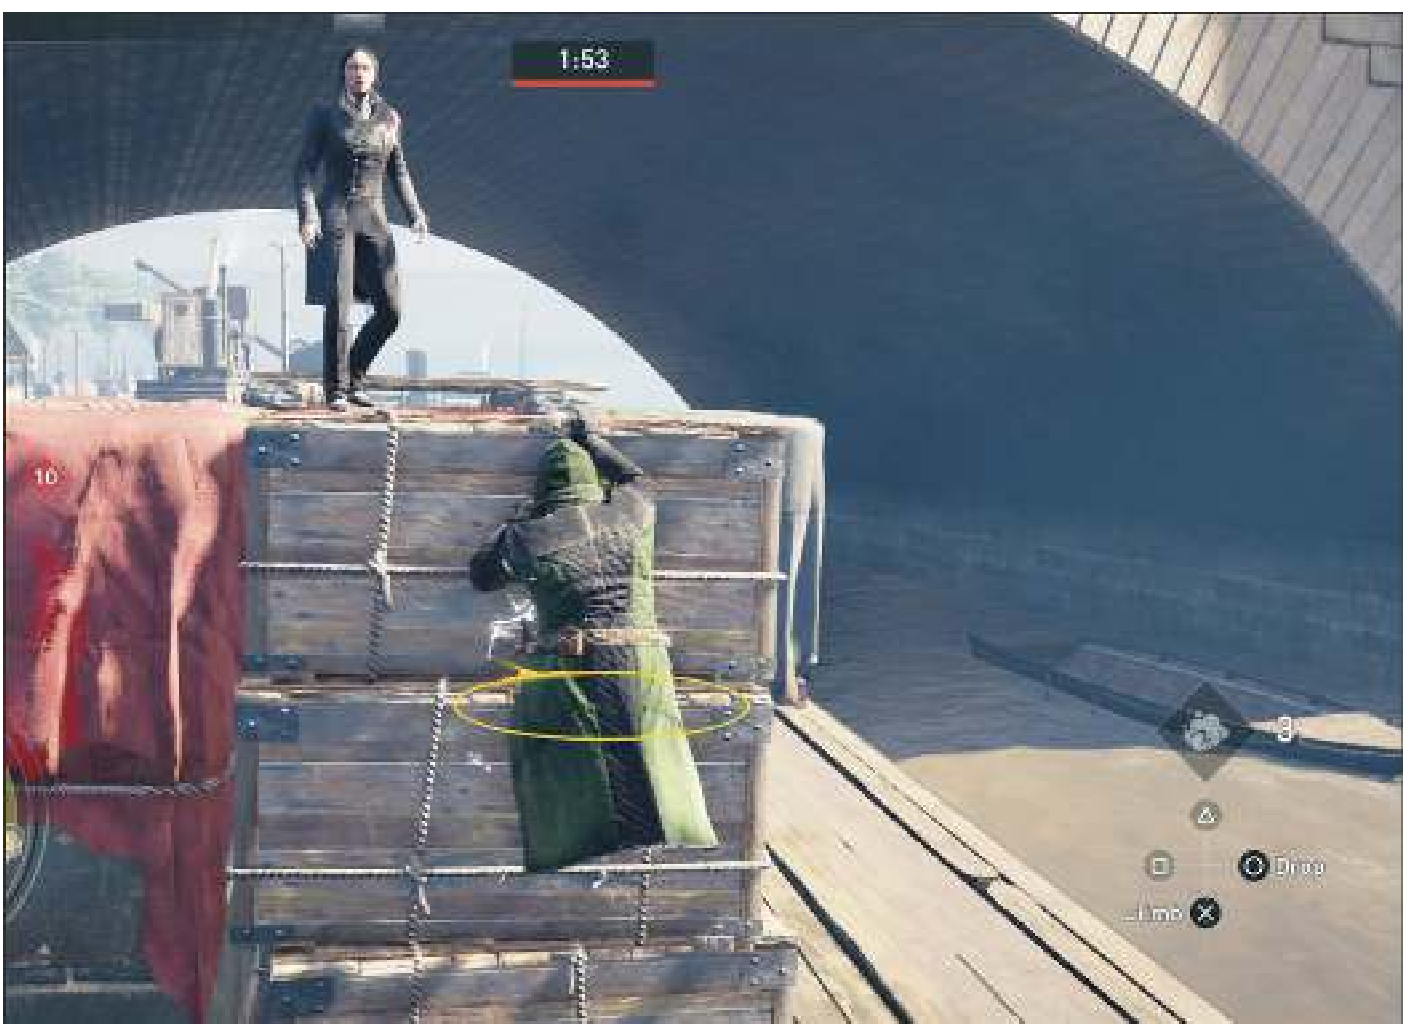
Boat Raids

Board the docked Blighter boat just before it leaves. You are only allowed three minutes to hunt down the manifest and mark the cargo for the Rooks. If you accomplish the objectives in time, you get a great amount of money and resources.

Getting the Manifest

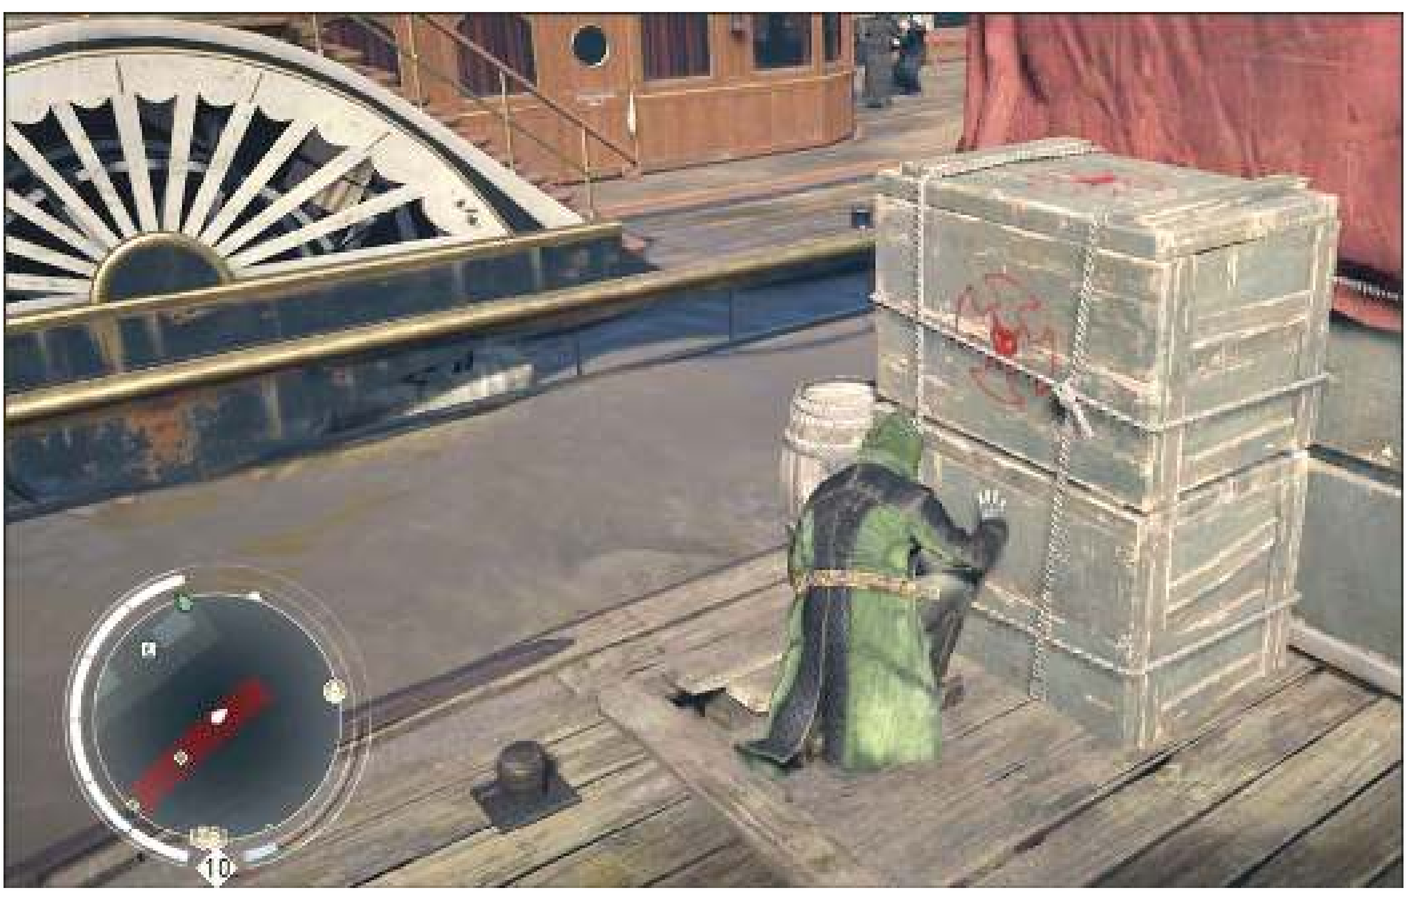
Activate Eagle Vision to identify the leader of the Blighters, who is holding the manifest. You need to either pickpocket him, or kill him and loot his body.



Don't worry about kicking the manifest holder into the water during a fight; if he or she falls into the water you still acquire the manifest. With the manifest collected, your task changes to marking the payload for the Rooks.

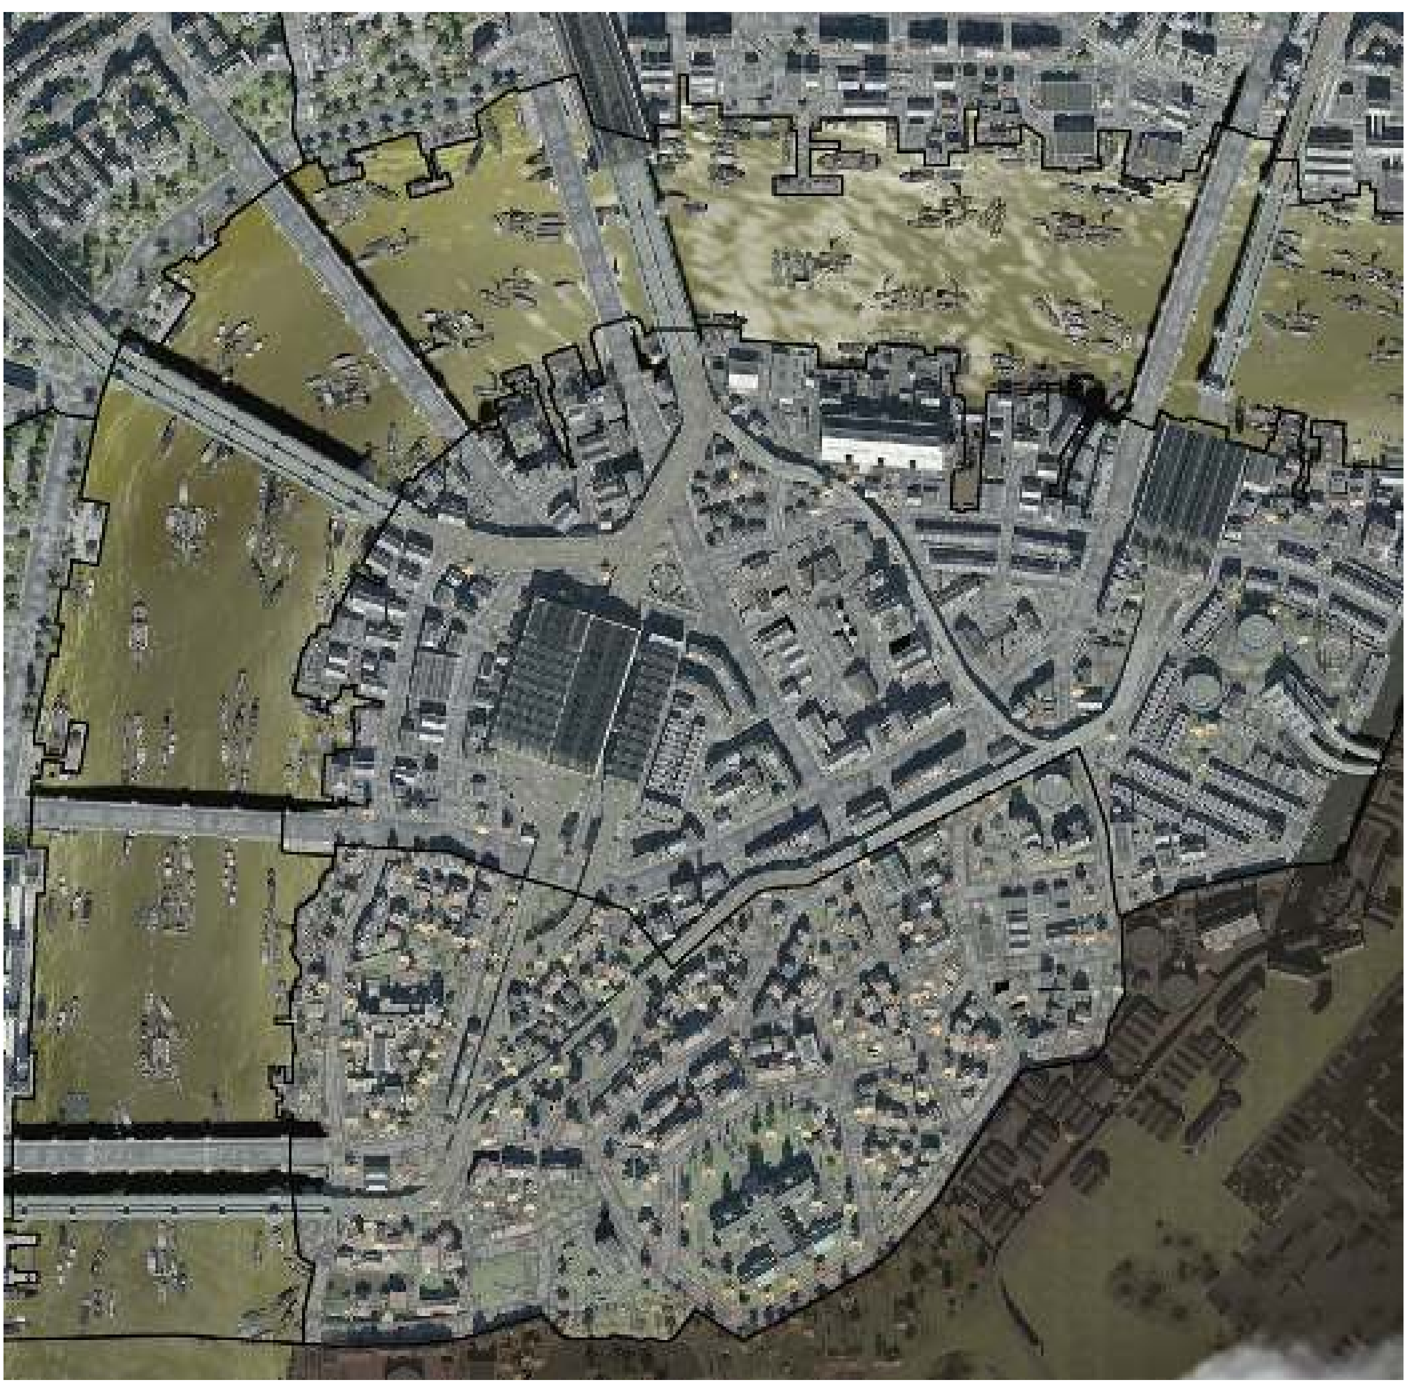
Marking the Cargo

Once you have the manifest you are fighting against the clock and any remaining enemies. Marking the crates takes about four seconds so make sure that you've left yourself enough time to travel and mark each of the four crates. If you are struggling with enemies, use a smoke bomb and run to a different piece of cargo. Wasting too much time on one crate could use all of your time.



Take Your Prize

Both Boat Raids and Smuggler's Boat activities earn you varying rewards based on your level. We've marked possible locations for these on the map, but please note that not all of them will be available at the same time.



● Boat Raids

● Smuggler's Boat

Smuggler’s Boat

Smuggler’s Boat activities only occur in The Thames River. You are tasked with sabotaging their cargo, with an added optional Challenge of killing the Lead Smuggler.

Sabotaging the Goods

Each Smuggler’s Boat activity requires you to destroy valuable cargo aboard the ships. These can only be destroyed with the TNT or Nitroglycerin crates that are scattered around the ships.

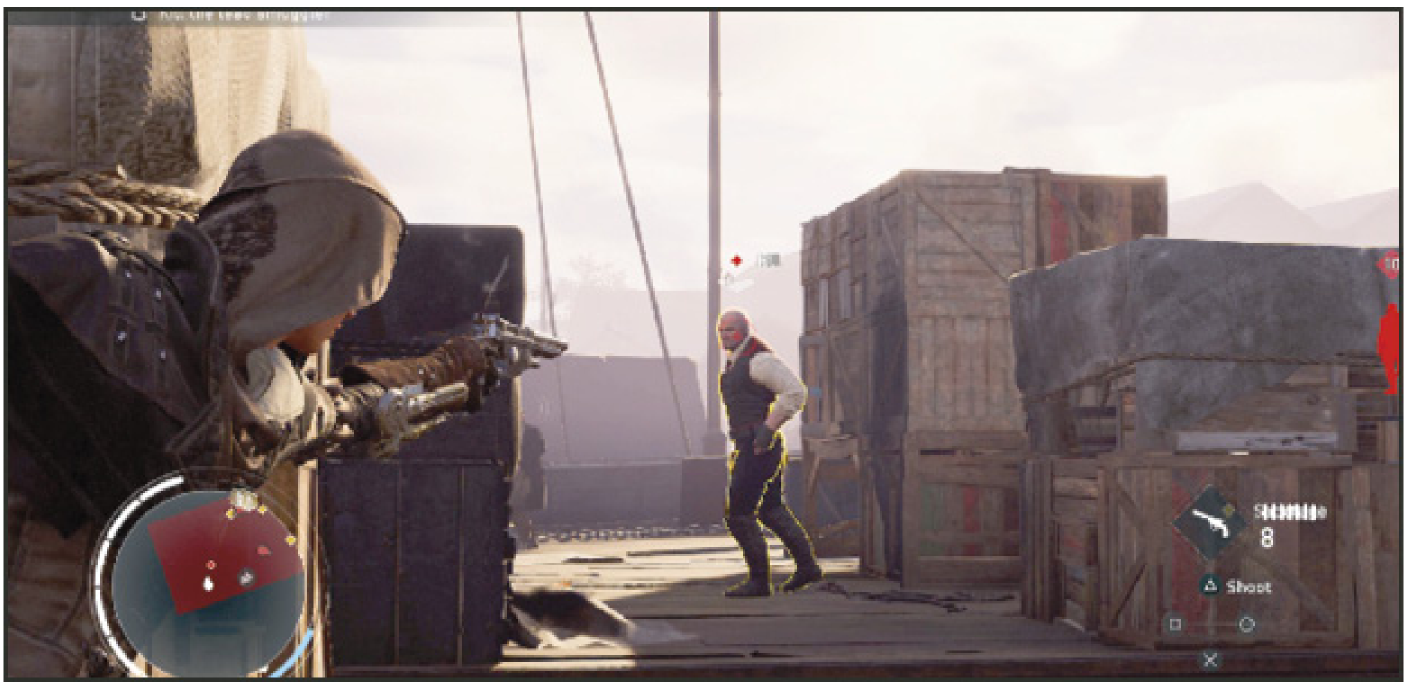
While there is plenty to use, make sure you don’t use all of the explosives to clear out enemies.

If there are no explosives left on the ship containing the goods, use Eagle Vision to locate some on one of the other ships. If there is no bridge connecting them, toss some over by pressing L2 / LT to aim, then R2 / RT to throw the crate.

Explode on Impact

Unlike TNT, which has to be ignited, a box of Nitro bottles explodes on impact. This makes them a good option to take out goods on other ships. The nitro can also be easily used against the lead smuggler.

Killing the Lead Smuggler



First things first! Identify the smuggler. The smuggler is outlined in yellow with the help of Eagle Vision.

Killing the lead smuggler is a pretty easy task due to the amount of explosives available. Assassinating the smuggler by jumping off of a nearby crate or using a cover assassination is also a good option.

Nitro bottles are the easiest to use against the lead smuggler, but you can also ignite TNT on the ground, then quickly pick it up and throw it at the smuggler. Depending on how close the lead smuggler is to the blast, you may need to use a ranged attack to finish them off. Use cover to give yourself time to line up some critical ranged attacks.

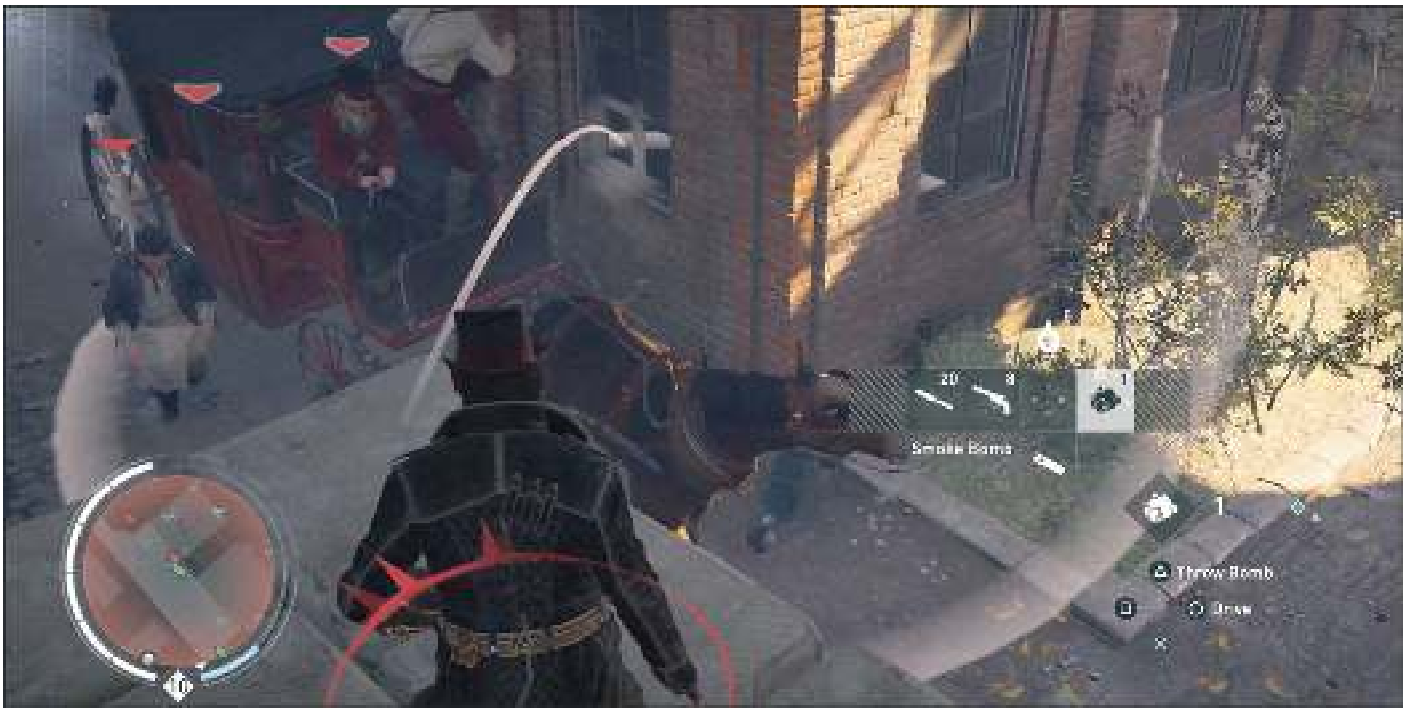
Cargo Escort

Cargo Escort

Cargo Escorts occur randomly on the streets of London. They have no level requirement and reward £700, 350 XP, and 22 of mixed or unmixed resources. The type of resource awarded can be viewed by hovering over the icon on the large map.

Escort Tips



Take the wheel! Kick out one of the initial Rooks who is driving the carriage. You want to be in charge of the drive, allowing you to hit top speed and ram other carriages out of the way.

Enemies begin to come flying out from around the corners. Use smoke bombs to throw them off your path.

The journey plays out much like the Cargo Hijacks after you initially hijack the cart. Once you're at the drop off point, kill off any Blighters to make yourself incognito and receive your reward.

Train Robbery

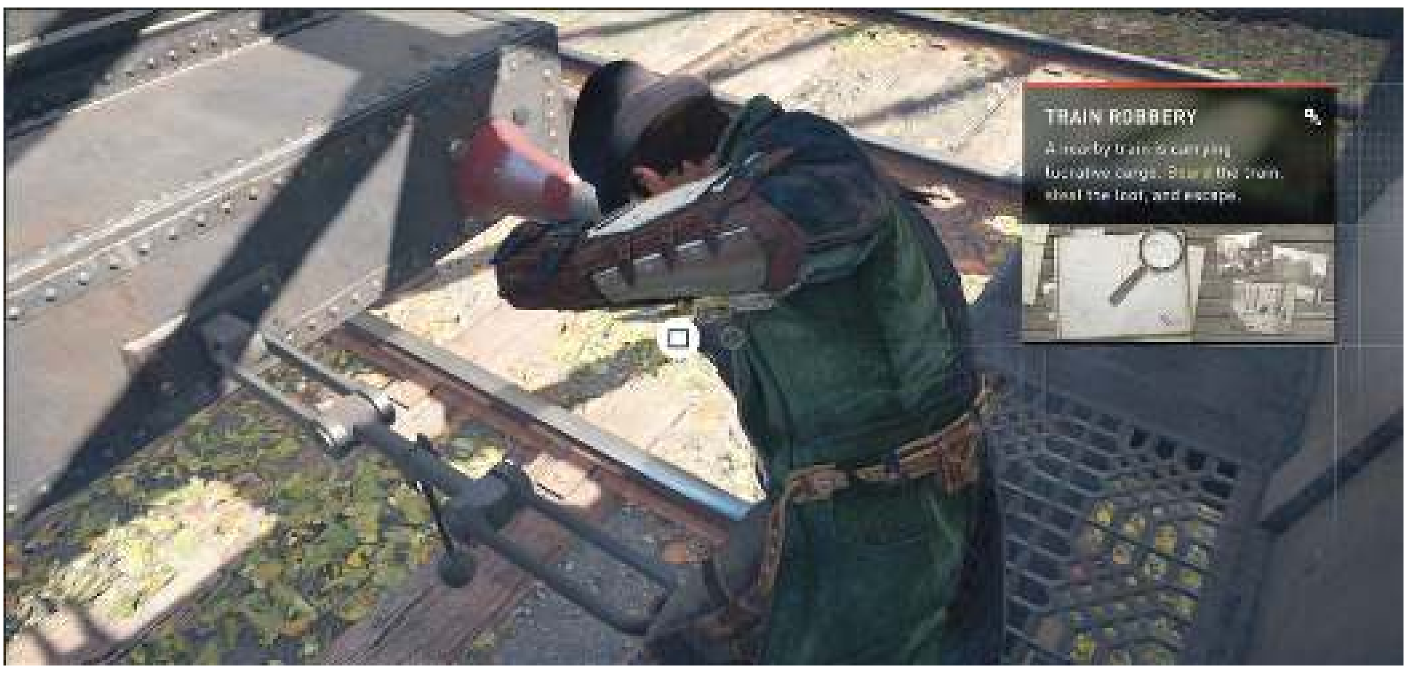
Train Robbery

The Train is always visible on the map, though it may require some searching to locate its current location. Once you've found the icon on the map, place a marker on it to highlight its location. Each robbery rewards £3750, 563 XP, and 250 assorted materials, in addition to whatever loot you find aboard the train.

Boarding the Train

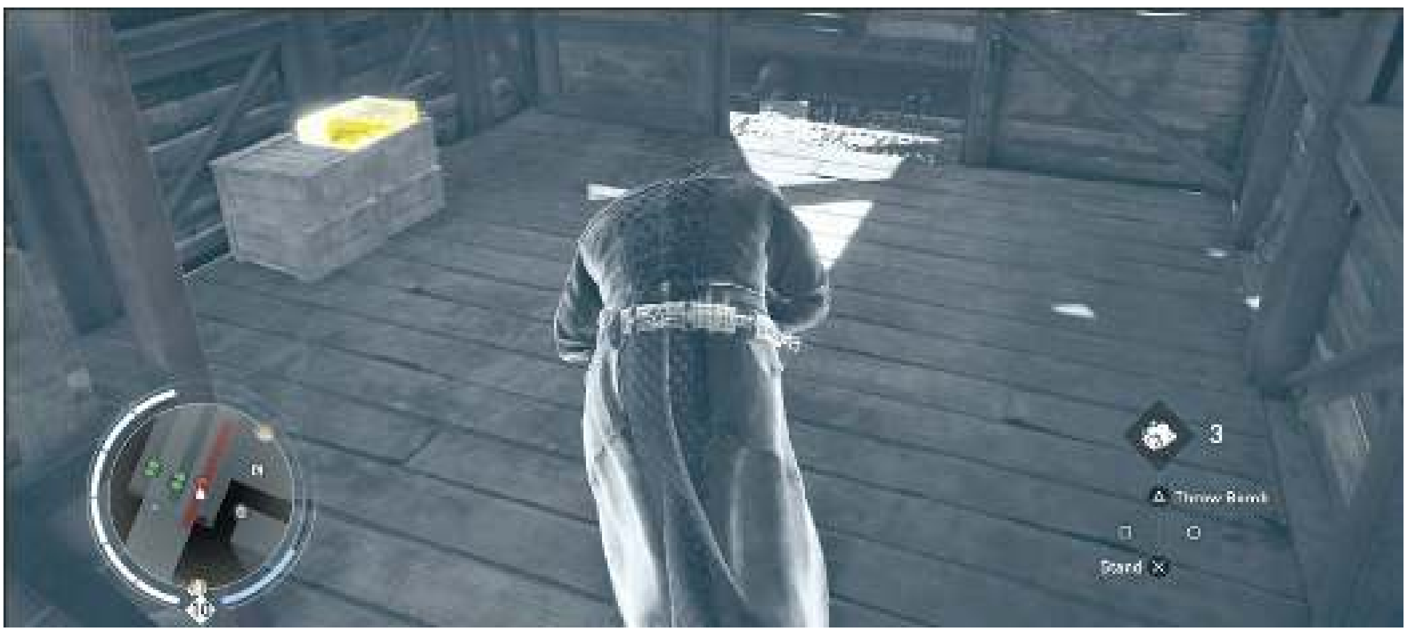
Once you've deciphered the train's direction on the rails, head for the nearest train station in the direction it is heading. The train stops at the station, making boarding it as simple as walking up and hopping on.

Board the train from the front and immediately de-couple the engine from the rest of the train cars. You do this the same way as in Sequence 3, by pressing ○ / B then □ / X repeatedly. With the train cars uncoupled from the engine, you don't have to worry about catching back up to the train if you fall off.



Finding the Treasure

Use your Eagle Vision to scan the carts. The treasure is in a small briefcase and is highlighted in yellow. If you've stopped the train, you can jump off the train and walk to the car, bypassing any enemies that may be between you and the treasure.



Completing the Robbery

Once you've collected the prize, leave the train in any direction. When you get far enough away from the train the activity completes.

Location: Train Hideout

Talk to Agnes in the Train Hideout to start this Jacob Frye only memory. In this memory you must hold off the rival gang who want their Gatling gun back. You begin this mission just outside the Whitechapel Train Station (1).

Objective: Defeat the attackers

Challenge: Don’t take any damage

After talking to Nigel about the jammed Gatling gun, tap ○ / B quickly and continuously to load the weapon. When the gauge is full the gun is ready to fire.

Remember to Cover

Use ✕ / A to cover while enemies are shooting at you.

So that you don’t have to reload at critical times, use the Gatling gun wisely. Take your time to make each shot count using only a couple of rounds at a time and aim for headshots.

Activate Eagle Vision so you can see the enemy Blighters across the rails more easily. Use the Mini-Map to see where enemies are entering the area.

World War I: Time Anomaly

Introduction

Unique Items

Be sure to grab the unique items from Large Chests which can only be found during this time anomaly. Bouddica's Torque, a unique crafting component can be found on the first floor of the Tower of London, in the Armory Building. You can also grab the Reaper Belt from the right side of St. Katherine's Docks.

World War I Memories become available during Sequence 6. Follow the time rift icon on your map to locate the time rift. You can find the impressively large portal on a barge in the middle of The Thames and as far to the east as you can get on the river. Inspect the rift to begin "The Darkest Hour."

Objective: Investigate the house

You start (1) this memory on the first floor of a house where an unknown man—who you apparently just killed—is sliding off a dining table and onto the floor. You look like Evie, but you're not…you are Jacob's granddaughter, Lydia. It's World War I in London and the year is 1916.

Objective: Eliminate the 3 spies

Challenge: Use the generator to attract a spy

Ascend the stairs and activate Eagle Vision. Spot the glowing yellow enemies on the floor below. These are the three spies you need to eliminate. Another generator sits in the next room. Activate it.

There are three different locations green blipped on the map: one around a guarded crane (3) on the shoreline of The Thames; another on a barge (4) guarded by Templars in The Thames; and the last one is below the bridge's south tower (5) on the ground level.

There's only one plane in the first wave. If you allow it to live long enough that it performs a shooting dive, then cover behind the gun shield by pressing the ⓧ / Ⓐ button. Don't be a hero! Cover to live to shoot again.

Pilots know they are the most vulnerable when flying out of a dive run. Use this to your advantage, as soon as the last bullet from the dive attack is fired, come up from cover and take aim on the aircraft(s) as they perform the slow climb out of the dive.

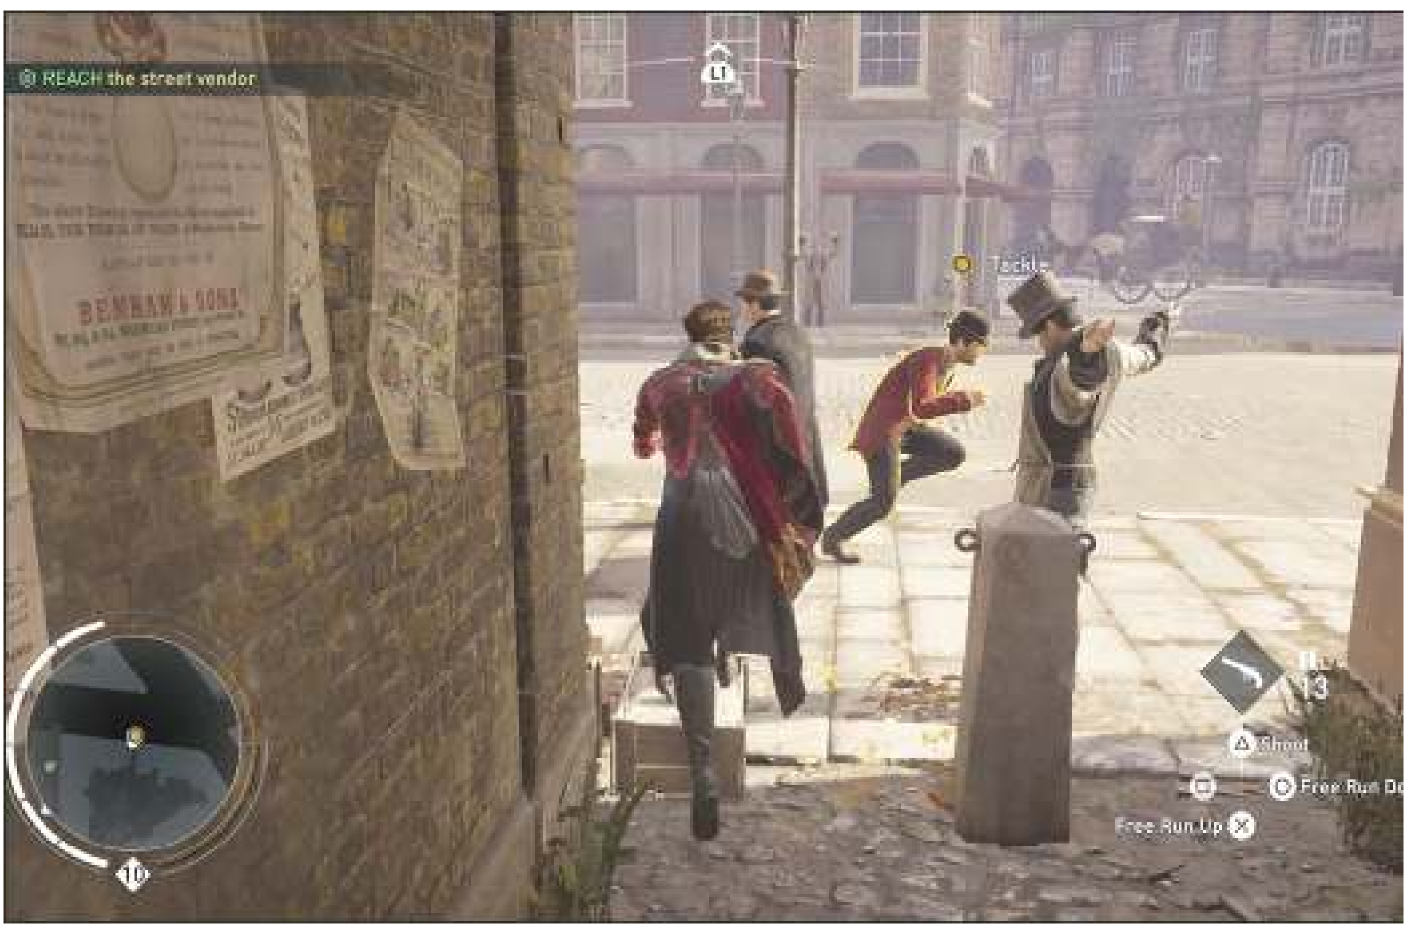
Location: Southwest Whitechapel

Talk to Charles Darwin (1) on a corner near a flower saleswoman a block southwest from the Spitalfield Marker. In this memory you must fetch Darwin a newspaper.

Objective: Reach the street vendor

Follow the green blip from Darwin to the street vendor (2) on the nearest street through the alleyway to the southeast. When you spot the vendor you also see a Blighter run by and steal the paper from him.



Objective: Tackle the aggressor

Chase after the Blighter. He runs south along the sidewalk and takes a right at the first corner.

Follow the route indicated on our map to keep up with the fleeing Blighter. It's a long route that ends up on the railroad tracks (3).

When he stops on the tracks, you are given seven seconds to rush and tackle him off the tracks before he's splattered by a passing train.

The Blighter is grateful for you saving him and tells you that he and his mates were paid to give leaflets to the paperboys to distribute with the papers. It shows a funny caricature of Darwin and makes fun of his theory of evolution.

Objective: Find and Remove 4 posters

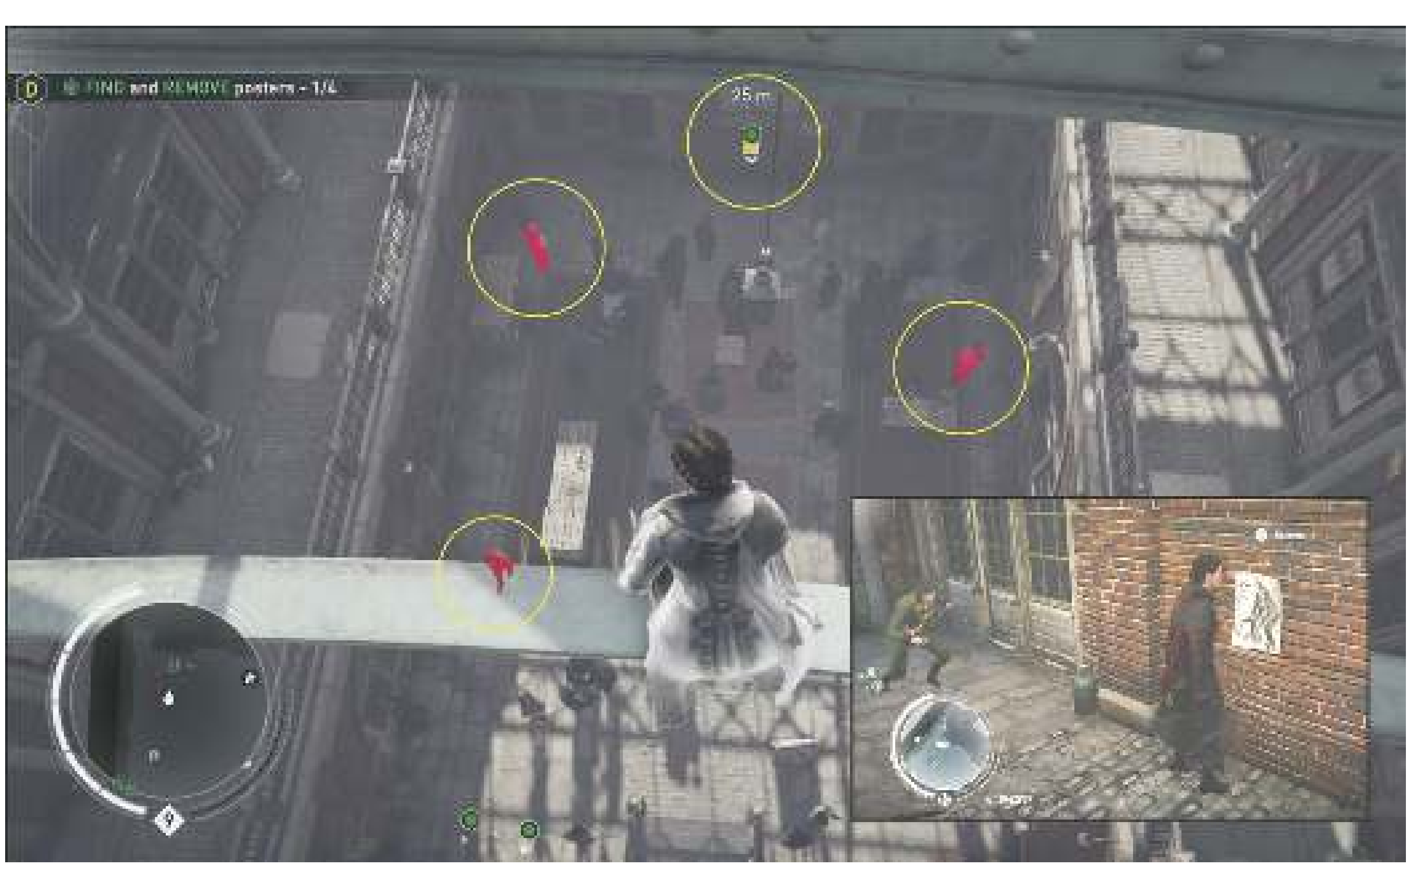
Poster 1

There are four Darwin propaganda posters to remove, starting with the one near Darwin at the beginning of the memory. There are three in The Strand and the furthest one is in City of London.

Poster 2

Recruit Rooks in the area as needed; you run into Templars guarding each poster location. Head to the second blip representing the next closest flier (2). When you get near, a green search area appears on the map. From the framework at the top of the building, use Eagle Vision to spot the flyer on the southwestern wall on the first floor of the market.

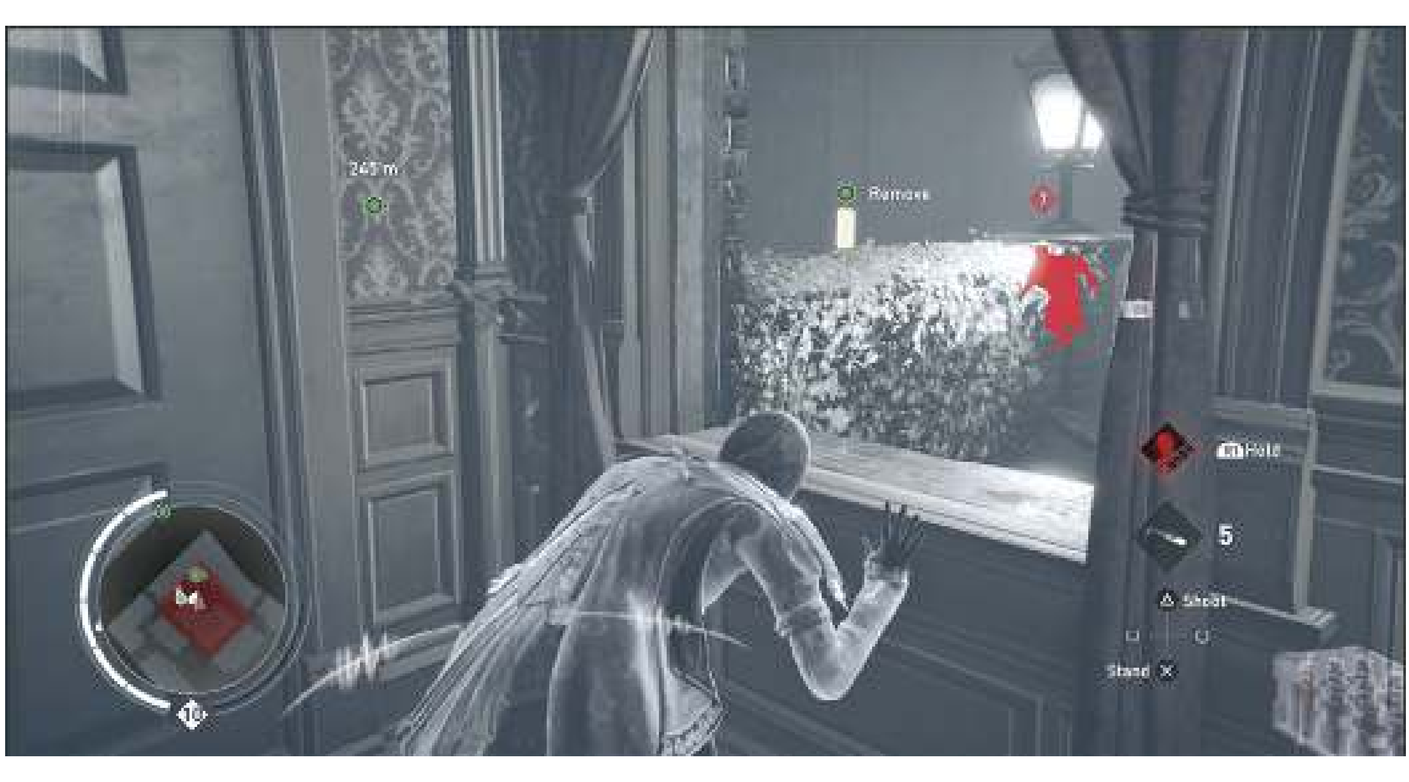
vYou must be anonymous to rip the flyer off the wall, so defeat the three Templars in the area starting by Air Assassinating one of them to get to the lower floor. Use a smoke bomb to defeat the remaining two if needed.



Poster 3

Exit the market and grab a carriage. Drive it to the next nearest flier (3) to the east. Recruit Rooks along the way if needed.

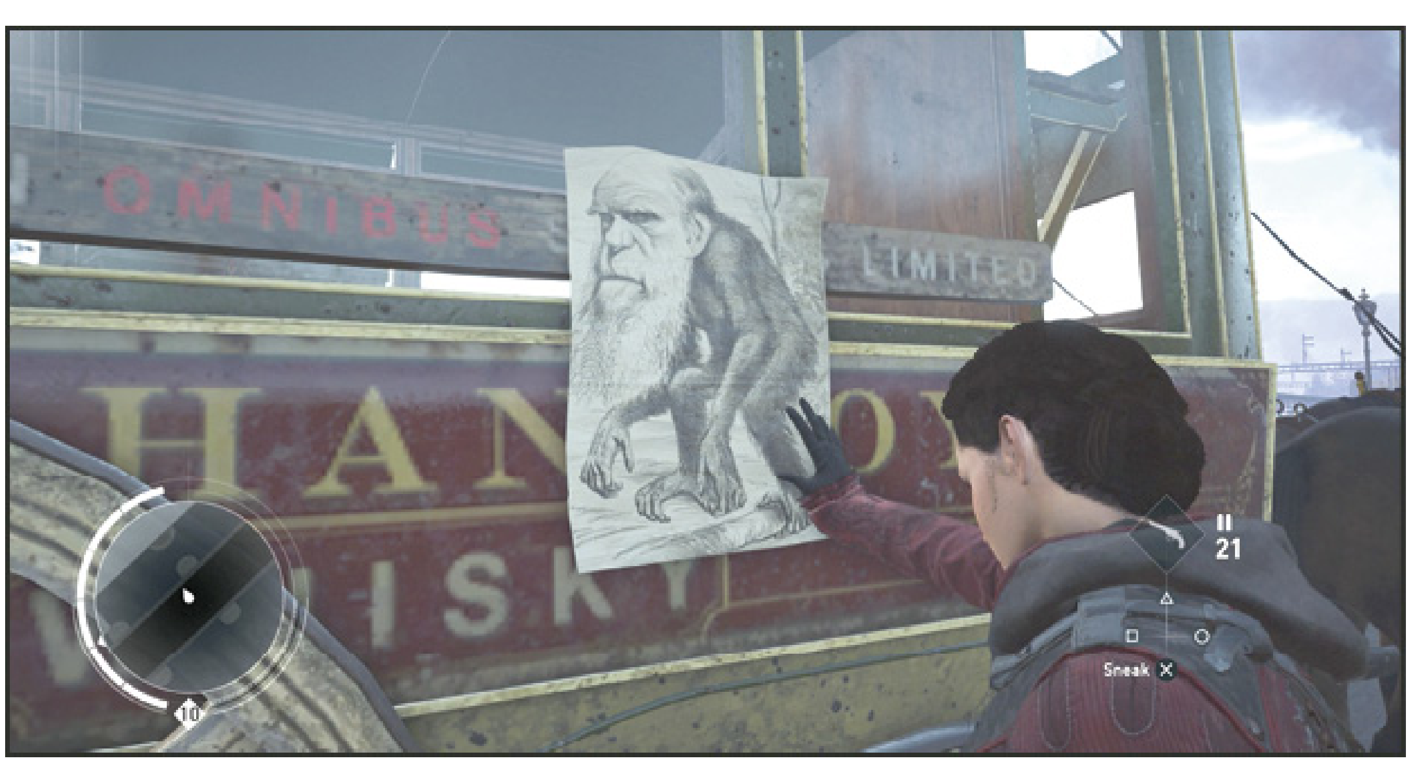
Send your Rooks into the alleyway (3) to fight the Templars. Eliminate the rooftop sniper yourself. You can hide inside the nearby house to stay anonymous afterward. Tear down the poster when the Templars are drawn away to fight your Rooks.



Poster 4 - Location: City of London

Exit the alley and grab a carriage. Drive it to the next nearest flier (4) in the City of London. Recruit Rooks along the way if needed. When you reach the intersection marked on our map, you spot a horse-drawn bus moving in your direction. The poster is on the driver's side of this bus.

Follow the bus and ride alongside of it. Get to your rooftop and leap to the bus. Hijack the bus, stop it, and tear the poster off.



Objective: Find posters

Now you need to find who is distributing the posters. Follow the green blip (or the route if you are in a carriage) on the map to the location (5) in Southwark under a bridge.

Objective: Tackle the billposter

When you reach the location you can spot a man in a top hat running away. Chase him and tackle him. Follow our route on our map to head him off in the railyard. Reference and Analysis

Skills and Levels

Whether you're playing as Jacob or Evie Frye, your skill set and level play a huge part in your survivability, as well as your offensive dominance, in the different areas of London.

Leveling

Leveling is accomplished by investing certain amounts of Skill Points into Jacob or Evie's Skill Trees. They both start at level one, maxing out at level 10. Each level unlocks new skills, as well as new equipment and available upgrades to older equipment.

Skill Points are gained by acquiring experience. Your progression to the next skill point is seen as a small blue meter on the right side of your mini-map, on the lower left hand corner of the screen. Experience is shared between Jacob and Evie so swapping between the two does not cause a drop on the meter.

Experience can be gained by completing sequences, participating in public events, or completing various activities in the Boroughs.

Level	Skill Points For Upgrade
1->2	4
2->3	4
3->4	8
4->5	10
5->6	10
6->7	10
7->8	15
8->9	15

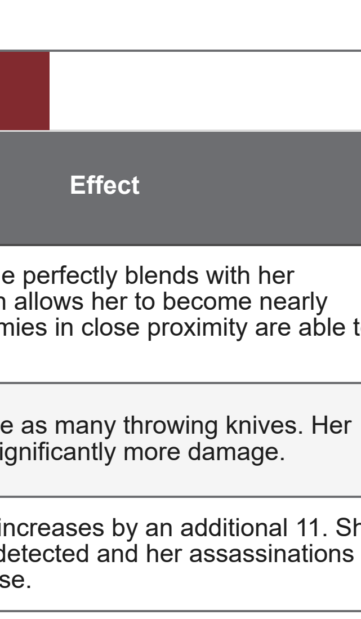
Skills

Each character has a separate skill tree that must be trained and leveled. This means that you can really focus on making each character a specialist, with Evie being more stealth oriented and Jacob taking a more aggressive stance with enemies.

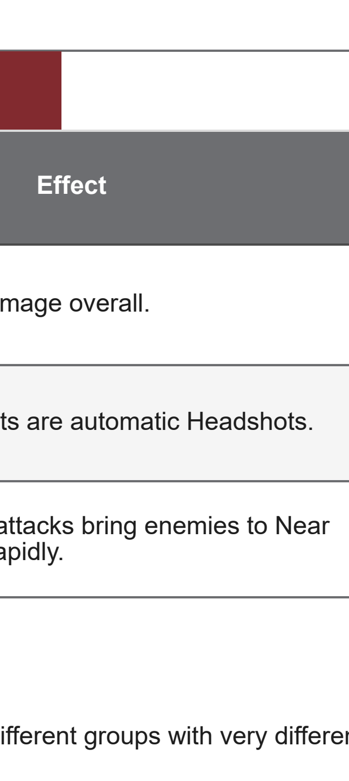
Skill points are distributed evenly between the Frye twins. For example, if Jacob is awarded skill points, Evie is automatically awarded the same amount of skill points, regardless of her participation in the event.

Evie and Jacob each have three unique abilities in the tree that can only be unlocked by that character.



Evie's Skills

Icon	Name	Effect	Requirement	Skill Point Cost
	Chameleon	In Sneak Mode Evie perfectly blends with her environment, which allows her to become nearly invisible. Only enemies in close proximity are able to detect her.	Level 5 and Assassin Steps	4
	Knife Master II	Evie can carry twice as many throwing knives. Her knives also inflict significantly more damage.	Level 6 and Knife Master I	6
	Stealth III	Evie's Stealth stat increases by an additional 11. She is less likely to be detected and her assassinations make very little noise.	Level 5 and Stealth II	4



Jacob's Skills

Icon	Name	Effect	Requirement	Skill Point Cost
	Defense III	Jacob takes less damage overall.	Level 5 and Defense II	4
	Gunslinger II	Jacob's Countershots are automatic Headshots.	Level 6 and Gunslinger I	6
	Mutilate II	Jacob's successful attacks bring enemies to Near Death much more rapidly.	Level 5 and Mutilate I	4

Shared Skills

The shared skills are broken down into three different groups with very different benefits.

Combat

The Combat skill tree benefits Jacob more than Evie, giving bonuses to health, regeneration, damage dealt, and combat combos.

Combat Skill Tree

Icon	Name	Effect	Requirement	Skill Point Cost
	Multi-Finisher	When close to multiple enemies that are near death, press □ / X to execute up to 4 enemies at a time to gain extra XP.	Acquired during Sequence 1	0

	Counter	Press ○ / B to Counter enemies' attacks in combat.	Acquired during Sequence 1	0
	Tool Combo	Press △ / Y to use your Tools (e.g. revolver, throwing knives) in combat without breaking your combo. Useful for quickly bringing a single enemy to Near Death or attacking multiple enemies at once.	Acquired during Sequence 1	0
	Health Boost I	Increase your Health by 1 segment.	Complete Sequence 1	1
	Health Boost II	Increase your Health by 1 additional segment.	Level 2 and Health Boost	2
	Health Boost III	Increase your Health by 1 additional segment.	Level 3 and Health Boost II	2
	Unstoppable I	Increase the time before you lose your combo streak due to inaction.	Complete Sequence 1	1
	Unstoppable II	The first hit you take during a combo doesn't end your combo.	Level 2 and Unstoppable I	2
	Slayer I	When your combo reaches x10, your next attack automatically puts the target in a near death state.	Complete Sequence 1	1
	Slayer II	When you bring an enemy to near death, your next attack against a different opponent automatically puts them in a near death state. Very useful to set up Multi-Finishers and other moves.	Level 3 and Slayer I	2
	Counter Boost	Counter attacks have a larger window of opportunity and do increased damage.	Level 2	2
	Execute I	Stun an enemy with ✕ / A, then perform a Tool Combo with △ / Y to execute them, inflicting massive damage.	Level 3.	2
	Execute II	Enemies who see you perform an execution are frightened, causing them to break their defensive stance.	Level 5 and Execute I	4
	Mutilate I	Successful attacks bring enemies to near death more rapidly.	Level 3	2
	Adrenaline	Increase the Rate at which your Health regenerates.	Level 5	4
	Combat Stamina	Performing Multi-Kills now regenerates health based on the number of enemies killed.	Level 6	6

Stealth

The Stealth tree increases Jacob's and Evie's ability to stay hidden. While multiple skills in the tree help with confrontations benefiting Jacob, the higher level areas of the tree contain all of Evie's special skills, making it worth investing the points when playing as her.

Stealth Skill Tree

Investing points in the tree really pays off for the player who likes to recruit Rooks, use carriages, and hunt down and open chests. If you're looking to open chests early on, pick up Scavenger I and II. This greatly helps you later in the game when you begin to craft and upgrade equipment. Spend a point on Eagle Vision II ASAP, this allows you to see enemies and Collectibles through walls, making planning your attacks a breeze.

Crafting

Crafting is essential in Assassin’s Creed Syndicate. To craft an item you must first meet the minimum requirements for it, this can be a blueprint, unique and regular resources as well as some in-game currency, or £. Consumables cannot be crafted, however upgrades to increase the amount you can hold or their over all effectiveness can be crafted.

Crafting Materials

Basic Crafting Materials

Money (£) can be acquired by completing sequences, participating in crowd events, opening chests, as well as from the safe in the Train hideout. Silk, Leather, Chemicals, and Metal can be acquired from the Chests scattered around the city (check out the Collectibles section for all the Chest locations). Crafting Resources can also be purchased with real world currency in varying amounts by pressing (△ / Ⓨ) in the crafting menu. While not necessary, purchasing resources can save you some time, allowing you to focus more on the story and less on searching for resources.

Unique Crafting Materials

Unique crafting materials are given as rewards from the Large Chests (see the Collectibles section to learn which Chest holds each specific material). Unique materials are also earned by completing Memory Sequences.

Blueprints

Much like unique crafting materials, blueprints are given as rewards from Large Chests, as well as from different Memory Sequences. Blueprints can also be acquired by gaining levels with your Associates. Each blueprint is tied to a specific item, whether it be a new cloak or an upgrade for a piece of equipment.

Equipment

There are six different types of Equipment found in the Inventory of Jacob and Evie: Weapons, Assassin Gauntlets, Firearms, Belts or Capes, Outfits, and Colors. Each piece of Equipment, with the exception of Colors, can be upgraded one time.

Allies and Enemies

The London of Assassin's Creed Syndicate is a living, breathing city, populated with a wide array of friends and foes. These are divided into six Archetypes and three Factions.

Aggressors

Aggressors include members of the rival Blighter gang and the Templars. They are shown in Red in Eagle Vision and on the Mini-Map.

Templars attack you on sight. Blighters attack you, and also attack Rooks.

Use Protectors to your advantage by drawing them closer to Aggressors. Protectors attack Aggressors if they commit crimes.

Allies

Allies include members of the Rooks and other Assassins. Depending on the memory, they follow you and help you in combat.

Allies are displayed in Green in Eagle Vision and on the Mini-Map.

Protectors

Police, Royals, and Security Guards are protectors who maintain law and order in the city. They appear as Blue in Eagle Vision and on the Mini-Map

Protectors only become hostile towards those who commit violent acts.

Protectors are powerful enemies. If you try to fight too many at once, you will likely be overwhelmed. Escape and vanish when necessary. If you need to commit a violent act, try to do it out of their view.

Archetypes

Archetypes appear in the Rooks, Blighters, and even the Templars. Each enemy Archetype responds differently upon spotting you or entering combat. When infiltrating an area, look out for the Watchers and Lookouts since alerting them causes them to quickly call for backup. The damage you take and deal to Archetypes is determined by player level and the quality of your current equipment. The level of the enemy can be seen above their heads, once you've marked them, ranging from 1-10. This gives you a good idea of the challenge that enemy will bring to the fight.

Brute

Brutes are lumbering giants. They hit hard and have a lot of health. However, they are very predictable in combat, and can be easily defeated by running away and performing an assassination from above.

Enemy Level
	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
Base Damage	460	540	640	760	840	940	1020	1100	1220	1320
Armor	44	54	74	94	114	134	154	174	194	214

Enforcer

Enforcers are a mix of the Brute and Soldier Archetypes. If you attempt to retreat, Enforcers answer with Flash Bombs, blinding you while you try to run. When fighting a group of enemies, Enforcers always try to gain a tactical advantage.

Enemy Level
	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
Base Damage	410	490	590	710	790	890	970	1070	1170	1270
Armor	40	50	65	85	105	125	145	170	190	210

Protector

Protectors are the strongest of the Archetypes, however contact with them is easily avoidable. Enemy factions do not have the Protector Archetype; only Police and Royal Guards have Protectors. At lower levels, taking on a Protector in combat is almost a certain death sentence. Once you've reached a higher level you begin to gain a small advantage over them, but they are still formidable foes.

Enemy Level
	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
Base Damage	540	620	720	840	920	1020	1100	1180	1300	1400
Armor	64	84	104	124	144	164	184	204	224	244

Soldier

Soldiers are the most common Archetype you encounter. They rely on numbers to pose a threat. Using melee attacks and basic combos they are easily defeated with counter attacks when you fight them in groups. Be wary when they are matched with a Brute or Enforcer as things can quickly get complicated by the stronger enemy's attacks.

Enemy Level
	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
Base Damage	410	490	590	710	790	890	970	1070	1170	1270
Armor	40	50	65	85	105	125	145	170	190	210

Watcher

Watchers are always ready to call their allies to their side with a quick whistle whenever they encounter trouble. Whenever possible, eliminate these threats with a sneak attack, or from afar, before they are even aware of your presence. If you give them time they'll call their friends for backup and you may have more trouble than you bargained for. Watchers have a high rate of counter attack, so be ready if you directly engage these foes.

Enemy Level
	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10
Base Damage	360	440	540	660	740	840	920	1000	1120	1220
Armor	0	20	40	60	80	100	120	140	160	200

Collectibles

Within Assassin's Creed Syndicate there are hundreds of things to collect. While some of the collectibles lead to item unlocks and resources, others are purely for collecting. Maps can be purchased from the various merchants in the city to mark all of the collectibles on the map. When you are close to the item, use Eagle Vision to hunt it down. This is made much easier if you have the upgrade that allows you to see and mark through walls with Eagle Vision.

Chests

Chests are found everywhere throughout the cities. Each Chest grants you an amount of money and valuable crafting materials used to upgrade your equipment. Buying the map to mark the Chests is always a good idea. If you collect the Chests marked, you will definitely turn a profit. Hold the action button near the Chest to loot it.

Pressed Flowers

Pressed flowers are located inside of books that are usually left on a park bench or near a tombstone. Collecting them unlocks different dyes for your clothing.

Poster Ads

While many Poster Ads litter the streets of London, only a few are collectible. These Ads are normally located at the front of the alleys branching off of the main road, or in heavily trafficked walkways in between and under buildings in the city.

Pressed Flower Unlocks

	Name	Description
5	Violet	Violet, woody brown, and grass green.
10	Fuchsia	Fuchsia, muted green, and turquoise.

25	Steel Gray	Steel gray, pink, and dark gray

Beer Bottles

Beer Bottles can be found in and around the various bars on the map. Purchasing the drinking guide from the merchant marks all of them on the map, making it easy to find the ones you are missing. Press the action button when you are near the Beer.

Large Chests

Large Chests require lock picking and a little bit more searching to find them. They do not contain resources, but rather blue prints and unique crafting materials.

Helix Glitches

Helix Glitches are found around the city, usually near high points or hanging over the middle of streets. Once you have the Rope Launcher, collecting these becomes much easier. Simply move through the Glitch to collect it. Helix Glitches unlock Audio Logs, which you can find in the Encyclopedia under Present Day Assassin Intel.

Helix Credits

Earn Helix Credits by collecting Helix Glitches, Letters from the Front, Beer Bottles, and Historical Poster Ads. For more information on Helix Credits, please see The Essentials section of the guide.

Secrets of London

Keep your ears tuned in while walking the streets of London, listening for the faint sound of a music box. These music boxes are the Secrets of London, collecting all of them grants you access to a treasure map leading you into Michael Reuge's Vault, a secret vault hidden beneath the city where you find the Precursor Armor.

Royal Correspondence

Royal Correspondences are misplaced letters from London's elite. Unlike other collectibles, Royal Correspondences are only found in the Borough of Westminster. They appear as a letter with a red wax seal. Picking up one of the letters grants you immediate XP, collecting all of them grants you access to Lady Anne Greenwood's Cape as well as an Achievement/Trophy for your effort.

Letters from the Front

These Letters are only found in the WWI Time Anomaly. Be sure to collect them all when exploring London during the Great War.
